Now, in "the quiet years", there is the time to put the finishing touches on that schooner. While working, there is time for thinking, time for looking back.

Our aged friend has a good many years to look back over — some of them good, some bad. But, through all of them there's been one steady, continuing force, like a thread of steel woven through the pattern of his life.

This force has been the thread of faith. It is a faith that is sustained and strengthened when a man devotes great time and energy to God's House and its mission.

Now, in "the quiet years", he can look back over what has been. He can rejoice because he is able to reflect on a life full of devotion.

You see, it is all-important to be able to review the right kind of life. Don't wait. Worship God this week.

Setting Good Examples

It is always gratifying for parents when they see their children exhibiting good examples that they learned from them. For example, saying "thank you" without being prompted, or sharing, or simply being kind to others. Kindness, patience, honesty, and gentleness are some virtues that people should learn when they are young, and if so, will be carried with them throughout their lives. In most cases, a child is a direct reflection of their upbringing and the examples that they see around them. If a child is exposed to vulgar or rude language, it seems only natural to them that they can speak in the same manner. To a young person, if a parent demonstrates dishonesty or corruption, it can be perceived as an acceptable practice. To simply tell a child that something is wrong is not good enough if our actions reflect otherwise. Giving guidance and being involved with children and their daily activities will be beneficial to them as they grow. Also, developing a good religious atmosphere by attending church services, reading the Bible, and praying together will help reflect and reinforce the good examples that are important for building good character.

Now therefore, listen to me, my children, for blessed are those who keep my ways.

Grape Seeds Extract Speeds Wound Healing

Grape seed extract is a supplement typically obtained as a by-product of the manufacture of wine. The active ingredient of grape seed extract is a group of molecules called proanthocyanidins and procyanidins. These are potent antioxidants. Supplements containing the equivalent of 300 mg of grape seed procyanidins seem to increase the overall antioxidant activity in most people. Some studies have shown that taking grape seed extract by mouth is good for the circulatory system by improving the tone of the blood vessels, especially in people with chronic venous insufficiency. People whose eyes get stressed from glare may find grape seed extract containing procyanidin to be helpful. Preliminary research suggests that the extract also may improve night vision, however more studies are needed.

In two related experiments in both mice and humans, scientists concluded that grape seed extract containing proanthocyanidin helped skin wounds heal with less scarring when applied topically. It is thought that the grape seed extract helps the body regenerate damaged blood vessels.

Hamster Care

Q. I just got a hamster for a pet, and every time I go to pick him up he rolls over on his back and squeaks. Why does he do this? Also, how long do hamsters live? — Robbie C., San Dimas, Calif.

A. It sounds like your hamster is scared. When startled, their reaction can be anything from freezing or playing dead, to rolling on their backs, squeaking and baring their teeth. Since he is a new member of your household, this isn't surprising.

What you'll need to do is approach your hamster in a less threatening manner (I know, you're being as friendly as possible, but imagine if you were a hamster and a giant hand was coming toward you!).

First, never grab or startle him when he's asleep: Instead, gently rustle the bedding nearby, or lightly jiggle the cage, until he wakes up. Give him a few moments to get his bearings. When his eyes focus on your face, carefully reach in and scoop him up from the rump side first. Cup your other hand over the first to make a little cage of your fingers. Talk softly to him the entire time, and hold the hamster closely (cup him against your body if necessary) so he doesn't escape or fall.

If you're about to pick up your hamster and he begins to roll over and squeak again, back off and wait a few minutes. When he's calm, offer him a sunflower seed or raisin, and try again. It may take a few days before he gets used to you and feels safe enough to be picked up regularly. Try to pick him up at least twice a day for a week so that he gets used to you.

How long does a hamster live? On average, about 18 months to two years, and rarely, three years.

Paper Money

Q. I have two pieces of U.S. currency, and I would like to find out how much they might be worth. Can you help me? — Jaydee, Russellville, Ala.

A. There are dozens of excellent reference books that will help you find the answers you need. I especially like the Official Blackbook Price Guide to United States Paper Money by Marc and Tom Hudgeons (House of Collectibles, $6.99), now in its 33rd edition and available at most larger bookstores.

Q. I have some older pieces of jewelry that are probably from the Victorian era. Who can appraise them for me? — Mary, Montevideo, Minn.

A. Janet Lawwill is the owner of Azillion Sparklz, a mail-order and Internet business specializing in vintage costume and fine estate jewelry. She has a national reputation for both her honesty and expertise. Contact her at P.O. Box 36269, Tucson, AZ 85740; Jewel2@sparklz.com; http://www.sparklz.com/; or (520) 219-3712.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It's still not known who made this sage observation: "There are two kinds of voters: those who vote for your candidate, and the ignorant, prejudiced fools."

• A couple of years ago, the Texas Transportation Institute conducted a study on traffic in the United States. They determined (it's a bit unclear how) that the average American spent 51 hours stuck in traffic over the course of the year 2001. If you live in Los Angeles, you've got the worst traffic in America — if you're an average driver, you wasted 90 hours during that year. The second worst-congested city was San Francisco, with 68 hours; next was Denver, with 64 hours; and Miami was ranked fourth, with 63 wasted hours per person during 2001.

• Interestingly, Billy the Kid wasn't actually called "The Kid" until he was 18 years old.

• A man named Don Flickinger began school to earn his associate's degree in 1928, but he took a while to finish it. Quite a while, indeed. He finally received the degree on May 3, 2003, at the age of 95. When asked what he was going to do to celebrate, he replied, "At my age, celebrating means getting into bed for a good nap."

• Two trucks collided on a South Korean highway, and the drivers got out and began arguing about the accident. During the altercation, though, they were hit by a bus; both of the men were killed.

• According to Rand McNally — the well-known map and atlas makers — the most popular name for cities, towns and places on maps of the United States is "Union," with 234 instances. The name "Washington" appears 222 times; "Jackson" and "Liberty" are tied for third place with 188 names apiece.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Sept. 13, 1916, children's author Roald Dahl is born in South Wales. Dahl wrote his first book, "The Gremlins," for Walt Disney in 1943, and later penned the best-selling "James and the Giant Peach." Dahl also wrote the screenplays for "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory," "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" and a James Bond film, "You Only Live Twice."

• On Sept. 17, 1934, 18-year-old actress Olivia de Havilland makes her stage debut in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Hollywood Bowl. De Havilland, who would go on to win several Oscars, is best remembered for her role as Melanie in "Gone With the Wind."

• On Sept. 15, 1940, the Battle of Britain reaches its climax when the Royal Air Force downs 56 invading German aircraft in two dogfights lasting less than an hour. The costly raid convinced the German high command that the Luftwaffe could not achieve air supremacy over Britain.

• On Sept. 19, 1959, during a visit to Los Angeles, Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev explodes with anger when he learns that he cannot visit Disneyland. Government authorities feared that the crowds would pose a safety hazard for the premier.

• On Sept. 18, 1970, famed guitarist Jimi Hendrix dies at the age of 28, following a drug overdose in London.

• On Sept. 14, 1975, Elizabeth Ann Seton is canonized by Pope Paul VI at the Vatican in Rome, becoming the first American-born Catholic saint. Seton founded the United States' first religious order in 1809, the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph, which provided free education to poor children.

• On Sept. 16, 1997, in the Information Age's version of the return of the prodigal son, Apple Computer enlists founder and former CEO Steve Jobs to temporarily run the company during a search for a permanent leader. Jobs had parted ways with Apple a decade earlier under bitter circumstances.

Different events are scheduled throughout the day. A steak dinner will conclude the events from 4 to 9 p.m.

Travel Guide To Feature Savage River Lodge

The Savage River Lodge is featured in two new travel guides published by Fodor's Travel Publications.

Escape to Nature Without Roughing It features 250 resorts, inns, lodges, and ranches "where you can temporarily leave civilization behind…but not too far behind."

"Accommodations selected for inclusion in Escape to Nature Without Roughing It have been hand-picked according to four primary criteria: wilderness setting, serenity, seclusion, and environmental awareness. A fifth criterion applies to properties that serve food: they should offer delicious, healthful meals," said a spokesperson.

Great American Drives of the East contains "all the tools you'll need to plan perfect road trips in the 26 glorious states east of the Mississippi River."

The Savage River Lodge is an upscale resort located in the middle of 750 acres of forest in the mountains of western Maryland. A "easy" 2-1/2 hour drive from Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh, added the spokesperson.

For more information on the Savage River Lodge, persons may call 301-689-3200 or visit its web site at www.savageriverlodge.com.

Mt. Top Truck Driving Institute Sets Open House

An open house at the Mt. Top Truck Driving Institute, located along Route 40 in Grantsville, is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11. The event is open to the public.

Following a 10 a.m. ribbon cutting ceremony, tours of the facility will be conducted and a new truck will be on display. Persons attending will have an opportunity to meet with instructors and Bud Poland, the director of the institute.

There is currently a need for trained drivers in the trucking industry, for both long haul and short haul trips, according to Lowell Bender, GC's dean of Continuing Education and Training.

Anyone desiring further information about the Mt. Top Truck Driving Institute's 10-week training program may call Poland at 301-895-4700.

GC Foreign Film, Lit. Class Slates Focus On Love

A four-session discussion course on Love Stories in Foreign Films and Literature will be offered by the Center for Lifelong Learning at Garrett College on Thursday evenings from 6 to 9:15 p.m. beginning Sept. 16. The course will be taught by Jack DuBose.

Each Thursday, a selected adult film will be shown, followed by class discussion and questions. The class format will be informal, according to DuBose, and participants are encouraged to bring creature comforts such as cushions and snacks.

Film titles tentatively selected by DuBose for this class are He Loves Me, He Loves Me Not, France, 2002; The Last Kiss, Italy, 2001; Soft Hearts, the Philippines, 1999; and Friday Nights, France, 2003.

Students may register for the film course by calling 301-387-3069 or by visiting the office of the Continuing Education and Training Division at the college. The Center for Lifelong Learning develops and offers courses of special interest to adults in the community.

Volunteer Nursing Training Slated At Health Dept.

The Garrett County Health Department's Bioterrorism/Emergency Preparedness Department is hosting a "Volunteer Nursing Training: Emergency Preparedness and Response." This one-day free training is sponsored by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the Maryland Board of Nursing.

It is open to all nurses licensed in Maryland who may be interested in volunteering in a mass disaster. Attendees will be issued a photo ID badge that would be required to enter any disaster area. Taking the training is not an obligation to volunteer, but it is hoped that trained volunteers would be willing and available to assist if needed, said a spokesperson.

The training will be held Friday, Oct. 1, at the Garrett County Health Department. Sign-in will start at approximately 8 a.m., and the program will start at 9 a.m. and end at approximately 3:30 p.m. Refreshments will be provided.

To register or for more information, persons may call Cindy Mankamyer at 301-334-7770, ext. 7691, or go online to the Maryland Board of Nursing web site at mbon.org. Seating is limited, so early registration is recommended.

HABITAT READY TO DEDICATE HOME — Garrett County Habitat for Humanity has extended an invitation to the public to attend the dedication of its newest home. The Horton house dedication will take place on Sept. 15 at 6 p.m. at the new house. An open house will begin at noon on the 15th. The home is located in Hopeland Village at 4039 Maryland Highway, beside the Deer Park VFW. The organization is also working on two more homes, #47 and #48, also located along Rt. 135 in Deer Park. Doug Riley, executive director of Habitat, said that members of the public are invited to stop by these sites to see the progress. Persons interested in volunteering for Habitat for Humanity may contact Riley at 301-533-0600 or driley@garrettcac.org.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Sarah Cosner

The July meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held July 18 at the Rushes' pond. During the meeting, vice president Travis Sines discussed the rodeo, district show, and the fair. Members planned the 4-H booth. After the meeting, members fished at the pond.

The August meeting was held Monday, Aug. 9, at the corn booth at the fair. Candace Blamble, Emily Cosner, Sarah Cosner, Jennifer Conser, Cody Ferguson, Emily Green, Chad Harvey, Carey Rush, Jenna Rush, Travis Sines, and Melinda Smith helped pick, husk, and serve corn.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p.m. at Yough Glades Elementary School.

Those interested in joining 4-H are welcome to attend.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It is remarkable that before Labor Day the north wind blew across our farm, not just shaking the leaves, but making them shiver – a sober thought about future conditions in "Arctic" Maryland. "The Arctic Circle of Maryland" starts at the eastern end of downtown Bittinger, running along Negro Mountain, curving across the late Jimmy Glotfelty's farm, and then swinging back along the first ridge of Meadow Mountain. It is a circle about 2½ miles in diameter. Yes, my house is about right in the middle of it.

I have seem some pretty wintry weather come out from all four compass points. The nighttime chill is a shock at this time of the year just after we got a small dose of real summer weather. It is almost a 50-degree swing in 12 hours, and very few bodies can adapt to that kind of swing. At least we didn't get a frost yet, but it is not very far away. My guess is that it will come when the full moon of September arrives. That relationship between a phase of the moon and clear, very cool weather mystifies me.

I saw a big fat cricket this morning, and it reminded me of a short piece by James Thurber about a cricket in his house which drank some wine spilled on a table and he claimed it got very drunk. It did all kinds of crazy things. I wish I had a tiny bit of wine around, as I would enjoy watching a crazy cricket. However, I do not have any. I wonder if I give him a little coffee if it will be extra peppy. I think I will experiment a little. But so far it does not show any interest in a little coffee that I poured on a piece of foil.

The good news about insect life in Bittinger this summer was the lack of so many house flies, at least to my eyes. Most of the summer they drive me crazy and if even one is flying around inside I go on a killing frenzy. I guess it was the lack of market pigs in the barn, or how little time my girls were around and opened the doors all the time. Anyway, they are just not a problem. Guess what – as soon as I wrote this, I saw a lone fly fly across my vision.

Just about the same time, the ESPN coverage switched suddenly from baseball to football. Oh well, that is another thing you can't avoid: death, taxes, and the football season. I don't even care what happens to the Pittsburgh Steelers anymore, especially after I saw Lynn Swan on the political scene. It was another way to attack Teresa Heinz Kerry as a Pittsburgher. I understand why she told that over-aggressive reporter to "shove it." Why some people would rather see any weakness in a person instead of seeing their strength and better qualities is quite a question.

It was a very big musical weekend for the Rodney Glotfelty family. Blakely made her public debut as the drum major of the Northern Marching Band, while a few hundred miles away in College Park her big brother Robbie participated in his first football game halftime show as the newest tuba player in the University of Maryland Marching Band. Not only being watched by his family, but also in attendance at the game were Lynn and Carol Newman and kids, who also took along Emma Bass.

On Friday evening Rodney Glotfelty joined a handful of serious musicians of his generation who played their rhythm and blues music at the Yough Music Festival's Local Night with the Smith and Roberts Band. That bill attracted a record-breaking crowd, estimated at over a thousand people. That is too crowded for downtown Oakland for me. But I hated to miss it, especially after 30-some years of watching my big brother longing to be a rock star. Sometimes you just have to miss some big moments or important events.

Every step causes me horrible pain, but it seems as if it is not only me in my 50s and half crippled, as I saw Bill Kolbe walking with a cane. It almost seems as if the older Bittinger folks are in better shape than a lot of my generation.

I saw the most beautiful sight of Caitlin and Mere cuddling with their big sister Claire, who was home for a short visit from college. Even though it was a long weekend, we only enjoyed a few hours of her because she had to work, see her high school friends, etc. I am sure it was the same as when I was the student. I was sorry she had to go back on Monday, but she had the best reason as she needed to do more work for her first class on Tuesday morning. That was the #1 rule I gave her: "Always complete assignments on time." I did not bring a lot of homework to do on weekends, but I used the long drive back to do a lot of studying while other people were driving.

It was wonderful to see her, but now she is gone again and the ache is almost as bad as when she first left. Our Boo was so happy to see her and insisted that she accompany us to cousin Courtney's place in the Cove to visit with a handful of down-state friends.

Quite a few of our first-year college students made it home last weekend besides Claire. Home from their respective colleges were Torrey Poholsky from Greensboro College in Greensboro, N.C., and Brent Housley from Elizabethtown College in Elizabethtown, Pa. Landon Southerly plans to come home in two weeks for the big game between West Virginia and Maryland in Morgantown. Tickets for the game are scarce as "hens' teeth," according to Sheila Southerly. Even as Maryland, which had much more parking and filled to capacity, can you imagine Morgantown on a Big Game Day? All those steep narrow streets is not a place for me.

Lea and Mike Pochet, Beavercreek, Ohio, were weekend visitors of the Stantons, Poholskys, and Ferne Beachy over the holiday weekend. Other visitors were Mary Ellen and Steve Presgraves, Fenwick Island, Del., who were overnight guests of the Poholskys.

Also visiting the Poholskys over the weekend were Pam Poholsky and friend Eric, Murrysville, Pa. Sunday dinner guests were Dave and Nancy Beachy, Doug, June, Matthew, and Marly Stemper from Hagerstown, and other local family and guests that were visiting over the weekend.

About 35 members of Woodmen of the World Camp #68 attended their annual shrimp feed on Saturday evening at the Bittinger fire hall.

Ruth DiPaolo returned home Saturday after spending most of the past week with her pal, Betty Sacra, in Winchester. Also visiting Betty was Lucille Patton Ritter from Cumberland.

Bonnie McElroy, Mt. Airy, visited her mother, Harriett Buckel, at Cherry Hill Assisted Living over the weekend.

CERTIFIED AS GERIATRIC NURSES – The Garrett County Memorial Hospital has announced that two of its employees, Dee Murphy and Mandi Sharpless (above, left and right), recently passed the Certified Geriatric Nursing Assistant (CGNA) exam. In order to obtain CGNA certification, they each completed an 80-hour course as well as logged 40 "hands-on" clinical hours, a spokesperson said. "By obtaining this certification, Dee and Mandi help ensure that patients in our unit receive the best possible care," said Debbie Hawk, nurse manager for the Subacute Rehabilitation Unit. Murphy is a resident of Crellin, where she resides with her husband Bob. They have two children, Bobby and Darina. Sharpless resides in Mtn. Lake Park with her children, Anissa and Blade.

In Loving Memory of Our Dear Dad

Raymond H. Schlosnagle

Feb. 9, 1917 - Sept. 1, 2001

We knew it was just a matter of time until God would call your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same.

It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone; for part of us went with you, the day God called you home.

You left us peaceful memories, your love is still our guide, and though we cannot see you, you are always at our side.

Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same; but as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again.

Sadly missed by your children, Shirley, Sandra, Rebecca & Spencer and families

CERTIFIED AS PHARMACY TECH – Garrett County Memorial Hospital has announced that Robin Bowman, pictured, recently passed the National Pharmacy Technician Certification Examination. This qualifies her as a certified pharmacy technician (CPhT). Each of the other hospital pharmacy technicians, Peggy Spaid and Chris Livengood, have also attained this certification. Pharmacy techs assist pharmacists in providing medications and other services to patients, a GCMH spokesperson said. In the hospital setting, they aid the pharmacist by preparing as well as delivering medications throughout the hospital, procuring medications from various distributors, ensuring the correct storage of medications, and managing the medication inventory. "The pharmacy at our hospital functions at a high level because of the support each of the pharmacists receives from Peggy, Robin, and Chris," said Lance Rhodes, pharmacy director. "It is a credit to each of them and to our hospital that they have each received national certification in their profession." Robin lives in Accident with her husband Kenneth and children Tracy and Tyler.

Energy Assistance Applications Now Being Accepted

The Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. Office of Home Energy Program (formerly the Maryland Energy Assistance Program) is currently accepting applications for the 2004-2005 heating season.

The regular office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., at the office, which is located along Center Street in Oakland. Evening appointments may also be scheduled.

When applying, persons are required to bring proof of total household income for the prior 30 days, an electric bill, and a gas bill (if gas is the main source of heat). Person must also have their Social Security cards for members of the household, as well as a photo ID for the applicant.

Income guidelines and other eligibility information are available at the Community Action office. For more information or to schedule an evening appointment, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 114, or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 114.

"Breaking Free" Satellite Program To Be Shown

Breaking Free, a Christian live satellite program, will be shown at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren on Saturday, Sept. 18, from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The program is being presented in conjunction with the Church Communication Network (CCN), which is partnering with the American Association of Christian Counselors for the event.

Throughout the program, a lineup of counselors and teachers will "help people move toward hope and healing," a spokesperson said.

"People in churches throughout North America will be powerfully impacted by this daylong event," said Bill Dallas, founder and president of CCN.

Breaking Free speakers will include author Stormie Omartian, author Bruce Wilkinson, counselor and author Dr. John Townsend, pastor and author David Jeremiah, and others. Musician John Tesh will also be featured.

Oak Park Church of the Brethren is located at 110 Church Lane, Mtn. Lake Park, across the street from Southern High School. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2243. There is no charge for attending the event.

Glendale Assembly Of God To Hold Homecoming Day

The annual homecoming of the Glendale Assembly of God Church will be on Sunday, Sept. 12.

The day will begin with the morning service at 10 a.m. A covered dish luncheon will follow on the church grounds.

An afternoon service, beginning at 1:30 p.m., will feature special music by Saved By Grace, a young singing group from West Virginia.

Pastor Paul Goldizen invites the public to any or all of the homecoming events.

The Glendale Church is located along the Glendale Road. For more information, persons may call 301-245-4443.

Friendsville Sets Kick-Off Rally For After School

Partners After School at Friendsville will begin a new year of programming at a "Kick-off Rally" on Monday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria at Friendsville Elementary School. Program enrollment will be conducted at this time. Parents and students are encouraged to attend together for an evening of games, relevant program information, and refreshments.

Partners After School is a program for second to eighth graders, starting immediately after school and concluding at 6 p.m. This year's schedule encompasses four nights per week, Monday through Thursday. Each afternoon, the students have a snack, complete homework assignments, participate in many types of enrichment activities, and periodically travel on incentive field trips.

A spokesperson noted that the main objective of the after-school program is to provide quality assistance with homework assignments, reading, and test preparation. To accomplish this goal, three staff members plus certified tutors guide students through the homework hour.

Students enrolled in last year's program were extremely successful in grade improvement. By the end of the school year, nearly 80 percent of the students enrolled achieved an A or a B in both reading and math.

Enrichment programming will include library studies, soccer instruction and play, environmental activities, karate fitness, Tools for Life, various guest speakers, community service projects, arts and crafts, nature hikes, basketball instruction and play, and incentive field trips and meals.

Partners After School at Friendsville is funded by a 21st Century Community Learning Centers grant through the Maryland State Department of Education and the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families. The local community organization that makes this program possible is Friendsville Community Watch.

The Pleasant View Baptist Church will host revival meetings with Dr. Walter Price, the senior pastor of the Fellowship in the Pass Church in Beaumont, Calf., on Sunday, Sept. 12, through Wednesday, Sept. 15, at 6:30 p.m. each evening.

Price is a graduate of Mississippi College (B.A., M.Ed.), Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary (M.Div.), and Luther Rice Seminary (D. Min.). He has been in pastoral ministry for over 25 years.

He currently serves on the board of trustees of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., the board of trustees of California Baptist University in Riverside, and the board of directors of Life Action Revival Ministries in Niles, Mich.

Price released his first book, The Only Holiest: Simple Truths from Isaiah's Vision, in 2003. He and his wife, Janet, have five children.

The church is located 2 miles south of Oakland on U.S. Route 219. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-8515. The public is invited to attend.

Railroad Plays Part In Early Days Of Autumn Glory Fest

by Jo Donaldson
Garrett County
Chamber of Commerce

The railroad played an important part in Garrett County's early development and was involved in fall celebrations long before the Autumn Glory Festival.

As many as 750 people may come to Oakland Saturday, Oct. 16, on the Autumn Leaves Special. The train will leave the Hagerstown Roundhouse Museum at 7:15 a.m. for the 225-mile trip. It will arrive in Oakland at 11 a.m. in time for people to enjoy lunch, the parade, and other festival events. It will depart at 4:30 p.m.

It is a nice way for people to attend the festival and be part of Maryland's railroading history, said Bob Tracey of the Roundhouse Museum.

"The trains were already coming," said Pat Kittle Hoffman, first director of the Garrett County Promotions Council, who served from 1961 to 1967. "We added the activities and expanded it with ideas for entertaining and feeding them."

Originally it was simply the train excursion from Baltimore, she said. "We added entertainment, turkey dinners, and crafts. I had things at Swallow Falls. There was a pavilion at the top of the hill. The festival grew out of that."

"We could have as many as 1,500 people during the successive trains that originated in Baltimore," she said. "We worked with the B&O. We were responsible for what went on in Garrett County."

As many as 25 buses took people from the train station in Oakland to Swallow Falls, then to Deep Creek Lake and the state park, across Glendale Bridge, and back to Southern High School for their turkey dinner.

"Originally we had boxed lunches on the buses as they were going around. It was a grueling day for them but they just loved it," she said. "The leaves were glorious. They loved the countryside."

"The bus drivers were so courteous and wonderful. They were the tour guides," said Hoffman. "They would help the people on and off the bus. They greeted them and showed Garrett County hospitality. It was outstanding. Without their cooperation, I couldn't have done it."

"We did have people who would arrange for a private car that could hook onto the train at that time. They would have food and whatever entertainment their group booked. I remember Hopkins Medical Group did that," said Hoffman. "The doctors would all get together and come up for Autumn Glory."

Most would go to Southern High School for the big turkey dinners. Also all the restaurants would serve turkey dinners.

Jack Jones remembers the trains coming to Oakland, with his earliest memories going back to when he was 8 years old. People came on the train wanting to see the foliage.

Originally the organizers were going to call it the "Turkey Festival," he said with ideas to expand the fall event. Turkey dinners are the official dinner of Autumn Glory.

John Grant remembers even earlier train excursions. In the 1930s many people came up on the train to photograph the leaves and scenery. Rotarians provided automobiles for the members of the excursion.

In 1937, the B&O Railroad promoted the Autumn Leaf Excursion to Washington and Baltimore camera buffs as a chance to photograph the beautiful fall colors. B&O thought cars would allow more flexibility and add a personal touch, Grant said.

The trip usually went to Swallow Falls to begin with. The visitors took photographs there. Then it swung over to Deep Creek Lake and then back to Oakland.

An alternate to that was a trip up to the top of Backbone Mountain to Tablerock. They could take pictures up there, along Route 50, he said. They continued this until about 1939. It was primarily the Rotary Club working with B&O Railroad. Then the turkey growers and others got involved.

The early excursion trains usually had 200 to 300 passengers, said Grant. "I remember, when they started this, they were met in Oakland by the town band."

"Lawrence Fraley was mayor of Oakland at the time, and had a loud speaker system and he would greet all the passengers and they would fan out to the automobiles around the station."

Grant remembers taking a train trip to Baltimore for a broadcast during Fraley's term, as part of the town's promotion. Fraley also had the train stop in Oakland with four Indian chiefs aboard as it left the "Iron Horse Fair" at the B&O's 100th anniversary celebration. It was estimated that 1,500 people went to the station that day to see the train.

In recent years trains to Oakland usually came out from Hagerstown, although there have been a few from Cumberland, said Oakland mayor Asa McCain. Earlier tours were sponsored by the B&O railway.

"This was taken on by Tom Butscher, who kind of started the whole thing," the Mayor said. "He and Bob Rudy and Oakland Business Association, and Marvin Jones, and Bob Pratt, Clinton Englander are among those who got the festival started."

"They saw all these festivals around us and nothing was going on here in the fall," said McCain. "The Autumn Glory Festival brought people here, and here we are."

"I remember as a kid, coming downtown. We would go over and watch all the people get off the train," said Monty Pagenhardt. "It was well attended. They had a bunch of buses lined up and would take a tour of the county."

"People would walk around town and go to the food service facilities around town," remembers David Moe. "They would buy souvenirs, watch the parade on Saturday, and go to craft shows."

The railroad coordinates it from their end, said Peggy Jamison. "We welcome them at this end and try to make sure they have access to food vendors and information about what other places they can go."

The B&O Railroad's impact on Mountain Maryland was great. Garrett County was named after John Garrett, president of the B&O Railroad in the 1850s and 1860s. Garrett built the Garrett Memorial Church in Oakland (now St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish) and had a summer home in Deer Park, where his son Robert later lived. One part of the Garrett family land was donated to the state and is now known as Garrett State Forest.

The railroad built large hotels in Allegany and Garrett counties. Others sprang up in the same areas to take advantage of the large number of visitors from Baltimore and Washington who came to enjoy the clean mountain air.

In the 1880s, trains bought thousands of people to Mountain Lake Park's Chautauqua events to hear well-known speakers such as Mark Twain, Billy Sunday and even some U.S. presidents.

Local residents have many memories related to the railroad, from accidents such as the one in 1959 that killed seven young people on their way to school and the paycar accident in 1897 to huge entertainment events like Chautauqua. However, many simply remember meeting friends and relatives at the train station.

Persons interested in learning more about the Autumn Leaves Special Rail Trip may contact the Hagerstown Roundhouse Museum at 301-739-4665.

RAILROAD MAKES IMPACT ON AG FESTIVAL – The B&O Railroad was involved in the early development of Garrett County and was involved in the Autumn Glory festivities long before the original festival began. Just as years ago, the Autumn Leave Special will arrive in Oakland on Oct. 16 just in time for travelers to enjoy the parade, food, and other festivities. See story.

LL Church Of God To Host Ladies' Rally

The Loch Lynn Church of God will host a Ladies' Rally on Monday, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m., with special speaker Pam Seaman of Cumberland.

Seaman currently serves as the minister of music at Central Assembly of God, where her husband, Douglas Seaman, is the senior pastor. She will share her testimony along with ministering in song.

"My ministry focuses on bringing healing to hurting women across the country," said Seaman. "As a pastor's wife with a church of over 700, I understand the pews are filled with hurting women who truly want to be free. Having experienced God's deliverance from my own darkness, I understand that it is His desire to set people free."

PAM SEAMAN

She has traveled across the country as a soloist for more than 20 years, singing in camp meetings, prisons, churches, and crusades. She also has four solo recording projects.

All women are invited at attend this service. The church is located on First Avenue in Loch Lynn. For more information, persons may call the church office Monday through Friday at 301-334-3221.

Harvesting Pace Increased For Corn And Hay

Farmers were busy last week harvesting corn for grain and silage, vegetables, hay, and fruits before the rain sets in this week. There were 6.1 days suitable for field work for the week ending September 5.

Corn for grain harvest has begun, with 6 percent harvested. Corn for silage increased 6 percent from last week to 43 percent harvested, well above last year and the five-year average. Soybeans are turning color and beginning to drop their leaves.

Farmers were able to make progress on other and alfalfa hay harvest. The third cutting of alfalfa is nearing completion, with 90 percent harvested, and the fourth cutting is 30 percent complete. Other hay third cutting is at 70 percent complete. Vegetable harvest for snap beans, cantaloupes, watermelons, and potatoes will likely finish up in the next two weeks.

August rainfall for Garrett County was 4.7 inches, which was .6 inch above normal. Garrett County rainfall since April 1 totals 21.6 inches, which is 1.3 inches above normal for the period.

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Maryland Mining Program will submit an application to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, for the funding of three abandoned coal mine reclamation projects. The funding will be in accordance with Title IV, Section 405 of Public Law 95-87, Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

Qualification for Federal Funding under Title IV is contingent on an approved State Surface Coal Mining Regulatory Program and a State Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Plan. Maryland has received Office of Surface Mining approval of all three programs. Project funding will originate from the Appalachian Clean Streams Initiative Grant, administered by the Office of Surface Mining.

It is the goal of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Acid Mine Drainage Section to promote the reclamation of abandoned coal mine areas in Maryland that have been left in an inadequately reclaimed condition and endanger the safety of the public, degrade the quality of the environment, and/or diminish the beneficial use of land and water resources.

Comments are being solicited on the relative priority of the projects listed below and/or any other abandoned mine problems in the Maryland Coal Region. The Bureau of Mines requests information from the public concerning abandoned mine problems that pose a potential threat to the public health and safety or severely degrades the environment.

A public informational meeting concerning the proposed projects will be held as follows:

Wednesday, September 29, 2004
6:30 p.m.
Garrett College
CAOS Building, Room 1012
687 Moser Road
McHenry, MD 21541

Further information concerning the proposed projects can be obtained by contacting Mr. Joseph E. Mills, Acid Mine Drainage Section, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water St., Frostburg, MD 21532, (301) 689-6764, x 301. Written comments concerning these projects and the Maryland Acid Mine Drainage Program will be received at the public hearing and until Wednesday, October 13, 2004. Address all comments to the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Attention: Mr. Joseph E. Mills, at the address listed above.

The following is a general description of the proposed reclamation projects, including the location, County, nearest town or physical feature, and nature of the problem:

1. CRELLIN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TIPPLE RECLAMATION PROJECT

Location: Behind Crellin Elementary School in the town of Crellin, Garrett County.

Problem: A former coal tipple and coal-stockpiling site, adjacent to the school, is impacting the quality of Snowy Creek.

2. CHUB RUN ACID MINE DRAINAGE REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Northeast of Friendsville, just off Mill Run Road, in Garrett County.

Problem: Acid mine drainage discharging from an abandoned surface mine is impacting the water quality of Chub Run and thus Mill Run.

3. JAY RICE ACID MINE DRAINAGE REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Approximately 1 mile south of Crellin, west of Crellin-Underwood Road, Garrett County.

Problem: Acid mine drainage discharge from an abandoned, collapsed, deep mine portal is impacting the water quality of Laurel Run, Snowy Creek, and the Youghiogheny River.

In the event settlement is delayed.for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay $245.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of sale or fails to go to settlement, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages, and any deficiency in the underlying secured debt. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit.

CONTRACT: SR-01-05 AARON RUN
STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber on 30 acres of Compartment #47 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to yield 236,080 Bd. Ft. of measured and marked live hardwood sawtimber according to the International ¼" Saw Kerf Rule (FC=78), and 142 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less.

This timber is located approximately .3 mile east of the intersection with Westernport Road on the North side of Aaron Run Road, Savage River State Forest.

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on MONDAY, September 20, 2004. Interested persons should arrange to meet at the intersection of Westernport and Aaron Run Roads, at the above date and time.

2. Contract/Bid forms will be available at the showing or from Savage River State Forest Headquarters, 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville, MD 21536, 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted must be posted as bids are submitted to the MD State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Products Operator in Maryland for the current year and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control training to be awarded a State Forest Timber Contract.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid amount must be posted upon notification of bid acceptance. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volume will be made under any circumstances.

7. The successful bidder may make payment as follows: (1) make full payment upon notification of bid acceptance, or (2) select to make a 50% payment upon notification of bid acceptance, with the remaining 50% payable and due within 90 calendar days of the bid acceptance. If the buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in a form acceptable to the state of MD.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 2004.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Department of Natural Resources and the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board are proposing to increase the permit fees associated with the recreational use of Deep Creek Lake. The proposed fees, scheduled for implementation beginning in calendar year 2005, are as follows:

Deep Creek Lake
2005 Proposed DCL Fee Schedule

Class	Permit Description	2005 Proposed Fee
1	Residential/Private
	a. Type A and E	200.00
	b. Common	160.00
	c. Mooring Buoys	70.00
	d. Misc-Buffer Strip Use Only	70.00
	Residential/Rental
	e. Type A and E	200.00
	f. Common	160.00
	g. Mooring Buoys	70.00
	h. Rental Property Fee	70.00
2	Development (Commercial)	1,350.00
3	Special Permit (B/S Improvement)	70.00
4	Commercial
	a. Commercial Slips (Wet)	160.00
	b. Day use/Dry Storage Slips	160.00
	c. Yacht Club Slips (Wet)/Mooring	70.00
	d. Rental Boat Fleet (Motorized)	200.00
	e. Gas Sales	650.00
	f. Ramped Boats	10.00 MD residents 11.00 non-MD residents
	g. Commercial - General Use of Buffer Strip & Lake	135.00
5	Non-Conforming Use	50.00

The reason for this change is to provide additional revenue for the lake management program to continue to provide services on Deep Creek Lake. Lake buffer strip use permit holders will still be able to use the ramp at no extra charge by presenting their dock permit. The State Forest and Park Service All-Season Pass will continue to be applicable for boat launches.

A public hearing on the proposed change will be held at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center on Wednesday, October 20, 2004 at 1:00 p.m.

Written comments on the proposal may be submitted to Lake Manager, Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, 898 State Park Road, Swanton, Maryland 21561.

Southern Senior Is Named Md. Scholars Finalist

Jadyn Swerbinsky has been selected as a finalist in the Maryland Distinguished Scholars Program. The program recognizes Maryland high school students for superior academic achievement, for exceptional talent in the arts, or for achieving finalist status in the National Merit/National Achievement Scholarship Program.

As a Distinguished Scholars finalist, Jaydn has been awarded a merit-based scholarship to attend a Maryland institution of higher learning, and has been invited to Johns Hopkins University to attend the program's awards ceremony later this month.

Currently a senior at Southern High School, Jadyn is a member of the soccer and track teams, and serves as class representative of the student council and president of the Garrett County Association of Student Councils.

Jaydn resides in Mtn. Lake Park with her parents, Joseph and Debra Swerbinsky and her two brothers and one sister.

MEMORIAL STATUES DEDICATED — A pair of bronze statues depicting seven children playing together were unveiled and dedicated in Mtn. Lake Park during a special ceremony last Friday evening. The ceremony was held to remember the lives of seven Garrett County children who were killed on that day 45 years ago, Sept. 10, 1959, when their school bus was struck by a train at the railroad crossing separating Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn. The idea for erecting a monument was that of two sisters of Lee Hoffman, one of the victims of the crash. Holly Hoffman (left center) and Heather Davenport are pictured above during the unveiling. Rev. James F. Remley (seated at left), who took over as the driver on the ill-fated bus route following the accident, was the speaker for the ceremony. Vocal music was provided by the Broadford Quartet (Dave Martin, Jeff Fike, Carl Fike, and Tim Miller), and Adam Sincell. Town council member Don Sincell coordinated the program. The statue will ultimately be anchored to a brick base and permanently located at the historic Amphitheatre Ticket House property along G Street. A delay in the delivery of the brick made its completion impossible for the dedication. Numerous local businesses and individuals made financial contributions to the project, including Buck Martin of Shawnee Trading Post, who not only provided the main statue at a reduced price, but also donated the second statue of a young girl in order to have all seven children depicted. Persons may still make contributions by making out a check and sending it to Mayor and Town Council, P.O. Box 2182, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550. All contributors will be recognized in this newspaper next week. Photo by John McEwen.

State Highway Officials to Hear Local Concerns

Maryland Department of Transportation officials will conduct their annual DOT "Tour" meeting on Friday, Oct. 8, at 10 a.m. in the commissioners' meeting room at the courthouse in Oakland.

DOT and State Highway Administration leaders will discuss capital expenditures and review the status of current or proposed projects. Garrett County officials have also compiled a "wish list" of concerns that they would like addressed.

"They've been very responsive in previous years," said Director John Nelson, Garrett County Planning and Zoning Office, about the state officials' reaction to the list. He added that the county was "certainly very appreciative" of the recent announcement made by Governor Ehrlich that funding for the U.S. Rt. 219 Oakland bypass project had been allocated.

County officials will request information about the scheduling of funding, and progress of right-of-way acquisition, design, engineering, and construction on the bypass project at the DOT meeting.

Local officials also want more details about the scheduling of funding and the progress on the Rt. 219 North Project for the North/South Appalachian Corridor, noted Nelson.

Other local concerns/questions that the DOT will be asked to discuss include the following:

David C. Moon Named County's "Most Beautiful"

Rev. David C. Moon was recognized this week by the Garrett County commissioners as the county's "Most Beautiful Person." The Sunnyside resident was chosen from a list of five other nominated individuals by a local committee.

Once again, the theme for this year's selection process was "The Power of One," which celebrates the impact that one volunteer or group can have on a community.

"David Moon is very devoted to his community, congregation, family, and friends," wrote his nominator, Valerie Dixon. "He is called upon often, sometimes in the middle of the night. He responds regardless of the nature of the problem, whether it be medical, spiritual, or just a shoulder to cry on."

An emergency medical technician, Moon has been a member of the Southern

Autumn Glory Festival Royalty Announced By Garrett Chamber

The royal court of the 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival has been announced by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. Erin Ashley Rhodes and Eric M. Johnson will reign as queen and king of this year's festival, accompanied by Blakely Glotfelty, princess, and Andrew Goad, prince.

The son of Kevin and Mary Jo Johnson, Eric lives in Avilton and is a senior at Northern High School. He is a varsity letterman in football, basketball, and baseball, and is on the honor roll. He participated in band and a cappella choir, is a golfer and plays chess, and was a prince for both the Snow Ball and prom last year. Eric received seven Maryland Minds in Motion awards and the Mettiki Success in Schools citation, and he is a student council representative. This scholar-athlete plans to attend college in the medical field.

Queen Erin Rhodes, daughter of Lance and Bobbie Rhodes, is a senior at Southern High School and has been a member of the Southern Lady Rams Soccer Team. She also is part of the high school chorus and honor chorus, a peer mediator and counselor, and a member of math and newsbowl teams. She was a 2003 Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Ambassador and 2004 Maryland Girls' State attorney general. Erin is the vice president of both the senior class and the National Honor Society. She is employed at Proudfoot's Pharmacy.

Andrew Goad, a senior at Southern High School, is captain of the cross country team and is a distinguished honor roll student. He was named Outstanding Chemistry Student of the Year and attended Boys State and Boys Nation programs. Treasurer of the school student council, Andrew is also a statistician for boys' basketball, and is the school sound and light technician. Andrew lives with his stepfather and mother, Ronnie and Pamela Friend, in Mtn. Lake Park. His father and stepmother, Richard and Sheri Goad, reside in Do-

Building Permits For DCL Homes Down From 2003

The number of building permits issued for single family homes in the Deep Creek Lake area is down more than 18 percent from last year, permits coordinator Jim Torrington, Garrett County Planning and Zoning Office, told the commissioners this week.

Between January and August 2004, 108 building permits were issued for "stick-built" homes in the Deep Creek Lake area, compared to 132 for the same period last year.

The number of permits issued for homes outside the lake area, however, has increased. In the first eight months of this year, 110 were issued, compared to 94 for the same period last year.

Torrington noted that the total number of permits issued – including those for single-family homes, duplexes, town houses, and commercial ventures – for the entire county had increased by 5.43 percent.

Part of that increase is because of the construction of new town houses and rental units in the Deep Creek Lake area.

"We've had a pretty good year in terms of town houses," Torrington said.

Eight town house permits have been issued so far this year, compared to only two for the same period last year. Additionally, 24 permits have been issued for units at the lake, while only six were issued at this time last year.

Motorcyclist Dies After Hitting Truck Head-On Saturday Morning

An Oakland man died Saturday morning when his 2002 Honda motorcycle collided head on with a 1981 International truck on Jasper Riley Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies. See obituary on page A-6.

Cheston Van Bachtel, 20, was pronounced dead on the scene of the 10:25 a.m. accident, police said.

The truck was operated by Jonathon Michael Lucas, 23. The investigation is ongoing by the GCSO accident reconstruction team.

While on the scene, a 1991 Honda operated by Mathew Lee Lucas, 19, was traveling southbound on Garrett Highway when he slowed for the previous accident. As the Lucas vehicle slowed, he was rear-ended by a 1994 Ford van operated by Harold Van Bachtel, 74. This accident also remains under investigation.

All involved in both accidents were Oakland residents and were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Deputies were assisted on both scenes by Oakland police and Oakland firefighters.

GC Recycling Div. Schedules Scrap Tire Amnesty Day

The Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division, General Services Department, will conduct a Scrap Tire Amnesty Day event on Saturday, Oct. 2, beginning at 9:00 a.m. Because of the limited container capacity, however, the collection will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

During this one day only event, Garrett County residents may bring up to 10 passenger tires per household, free of charge to the Garrett County Fairgrounds. A residential permit is not required to participate; however, it is only being offered to Garrett County Residents.

No commercial, truck, equipment or agricultural tires will be accepted. The tires must be free of dirt, mud, and water. The tires may have rims.

This event, sponsored by the Garrett County commis-

Kempton Mine Project Receives $45,000 Grant

The Western Maryland Resource Conservation and Development Council (WMRCD) has been awarded $45,000 to implement water quality monitoring programs at three sites affected by acid mine drainage in the Kempton Mine Complex.

The council was one of 38 groups statewide recently chosen to receive funding from federal agencies as part of the Chesapeake Bay Program's Small Watershed Grants initiative. A nonprofit organization, the WMRCD covers Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, and Carroll counties. Its projects include stream restoration and treatment of acid drainage from abandoned mines.

The funding will be used to investigate long-term solutions to the water-quality problem caused by abandoned mines. A 'technol-

State, County Show Improvement In High School Assessment Tests

Improved High School Assessment (HSA) and Maryland School Assessment (MSA) scores highlighted the release of data this week on the Maryland Report Card, according to the Maryland State Department of Education. Garrett County also showed significant increases across the board, Dr. Pat Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information, told the board of education at Tuesday's meeting.

New data on the report card include the MSA scores for grades 4, 6 and 7, given for the first time last year. Grades 4, 6, and 7 MSA data do not count toward school accountability under the federal No Child Left Behind Act until the 2005-2006 school year, but were used to set baseline proficient scores.

In Garrett County, the HSA results showed significant increases across the board, with an average of a 6% increase, said Mullinix. The county score in English continues to be lower than the state average, but Mullinix added that this is a common area of concern across the state. She said that the test itself will change and will no longer be given in grade 9. Instead it will be given in grade 10.

"Overall our students and teachers really came through," said Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent. "We did quite well in this assessment."

The proficiency rate results for the MSA 2004 reading results were very close to the state level, Mullinix said.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL" NOMINEES RECOGNIZED – The Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday recognized the six nominees for Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person Award. The honorees were nominated by other Garrett County residents for their numerous hours of volunteer work. From the list of nominees, a local selection committee then chose Rev. David C. Moon as the county's "Most Beautiful." The pastor of Fairview Church of the Brethren, Moon has served on the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad for 16 years and donates his talents and numerous hours of time to help the community. See story for details. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Dave Beard, and Fred Holliday. In the back row are nominees Roger Uber, William Hesen, Bernadine Friend, Moon, and Phyllis B. Trickett, plus Mary Beth Pirolozzi, Senator John Hafer's district administrator for Garrett and Allegany counties. Not pictured is nominee Marvin "Red" Guthrie. Photo by John McEwen.

Groups Invited To Participate In AG Parade

Groups wanting to have a float in the 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival's Grand Feature Parade are asked to contact the Chamber of Commerce. More than 60,000 people are expected to attend the event, which will be held this year on Saturday, Oct. 16, at 1 p.m. in Oakland. Floats and other participants must line up at 11 a.m.

The deadline for entering floats or musical groups in the parade is Friday, Sept. 24.

The National Judges Association will award top honors in several categories. Floats should express the theme "Celebrate the Glory of Autumn." Judging will be based on originality, artistic appeal, and overall appearance.

Any group or individual may enter a float in the parade if regulations and requirements are met. Commercial floats or floats advertising a product for sale will not be accepted.

"The Parade Committee also has the right to reject any unit with a theme or description deemed to be offensive," said a Chamber of Commerce of spokesperson.

A float must consist of an open, decorated flatbed or farm-wagon type vehicle. No coal trucks, heavy equipment, or tractor trailers will be allowed. Floats may not exceed 15 feet in height.

"The Parade Committee also is committed to securing quality marching units for the parade, specifically high school marching bands, said Deb Clatterbuck, director of tourism and marketing for the chamber. "We want floats to be community minded, not advertise for commercial interests."

For safety reasons, no throwing of items from parade units will be permitted, and printed materials cannot be distributed in any manner.

"Participating in this event grants the Autumn Glory Festival permission to use photographs for publicity, news articles, or other festival and promotional purposes," added the spokesperson.

Anyone wanting more information about the parade may contact Clatterbuck at 301-387-4386 or deb@garrettchamber.com.

Man Charged After Maryland Hwy. Mishap

An Oakland man was charged by Maryland State Police troopers following a Monday morning vehicle collision on Maryland Highway on top of Backbone Mountain.

Steven Craig Whittington, 52, was traveling east at 8:33 a.m. in a Hyundai Sonata sedan when a Ford dump truck in front of him slowed to make a right-hand turn onto Mt. Zion Road. Whittington reportedly attempted to pass the dump truck on the right shoulder and ran into the passenger side of the truck as it made its turn.

Whittington, who was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries, was charged with negligent driving. The dump truck operator, Troy James Bucklew, 34, Elk Garden, W.Va., was not injured in the mishap.

The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department and the Tri-Towns Ambulance Service assisted at the scene.

In other state police accident investigations reported this week, a Sept. 4 single-vehicle crash near Friendsville injured a Pennsylvania woman, who was subsequently charged with driving while under the influence (DUI).

Shortly after 9 p.m., Connie Jean Augustine, 39, Confluence, was turning from Blooming Rose Road onto northbound Friendsville Road when she reportedly made an improper turn and traveled off Friendsville Road and struck an embankment. Her 1995 Jeep Grand Cherokee overturned and came to rest in the roadway.

Augustine was transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries. The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

In addition to the DUI charge, Augustine was cited for making an improper turn.

Rain, Flooding Cause Accidents On Md. Hwy.

Two drivers were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital with minor injuries following separate accidents near the intersection of Maryland Highway and Altamont Road last Wednesday afternoon. Heavy rain and flooding conditions contributed to the mishaps, and no charges were filed against the drivers, according to a Maryland State Police report.

Betty Scott, 36, Kitzmiller, was eastbound on Maryland Highway in a 2000 Chevrolet Impala at about 2:30 p.m. The vehicle entered a large amount of water running across the highway, causing the driver to lose control and strike an embankment.

A short time later at the same location, Jennifer Droppleman, 24, Elk Garden, W.Va., was also eastbound in a 2001 Ford Escape. After entering the water, she also lost control of her vehicle and struck the embankment.

In addition to the Maryland State Police, Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad also responded.

Two Injured In Two-Car Crash In Oakland

A car accident in Oakland on Wednesday resulted in injuries to two individuals, according to a report from the Oakland City Police.

Shannon M. Martin, 20, Oakland, was driving a 2000 Dodge van southbound on Third Street. She was stopped at the traffic light at the intersection of Third and Memorial Drive when her vehicle was apparently rear-ended by a 1990 Chevrolet operated by Heather R. Cooper, 30, Oakland. The crash happened at about 3:50 p.m.

Both Martin and a passenger in her vehicle, Cheryl D. Frantz, were injured in the collision and were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Two individuals in the Cooper vehicle, Walter S. and Dalton G. Cooper, ages 9 and 7 respectively, were not injured, according to the report.

Cooper was deemed at fault in the crash and was cited by Oakland officer Cpl. S. Fratz, according to the report. Also on the scene was Chief John Sines.

Bear Killed After Being Hit By Van

A bear was killed when it was hit by a 2002 Dodge van on Rt. 495 near Baker Road south of Grantsville Tuesday afternoon, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Cindy Marie Stanton, 40, Grantsville, was traveling northbound on Rt. 495 near Baker Road when a bear ran from the wooded west bank area and into the path of her vehicle, she told police. It was hit by the front left area of the van.

Personnel from the Department of Natural Resources arrived and secured the bear, police said.

No charges were filed.

In other police news, the driver involved in a single-vehicle accident early Wednesday morning was cited for having a suspended driver's license.

William Goulart drove his 1994 Mazda off the road at the intersection of Swallow Falls Road and Cheeks Lane and struck an embankment, police said.

No injuries were reported and no other vehicles were involved.

Man Sentenced For Attempted Arson, Theft

An Oakland man was sentenced Tuesday in Garrett County Circuit Court to two years in the Division of Corrections for attempted second-degree arson. Judge Jim Sherbin suspended Forrest Mark Bachtel's sentence and placed him on supervised probation, with conditions including restitution to the victim.

Bachtel was also sentenced to two years in the DOC for theft, which will run concurrently to the arson sentence. He pleaded guilty to these crimes in July, and the judge ordered that a pre-sentence investigation report be completed.

Bachtel was charged in February after investigators with the state fire marshal's office determined there had been an attempt to set a fire in an Oakland-area business.

According to the state's attorney, the owner had opened his shop and office one morning and found it full of smoke, with papers and oil strewn about. Although some burning had occurred, the fire had burned itself out during the night.

During the investigation, officers determined that checks were missing from the business checkbook, as well as rifles, a bow, and other items.

After being questioned, Bachtel, who was working at the business part time, admitted to taking two checks and setting the fire to cover up the theft. He also admitted to taking the guns, bow, and tools on a prior occasion. Most of the stolen items were recovered, according to the state's attorney.

The fire marshal was assisted by officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

MLP Man Gets Six Years For Assault Charge

A 19-year-old Mountain Lake Park man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to six years in the Division of Corrections for first-degree assault. Judge Jim Sherbin then suspended 4½ years of Anthony James Hardesty's sentence.

He will serve the remaining 18 months in the Garrett County Jail and will be on supervised probation after his release.

Hardesty was arrested by deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in January after they determined that he had followed a man from Mtn. Lake Park into Oakland and had fired at least one shot at the victim's vehicle.

The deputies had responded to vehicle horns outside their Third Street Oakland office, and observed one vehicle following another around the block.

The victim was able to stop in front of the office and report that his vehicle had been shot, and he showed the deputies a bullet hole and shattered glass in the vehicle.

Deputies and Maryland State Police troopers went to Hardesty's home and located him inside. A .22 caliber rifle was found in his vehicle, which was parked in the driveway.

Alcohol was determined to be a factor in this incident, according to the state's attorney.

Hardesty pleaded guilty to first-degree assault in May.

Accident Secures Grants For Town Sewer Upgrades

Governor Robert L. Ehrlich recently announced that the Board of Public Works approved a $350,000 grant for the town of Accident to improve its wastewater collection system.

"Despite previous improvements, the town continues to experience bypasses and effluent violations during wet weather events," said Ehrlich. "Once complete, these improvements will bring the town's wastewater treatment plant and collection system into compliance with regulations."

The funding will finance repairs and/or replacement of sewer lines and treatment facilities upgrades to eliminate excessive inflow and infiltration into the system.

"The town could have never afforded this critically needed wastewater system rehabilitation project without state and federal funding," Accident mayor Richard Carlson said when told of the grant award.

Total cost of the project is more than $2.9 million, with the balance coming from a previously awarded $150,000 state grant, a Community Development Block Grant, and a combination of federal grant and loan dollars.

The project is expected to begin in October and to be completed in November 2007. Accident's wastewater system serves 370.

Local Man Given Six Months For Telephone Misuse

An 29-year-old Oakland man was found guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court this week of telephone misuse. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced James Arthur Dillsworth to six months in the Garrett County Jail and suspended the sentence.

Dillsworth was found not guilty of additional charges of assault, harassment, disorderly conduct, and trespassing.

He is on supervised probation, with conditions that include having no contact with the victim and remaining away from her place of employment. He must also pay a $250 fine.

The charges stem from an investigation conducted by the Oakland City Police. They were contacted in February by a business owner who reported receiving a telephone call from an employee about Dillsworth being at the business and refusing to leave.

In other Circuit Court news this week, Jason Todd McCroskey, 27, Oakland, pleaded guilty driving while impaired. The judge sentenced him to six months in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended.

McCroskey will be on supervised probation and will be required to pay a $750 fine.

He was charged with DWI and related charges in February after local deputies observed him driving on Gorman Road (Rt. 560) and crossing the center and edge lines. McCroskey was arrested after failing field sobriety tests, according to the state's attorney.

Two Injured In Single-Vehicle Mishap Saturday

Two people were injured in a single-vehicle accident at the intersection of Old Crellin Road and Dilly Road early Saturday morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Michael Miller, 25, Oakland, was operating his 1986 Pontiac Fiero eastbound on Dilly Road when he reportedly failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection and struck an embankment located on the northbound shoulder of Old Crellin Road, police said.

Miller was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. A passenger in the vehicle, Thomas Gank, 24, Oakland, was taken to the hospital by a private vehicle.

Charges are pending against Miller, and the investigation is ongoing at this time, police said.

Assisting at the 1:15 a.m. scene were Oakland firefighters.

In other police news, Granville Park Halterman Sr., 73, Oakland, was arrested after his vehicle was observed weaving and crossing the center of Sand Flat Road Friday night, police said.

After failing field sobriety tests, Halterman was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI), driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI), and failure to drive right of center.

In a separate incident on Sunday, William Wagoner was cited when his vehicle hit a Buick operated by Stephanie Brenneman at the intersection of Swanton Road and Ross Savage Road.

Brenneman was attempting to make a left turn onto Ross Savage Road when Wagner's vehicle passed on the left side.

Grantsville Mkt. Incident Leads To Charges Friday

A Pennsylvania man was charged with assault and disorderly conduct following a Friday incident at the Grantsville Corner Market, according to Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack.

Franklin L. Sanner, 30, Springs, was taken into custody by troopers responding to a 9-1-1 call that reported a fight in progress. The first trooper to arrive reportedly observed Sanner holding a baseball bat in a threatening manner toward an alleged victim nearby. No injuries were reported.

Sanner was reportedly processed at the McHenry barrack, and conditions of his release were not stated in Tfc. D. Wagoner's press release.

In other state police arrest activity, troopers jailed a New Jersey man for drug possession following a Saturday traffic stop on westbound Interstate 68 near Grantsville.

Michael Thomas Rosinski, 18, Milford, faces charges of marijuana and drug paraphernalia possession filed after he was pulled over for speeding and a seatbelt violation at 11:55 a.m. in the area of Route 219 North.

When a bag containing suspected marijuana residue was observed in plain view on the front passenger seat of Rosinki's Saturn, troopers initiated a search that also uncovered a suspected marijuana smoking pipe.

Rosinski was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center on a $1,500 bond.

She is the drum major this year. She serves as secretary of her student council and president of Best Buddies at Northern, and she has participated with the Mock Trial Team and Model United Nations. She has served as secretary for the Bittinger 4-H Club for the past six years, and has been employed at Lakeside Creamery for the past three years.

"All the young people considered for the Royal Court were great examples," said Oakland mayor Asa McCain. "If more people met these young men and women, they would not worry about the future."

Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett County Chamber, said this year's royal court is only a representation, "although a magnificent representation," of the many young people organizers had to choose from.

"Every competitor should be sitting with the royal court, but we didn't have enough floats," Ross said.

The court will officially be presented at the Autumn Glory Kick-Off Reception on Wednesday, Oct. 13. The four honorees will be among the leaders of the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade on Saturday, Oct. 16. They also will represent the county at many events throughout the festival weekend.

Railey Realty Inc., the official sponsor of the Autumn Glory Royal Court, will provide a scholarship to each member of the court, and gowns for the queen and princess, plus other "courtly accoutrements," a spokesperson said. Tuxedo rentals for the king and prince will be donated by Marvin's Men's Wear, Oakland.

The coronation of the king and queen and their court at the kick-off event will be followed by dancing with music by Queen City Funk & Soul. The reception will be held at the Lodge at Wisp, beginning at 6 p.m. for cocktail hour. Dinner will follow at 7 p.m.

Festival sponsors will also be recognized at the event. Each guest will receive a collectible Autumn Glory pin and Golden Ambassador pass, which entitles the holder to admission and priority seating at the Ronnie Reno and the Reno Tradition Concert and banjo contest on Friday night, and the Fiddle and Mandolin Contest on Saturday night, as well as priority seating on the bleachers near the reviewing stand for the parade on Saturday.

"These small grants are making a big difference in promoting citizen-based stewardship and helping to repair degraded watersheds throughout the Chesapeake Bay basin," said Senator Paul Sarbanes. "And who better to do this work than local community groups . . . or the local governments which are responsible for local land use and other important decisions."

Between 1914 and 1950, Kempton was an active mining town with as many as 650 residents working for the Davis Coal and Coke Company, according to the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Not long after the Kempton mine closed, water began to discharge from the air shaft and an electrical line borehole into Laurel Run, a headwater tributary of the North Branch of the Potomac River. Millions of gallons of mine water per day, containing high amounts of iron and sulfate and a pH of less than 3.5, destroyed the wetland plants and native aquatic life downstream on Laurel Run and the North Branch of the Potomac River, according to the MDE.

"Maryland communities want to stand up for the health of the Chesapeake Bay, but they can't do it on their own," said Senator Barbara Mikulski. "The Small Watershed Grants are a federal investment in helping communities protect and preserve the Bay."

Bigger Fish...

There's one band wagon on each side of the presidential political campaign that we wish everyone, particularly the media, would simply abandon.

Both President Bush and Senator Kerry are being hacked and attacked for their actions and decision making during their military service, something which took place at least 35 years ago during a war that has been over for 30 years. There has been an enormous amount of energy and money expended by both camps (and once again, the media) in an attempt to discredit the opposing candidate for those actions.

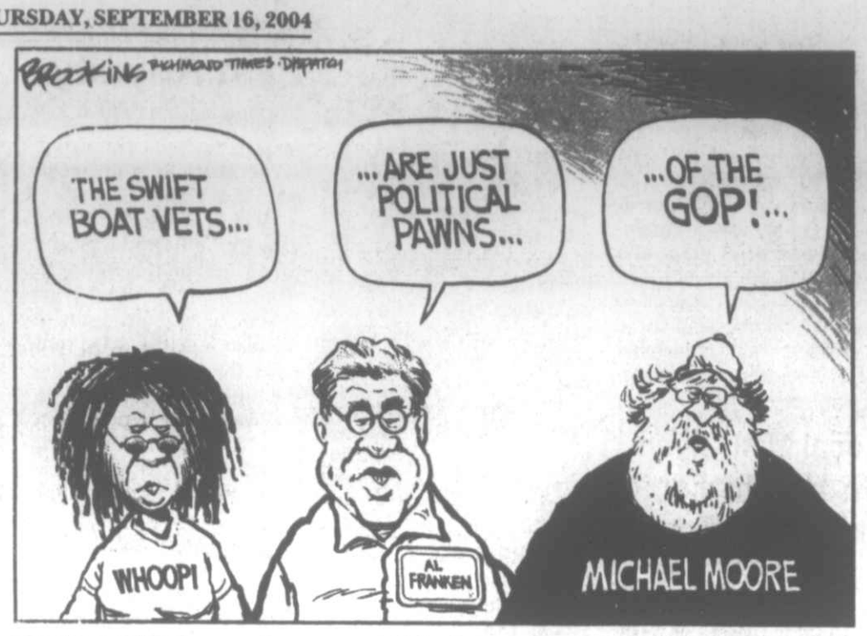
Bush and Kerry were both in their early 20s at the time, an age at which none of us is exceedingly wise (though we think we are), an age at which the decision-making process is generally different from that which we utilize when we are, say, in our 50s. No doubt both men would relish the opportunity to be able to magically return to those early years and change at least a few of their decisions.

Male citizens who are old enough today to remember the threat of the military draft into an extremely unpopular war also remember a variety of actions taken by thousands to avoid that draft. These ranged from getting a student deferment, to ingesting a combination of aspirin and Coca-Cola in an attempt to flunk a physical, to running off to Canada. Were all of the young men who selected one or more of these actions terrible people, all unfit to ever serve as president of the nation? Again, this was a very unpopular war that did feature lines of volunteers as did World War II following the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Did George Bush avoid the hell hole of Vietnam because he was born into a family with connections? Probably. Would John Kerry anxiously grab a third Purple Heart under any circumstance just to get out of that same hell hole? Probably. When presented with such opportunities, many would have seized them in order to avoid or get out of warfare, especially warfare that was so controversial.

Defenders of former President Clinton said that his moral behavior — his poor judgment in his personal life — should have no bearing on whether or not he was competent to serve as president. Mr. Clinton was in his 50s at the time, so good grief, can't we all just get off of the attacks of Bush and Kerry for some of their behavior back when they were barely adults? There are much bigger fish to fry.

Post note: This column today is in no way intended to demean the service of the thousands of brave men and women who served our nation in Vietnam, or to suggest that a willingness to serve in this capacity was "abnormal" behavior.



Letters to the Editor

New Letters Policy

Effective with next week's issue of The Republican, letters to the editor exceeding 400 words will be published only if there is adequate space available and, as with all letters, totally at the discretion of the editor. Among the letters that will likely be denied publication will be those that are repetitive, from the standpoint of subject, content, and the identification of the writer. We will continue, however, to be as fair as possible in providing space for opinions from all sides of the issues.

To the Editor:

This election year, as everyone is aware, is very important. As a young voter, I know that this election is about the future, not the past. As the Kerry campaign tries to embrace one part of the past, the Bush campaign embraces the present and how it will lead into the future.

The Kerry campaign has criticized the Bush administration, and they have left out what they actually plan to do to secure our future as Americans. John Kerry is wrong on national security, as outlaid in previous letters, and is also wrong on the domestic agenda. Here are the stark contrasts between the Kerry domestic agenda and the pro growth, pro America agenda of the Bush administration.

Kerry has offered no solution to fix Social Security. He says he will not privatize it, but offers no solution as to how the soon retiring baby boomers will have a secure retirement with Social Security. Even if payroll taxes were increased by 50%, Social Security will have a 121 trillion dollar shortfall between 2017 and 2070. That means that if Kerry has his way, my generation will never see a dime of Social Security.

George Bush has a plan to make Social Security solvent and ensure that every American has a secure retirement. He does this through establishing retirement accounts for those age 55 and under. These accounts would allow younger workers to take a portion that they currently pay to Social Security and put it in a retirement fund that the government can not touch. That money is secure. It also will grow through investment options that will be secured by the government. Also, for those who work and make an average of less than 25,000 per year, they will be given a credit by the government, which will be added to their account to ensure that they get more than they would receive under the current program.

This program also allows widows to continue receiving all the benefits they get for themselves and all of their spouses benefits. Under the current system, when the husband dies, the wife loses her benefits completely, and receives only what her husband received. So with the Bush plan, a widow would not have to worry about losing any income. This is a much needed reform that is very important to ensure a secure retirement for all. So with part of the current Social Security payroll tax being put into these accounts, it secures the Social Security for those on the current system and those who will be on it within the next few years, while allowing a secure retirement for future generations. This plan will decrease government spending, thus decreasing the deficit, and does not break the back of my generation with the burden of a 121 trillion dollar shortfall that my generation would have to pay for.

Health care is a very important issue to all Americans. John Kerry proposes increasing taxes on small-business owners to pay for his government controlled health care system. This is what he means when he says the upper 2%. This means that anyone who works for a small business may possibly lose their job because the government will take the money that they use to upgrade equipment to remain competitive in the global market, and to provide cost of living raises to you, the employee.

George Bush's plan allows small businesses to group their health plans together to get the discounts that larger businesses enjoy. This works because, as every small business owner knows, the more employees who are included in a plan, the cheaper everyone's portion is. He will also enact tort reform, so the cost of liability insurance is lower, and doctors can afford to practice medicine without fear of a frivolous lawsuit. Bush's plan will work without increasing taxes or the deficit by a single dime. This would never be possible with a millionaire trial lawyer, like John Edwards as second in command.

Believe me, as a person who has had health issues over the years, this is very important to me. There is no excuse for a small business to not be able to enjoy the benefits of a large company.

Let us also reflect how far we have come since 9-11-01. Most of the jobs lost were lost during the height of the recession that the Bush administration inherited from the Clinton administration and in the first three months after 9-11-01. A million jobs were lost as a direct result of the attacks. When people are afraid and living in fear, they do not invest and do not have the confidence necessary to create a strong economy. We have overcome these challenges and every job created is a victory for freedom. The current unemployment rate is 5.4%. That is lower than it has been on average in three decades. In the '70s it averaged 6.2%, the '80s 7.3%, and 5.7% in the '90s.

Also in July, U.S. consumers spent more on retail sales than in at any other point in history. This shows that the Bush policies have helped us overcome our confidence problem, and jobs are being created and we are on the right track. So, while John Kerry undergoes senate voting record bypass surgery, and avoids his record in the senate, George Bush has been doing his job and is providing the homeland security we need to pursue a brighter domestic agenda.

So if you want a secure homeland, secure health care, a good job, and a secure retirement, vote for George Bush. If you want a bigger government that taxes you to death, literally, then vote for John Kerry. Vote this November 2, 2004. Your future really depends on it.

To the Editor:

I am responding to Jeremy Gosnell's letter in the September 2 edition of The Republican. Mr. Gosnell stated that "there is rumor that the Bush Administration has already introduced a bill that would reinstate the draft."

On January 7, 2003, Senator Ernest Hollings (D-SC) introduced the Universal National Service Act of 2003 (S.89). If passed, the bill would reinstate the military draft and mandate either military or civilian service for all Americans between the ages of 18 and 26. The bill has been read before the Senate twice, and was referred to the Committee on Armed Services. The bill is active, but it has received little attention or support.

On the same day, an identical bill (H.R. 163) was introduced in the House of Representatives. The bill was sponsored by Mr. Rangel (D-NY), and co-sponsored by Mr. McDermott (D-WA), Mr. Conyers (D-MI), Mr. Lewis (D-GA), Mr. Stark (D-CA), and Mr. Abercrombie (D-HI). This bill is also active, but it has garnered little support. The bill was referred to the House Committee on Armed Services on January 7, 2003, and the Subcommittee on Total Force on February 3, 2003. No further action has been taken on the bill.

As you can see, the sponsors and co-sponsors of these bills are Democrats. The full text of the bills is available on the Internet and can be accessed from the Senate or House wesites (www.senate.gov or www.house.gov).

In addition, several recent writers have mentioned job losses during President Bush's term. However, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, 136,181,000 people were employed in the United States in January 2001, the month that Bush took office. In August 2004, 140,226,000 people were employed. That is a net increase of about 4 million jobs during Bush's administration. The national unemployment rate has increased during the same time period from 4.2% to 5.4% because the labor force has grown faster than the number of available jobs; nevertheless, more people are working today than four years ago. The monthly statistics from January 2001 to August 2004 show that the number of people working never dropped below the January 2001 number, with the exception of January – April 2002 and January 2003.

In regard to the unemployment rate, economists consider "full employment" to be between 94 and 96%. There will always be a certain number of people who are numbered in the labor force, but are unemployed due to voluntary job changes, a temporary return to school, or other life circumstances.

I know that statistics are not comforting to people who are unemployed through no choice of their own, but I think we need to keep the current economic conditions in proper perspective. I remember the double-digit unemployment and inflation rates of the early 1980s, and I don't understand the pessimism so many people seem to feel regarding today's economy.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth G. Beatty

To the Editor:

Our county commissioners have enabled the planned construction of a new Adventure Sports facility. The article mentions the taxpayer will be paying somewhere in the range of $8 million for it. It did not mention that very few Garrett County taxpayers will use this. Taking a count of approximately 10,000 households for the county, we see that each owner will be paying $800! The commissioners could easily have given us a one time tax break of $800 and most of us would have been very pleased.

Shouldn't the taxpayer be allowed to vote on such spending? Again, they will say that most of the money is federal or state, but some of us understand that federal and state taxes come from us!

For the folks who want to tear down the jail and spend a million plus to accomplish this, may I suggest that you do that from private funds – not from taxes we pay, not from state taxes, or federal taxes. Please consider us, gentlemen!

Thomas E. Doyle
Oakland

To the Editor:

John Kerry is running around talking about messing with the tax incentives of companies that send jobs overseas and takes them away from the American workers. He is criticizing President Bush and saying that he has sent jobs overseas.

My question is – is Kerry going to apply this new tax incentive program to his wife's company? After all, Heinz is the "most international U.S. based food company." Do you know that she has 61 companies in foreign countries? Wow – that is a lot of American jobs! Can you imagine how many people would be working here in the United States if those companies were on U.S. soil? Will this be applied to her or will he exempt her company from this policy? What wonderful qualifications for a First Lady! Of course, this could just be some more of Kerry's double talk.

Chris Comfort

To the Editor:

There is a lot of talk and comments concerning the 1,000 soldiers killed in the Iraq war. CNN and CBS are just two of the networks that I have seen spend considerable energy reporting the details. I am not opposed to the reporting of such statistics, and I am deeply grieved for the families who have lost loved fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters.

However, I must point out that we lose over 1,000 Americans every month to drunk drivers right here in America. Are these people less deserving of recognition for the life they gave so that we Americans can go on drinking and driving? If we had terrorists setting off bombs in America that took 1,000 lives every month we would have a terrible outcry and allocate billions of dollars to put down the inhumane killing of American citizens. This would make the evening news and the headlines of all the papers.

Why the double standard? Why are we so content to accept the fatalities – murder – of over 17,000 people each year?

I call on President Bush or John Kerry to take up this as a homeland security issue just as they would if

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

On first waking in Paris I heard a bell striking the hour. It was not one of the great bells in the many churches of this neighborhood. I heard them, too. The bell which caught my attention was domestic and defined. I was surprised that I heard it.

Throughout that first morning in Paris I listened for the same sound. That it was the chime of a clock was certain. It sounded the quarters of the hour as well as the hour itself. It also possessed a remarkable quality which I had never before encountered. Ninety seconds after striking the hour, the clock strikes it again.

Anyone who has grown accustomed to the chiming of mechanical clocks in one's home knows that it is all too easy to stop hearing the clock marking the hour aloud. I have often found myself suddenly alert, realizing that the clock is in the middle of chiming. Is it ten o'clock or eleven?

The clock which I hear is made for such mortals. If one becomes aware of the chiming half-way through the report, then all one has to do is listen carefully for half a minute before the clock sounds again.

At some point I realized too that the clock in question was in the apartment of neighbors across the street, people whom I do not know and shall probably never know. Nevertheless, after a few days I have gathered much information about them.

They are a married couple in their 60s who watch television every evening. The husband wears a closely trimmed beard without a moustache. They have a flower and herb garden in pots on their balconies. On Saturday morning the two of them did their gardening as they would have done if they lived in a village cottage. The man sported his orange pajamas, and his wife was in her housecoat. They squabbled throughout this period of manual labor.

They are well-off financially. That is evidenced by their beautiful and perfectly appointed apartment, and yet they have maintained the habits of peasants. That is the open secret of French life: The peasant's existence still possesses much of the national psyche.

Someone once observed that in the country one has privacy but no anonymity; in the city one has anonymity but no privacy; in a small town, one has neither. The second leg of that dictum is illustrated by this brief tale of my neighbors whom I shall probably never know any better than I do now after a few days of non-acquaintance.

What of this room to which float the sights and sounds of my neighbors' lives? It is a garret room with one window which opens onto rooftop. Come winter I shall be able to report whether it is more or less habitable than the garrets of La Bohème. The house itself is home to the Community of Marist Fathers here in Paris.

There are about a half-dozen priests in the ongoing community, several guestrooms for visiting Marists, and another half-dozen rooms kept for students at the top of the house. I am one of those students.

Although I am living in central Paris, on the Left Bank, my university is located in a northwest suburb, Nanterre. It is campus 10 in the University of Paris, campus 1 being the Sorbonne.

The Catholic University of America, where I am in the doctoral program in philosophy, has an exchange relationship with Nanterre. One explanation for the relationship with this particular campus of the University of Paris is that it specializes in foreign exchange programs. Another is that from its founding in the early 1960s it has maintained a strong department of philosophy.

The other students in the Marist House are enrolled in a variety of schools, institutes, and universities. I don't think any two of us are studying at the same place. We are of diverse backgrounds, too. One student is from Senegal, another from Colombia.

We share a common room which functions as a kitchen. I say "functions as" because it has a sink, a refrigerator, two hot-plate rings, a microwave oven (which I have yet to see anyone use), a table and chairs, oddments of pots, plates, and utensils. It would push matters a bit to say that it is a kitchen (in the way that two milk-jug crates straddled by a 1x12 board can function as a coffee table, but it still isn't a coffee table).

In the European style each of the tiny rooms has a washbasin and medicine chest. The toilet and shower (no bathtub) are down the hall, but then so are they at my home in America. This is the setting in which I live.

Thus have I made a beginning of my 11 months in Paris. Half that time would still be a precious luxury. A lifetime, however, would not suffice to know this city and her people, even when I become better acquainted with them than by eavesdropping across the street.

bombs were being detonated. Read your local paper today and see all the people arrested week after week for driving under the influence, DUI or DWI. We all know that young adults under the age of 21 and 18 are going to parties that have alcohol provided. I call on our local law enforcement to start doing something about this problem and arrest or fine the individuals selling or providing the alcohol.

Let's get real about the fact that these lives are just as important as the lives that were taken on 9/11 or the lives given in service to our country. Where is their memorial? Remember over 1,000 people killed every month. Remember more than 17,000 real people every year DEAD.

To the Editor:

As a member of the Garrett County Historical Society, I have previously expressed my support for restoring our county courthouse to its former appearance. I am writing now to urge all citizens who are interested in this matter to voice their opinion to our county commissioners. Our commissioners are approaching a crossroad at which a decision must be made about the awkward appendage on the front of the courthouse that will be vacated when the jail and sheriff's office are relocated. Whatever anyone's views may be on this matter, it is important that our elected officials hear the voice of their constituents.

As a lifelong resident of the county, I well remember the stately magnificence of the courthouse as it stood atop a grassy knoll, a sentinel of justice overlooking our historic county seat. Considerable resources have recently been invested in recapturing the charm and beauty of our county seat, including restoration of the railroad station, renewing the façade of a number of downtown businesses, and creating a historic parklet beside the county museum. It is now time to turn our attention to the courthouse, which is arguably the most important historical site in the county. A window of opportunity will soon be open, an opportunity to restore our courthouse to its former charm and dignity. If we miss this opportunity, our courthouse will likely be forever marred by the wall of tan bricks that presently obscures the frontal view of this once-majestic structure.

I have heard opposing voices who express their concern about the economic wisdom of demolishing a relatively new structure, when there may be future need for expanded county office space. This is a reasonable concern. That is why our commissioners are facing a difficult decision. But decisions based on economic expediency are not always wise. Our commissioners are already planning to build two sizeable complexes to house various county facilities. If additional office space is anticipated, it might be more cost effective to add such space to the new buildings than to remodel the present jail.

I am sure our commissioners will give this matter careful consideration. As they do so, I know they will appreciate input, both pro and con, from their constituents.

Respectfully,
Bob Shaffer

To the Editor:

What compels a person to take his or her own life? Great minds have pondered that question for centuries. One was French sociologist Emile Durkheim. In 1897 Durkheim conducted the first scientific study on suicide. He explained suicide as a result of an individual's lack of integration in society. Of course, not much was known about depressive illnesses in that era.

Today, according to recent statistics, there are about 30,000 suicides per year, as compared to 19,000 homicides. The #1 cause of suicides in this country is depressive illnesses: either depression, manic-depression, or schizoaffective disorder. I get perturbed when someone calls depression the "blues." The blues is a rainy day at Disney World. Depression kills people! It kills people every day!

Every one hour and 53 minutes we lose another young person under the age of 24 by suicide. Most suicides are impulsive, with little or no planning, and 70% occur in the victim's home. The third largest killer of teenagers is suicide. Again, one of the largest reasons is untreated or unresolved depression.

The following are signs of depression and suicide risk: change in personality, becoming sad, withdrawn, irritable, anxious, apathetic; change in behavior, can't concentrate in school, work, routine tasks; change in sleep pattern, oversleeping or insomnia, sometimes with early morning wakening; change in eating habits, loss of appetite and weight, or overeating; loss of interest in friends, sex, hobbies, activities previously enjoyed; worry about money, illness; fear of losing control, "going crazy," harming self or others; feelings of overwhelming guilt, shame, self-hatred; no hope for the future; drug or alcohol abuse; recent loss of loved one through death, divorce, separation, broken relationship, or loss of job, money, status, self-esteem; nightmares; suicidal impulses, statements, plans, giving away favorite things, previous suicide attempts; and agitation, hyperactivity, restlessness may indicate masked depression.

The Youth Crisis Hotline number is 800-422-0009.

The Depression and Related Affective Disorder Association (DRADA) of Garrett County and the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill (NAMI) of Garrett County will sponsor a program on teen depression and suicide with guest speaker Dr. Suanne Lewis, director of psychological services at the Thomas B. Finan Center. Mrs. Wanda Beal will also share her experience about her young daughter's ordeal with bipolar disorder and suicide. Other speakers will include Fred Polce and Deputy Rob Corley.

The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine film Day for Night, Understanding Teen Depression will also be shown.

The program will be held at Garrett College Auditorium, 6:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6. For more information, call 301-533-0552 or 301-689-6275.

To the Editor:

I am 47 years old, married, with one son and two grandsons, and was recently diagnosed with colon cancer, via colonoscopy. I cannot describe the multitude of emotions I went through, including shock, fear, denial, and defeat. Anyone who has been through a cancer diagnosis will know what I mean.

I am generally someone who keeps things to myself as I don't want to hurt or worry others, but I want to share this. There were many days when I felt like I was only "half there" and just going through my daily routine mechanically. Work kept my mind busy, but at times I had to stop because I couldn't hold back the tears. On top of all this, I had no insurance. I honestly believed there was monetary help out there somewhere, especially with cancer programs, but after numerous phone calls and visits I was shocked to learn there was not; my husband and I made too much money (middle income).

Please don't misunderstand me; these programs are fantastic. I just didn't realize they were all income-based regardless of insurance status or anything else. Unfortunately, I put testing off because of the cost and will regret that the rest of my life.

After I realized there was no monetary help, I just broke down and let it all out. I felt so alone because it seemed no one wanted to help me. I then turned to my family and friends and prayers. I cannot describe the tremendous support I received from people everywhere and want to thank all these people for their outstanding help.

One of these people is Ernie Gregg. I called Ernie to see if he knew of any local programs to help me out. I did not know until talking with him that he had been through this also. We had a long talk that day, which helped me in many ways. I had decided to go ahead with surgery and concentrate on getting well and worry about the bills later. Ernie reinforced this wholeheartedly and gave me new hope. He continued to look for help and call me with updates and see how I was doing. He is a remarkable person.

Judge Burnett also tried to help me and found a program for radiation, but thank goodness, I did not need any radiation.

Another person who tried to help me was Delegate Edwards' secretary (I believe). She was so supportive. Governor Ehrlich's office also tried, as did the Cancer Society, but to no avail. I had the surgery at Garrett Memorial performed by Dr. Zakaluzny. It was a success and all the cancer is gone, with no radiation needed!

God truly watched over me and still does. Life is wonderful. Dr. Zak is a fantastic doctor and individual in every way. He and his staff and nurses were and continue to be so helpful. Everybody at the hospital was so helpful and understanding; their care was great. The cards, calls, flowers, baskets, and visitors helped me get through a very rough time and showed me how special my family and friends are. They are the best and can never be replaced. It's great to be loved. Thank you all who asked about me and especially those who watched over my husband Jack, who is so very special and always there when I need him. Also my son J.J., who is also special and truly one of a kind. This was rough on them, even though they wouldn't admit it.

I am doing fine now and will be going back to work shortly. I am lucky and blessed in many ways. This community has some remarkable people. I have a wonderful family and friends, and life is precious. Thank you again to everybody who helped me during this experience, and may God bless all of you. I hope your life is full of love and laughter always.

To the Editor:

I would like refrain from my typical talk about President George W. Bush, his opponent John Kerry, and the upcoming election to speak about one of my best friends.

Recently I was given news from a friend of many years that as of this November he would be leaving his home here in Garrett County to head for the war in Iraq. Naturally, as I have openly expressed on these very pages, I am against the war in Iraq, and having a close friend sent there has done nothing to make me think any higher of it. But instead of talking about the many reasons why I am an opponent of George W. Bush's decision to engage in conflict with Iraq, I would rather talk about the bravery and courage that my friend Jeremiah Wilt has displayed in his civilian life, and no doubt will display to his fellow soldiers when he enters the conflict this November.

I met Jeremiah in the seventh grade at Southern Middle School. In time we became good friends, sharing an enjoyment of movies and music. I always remember Jeremiah as wanting to become a person of authority who would be given the ability to help someone else. He was always interested in becoming a police officer, and soon his interest shifted to wanting to become a member of the armed forces. Shortly after we graduated from high school in 2001, Jeremiah made good on that dream and joined the U.S. Army National Guard.

I know from his stories and talking to those who have worked with him in the Guard that Jeremiah is an exceptional soldier. No doubt his skills as a soldier and his truly wonderful personality are selling points in why he is going to Iraq. Jeremiah has worked as a communication specialist, and I am certain he is one of the best the U.S. military has.

On one side, I am saddened that a good friend will have to journey so far from home, spending over one year of his life involved in a foreign conflict. I am sure while in Iraq Jeremiah will see things that will be unpleasant, live experiences that will be painful and hard, though in the end I know him to be both physically and morally strong. While the trials that lie ahead for him will be wrought with adversity, I believe he will pull through, and as he said to me the last time I saw him before he left for Texas to embark in advanced training, "I will be back with a smile on my face." The other side of me is in a way happy for Jeremiah, because I know deep down the opportunity to help those who suffer from the harsh dictatorship in Iraq is a goal that he would want to accomplish.

People like Jeremiah are the greatest asset a community, and a nation, could ever have. People with the bravery and courage to step forward into conflict in defense of their nation, their friends, family, and all of those who occupy the country they fight for. Anyone would be right to envy Jeremiah's bravery as he enters this conflict, and his determination and honesty will no doubt at some point in his life be rewarded.

I would like to personally thank my good friend for doing what he has done. While I may not agree with the conflict in Iraq and the politics that surround it, I have no problem honoring and respecting the men and women who are fighting it.

The nobility of the modern soldier and the courage they represent is legendary. I am thankful to have a friend like Jeremiah Wilt, a friend who does not fear the consequence of stepping up to the plate and taking action. While I know Jeremiah will face many hazards and hardships while in Iraq, I know he will return a hero.

To the Editor:

As a result of the September 9 letter that I wrote about the local Core Service (s) Agency, Office of Consumer Advocates, Harvey House, and Beacon Outreach, some controversy erupted, and a meeting was held among the organizations on September 10 at the Garrett County Health Department.

The September 9 letter was taken as a "slander" to Harvey House, but no false statements were made. I'm sorry if my letter offended anyone, though it was misinterpreted.

For example, a fellow consumer questioned why I wrote asking why gasoline for the O.C.A. van couldn't be purchased from the county, but that's false. I said that it would be "unfair if an out-of-county organization purchased gasoline in the county." Another consumer questioned this in an earlier meeting. I also stated some facts about what the Maryland Mental Hygiene Administration requires for a "consumer run drop-in center" to operate. I questioned Harvey House's "eligibility" and why the local C.S.A. isn't wiling to fund the Beacon in any way, yet funded the O.C.A., even to the point of renting two facilities (one basically empty and non-utilized) and keeping it a secret from local residents

When the O.C.A. entered Garrett County to take over operations of Harvey House, I was involved with Harvey House and felt that a bigger facility was needed to meet the needs of consumers, but the O.C.A. should have taken the responsibility of looking at previous contracts or "what-have-you" first, before moving and ending up in such a predicament. They could have told consumers who attended Harvey House that the move wasn't possible at the time and use the wasted monies elsewhere. It makes one wonder, does the O.C.A. really need all of what is supposedly needed, or can monies like that be applied elsewhere?

I have had disagreements with the O.C.A. and Harvey House in the past and have written several letters trying to get different things answered (sometimes like pulling teeth), but I'm willing to forgive and forget, and move forward into the future. An O.C.A. representative looked at me in the meeting and on several occasions said, "...I told you before...." But, she must have only thought so, because I learned some new things in the meeting. I also know that she and I are both consumers, and most of all, humans, and we both make mistakes.

The O.C.A. representative agreed to meet with members of the Beacon and teach us the responsibilities of running a center. She said that perhaps the O.C.A. could leave the county and let Garrett County consumers run one center. But, why can't there be more than one center in the area? Garrett County's population is growing, more consumers are entering the mental health system, there's more than one psychiatric rehabilitation program, there's more than one doctor and pharmacy, so why not more than one center? Competition is good. Why not have more consumer choice?

The Beacon wants to learn what the O.C.A. representative has to offer, but in talking to other Beacon members after the meeting I got the impression that the Beacon wants to remain as it is, and not combine with Harvey House to form one center like the local C.S.A. is pushing for. We have the desire to work with all consumers of the mental health system, whether they attend Harvey House, the Beacon, or both. For example, all consumers were invited to the recent Beacon Labor Day picnic along with their family and friends, and if Harvey House was closed, all consumers needed to do was call one of the numbers listed in the press release(s). We provide transportation voluntarily in the local area. We have accomplished a lot in the past year with hopes of doing more in the future. We have come too far to combine with another group now. By our operating our own group on our own in the area we make our home (s), it proves to our family, friends, and neighbors what we're capable of doing without the assistance from an out-of-county agency. By our getting involved with various community events, it cuts down on stigma associated with mental illness/ the mentally ill.

If the local C.S.A. can't assist us now (we'll meet "eligibility requirements" in the near future), we'll have to follow other funding avenues, and if Harvey House continues to be funded in the future, and not the Beacon, we'll still have to follow other avenues.

Again, thank you for the wonderful press releases that you published for the Beacon, and thanks goes out to all of our supporters in the area, especially Garrett County Lighthouse, the Oakland Women's Civic Club, and Gregg's Pharmacy. Thanks.

F. Bill Detrick Jr.
Beacon Vice President

To:
Kista & Ryan Weimer

Some things I'd like to say, but first of all to let you know that I arrived ok.
I'm writing this from heaven, where I dwell with God above,
Where there is no more tears or sadness, just eternal love.
Please do not be unhappy just because I'm out of sight,
Remember that I'm with you every morning, noon and night.

That day I had to leave you, when my life on earth was through,
God picked me up and hugged me and said, "I welcome you."
It's good to have you back again, you were missed while you were gone.
As for Kista and Ryan, they'll be here later on.
I need you so badly, as part of my big plan,
There's so much that we have to do to help our mortal man.
Then he gave me a list of things that he wished for me to do, and foremost on that list of mine is to watch and care for you.

I will be beside you every day and week and year, and when you're sad I'm standing there to wipe away the tear.
When you lie in bed at night, the day's chores put to flight,
God and I are closest to you in the middle of the night.

When you think of my life on earth and those loving years,
Because you're only human, they are bound to bring you tears.
Don't be afraid to cry, as it does relieve the pain,
Remember there would be no flowers unless there were some rain.
I wish that I could tell you of all that God has planned,
But if I were to tell you, you would not understand.
One thing is for certain, though my life on Earth is o'er
I am closer to you now than I ever was before.

And to my family and many friends,
Trust God, He knows what is the best.
I'm still not far away from you, I'm just beyond the crest.
There are rocky roads ahead of you, and many hills to climb,
But together we can do it, taking one day at a time.
If you meet somebody who is feeling down and low,
Just lend a hand to pick him up,as on your way you go.

Kista,
When you are walking down the street and you've got me on your mind,
I'm walking in your footsteps just a half a step behind,
And when you and Ryan feel the gentle breeze or the wind upon your faces,
That's me giving you two a great big hug and many soft embraces,
And when it's time for you to go from that body to be free,
Remember you're not going, you're coming here to me.
I will love you and Ryan from the land way up above,
And always remember that you were my only true love.

A "BIG" DAY OF FUN AT FUNLAND – "Bigs" and "Littles" spent last Saturday afternoon at Funland Family Fun Center in McHenry. Owners Tom and Sarah Kuhn donated free rides and video games to the local Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Alleghenies branch office in Garrett County. Youth and adults alike enjoyed the climbing wall, carousel, bumper cars, go-carts, mini golf, and video games. This activity is just one of many ways the area volunteer mentors and youth spend time together. Pictured is local youth Sarai ringing the bell at the top of "Mt. McHenry" after a successful climb up the wall at Funland. Persons may call Shannon Brode at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735 for information about becoming a Big Brothers Big Sisters mentor.

PAUL H. ARNOLD JR.

Paul H. Arnold Jr., 68, Aurora, W.Va., went to be with the angels Sept. 11, 2004, with his wife and beloved cat Queenie by his side.

He was born May 1, 1936, in Kempton, and was a son of the late Paul H. Arnold Sr. and Evalyn (Smith) Arnold. He was also preceded in death by his first wife, Edglan Arnold; and one grandson, Leroy "Tinker" Dunphy.

Mr. Arnold served with the 101st Airborne Division. He retired from the Island Creek Coal Company in 1998.

Surviving are his wife Joanne (Moats) Arnold, whom he married Jan. 26, 1994; one daughter, Charlene Shade, Alderson, W.Va.; two stepdaughters, Lisa Rodeheaver, Oakland, and Bobie Spencer, Parsons, W.Va.; one stepson, Arlie Sigley, Parsons; one granddaughter, Jenna Dunphy, Alderson; eight step-grandchildren; one step-great-grandson; two sisters, Elaine Grimm, Aurora, W.Va., and Dorothy Spiker, Mansfield, Ohio; and one brother, Charles Arnold, Mansfield.

A graveside service was held at the Aurora Cemetery on Tuesday, Sept. 14, with the Rev. Mike Wamsley officiating.

Military honors were accorded by various local veterans' organizations.

The family requests that memorial donations be direct to the Union Ambulance Service or the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department.

Friends were received at the Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta, where a vigil prayer service was held.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Tuesday, Sept. 14, at St. Edwards Catholic Church, with Father John M. Lee, CP, as celebrant. Military services were conducted by Preston County VFW Posts. Donations may be made to the Preston County Animal Shelter in his name at Kingston Road, Kingwood, WV 26537.

Adorable Adoptables

"HAS A VERY NICE TEMPERAMENT" is how this stray female tricolor beagle mix is described. Also available for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter is Holly Lynn, a 4-month-old female Sheltie mix, who has had her first set of shots. She was given up by her owner. Pictured below is a 6-month-old Lab mix, who also has had some of his shots. An owner give-up, he is very active and will need some training in order to be a house dog. Also at the shelter is Sparky, a mixture of several unknown breeds. "He is a nice boy, but his owners just couldn't care for him anymore," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Please come in and meet him!" Last week's featured canine was adopted, but the cats are still waiting for new homes, along with many kittens. "When you end up with a litter of kittens at your home," said the spokesperson, "please consider the animals' welfare when you are giving them to just anyone who may pass by. Ask yourself, Will these kittens be cared for, vaccinated, fed, and spayed or neutered?" For more information about adopting these pets, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

The Arts

"AN EVENING WITH THE YELLOWJACKETS" – Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series will launch its new CES Jazz Club, sponsored by Kauffman Music, with "An Evening with The Yellowjackets" on Thursday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. "As two-time Grammy Award winners, the Yellowjackets has thrived as one of America's most loved and top-selling contemporary jazz groups for nearly 20 years," noted an FSU spokesperson. "With 15 albums, the group continues to display a forceful, individual sound. The mixture of pulsating energetic rhythms with dynamics and subtlety are certain to delight." This tour of the Yellowjackets is made possible by a grant from Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts Regional Touring Program. To purchase tickets or for more information, persons may call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at http://ces.frostburg.edu.

THE DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. MALE CHORUS from Charleston, W.Va., will perform during a special program in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the Brown v. Board of Education decision to integrate public schools. The event is sponsored by Potomac State College and the Immanuel Church of Piedmont and will be held Sunday, Sept. 19, at 3:30 p.m. at the Church-McKee Arts Center, Keyser, W.Va. Under the direction of Leroy Robinson, the chorus is composed of ministers and lay leaders from various denominations in the greater Kanawha Valley area. The chorus was established in 1996 to participate in a celebration of Dr. King's birthday, and since then has performed in New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and throughout West Virginia. While the event is free and open to the public, a good-will offering will be taken to defray costs. For more information, persons may call Dinah Courrier, Potomac State College's social justice liaison, at 304-788-6947, or Pastor David Coleman of the Immanuel Church of Piedmont at 304-355-2900.

NATIONAL PLAYERS PERFORM – Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will present Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet performed by the National Players Friday, Oct. 1. The performance will take place at the Garrett College auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $12 adults and $5 youth (12 years and younger). For tickets and further information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 301-387-3082. National Players, America's longest running classical touring company, has now reached its 55th consecutive season of touring. Currently the touring program of Olney Theatre Center for the Arts, National Players has earned a distinctive place in American theater. Committed to the formation of young theatrical talent and audiences, National Players seeks to celebrate the experience of theater-going by presenting the world's greatest dramatic literature. National Players has performed for the public in 35 states and 10 foreign countries. In addition to the Oct. 1 community performance, National Players will also present performances and workshops for high school students during the days of Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. GLAF's season sponsors are Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, Deep Creek Mountain Resort, and the Sprenger-Lang Foundation. This program is funded by sponsor partner Mettiki Coal, the Garrett County Arts Council, and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Moon Named

Garrett County Rescue Squad for 16 years, has served as chief, and is currently president. He has also been active in raising funds for the squad's new hall, which will be located along Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park.

"Mr. Moon makes himself available, despite the fact he has a carpentry business, a full-time pastoral position, farm work, and rescue squad work," wrote Dixon. She noted that he still finds time to visit shut-ins, the elderly, surgery and sub-acute patients, and those who are not feeling well. He also takes blood pressures, picks up prescriptions, runs errands, and does "whatever needs done" for residents.

The pastor of Fairview Church of the Brethren for the past 35 years, Moon voluntarily serves as a congregational moderator at various other churches and served as district moderator for the West Marva District. He also visits and preaches regularly at Underwood South.

In addition, Moon volunteers his carpentry skills throughout the community – at the squad hall, churches, and family homes.

"His selflessness has and will continue to touch the lives of many of Garrett County," wrote Dixon.

The other Most Beautiful Person nominees were Marvin "Red" Guthrie, Phyllis B. Trickett, William Hesen, Bernadine Friend, and Roger Uber.

Stressing that the were all "winners," selection committee member Jim Shaffer, WKHJ radio, read a brief description of each of the nominees' volunteer services. The commissioners presented them with certificates and paper weights embossed with the Garrett County seal.

Mary Beth Pirolozzi, district administrator for Senator John Hafer, also presented Moon with a proclamation from the Maryland Senate, signed by Hafer and president Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr.

"You truly have the credentials to be Maryland's Most Beautiful Person and represent your community well," Pirolozzi told the nominees.

Moon will participate in the 37th annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade in Oakland on Saturday, Oct. 16, at 1 p.m.

Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich Jr., Lt. Gov. Michael S. Steele, and other state and local officials will also pay tribute to Moon and the state's 23 other honorees at the 18th annual Maryland's Most Beautiful People Volunteer Awards Ceremony. That event will be held Wednesday, Nov. 10, in Annapolis.

Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person last year was Rev. Charles Teets of Gortner.

Hear Concerns

•Continue to evaluate the existing Rt. 219 Corridor, emphasizing planning for improvements to the existing corridor throughout the entire county, including the Accident bypass.

•Is the Rt. 219 bridge over the Youghiogheny River south of Red House still scheduled for replacement within five years?

•A "small amount" of additional excavation at the intersection of Rt. 560 and Bethlehem Road would be helpful.

•A sight-distance problem exists because of geometries at the intersection of Rt. 560 and Baker Farm Road. A fatal accident occurred there two years ago.

•What is the status of and is funding available for the project to construct a sidewalk between Southern High School and Mountain Lake Park.

•The intersection at Rt. 495 and New Germany Road should be improved for a perpendicular intersection.

•Because of vegetation, a sight-distance problem exists at the intersection of Rt. 495 and Spring Lick Road.

•A southbound left-turning lane is needed at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Kings Run Road. A fatal accident occurred there recently.

•For better visibility, excavation is needed at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Pysell Road.

The DOT meeting is open to the public. For more information, persons may call the commissioners' office at 301-334-8970.

School Tests

dents at or above the proficiency level is highest in grades 4 and 10, with 75% proficient at grade 4, she said.

"We see that with each year our proficiency rate increases," said McCartney. "That is exactly what we want to see happen."

The proficiency rate results for reading with students who receive free or reduced meals is a little lower, but "we are making strides," said McCartney.

The reading results for the special education students are "not surprising," said Mullinix.

"These special needs students have special needs, and we continue to work very hard with these students," said McCartney.

The proficiency rate for students in math are comparable to that of the state, Mullinix also pointed out.

Mullinix added that the SAT scores were slightly above those from the previous year. The verbal scores are the same as the national, but slightly below the state. "We are very pleased with these results," said Mullinix.

She added that one goal is to increase the SAT participation numbers. The number of males taking the test is decreasing, but she said overall, she is quite pleased with the numbers.

The other major test, the ACT, showed an increase in participation. Colleges and universities look for a composite score above 20. Garrett County scored above both the national and state averages.

Detailed graphs and charts can be seen on www.mdreportcard.org.

"This exceptionally in depth report card site will help administrators, teachers, and parents track education in their schools and allow them to compare it with results from other schools and systems in the state," said Nancy S. Grasmick, Maryland state superintendent of schools. "The data show that Maryland schools have much to celebrate and have a greater understanding of where they must focus improvements in the coming year."

At the state level, the HSA scores were previewed last week before the Maryland Business Roundtable for Education. The percentage of students passing the algebra assessment rose from 53.2 percent in 2003 to 58.8 percent this year; in biology from 54.3 percent to 60.9 percent; in English from 39.8 percent to 53.0 percent; and in government from 60.2 percent to 65.9 percent this year.

The number of public school students passing the HSAs increased across the board, with increases ranging 5.6 percentage points to 13.2 percentage points, depending upon the subject. Moreover, scores rose in school systems throughout the state.

Tickets Sold Out For Marine Band Concert

The Marine Band Concert, sponsored by Garrett Lakes Arts Festival on Sunday, Oct. 3, is sold out.

The doors will open at 1:30 p.m., and all ticket holders must be seated by 2:15 p.m.

Any unclaimed seats will be filled at 2:20 p.m.

Swardson Set To Perform Comedy Act At Frostburg

Nick Swardson will bring his comedy act to Frostburg State University on Friday, Sept. 24, at 9 p.m. in the Manicur Assembly Hall of the Lane University Center.

Swardson started stand-up at the age of 18. In his first year, he was chosen to perform at the U.S. Comedy Arts Festival. Over the next couple years, Swardson established himself in some of the major clubs across the country. He then moved to New York and became a regular at the Comic Strip, Caroline's and the Luna Lounge.

He also compiled numerous appearances on The Tonight Show, Conan O'Brien, Jimmy Kimmel Live, Real Time with Bill Maher, and The Late Late Show with Craig Kilborn. In 2000, he hit a milestone in his career when he taped his Comedy Central hour-long special at the age of 22, and he was the youngest to do so.

Swardson then moved to Los Angeles to focus on his acting and writing, and in the summer of 2003, Warner Brothers gave the green light to a script he wrote with Jamie Kennedy called "Suckaz" which then became "Malibu's Most Wanted." Swardson is currently working with Adam Sandler and his company Happy Madison Productions on several comedy films and a pilot for the WB network. He also helped write and perform on Sandler's fifth comedy CD, Sshhh... Don't Tell.

Swardson can also see seen in a recurring role as Terry on Reno 911 on Comedy Central.

This FSU show is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call 301-687-4411.

Amnesty Day

sioners and Maryland Environmental Service, is funded through the Maryland Department of the Environment's Scrap Tire Fund. The fund was established by the General Assembly in 1991 as part of the Scrap Tire Recycling Act. It is now funded by the collection of a $.40 per tire fee on the sale of each new tire.

"The project was originally conceived to aid county residents by providing a responsible disposal alternative, substantially free of charge, for homeowners who had accumulated a small number of scrap tires prior to the adoption of Maryland's Scrap Tire Law," noted a Solid Waste & Recycling Division spokesperson.

Through a ban on landfilling of tires, that law had forced most local jurisdictions in Maryland to impose a disposal fee for tires to cover costs associated with shipping and disposal at alternative processing facilities.

For additional information on the Scrap Tire Amnesty Day, persons may call Randy DiSimone at the Solid Waste & Recycling Division at 301-387-0322.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Every few months Garrett County residents have a new chance to select two recent works that perhaps will appeal to the trickling of art shoppers who drop by the Arts Council Gallery on Alder Street in Oakland. It is true, art is not quite as essential to life as a car, heat, clothes, or food, but it is food for the soul. It is a gift that speaks volumes about the giver. They have class, taste, culture, and are not satisfied with just the mass market item, and also know the recipient very well too.

I know that my big girl Claire loved a watercolor painting by me of the ocean and beach. She was very upset when she found out that I had sold it. But I had no choice to sell it as it brought some extra money so I could buy the things teenage girls believe they need. However, I felt terrible because she wanted that picture for her dorm room. I can't get it back for her, but I can do a close one to the original. I finally did it and now only have to deliver it to her, or maybe I should save it for a Christmas present! But I guess that I would rather get it to her soon so she will remember me every day. I think about her every hour of the day, and I have to try to exercise some self-control as far as how often I call her. I know she is well and happy so far.

It could be a tough weekend for her two weeks from now when West Virginia plays Maryland in a football game in Morgantown. She never cared about the Terps football season as much as basketball. It will cause some conflict in her this season.

How uninformed I am about what is going on in Bittinger! Well, I do hear some things sometimes. Some things are not clear enough to print. A few weeks ago I wrote about how rare are the red haired native Bittinger residents. My prediction is that a new one will be arriving at a home on Legeer Road sometime next spring.

Caitlin, Mere, and I were caught off guard on Sunday morning when we arrived at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. The exception was that there was no one there. It was the September Sunday when our church held it service at New Germany State Park, followed by a picnic. It was a perfect day for it, being sunny and warmish, and I hear it was a great time. Sorry we missed it.

The fall foliage is not even close to a peak form yet, but there is enough color that you can't escape the knowledge that the seasons are changing. Cold weather is just around the corner. That is why Rush Services, my hero business right now, has offered me a furnace to replace my worn-out one at no cost to me. It is hard. It is another miracle that I pray for every day. Unfortunately, our church Angel Bell crew can't fix my leaky roof before the next deluge from the next hurricane. I just hope this one will not drop so much rain so fast. Speaking of liquid, I saw a lovely stream of liquid light brown when the most graceful doe streaked across the road in front of my car last week. She did not run, but just jumped over a fence and disappeared in the woods.

It was good to hear that this year's new edition of the Northern High School Marching Band got a good start this season. I heard that Blakely Glotfelty is a fine drum major and my Caitlin did a good job at her rifle solo as part of the color guard. They had their first band show last Saturday at Elkins, W.Va., and scored their first win of the season. I was sad to hear the other band in their class didn't have uniforms. It is a terrible shame a school system or community does not give even minor support to their hard-working young people. I am sure that their football team cheerleaders have uniforms. It speaks volumes about the character of the young musicians who still do their best to represent their school. I wish that I were a rich woman so I could buy that band uniforms because it made me just cry to think about them. Our society utterly disregards its creative people in terms of support, encouragement, or reward.

As for my painting, I try to do pictures that someone would want to buy. That is how I choose my exhibit painting, by judging them on their mass appeal. That means that here in Garrett County one painting would be of Deep Creek Lake and another of one of my favorite places around, such as the beaver dam between the two ridges of Meadow Mountain. As usual, a group of nature lovers over the Labor Day festivities made a pilgrimage to the dam. Since I couldn't go physically, I made a painting of what I know they saw there this time of year. The painting has a soft mix of blue sky and water with a harmony of shade foliage still mainly green. Whether it will appear to match their décor, who knows? I have been wrong before. The biggest hit of my November show was an offbeat landscape with unusual colors. I always try to capture the beauty I see everywhere, but I don't think you can miss the hint of sadness and longing for the unreachable, maybe even regret for something forever gone or in danger of being lost forever. Good art is not just a pretty picture without emotion. All quality is real, true to life, even if it's not realistic or like a photograph that will hurt the feeling of it.

As I am thinking about my art I realize that some of the sadness in me comes from the fact that I will never recapture the innocence and happiness that I felt when I first saw the scenes I painted.

My Mere is busy trying to photograph the tiniest and fastest little toad that I have ever seen. That little toad was right to trust Mere enough to allow her to capture it, as she would never hurt it. She put it where it would be out of harm. With all our superior intent and more brainpower, we still are not smarter than lots of inferior life forms.

In my past 50 years, I had five careers that I reached that I consider successful. But they all required some physical abilities that I have lost. There is a reason God gave human beings two hands, because most useful activities take two hands as well as being able to walk well. When you do not have what it takes, your mental outlook is seriously hampered.

Many people always tell me how much this column means to many people. It is pretty hard for me to believe that, except maybe the fact that it is a source of comfort. "If she can survive through everything that has happened to her, then the rest of us can also survive the problems and challenges we are facing."

Since some of my worst months of my life were spent in a rehabilitation hospital in Morgantown, I couldn't help but dread any trip over there as I had to do today to get my leg brace tuned up. But the bright aspect of the trip was that I was able to see Claire and where she is living. As wonderful as it was to see her beautiful face, it was so hard to let her go again. Anyway, Morgantown is in a frenzy about the big football game against Maryland. I believe her cousin Robbie will perform with the Maryland Marching Band. The rest of Robbie's family will be there to cheer on the Terps.

We are proud as we can be of our beautiful Blakely Glotfelty, as she will serve as Northern High School's Autumn Glory Princess for the Autumn Glory Festival.

My mother, Ruth DiPaolo, just made it home from her quick trip to Niagara Falls with friend Betty Sacra. They did the whole tour, including the ride on the "Maid of the Mist." She said she felt like a drowned rat after the ride on the boat. They attended a showing at the Imax theatre and also attended a dinner theatre show, along with a tour of the city.

PAWS To Host "Volkswaggle" Pet Celebration

Preparations are under way for the 2004 PAWS Volkswaggle fundraiser. The event is slated for Sunday, Oct. 3, from noon to 4 p.m., at the Mtn. Fresh Pavilion, downtown Oakland.

"The Volkswaggle, based on the German Volksmarch or Walkfest, is a day of fun and frolic with the purpose of getting people outdoors to enjoy time with their pets while at the same time helping to raise awareness and funds for the education and outreach programs of PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety)," said a PAWS spokesperson.

While pets are the focus of the day, they are not a prerequisite for participation. All animal lovers, whether they own a pet or not, are encouraged to join in the festivities.

The main event of the day will be the Volkswaggle itself, a 1.5 mile walk around town for people and their pets. "'Waggle" participants are asked to collect sponsors in advance of the walk, who will pledge money for them to complete the course. Sponsor forms with more information about the event and a tally sheet for pledges are available at county veterinary offices, Muttworks and Animal Crackers pet groomers, and all county libraries. Forms and information can also be obtained from the PAWS website, located at www.garrettpaws.org.

Completed forms and donations should be brought to the Volkswaggle registration table between noon and 1 p.m. the day of the event.

"Waggle" walkers who raise the most funds for this year's events will be eligible for prizes. The walker who raises the most money over $300 will win a $100 gift certificate to Bear Creek Traders. The second highest fundraiser will receive a $50 gift certificate for dining at the Point View Inn, and the third place winner will receive a $25 Wal-Mart gift certificate.

While supplies last, walkers who raise at least $30 will be eligible to receive a free Volkswaggle T-shirt. All registered walkers will be given a free "goody bag."

In addition to the walk, other activities and events are planned throughout the day.

The schedule for the day is as follows: Registration, noon to 1 p.m.; awards ceremony for the winners of this summer's PAWS Photo Contest, 12:30 p.m. (see separate story); Reverend Chip Lee will conduct an animal blessing in celebration of the Feast of St. Francis, patron saint of animals, at 1 p.m. (The blessing is open to the public and not tied to participation in the Volkswaggle.); followed by group photo and the start of the Volkswaggle.

Walkers will loop back to the pavilion, where at 2 p.m., the top money raisers will be announced and awarded their prizes.

For the rest of the afternoon, participants can take part in a variety of activities designed for pets and their owners. There will be games, "pup-arrazzie" pet photos, a special "kids' corner" with face painting and activities, information tables, vendors, and food. Clifford the Big Red Dog will make an appearance at the Volkswaggle from noon to 3 p.m.

This fundraiser is a major event for PAWS with a serious purpose, the spokesperson said. Proceeds will help the local non-profit organization continue its "Big Fix" spay/neuter assistance program for area low-income pet owners, and its Adopt-A-Classroom humane education program for elementary school children in the county. Both programs are aimed at preventing animal cruelty and neglect.

For more information about the programs of PAWS, persons may stop by the table at the Volkswaggle, visit the website noted above, or call 301-334-2699 or 301-895-3711.

Healing Springs From Tragedy Of The Wreck On The Highway

by David Foster
Part III of III

Last night I was out driving
Coming home at the end of the working day
I was riding alone
through the drizzling rain
On a deserted stretch of a county two-lane
When I came upon a wreck on the highway

There was blood and glass all over
And there was nobody there but me
As the rain tumbled down hard and cold
I seen a young man lying by the side of the road
He cried "Mister, won't you help me please?"
Wreck on the Highway
Bruce Springsteen

One man lay dead, his body bent and broken inside a crumpled heap of car that had become a guided missile; another lay with his legs pinned under an overturned Chevrolet Suburban that had become the target; and a woman and her five children, with injuries ranging from moderate to severe, lay stunned alongside the highway in the darkness of that July night last summer.

Dazed and bleeding, Kay Vinton, who had been jolted into a mother's instinctive reaction of panic when she heard her 10-year-old son Andrew ask, "Is anybody dead?" was thankful that her entire family had not been completely wiped out. However, as she began to fathom the devastation caused by the head-on collision, she began to face the likely inevitability of life without her husband Peter. "He was such a good father," she thought to herself.

Luckily for the Vintons, Peter was alive and conscious although trapped beneath the family's Suburban, and the quick actions of passing motorists who stopped to help and trained emergency personnel from both Garrett and Preston counties prevented further deaths beyond the suicide of Charles Dewayne Jackson.

Despite their own broken bodies, the Vinton family's spirit was untouched and their faith became the rallying point for the long recovery that lay ahead. Although the modest clan would be the last to take credit for doing so, the Vintons' response to the night's events was to turn tragedy into triumph, asking God to give peace to the tormented spirit of the young man who had nearly killed them all.

An ambulance came and took him to Riverside
I watched as they drove him away
And I thought of a girlfriend or a young wife
And a state trooper knocking in the middle of the night
To say your baby died in a wreck on the highway

"We feel no ill will to Mr. Jackson, we feel sorry for him," Peter Vinton said recently. [During the research for this story, Jackson's mother did not return a phone call that sought to put her on the line with the Vintons so they could express their sympathies for her loss.]

"Trooper LeMay said it was a sad story of Mr. Jackson being terribly depressed and off his medication. Being in the health insurance business myself, I know the cost of medicine, and how hard it can be to afford for a lot of people," Peter said.

"We're not a 'Why me?' family. We work to dwell on the positives. Although what happened to us was bad, it could have been much, much worse, and we're very thankful it wasn't."

A large measure of the reason it wasn't worse, according to the Vintons, Trooper Steve LeMay, and several others who saw the devastating aftermath of the collision, was the fortunate circumstance that placed three off-duty emergency personnel at the scene within seconds of the crash. Ruby Memorial Hospital trauma nurse Elizabeth Cease, West Virginia state trooper John Gall, and Cumberland Fire Department paramedic Mike Kerns swung into action on the scene even as the rescue tones first beeped across fire scanners on nightstands and kitchen counters throughout nearby Friendsville.

In less than three minutes, when the first wave of Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department responders arrived, fire chief Terry Spear began assembling a team that grew to resemble a MASH unit on the front lines of combat. Joining Friendsville-based fire and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad units were fellow Northern Rescue personnel from Accident and Grantsville, along with volunteers with the Bruceton Mills (W.Va.) Ambulance Service.

The head-on impact of two vehicles both traveling at 70 miles per hour had reduced the car and SUV to smoking hulks of bent metal. When Peter Vinton was extricated from his entrapment, rescuers and later the doctors at Ruby Memorial Hospital learned that he had sustained compound fractures and dislocations of the bones in his feet, a severely dislocated right ankle, a broken femur, and a severely fractured shoulder, among other injuries. Still, the medical professionals and the Vintons considered Peter lucky just to be alive. He was hospitalized at Ruby for nine days before being transferred to a rehab center.

Kay Vinton, who also had screws put in her feet during post-accident surgery, was hospitalized for eight days. When she and her husband finally came home, they were both in wheelchairs for the next three months.

Five-year-old Danny Vinton, who was hospitalized for a week, underwent back surgery for torn ligaments, and now lives with a metal rod surgically implanted in his back. He was the only one of the Vinton children who required surgery, although each of his four siblings – Laura, 12; Melissa, 11; Andrew, 10; and Shannon 7 – were hospitalized overnight at Ruby.

When the kids awoke the next morning, their aunt Kathy Proast was with them. Proast, who had been in Arlington, Va., on a business trip, had caught a cab there immediately upon hearing of the accident, and paid a $400-plus fare when she was dropped off at the entrance to Ruby Memorial at 5 a.m. She had heard of the accident from her sister Sheila Vinton, who grabbed the first flight to Pittsburgh she could the next morning, and arrived at the hospital herself before noon. The two aunts reserved two Morgantown hotel suites in order to keep the kids together as they were released from Ruby.

Later, as the family began arriving home in Kingsville, Baltimore County, the next wave of "rescuers" swung into action. Family, friends, work colleagues, and neighbors pooled their efforts to make the Vintons' lives as easy and as normal as possible, thereby giving the family time to recuperate in the warm cocoon of home.

"When I came home from the hospital, there were signs throughout the neighborhood welcoming us home, signs running up the length of our driveway and a big 15-foot banner in our front yard," recalled Kay Vinton, the first of the family to return to their house. "Peter came home next, and then the kids. Pete and I both came home in wheelchairs, and our neighbors and other friends from our work and our college days had put together a wheelchair ramp-building party to give us access to our house. Some of our old college friends whom we hadn't seen in years came in from long distances to help out."

Kay and Peter were in wheelchairs for three months after returning home, a daunting enough prospect with five kids thrown in for good measure. But yet again, people stepped forth to pitch in where needed. "A friend started an e-mail letter sending out daily updates to everyone on how we were doing, and people voluntarily began signing up to provide us with dinner each night. We ended up with three months' worth of dinners covered that way.

"Being in the wheelchair ended up being a very relaxed time," Kay Vinton said. "Usually I'm on the go and doing many things at once, always thinking about what I have to do next and where I have to be. The recovery was a calm and relaxing three-month period knowing that someone else was going to take care of everything. It was a good feeling.

"I was worried about Pete with all of his injuries, but I hoped for the best and didn't spend much time worrying about if things went wrong. The doctors were all fabulous, and luckily we didn't get any blood clots or infection. We were given blood thinning shots every day in the stomach by friends of ours that were nurses. We were very happy the day the doctor said we didn't need those anymore.

"I think it was easy to deal with all of this because we knew it was temporary," Kay observed.

Several months into the family's extended recovery, the extremely giving friends and neighbors of the Vintons took it upon themselves to put on a bull roast benefit for the family at the Fallston fire hall. Over 200 people came to eat, play games, enjoy each other's company, and celebrate the family's survival.

"It was a fundraiser for us, although we didn't know it right away," Peter Vinton said later. "They had thought we needed the money, and put on the bull roast without asking. The thing is, I'm self-employed in the health insurance field, and I'm a big believer in having adequate insurance; so even though I was at home I wasn't missing a lot of work, and we were lucky enough to have our health care needs covered.

"We decided to divide all the proceeds and give them to the fire departments and rescue squads that helped us out, along with a portion that went to our daughter Laura's Irish dance academy to help fund a trip to Ireland for her dance troupe."

The head-on collision on I-68 therefore resulted in donations of $1,000 each to the Friendsville VFD, the Northern Rescue Squad, the Bruceton Mills Ambulance Service, the Cumberland Fire Department, and the Kingsville Fire Department, which had provided transports for the family from Ruby to their Kingsville home.

"There were so many wonderful things that happened during those months of recovery," Kay Vinton said. "For instance, almost every Friday night we would have a party. There wasn't much else to do and we had watched quite a bit of TV, so when people would call to see how we were doing we would invite them over. It became a joke because they would all come over to our house, but we would do nothing to prepare for the company. Our friends would bring the food and drinks or we'd ask my sister Jeanne, who was a great help all those months, to stock up on some drinks for us. Our guests would help themselves – and then clean up when they left. It was an easy way of throwing a party."

This past July, almost one year to the day when they almost lost their father, the family threw a big blowout for everyone who had helped them at their home over the preceding year. Almost 150 family members, friends, neighbors, old college buddies, teachers, and coaches showed up for a catered meal and dance music, where they "helped us celebrate life," Peter Vinton said. "We even hung posters we had made of people who had helped us out."

Still, those well-deserved celebrations of life came at a cost the Vintons are not going to forget – a cost paid not by themselves, but by the young man who took his life that night 14 months ago, and the family he left behind to wonder why.

"It's very sad that people can get to the point where they have no hope," Kay Vinton said. "We feel very sad for Mr. Jackson and his family.

"There are things in life that cannot be explained and to me this is one of them. He sure must have been feeling very desperate and in great despair to do what he did. Obviously his depression caused him to drive the wrong way. I imagine he must have been very angry too since he was aiming his car at people. I don't know how he got to that point in his life, but I feel very sad for him and people like that. It must be an awful feeling to feel so terrible inside that you want to die.

"Our family has said many prayers for Mr. Jackson and his family that he left behind," Kay continued. "We have prayed for people in the world with depression and hope that all people can get the help they need. Mr. Jackson's daughter will grow up not knowing her father, and I'm sure that hurts her.

"There are many times, especially over the past year, when saying prayers has helped us through some trying situations; lucky for us, many of our prayers have been answered. I feel that I could fill a book with all the little stories and feelings that I have since this life changing event.

"I still feel great sadness when I see Pete struggling to walk without limping or sitting down because his feet are hurting," Kay admitted. "He had surgery in June on his shoulder and that is feeling better now. In December he will need more surgery on his foot, but at least I will be around to take care of things while he recovers from that.

"After seeing the picture of our Suburban in the first article in The Republican we still cannot believe that we all survived and are able to walk. We are very thankful for that and for the lives and health of our children. I think our story also sends a message about wearing seatbelts.

"We are very thankful for all the concern people showed, and we try to live life to its fullest without letting the little things bother us," Kay said.

"We are very blessed."

Sometimes I sit up in the darkness
And I watch my baby
as she sleeps
Then I climb in bed and I hold her tight
I just lay there awake

A CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION in the fullest sense of the word took place at the Vinton home in Kingsville this past winter, when the family gathered around the tree and gave thanks for their survival of a horrendous head-on collision the previous July. Pictured from the left, in the foreground, are Shannon, Drew, and Danny (leaning on couch). In the back row are Peter, Melissa, Laura, and Kay. After some extensive injuries, serious surgeries, and many months of recuperation and therapy – with more to come, as 6-year-old Danny has a metal rod in his back, Kay and Peter Vinton both have screws and pins in their feet, and Peter has more surgery scheduled – the family remains lively and optimistic. All the kids are immersed in their school, sports, dance, and music activities, and their parents back hard at work taking care of their family's needs. Peter has played golf this summer, and Kay is training for a Nov. 2 marathon in New York City. At least three lessons came out of the wreck, Kay and Peter suggested: the importance of access to, and the use of, anti-depressant medication by those who require it; the value of emergency medical training, and seat belts and air bags; and the overriding gift of family and faith.

FAMILY TURNS TRAGEDY INTO AID – A July 9, 2003, head-on fatality near Friendsville, where even greater tragedy was avoided by the quick actions of passersby and volunteer emergency personnel, led to donations of $1,000 each to a number of fire departments and rescue service organizations. The funds were donated by grateful family members and friends of the seven-member Vinton family of Kingsville, who survived the collision. Among the recipients were the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Friendsville VFD, and shown above at the left is NGCRS board chairman and Friendsville VFD chief Terry Spear as he accepts a donation from fellow Northern Rescue board member Walt Fearer, who has been keeping in touch with the Vintons.

Ram Offense Struggles Vs. Mountaineers In 14-6 Loss

The varsity football team of Southern High School stayed close on the scoreboard Friday night against defending Maryland 1A runner-up Beall, but the Mountaineers dominated most of the statistics and went on to record a 14-6 victory over the Rams.

The Southern offense was plagued with turnovers, losing the ball three times on six fumbles, and giving it up once via an interception. The Mountaineers also had a couple scoring opportunities erased by giving up the ball twice on three fumbles.

However, Beall finished with a commanding 234-98 lead in total yards of offense and a 16-8 advantage in first downs. Nearly all of Southern's offensive yardage was recorded on a drive in the final 3½ minutes of the game.

After a scoreless first period, and almost a scoreless second, the Mountaineers drew first blood with a time-consuming, 73-yard, 17-play drive, capped by a quarterback-sneak touchdown by Logan Thomas with just seven seconds left before halftime. Robert Fuller booted the extra point, giving the visitors a 7-0 lead at intermission.

A highlight of the drive was a 23-yard pass completion from Thomas to Elliott Simmons on a third-and-four at the 50-yard line.

Meanwhile, the Rams mustered only one first down and 30 yards of offense in the first half of action.

The second Beall scoring drive, which consumed 10 minutes, began when the Mountaineers received the second-half kickoff. It covered 72 yards in 16 plays, the final one being a six-yard run by Josh Harper with two minutes to play in the third period. Fuller again kicked the PAT.

The Rams finally put together a scoring drive, but it was too little, too late, as they started on their own six-yard line with just 3:30 to play. The effort included seven completed passes by senior quarterback Cory Bosley for 73 of the 94 yards.

A two-yard run by Andrew VanBogelen cut Beall's lead to 14-6, but there were only 41 seconds left in the game. The two-point conversion pass from Bosley was no good.

"We were quite disappointed with our effort," stated SHS coach Fred Gregg. "We had a good week of practice and felt that we went into the game well prepared, but we just didn't play well.

"We didn't take care of the ball offensively," he said, adding, "We had only 33 offensive plays for the game, which is way below average. Their defense really manhandled us, and their offense did what we knew we had to do — control the ball and the clock."

The loss dropped the Rams to 0-2, a mark that they hope to improve this evening when they travel to Lonaconing to take on Westmar. The game has been moved up one night because of the heavy rains that may arrive in the area tomorrow from Hurricane Ivan.

The Wildcats are 1-1, having defeated Clear Spring and losing to Rockwood, Pa.

Westmar's multiple-I offensive unit is led by senior quarterback Russell Miller (6-4, 205) and sophomore fullback Justin Keller (5-8, 180).

"Miller is a good passer and a good runner, with excellent size for a high school quarterback," Gregg said.

The Wildcats will show several fronts defensively, but primarily use a 5-3. They are led on that side of the ball by the same two aforementioned players, Miller and Keller.

"Westmar has decent size — a little bigger than we are — and their team speed is pretty comparable to ours," Gregg said. "So it should be a good game."

Tonight's kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. The SHS boys' varsity soccer team will play on the same field against the Wildcats at 4:30 p.m.

Ram JVs Take Teeth Out Of Tucker's Lions

The Southern High School junior varsity football squad recorded a 22-0 shutout over visiting Tucker this past Thursday, Sept. 9 to go to 2-0. For the second straight week, Eric Pike rushed for over 100 yards and Justin Ratliff scored two touchdowns to pace the Rams to victory.

SHS's put six points on the board in the opening quarter when quarterback Andrew VanBogelen hit Dean Hoffman with a 19-yard scoring strike.

The Ram defense got into the point production act in the second quarter when Ratliff scooped up a Tucker fumble and rumbled 46 yards into the end zone.

Ratliff capped his touchdown with a successful conversion carry to put SHS up 13-0. The Rams added their third touchdown later in the same stanza when Ratliff reeled off an 11-yard touchdown run, followed by VanBogelen's successful keeper that put the final point on the board.

Southern's Pike gained 102 yards on just eight carries, while VanBogelen put together a 5-for-7 passing tally that netted 76 yards in the air. Ram split end Josh Armstrong gathered in two passes for 46 yards, and slot back Dean Hoffman snagged a pair of passes for 26 yards.

The Ram jayvees are slated to host Keyser this evening in a 7 p.m. match-up on the Southern High gridiron.

THE GOING WAS TOUGH for the Southern Rams against reigning Maryland 1A runner-up Beall last Friday night in Oakland, as the Mountaineers all but shut down the SHS offensive unit until the final minutes of the game. Above, Ram running back Andrew VanBogelen finds a little running room up the middle. The Ram defense had its moments as well, and did manage to hold the Mountaineers to 14 points. Below, Tyler Graham wraps up the Beall ball carrier as several other members of the Southern defensive unit converge. The Rams were defeated, 14-6, and will try to break into the win column this evening at Westmar. NHS Shoots Down Rockets As Opening Drive Lights 36-8 Fire

"We preached all week that we had to take control from the start, and that's exactly what we did," Northern High School varsity head coach Phil Carr said of Saturday's 38-6 thumping of Rockwood's Rockets in Somerset County, Pa. "Going into a tough atmosphere like that against a team that had crushed Westmar the week before made it more important than ever to get out in front quickly."

Get out in front and stay out in front is what Carr's Huskies did, as the NHS offense took the opening kickoff and embarked on an eight-play, 65-yard scoring march that included a 21-yard pass completion by quarterback Robert Stark. Fullback Tyler Warn capped the 3½-minute drive with a two-yard carry into the end zone. Michael Wolf rushed for the two-point conversion.

Northern struck pay dirt again 3½ minutes later when halfback Michael Wolf flew through the Rockwood defense like he had been shot from a cannon en route to a 60-yard touchdown run. Stark's keeper run was good for the two-point conversion, and the Huskies went up 16-0 with over four minutes still remaining in the first quarter.

The two squads bogged down and traded possessions from there on until, with 2:58 to go until the half, Wolf fielded a punt at the NHS 19-yard-line and reeled off an 81-yard return for a touchdown. Warn's conversion carry was good for another two points. Then, with just 41 seconds on the clock, Wolf found the goal line again from two yards out, giving NHS a 30-0 lead going into the halftime locker room that all but grounded the demoralized Rockets.

In the third stanza, Northern picked up where it left off when, with less than two minutes having elapsed since play resumed, Stark scampered 75 yards with a punt return for the Huskies' third special teams TD in two games so far this season. "We've been getting great play from our punt and kick return units," observed Carr. "That was another thing we told the guys before the game, that special teams play is incredibly important."

Rockwood's only points came early in the fourth quarter against NHS's second-string defense, when Zach Sipe scored on a seven yard run with 11 minutes remaining. Seth Forman's two-yard conversion carry made the score 36-8, where it stayed for the rest of the contest.

"We were really pleased with our defense again, as our first string has not given up a single point yet," Carr stated. "Our defensive ends Ben Wagner and Jeremiah Wilt were doing a great job of collapsing their offensive line toward the center and pressuring the Rockets' quarterback. Stark's pickoff came as Ben and Jeremiah were getting a good rush going.

"On offense we executed really well; the only disappointment is that our first string fumbled three times, which isn't good. On the bright side, however, two of the three fumbles came as our guys were fighting for extra yardage, and Rockwood was working hard to try and strip the ball; still, we'd rather have our guys be more aggressive than more timid."

The Huskies were anything but timid on the field and in the stats book. Tailback Eric Johnson was the day's leading rusher with 116 yards on just 11 carries, while Warn notched 68 yards on 10 carries. Wolf had another huge game for the second straight week, rolling up 112 yards on 10 carries, giving last year's Area rushing king a regal 17.2 yards-per-game average so far in this campaign. Wolf has also scored six touchdowns to date.

Linebacker Corey Yoder was a terror for NHS's grave digger defense, as he went on a 14-tackle rampage with 10 solo kills. Wilt recorded six tackles and one sack from defensive end.

"We're really pleased with the big win, because now we're getting into the meat of our schedule with Berkeley Springs (1-1) coming to town tomorrow night," said Carr.

The Huskies host the powerful Indians for a 7 p.m. contest tomorrow, with Allegany and Beall looming down the road during the span of the following four contests. Sandwiched in between the Berkeley Springs battle and the Allegany contest is Turkeyfoot – no slouch there – while Bishop Walsh pays a visit the week prior to the showdown with 2003 state finalist Beall.

For now, however, all eyes are on the Indians, who have been thorns in the Huskies' paws of late. Despite mounting ground game tallies of over 300 yards in each of the squads' last two meetings, NHS lost both because of fumbles. "We fumbled four times in one game and five in the other," Carr recalled. "You're not going to win too many playing like that."

One thing Carr knows his players will have to overcome is the presence of well-rested Indians on the field throughout the contest. Berkeley coach Angelo Luvara, former helmsman of the now-defunct Potomac State College football program, has whipped up enough enthusiasm at the Class 2A West Virginia school to get 58 athletes to commit to a season on the gridiron. Luvara utilizes almost all of those bodies through a platoon system unique to area high school football. "They play 11 different guys on each side of the ball," Carr said. "It's going to be a good test of our physical stamina and willpower as we match up with them for 48 minutes.

"Coach Frank Ewing and I scouted the Indians last week at Grafton, where they got a last-second win on a Hail Mary pass," the NHS skipper said. "We know they'll be flying high coming off a win like that, and we're going to have to take control early – again. Our offense can and must be able to run on them and control the clock, and our defense will have to punish the blockers and ball carriers to wear them down."

A chief target of the Huskies defensive attack has to be senior Indian quarterback Tony Belt, a solid Division II prospect. The multi-talented field general can take control of a game with his arm, legs, and brain. "If Belt gets time he can pick you apart. We expect him to throw upwards of 30 passes against us, and he has the arm strength to heave it 50-60 yards with accuracy," said Carr.

Despite the loss of two-time All-State First Team receiver Matt Rockwell to the Shepherd University program, Belt still has a cadre of five quality receivers to choose from. Chief among the Indians' receiving party is senior Ricky Kump.

Joining Belt in Berkeley's Pro-I set backfield is senior fullback Randy Waugh, and freshman tailback Cody Hess, a speed demon who was the Mountain State Athletic Conference's 100 meter champion last year for his middle school track team. A footrace to the end zone between Hess and speedster Husky linebacker Wolf could turn out to be a real barnburner.

Among those pounding out a path for Hess, and protection for Belt, will be 2003 All-State Honorable Mention selection Andy Ryan on the offensive line.

On defense Berkeley Springs will employ a 5-3 formation, at times jumping into a 4-3 stack. The Indians' defensive front is noted for its experience, size, and quickness, while the linebacker and secondary corps is composed of a number of newcomers that could give the Huskies some opportunities to air their game out. Northern's runners have to be salivating at the prospect of getting behind the Berkeley line, where they will find three starting linebackers who were reserve players last season.

"It's going to be a tough game for both teams," said Carr. "Our guys know that the last time we opened with two straight wins was the 2000 season when we went to the state playoffs, and they are itching for their shot. A win tomorrow would be the 200th win in the Northern program's history, and we'd really like to have our home fans share that milestone with us."

Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. at the Northern High stadium.

Rabid Maddawgs Tear Into Raiders In Pee Wee Play

The Northern Maddawgs lived up to their nickname – and showed why they are the defending Pee Wee Football League Super Bowl champs – by chewing up the Cumberland Raiders 39-0 in Saturday's A & B squad action at Allegany College of Maryland.

Northern's B team defense clamped down on the Raiders from the outset, starting off the first quarter with a three-plays-and-out defensive stance on the Raiders' first possession. The Maddawgs' offense then pounded its way down the field to set up their first score, a one-yard dive by Robert Hill that was followed by Tyler Ireland's extra point run. After Northern's defense stymied the hosts again, Maddawg Seth Layton rumbled in from a yard out to put his squad up 13-0.

The A team took the field for the second quarter and wasted no time in putting up its own numbers. Cameron Kamp took his very first carry, dodged a would-be tackler, and sped off 40 yards downfield for a touchdown. Later, Cody Rodeheaver got in the mix when he went seven yards for a touchdown on his second carry of the day. The 'Dawgs went to the air on the ensuing conversion play, and Patrick Sines hit Jacob Bosley for the extra point to give Northern a comfortable halftime margin of 26 unanswered points.

The B Maddawgs changed their entire backfield for the third quarter. Although Collin Belcher, Colton Grove, Charles Hanek, and Nick Ruff reeled off some excellent runs, Cumberland's defense stiffened when it needed to and held Northern scoreless over the course of the stanza.

Northern's A team put the squad back on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter with its own new backfield, as Tyler Bittinger took his first handoff and motored 50 yards down the sideline for a touchdown. Matt Thomas bulldozed in for the extra point. Josh Mason closed out the scoring with a 12-yard TD run.

Northern's coaches noted Bosley, Alex Baker, Josh Mason, Zack Meyers and Austin Tombley for their fine A-team defensive work, while Colton Grove, Wyatt Hess, Seth Layton, Chris Murdock, and Robert Hill turned in top defensive performances for the B unit.

The Maddawgs' C team ran away with a 28-7 win of its own, with Aaron Rodeheaver leading the way with two touchdowns and an extra point. Justin Derato scored a touchdown and two extra points, Shawn Carr recorded a touchdown, and Brooks Carr added an extra point.

C team defensive standouts were Shawn Carr and Tyler Giles, who netted seven tackles each, and Meshach Metz, Brooks Carr, Tyler Giles, and Trevon Jones.

Northern's next outing is a Super Bowl rematch pitting the Maddawgs against the Keyser Mini Tornados this Saturday, Sept. 18. Kickoff is slated for 9:30 a.m. at Northern High.

Battle Of CAYFL Steelers Ends In Northern Split

A Cumberland Area Youth Football League battle of Steelers ended in a split decision Saturday, as the Division I Keyser Steelers pummeled the Northern Steelers 52-30, while the Division II Northern Steelers edged their Keyser counterparts 13-12.

Northern's Division I loss was the unit's first defeat in three outings. Although Keyser put the first touchdown on the board on an 8-yard carry by Jeremy Green, the Garrett County team soon knotted the score with a 70 yard pass completion from Nick Graham to Randy Wiley for a touchdown.

Keyser then reeled off three unanswered touchdowns over the remainder of the first half, which ended with the hosts holding a 28-8 advantage.

Northern struck first after the intermission when Zach Fratz grabbed a 23-yard touchdown pass from Graham, but Keyser answered with a scoring drive of its own to make the score 36-16. The visitors responded when Bobby Wingrove scampered 13 yards for a touchdown.

Keyser scored twice more before Northern's Ryan Evans exploded in the fourth quarter on a 60-yard touchdown carry. Keyser put the final points on the board on a 68-yard scoring strike, and the game ended with Northern holding the short end of a 22-point deficit.

Wiley paced Northern's output as he recorded 108 yards on 12 carries, and also scored a touchdown and kicked three two-point conversions. Graham tossed two touchdown passes.

Keyser's Green rushed for 110 yards and two touchdowns on five carries.

In Division II play, Northern struck in the second quarter when Ted Linton rambled 49 yards for a touchdown. Keyser then scored on a 14-yard TD pass to tie things up at 6-all.

The two teams traded scores again in the second half. Northern took the upper hand in the third stanza when Dylan Day shot through the line for a nine-yard scoring carry, then quarterback Josh Duckworth hit Linton in the end zone for a one-point conversion that spelled the difference. Keyser scored a touchdown in the fourth quarter, pulling within one, but the Northern defense pulled out its steel curtain to shut down the conversion run.

Trevor Tombley, Tyler Opel and Alex Smith were cited for outstanding play on defense by the Northern coaching staff.

The Northern Steelers (2-1) host Ridgeley Sunday in a 2 p.m. meeting at Northern High School.

Long & Foster To Host Leukemia Golf Tournament

The Deep Creek branch of Long & Foster Realtors and Resort Rentals will host a two-day, two-course, golf tournament slated for Sept. 27 and 28 to benefit the Vicki (Via) Dotson Foundation for Leukemia Research. This local, non-profit organization was originated by Frostburg restaurant and motel owner, Al Via, who lost his daughter to leukemia in 1979.

After organizing and heading a 25 year tournament in Allegany County and raising more than $700,000 for his foundation, Al brought his idea and hopes of a new tournament to Long & Foster realtors. The result is the "Mason Dixon Golf Classic."

"As a founding sponsor for the Mason Dixon Golf Classic, Long & Foster Realtors & Resort Rentals are working very hard to make this tournament a success," said John Macy, branch manager of the Deep Creek Long & Foster office.

A wine and cheese party at Wisp will kick off the tournament on Sunday evening Sept. 26, with special entertainment by Lynn Beckman and his band, followed by two days of golf in a four person team scrambler at Wisp Resort and Oakland Country Club on Sept. 27 and 28.

Hole-In-One prizes will be awarded by Golf Card International ($5,000 cash) and Patriot Chrysler-Dodge-Jeep of Oakland (2005 Grand Jeep Cherokee). Other local sponsors include Prosperity Mortgage, Curt's Corner Anchor Mart, Accident Garage, 84 Lumber Co., Deep Creek Marina, and local realtor Debbie Beitzel. Cost of the tournament including all food, entertainment, prizes, and golf are $199 and a guest may be brought for $100 which includes everything but the golf.

For more information on the First "Mason Dixon Golf Classic" and lodging for the event, persons may contact Long & Foster Realtors & Resort Rentals at 301-387-4700 or 301-387-5832.

To learn more about the Vicki (Via) Dotson Foundation or getting assistance with food, lodging or travel expenses related to treatment of leukemia or like-diseases, persons may contact Al Via at 301-689-6749.

GOLFING TO LEUKEMIA RESEARCH – Long & Foster Realtors and Resort Rentals will host a golf tournament for the Vicki Via Dotson Memorial Foundation for Leukemia Research on Sept. 27 and 28. Ram Golfers Club Way To WMIL Crown, 17-0 Record

The odds are looking better and better that the Southern High School varsity golf team is on the way to claiming its second straight Region I title, as SHS has rolled up a sterling 17-0 mark so far this year. The Rams added to their unbeaten string this week with convincing wins in a Friday triangular and Monday's five-squad WMIL Tournament.

Southern dominated Friday's home outing against Northern and Moorefield by carding a 163 team score, 41 strokes ahead of the Huskies' second-place 204. Moorefield brought up the rear with a 210. The Rams' Matt Skidmore took low-medalist honors with a one-under par 35, while teammate Josh Lear chipped in with a 39. Michael Bergstrom was NHS low golfer at 40, while Jeremy Simon paced the Yellow Jackets with a 45.

The WMIL tournament, played under sunny skies at the Oakland Golf Club, turned out to be another runaway Southern win. The Rams put together a 315 team tally, good for a 41-stroke margin over runner-up Fort Hill's 358. Allegany was right on the Sentinels' heels at 360, and Beall bunched up the two through four slots by recording a 363. The Huskies finished in back of the pack at 385, despite Bergstrom's 81, good for third place in the overall individual standings.

Low medalist honors for the tourney went to SHS's Skidmore at 72 strokes, while Lear was runner-up at 74. Coming in fourth after Bergstrom was SHS's Joe Albert with an 82. Jessica Jewell shot an 83 for the Campers, and teammate Corey Brown had an 85. Travis Bothast led Fort Hill with an 85, and David Gearing led Beall with an 86.

The Rams have a huge week coming up, as they host Keyser today with the Region meet to follow Tuesday. This afternoon's 4 p.m. match with the Golden Tornado is a rematch against Southern's toughest opponent to date. The two squads opened their seasons back in August with a meet that ended with a one-stroke SHS victory, 151-152.

Southern defends its Region I crown Tuesday at the Blackrock course. The Rams' title chase gets under way at 9 a.m.

Lander Winner At Elizabethtown

Former Northern High School athletic and academic standout Heather Lander recorded a pair of singles victories, and was also a member of a doubles team that won two matches this past week for the Elizabethtown College women's tennis team.

The undefeated Blue Jays (5-0) flattened Commonwealth Conference rival Albright on Saturday, 8-1, and then cruised to an 8-1 team win over Lebanon Valley in another conference match on Monday.

Lander whipped Albright's Sherri Young in singles, 6-1, 6-1, and then teamed with Emma Smith to win in doubles, 8-1.

In Monday's match against Lebanon Valley, Lander coasted to a 6-2, 6-0 singles win over Chris Jessen. She and teammate Smith then won their doubles match, 8-3.

The Blue Jays played Messiah yesterday, but results were not received by presstime today.

Husky Booters Cage Cats, Up Perfect Mark to 4-0

The varsity boys' soccer team of Northern High School upped its perfect record to 4-0 by rolling over visiting Westmar, 6-0, Tuesday evening in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League clash.

The Huskies dominated play throughout, finishing with a lopsided 49-6 advantage in shots on goal and a 7-1 lead in corner kicks.

Derek Cutter recorded a hat trick to score half of the Huskies' goals, starting with an unassisted goal just over 10 minutes into the match.

Scott Pusateri made it 2-0 at the 16:06 mark with an unassisted goal.

Matt Bass followed with a pair of goals, the first off an assist by Chris Speicher at the 10:09 mark, and the second unassisted with 2:09 to go in the half.

Cutter's second and third goals were the only scores of the second half. The first came off another assist by Speicher with 36:14 on the clock. The second was off a feed by Max Beitzel at the 30:50 mark.

Westmar keeper Adam Scott had a very busy evening, finishing with 37 saves, while Chris Fickes had to stop just two of the Wildcats' attempts.

The loss dropped Westmar to 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the WMIL.

The Husky defense has allowed just one goal in four matches (to Fort Hill), while the offense has scored a total of 24, an average of six per outing.

A huge WMIL match-up is set for 7:30 tonight in Frostburg, where the Huskies will take on the Beall Mountaineers, who are also 4-0 overall and 2-0 in WMIL play.

Beall has recorded an amazing 38 goals in four victories.

The Huskies will host Allegany next Tuesday, with the jayvee match to begin at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30. The junior varsity will entertain Trinity High School next Thursday in a 5 p.m. match.

Southern Boys Shut Out By Campers And Mountaineers

Enduring a pair of Western Maryland Interscholastic League shutouts in their past two outings was the Southern High School boys' soccer team, as the Rams were blanked by visiting Allegany on Sept. 9 (results not available for last week's issue) and were embarrassed Tuesday evening by powerhouse Beall, 8-0, in Frostburg.

Chris Herath accounted for all of Allegany's scoring, as he took a feed from Brett Showalter and sent it past the Ram keeper 10 minutes into the match.

The second and final goal of the match was on a penalty kick by Herath at the 27-minute mark of the second half.

Five Beall Mountaineers recorded at least one goal each in Tuesday's match against the Rams, with Bryon Folk getting a hat trick, all in the second half.

The first came at the 35:14 mark of the first half when Matt Florita scored off an assist by Michael Cunningham.

Adam Eshleman made it 2-0 with a goal off a feed by Florita with 16:20 left in the half, and Carter Dickel gave the home team a 3-0 halftime lead with a score at the 2:22 mark off a feed by Adam Sommers.

Folk scored the first of his three second-half goals at the 35:48 mark off an assist by Josh Bittner.

He made it 5-0 about 10 minutes later with a goal off a feed from Dickel.

Florita followed with his second goal of the night just over a minute later when he took a ball from Eshleman with 24:45 remaining.

Sommers fed a ball to the center and Folk completed his hat trick with a goal with 10:04 left in the match.

An unassisted goal by Billy Christman at the 6:45 mark concluded the scoring.

It was the fourth win in as many starts for the Mountaineers and their 19th straight regular-season victory. Beall has averaged over 9 goals per match so far this season, with a total of 38 recorded in just four outings.

The Rams were dominated in shots, 31-8, and in corner kicks, 8-0. Mike Edwards was credited with 10 saves in goal for Southern, while Chris Fike turned away six of the Rams' shots.

Southern will try to get back into the win column this evening in Lonaconing, where the Rams will take on Westmar in another WMIL contest. The kick-off is set for 4:30 p.m., and the match will precede the varsity football game between the Rams and the Wildcats.

Southern will travel to Keyser next Tuesday and host Beall next Thursday.

LOCAL BOOTERS WIN TOURNEY— The Deep Creek Soccer Club completed a perfect season recently by finishing the regular season of the Buckskin Soccer League, Morgantown, W.Va., with an undefeated record and then winning the league tournament with three more convincing victories. The club rolled over W.Va. Brewpub in the first tournament game, 7-1; blanked CityNet in the semifinals, 7-0; and then cruised to a 6-2 victory over VSA Crew in the championship match. Karen Osgenov led the scoring for the Deep Creek Club with a total of six goals in the three matches. Former Southern High School standout Jenny Hickman recorded one goal and three assists. The Deep Creek Club, which finished the regular season with a 13-0 mark, recorded a total of 79 goals and allowed only 10, five of which were scored by former professional player Raul Ovalle. Ovalle also scored both of VSA Crew's goals in the title match. Pictured from left, kneeling, are: Shera Rowan, Jenny Hickman (of Garrett County), Karen Osgenov, Andy Ferguson, Steve Amann, Joe Enright, Donnie Amann, Ihor Zakaluzny (GC), Ned Holloway (GC, and one of the founders of the club), and Jane Foster. Southern Girls Blank Spartans To Even Record

Five different members of the Southern High School girls' varsity each scored a goal Saturday evening to lead the Rams to a 5-0 victory over visiting Bishop Walsh. The win evened the Rams' record at 1-1.

The first score came just over three minutes into the match, as Kendra McLaughlin took a feed from Nikita Lopez and shot the ball past the BW keeper at the 36:56 mark.

Lopez recorded her second assist of the evening just over six minutes later, this time to Corey Lewis, whose goal made it 2-0.

Then Lopez scored her own goal off an assist by McLaughlin at the 21:25 mark, and Lauren Shue gave the Rams a commanding 4-0 halftime lead with an unassisted goal at the 12:04 mark.

The only goal of the second half was scored by Southern's Brittany Scheffel off a feed by Lewis with just 41 seconds to play.

The Rams finished with a 22-9 advantage in shots on goal and led in corner kicks, 4-2.

Jessica Petrella had nine saves in getting the shutout for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity team also earned a shutout win in the preliminary game, 3-0, with goals scored by Julie Swerbinsky, Lauren Neville, and Clare Buckle.

The Rams will play again this evening against Fort Hill at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland. The junior varsity match will begin at 6 p.m., and the varsity clash will kick off at 7:30.

Southern will host Northern on Monday and entertain Beall next Thursday. The Northern and Beall matches will begin at 5:30 (jayvee) and 7 p.m. (varsity).

Husky Netters Down Elks, 'Cats; Fall To Sentinels

The Northern High School varsity volleyball team battled to a 3-2 victory over visiting Westmar in a Monday night marathon match before being blanked by host Fort Hill last night, 3-0.

Although no firm results were released pertaining to a scheduled match earlier in the week at Salisbury, NHS reportedly won that Friday night contest.

NHS opened Monday's narrow victory over the Wildcats with a 25-21 game win, but Westmar fought back to take the second contest 26-24. Northern took the third, 25-16, but dropped the fourth, 25-19. The Huskies prevailed in the tie-breaker by a 15-10 tally.

Northern junior Angie Umbel was on fire against the Wildcats as she recorded 20 service points, while teammate Lakin Weimer rolled up 28 attacks and seven kills. Jayme Miller contributed a fine all-around performance with 13 service points, seven aces, and five attacks. No information was available for the Westmar players, nor regarding the night's junior varsity meeting.

Last night at Fort Hill the Huskies dropped the first game, 25-9, and then played better in the next two, but lost both of them, 25-18 and 25-17.

Weimer led the Huskies with a dozen attacks, three points, and one kill, while Miller recorded five points and four attacks.

Pacing the Sentinels (2-0) were Jessica Robinette with 15 points, includling nine aces, Michelle Morris with 11 points and five kills, and Traea Guthrie with nine kills.

Fort Hill also won the junior varsity match, 25-15 and 25-18. Danielle Brenneman and Emily Sisler each had five points for the Huskies.

The 2-2 Huskies have a two-match homestand this week, opening with a visit from Meyersdale on Monday and a match against Allegany on Wednesday. Junior varsity matches get under way at 6 p.m., with varsity matches following at approximately 7 p.m.

SHS Netters Still Perfect After Thumping Alco In Home Debut

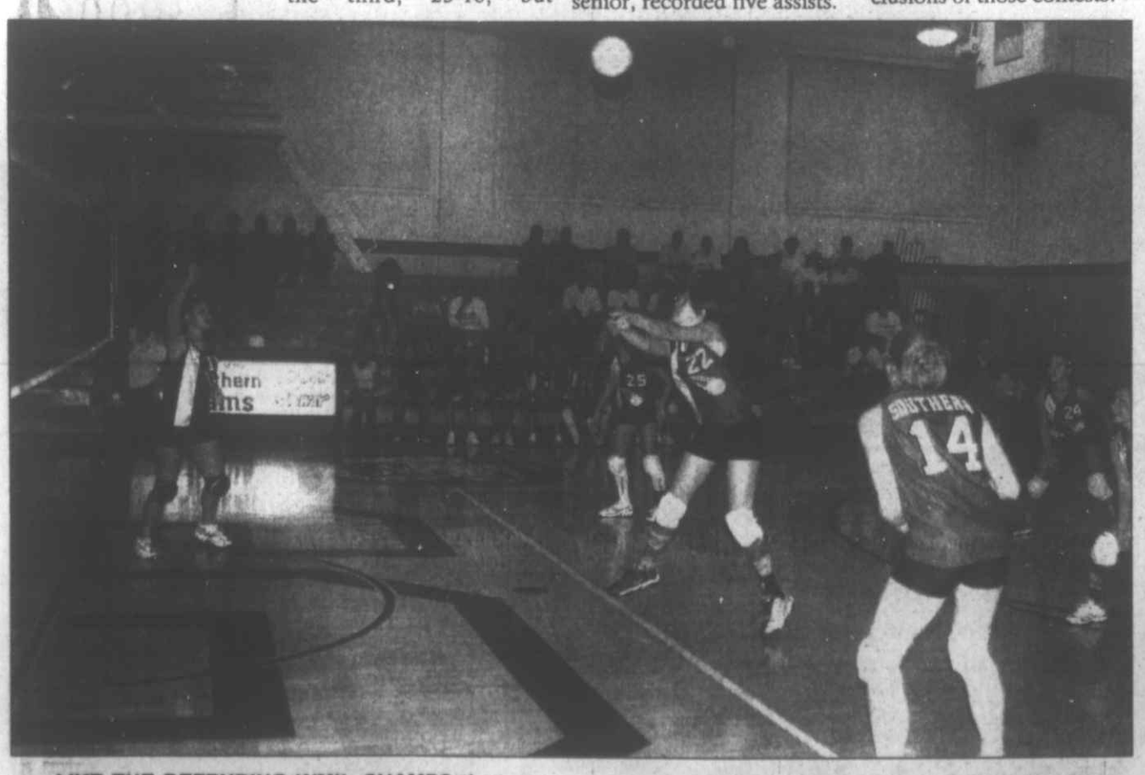
The Southern High School varsity volleyball team stomped the visiting Allegany Campers Monday in three straight, with a whopping 10 points separating the two squads in the night's closest game. The Rams are taking a 2-0 record into Saturday's Frankfort Tournament.

SHS rolled over Alco by game scores of 25-11, 25-14, and 25-15. Seniors Julia Bosley and Kayla Nazelrod, along with junior Chelsea Wassell, each netted nine service points. Bosley had three aces and two kills, Wassell two kills and two blocks, and Nazelrod recorded a team-high three kills. Bethany Steyer, also a senior, recorded five assists.

Melanie Mathews had 13 points and two aces and Lauren Hayes had nine hits and three kills for Allegany.

Southern's junior varsity squad also boosted its mark to 2-0 with a 25-15, 25-11 sweep. Natalie Rohrbaugh tallied 11 points and five aces, and Adrienne Yoder contributed nine points and five aces. Melissa Stein had eight points and two aces for the Campers.

Following Saturday's Frankfort outing, the Rams return to Oakland to host Beall Monday and Westmar Wednesday. The home-court matches get under way at 6 p.m. with JV play, and the varsity takes to the floor shortly after the conclusions of those contests.



LIKE THE DEFENDING WMIL CHAMPS they are, the Southern Rams have reeled off back-to-back sweeps as the high school volleyball season heats up. The latest SHS victim fell prey Monday night in Oakland, as Southern gobbled up the Allegany Campers 3-0. Ram middle hitter Kayla Nazelrod (#22) is pictured above middle – hitting, naturally – as the senior is surrounded by her teammates, from left, Bethany Steyer (#10), Sarah Stephens (#25), Chelsea Wassell (#24), Julia Bosley (#5, partially in photo field), and Sarah Bittinger (#14). Top Jr. Estonian Markswoman Sets Sights On Garrett Degree

by Joan Crawford

A woman who was the Estonian Junior Pistol Shooting champion 10 times is now a freshman at Garrett College. Kristina Kast, from Paide, Estonia, is the only new student from that Baltic country to come to Garrett this year.

After graduating from the Gymnasium in her hometown, Kask knew that she wanted to study abroad in an English speaking country. From a friend whose stepfather is an American she heard about the Garrett scholarship and decided to seize the opportunity to further her education and come to Garrett. The progeny of a Russian mother, a German grandmother, and a Finnish grandfather, she speaks Russian, Estonian, and English and says that she is able "to communicate" in French.

Because she is still undecided about her future career, she is enrolled in the General Studies program. "I enjoy working with people," she said, "and would like to work in some aspect of international relations." At Garrett she plans to become involved in the International Club and Student Government Association.

She will also be looking for a place to practice her one-hand pistol shooting, a sport she first learned without the knowledge of her parents when a classmate took her to watch a shooting match. After winning the Estonian junior competition 10 times and practicing five times a week, she entered the European competition where she placed 7th in 2003 and 11th in 2004. Her other interests are singing, jogging, and swimming.

Kask is very happy with Garrett County. "I love it here," she said. "The hills are much higher than those at home, and I am thankful for the college and my host family." She is living with Ginny Grove in Mtn. Lake Park. "I miss my family, but everyone here is very friendly." Her family at home consists of her mother and father, and twin siblings.

GC FRESHMAN "A REAL PISTOL" – This fall's incoming freshman class at Garrett College includes international student Kristina Kast, 10-time Junior Pistol Shooting champion of her native Estonia. Currently enrolled in GC's General Studies program, Kast's interest in international relations led her to seek an education in the United States. She is also looking forward to further honing her shooting skills.

Runnin' Rams Place Fourth, Eighth In Frankfort Event

The Runnin' Rams, Southern High School's cross country teams, were among those that competed in the Frankfort Invitational on Saturday.

The Southern girls, coached by Steve Cosner, placed fourth among 11 teams, while the SHS boys, coached by Jamie Beeman, placed eighth among 11 squads.

Leading the Southern girls was Sarah Cosner, who finished seventh overall with a time of 23:08. Melinda Smith, Courtney DiSimone, and Elizabeth Thayer finished 20th, 21st, and 23rd, respectively, while Leah Warnick was 31st, Krista Hanline placed 33rd, and Emily Bowman was 42nd.

In the junior varsity race, Rikkilee Rose and Katie Conroy led the SHS girls with sixth and seven places, respectively. Rachel Skipper finished 10th, Rachelle Sweitzer was 11th, and Ashley Walters was 15th.

Keyser won the team title with 33 points, followed by Hedgesville with 54, Frankfort with 60, Southern with 87, Fort Hill with 121, and Hampshire with 141. Recording incomplete scores were Westmar, Allegany, Pendleton County, East Hardy, and Tucker County.

The top finisher for the Southern boys was Derek Upperman, who placed 20th with a time of 19:06. Andrew Goad was 29th (20:20), followed by Caiden Shaffer, 38th; Michael Murphy, 43rd; Michael McConnell, 50th; and Andrew Kight, 53rd.

Andrew Sauder and Tim Preston led the Ram jayvees by placing 14th and 15th, respectively.

The host Frankfort boys won as a team, recording 41 points. Hedgesville was second with 76, followed by Keyser, 84; Tucker County, 95; Fort Hill, 135; Hampshire, 139; Allegany, 146; and Southern, 163. Westmar, Pendleton County, and East Hardy had incomplete teams.

The Rams also competed at Preston High School yesterday, but results of that meet were not received. Their next meet is slated for Sept. 25, also at Preston.

To the Editor:

The Sept. 2 issue of The Republican carried two items which left me somewhat amazed because of the way they very directly relate to each other. If I may, I would like to draw a correlation between them.

First, in your editorial titled "Points to Ponder," you begin by writing about Labor Day and its origin and significance. You correctly stated that "it [Labor Day] was a creation of the labor movement and is a day dedicated to the social and economic achievements of American workers, a national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the prosperity and well-being of our country." Up to that point I was in total agreement. You then digress.

You write about two editorials... the first, written by a Michael Jensen for the Standard Democrat, a newspaper that covers four counties in the state of Missouri. The second, a syndicated column by that strong, pro-labor (I'm joking) columnist Bill O'Reilly. As I read the words of these two "journalists," I realized they both were saying that there is a large segment of our society which essentially depends on the federal government for everything from education to health care. They don't identify anyone or support the allegation with facts or statistics (which right-wing commentators and writers are prone to do). They seem to believe that if they feel this way and they put it in print, it must be true! They both feel that we have "far too many people in this nation who are not pulling their weight." The crux of both editorials was that "the federal government cannot afford to drag you through life... A compassionate politician will set up programs that encourage self-reliance, hard work, and personal responsibility in all areas."

The second item I refer to was the lead article on the very first page of The Republican titled "Depression Rate is Highest in Garrett County." The article reported the findings to date contained in a study by two renowned sociologists from the University of Maryland. The ongoing, three-year study titled "Garrett County Speaks: Improving Health and Well-being" illustrated the link between low wages and economic opportunities to both mental and physical health particularly among women in the county. The study pointed out that often mothers are required to work two or three jobs, "while the man becomes the primary care giver." The reason for this is that women "generally are more employable in the county than men because they draw lower wages." The report goes on to address the term "food-in-security" or, in other words, lack of enough income to afford enough food to feed the family. It pointed out that "Garrett Countians were found particularly vulnerable to food-in-security, even though someone in the household was employed, because their incomes were inadequate to meet basic needs." According to the report, "Garrett County was also listed as having the most chronic health problems in the state, with mothers having the most problems. In Garrett County, 40% of mothers have no health insurance and 38% of their partners don't either. The ongoing study concluded that Garrett County needed more better paying jobs with benefits." The article stated, "The presentation was made to leaders of local social work agencies, all of whom are facing budget cuts and some of whom expressed frustration at not being able to reach those in need."

As I read this article, I began to ask myself... are these the un-named folks that both Jensen and O'Reilly are so eager to see "pull their own weight" and not have the government "drag through life"? Granted, there are a very small number (in every society and country) that, for whatever reason, simply will not be responsible for their own lives. However, when given the opportunity, the vast majority of citizens want to be responsible contributors to their family and society.

How about this... why don't we elect a government and certainly a president that provides opportunity and not just entitlements? A government that provides incentives to companies that create jobs in this country and not reward them with tax cuts for taking jobs offshore? A government that really believes in universal health care for our citizens, a government that believes in and passes legislation mandating a "living wage" standard, a government that doesn't try to thwart workers in their legitimate and legal right to join or form a union and that will enforce existing labor laws instead of ignoring them, a government that is truly compassionate and provides for those among us that may not have the means to "pull their own weight" all of the time?! Why don't we unelect the bunch in Washington that is currently running the government and spending billions of dollars to "improve" Iraq and getting over 1,000 Americans killed and replace them with people who are willing and able to do the things I have suggested? Mr. Sincell, I hope I have given you more "points to ponder."

To the Editor,

The re-election of George Bush, in November is looking increasingly likely. While there remains several weeks of intense campaigning to be done, history shows that the odds are clearly in favor of the incumbent when he has an approval rating over 50% at Labor Day. For me, it is most puzzling for President Bush to have a current approval rating of 52% when a quick review of his record should show an approval rate of no greater than the 40% percentage of voters who would vote for the Republican candidate regardless of his qualifications. It tells me how masterfully the GOP can spin their clearly flawed message and how gullible and naive the SOFTBALL LEAGUE CHAMPS — The Cornerstone Assembly of God team recently won the championship in the Garrett County Christian Men's Softball League. They also took first place in the league by earning the best record of 27-5. A total of 17 teams participated. Pictured above, front row, from left, are: Larry Marker, Ed Yommer, Justin Sleeman, Charlie Yommer (coach), Nathan Sleeman, and Dave Sines. In the back row, same order, are: Jeff Sechler, Davy Short, Dale Broadwater, Ken Yommer, Jeff Moser, Marty Kemp, and Adam Beal.

GROVES FARES WELL AT RACEWAY – John Groves, Oakland, of WG Motorsports, took his first checkered flag on Saturday at the Rt. 50 Raceway. There were nine go-karts in the senior light division. Of the two heat races, Groves took a fourth and first place, placing third in the feature. Groves expressed thanks to supporters Mark and Laura Whetzel, Danny Orndorff, TC Engineering, High Mountain On-Off Road, Hardesty Protective Coatings, and Nu-Finish Collision Center.

A MIGHTY MITE if there ever was one, 8-year-old Bryson Lee is shown above as he rumbles to fifth place in a field of 18 other competitors – all adults – during an ATV pull at the Farmers' and Threshers' Jubilee, held recently in New Centerville, Pa. The youngster was entered in the 250-400cc class, where his performance wowed the Jubilee crowd. Bryson is the son of Kim and Mike Hartsell of Oakland, and John Lee of Hutton, W.Va.

American voter is in buying it.

Upon assuming office following the closest and most contentious election in U.S. history, President Bush showed signs that he might indeed be the "compassionate conservative" he had labeled himself during the 2000 campaign. He said he would be a "uniter" of the country, not a divider. He said he would restore honor to the office of the presidency and enhance our relations with other countries and cultures throughout the world. His campaign that year also strongly focused on promising massive tax cuts as part of his plan for a strong and growing economy.

While his inaugural speech offered additional promise and hope, the first nine months of his presidency showed little real leadership and, with the exception of quickly eliminating the two trillion dollar surplus he inherited from President Clinton via an ill-conceived tax cut for wealthy Americans and big business, President Bush offered no real vision and the country seemed rudderless. Then the awful events of Sept. 11, 2001, changed everything. The president did, at first, seem to rise to the occasion and offered the nation the leadership and confidence needed to unite and pull us out of our despair. Just about all of the growing opposition to his presidency disappeared as the nation, and indeed much of the world, rallied behind him.

Unfortunately, things have gone down, way down, since then. Instead of wisely using that period of national unity and cooperation among nations, President Bush squandered the good will and took advantage of the anger in our country to launch an unnecessary and disastrous war against Iraq. The president, in his apparent obsession to destroy Saddam Hussein, tried to blame the Iraqi leader for the 9/11 attacks and as the focus of his "war on terrorism." He used his bully pulpit to label anyone who disagreed with his approach as unpatriotic at best, a traitor at worst. Congress, in a very pathetic example of rolling over and playing dead, simply rubber-stamped anything the president wanted. The media, the same one conservatives loves to refer to as "the liberal media," quietly went along as well.

Of course, time has proven that Iraq was not the evil threat and source of terrorism that Bush insisted was the case. The president's actions have resulted in the deaths of over 1,000 American solders and tens of thousands of innocent Iraqi citizens. Instead of being a leader among nations and a beacon of hope for the world, the United States is viewed as an overly aggressive militaristic nation, bent on only advancing our own agenda and protecting our own interests. Terrorism, the given reason we attacked Iraq, is now more wide spread than ever, and instead of making the world a safer place, the president and his administration's reckless and arrogant approach has made the world far more dangerous for everyone.

President Bush has taken advantage of 9/11 to seize much power from Congress and subject the American people to a serious erosion of individual rights and privacy under the guise of "homeland security" – quickly railroading through a shockingly complacent Congress many changes that the courts are now often viewing as being unconstitutional.

Instead of being the "national uniter" the president promised he would be, we now live in a country that is more bitterly divided than anytime since the Civil War. Partisanship on Capitol Hill is so deep and well-entrenched, the chances of meaningful progress on pressing national issues are very small. The president could use the power of his office to help restore cooperation in Congress, but he shows no real interest or even ability to handle such a task.

Instead of his tax cuts being the centerpiece of growing prosperity for all, the nation has seen the loss of millions of jobs, an actual decline in real personal income, and a sky rocketing national deficit that will stifle our economy for decades to come. The serious problems of health care in the country continue to worsen and the president has shown little interest in more than a "band-aid" approach to addressing this growing national crisis.

The environment, which had shown such great progress in being restored over the past few decades, is threatened more by this president's policies than anytime in recent history.

Instead of defending our constitution as a source of freedom and liberty for all, our president advocates using it as a partisan tool to advance his right-wing agenda and create an officially sanctioned 2nd class of American citizens. He also advocates returning to the dark days where women were required to seek dangerous and unlawful procedures to end an unwanted pregnancy.

It has been said that this election is the most important in U.S. history. Please don't let the smooth-running propaganda machine of Karl Rove and other GOP cronies distort the true record of President Bush and manipulate you into supporting four more years of this administration, arguably the worst and most damaging our nation has ever seen.

NHS Envirothon Team Places 10th In State Contest

The Northern Lights, the Northern High Envirothon team, recently traveled to St. Mary's College of Maryland to represent Garrett County at the 2004 Maryland State Envirothon Championships, and placed 10th overall out of 21 teams.

Transportation to the event was provided through the generosity of Jan Russell and Mike Dreisbach, owners of the Savage River Lodge.

Team members included Annie Winter, Amanda Sisler, Margaret Mastej, Michael McKewen, Sam Sherrard, and Angel Giron. During the final competition, teams were scored on their knowledge of natural resource principles as well as their application.

Team members were tested on such skills as their ability to age deer, calculate timber board feet, identify fish, and determine the texture of soil.

The Northern Lights also placed third in the soils category. Since McKewen was the only team member to previously participate in the state Envirothon competition, coaches April Slagle and Liz McDowell said they were pleased with the results.

New members are currently being recruited for the Northern Lights. Students should contact Slagle, science teacher at NHS, for more information.

Swan Meadow To Hold Annual Harvest Sale

Swan Meadow School's PTO annual fundraiser, the Harvest Sale, will be held on Friday, Sept. 24, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, south of Oakland. This annual auction of farm produce, handmade crafts, and baked goods features items provided by Amish and Mennonite families and students of Swan Meadow School. This is the 55th year of the Harvest Sale.

Doughnuts made by mothers of the students on the day of the sale will be available for purchase by 5:30 p.m. Also for sale will be homemade caramels, taffy, cookies, fudge, and gallons of apple cider. Dinner items such as like taco salads, chili dogs, sloppy joes, hot dogs, coffee, and assorted drinks will also be sold at that time. The evening will begin with the 6th, 7th, and 8th graders of Swan Meadow School singing songs at 6:45 p.m. The auction will begin at 7 p.m.

The Swan Meadow School History Book filled with photographs and memories will also be sold. Some special items to be auctioned include birdhouse gourds, dried flower grapevine wreaths, a birdhouse planter, wooden bean bag toss game, quilts, a bat box, and a picnic table.

To reach the Pleasant Valley Community Center, persons may travel south of Oakland on Rt. 219, turn onto Paul Friend Road, and turn right onto Joni Miller Road.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

MARGIN OF ERROR

Q. When I read about political polling and forecasting, it always mentions a "margin of error." How do they come up with that number?

A. The "margin of error" is a statistical factor that tries to express the uncertainty in the polling technique. It tries to give one single number that tells how well you can believe the quoted result.

The biggest factor affecting the accuracy of a poll is: How many people were included in the questionnaire? If you ask a thousand people the same question, chances are you'll get a more accurate picture than if you only ask 40 people. The statistical term for "how many" is the sample space, meaning the size of the population that was "sampled."

One key mathematical concept is essential to understanding this: When dealing with statistical data, there is always a standard deviation associated with any sample space. If the size of the sample is N, the standard deviation is just about the square root of N. So if you take a survey of 16 people, the standard deviation is 4. If you survey 10,000 people, the standard deviation is 100.

As the sample space gets bigger, the standard deviation increases too, but at a much slower rate. Expressed as a percentage of the total, the standard deviation gets smaller. Obviously it costs you a lot more time and effort to survey 10,000 people, so if your time and budget are finite, you have to make a tradeoff and stop at some number, calling your estimate "good enough." For political polling, it's common practice to obtain about 1,000 answers before calling it quits.

Generally speaking, statisticians figure that they don't know "the answer" any better than to within plus or minus one standard deviation. This mathematical notion is used whether you're counting electrons in a physics experiment, or feeding a new medicine to laboratory mice, or asking people about political candidates. "One Standard Deviation" is the customary parameter that characterizes the accuracy of any statistical measurement. It's not perfect by any means, but it IS a single number that statisticians can agree upon to characterize their data.

Suppose in a survey you ask 900 people a question; 477 answer "yes" and 423 answer "no." But the standard deviation is 30 people (square root of 900). Therefore, by the rules of statistical analysis, you don't really "know" that this result differs from a tie (450/450 split). Nor do you "know" that it's not 500/400. Therefore you report the number you measured along with a margin of error that tells readers how accurate you believe your number to be. In the case of 900 people questioned and a standard deviation of 30, the margin of error equals 30/900 = .033, or 3.3%. Since 477 out of 900 is 53%, the right way to quote the result is to say "53% said 'yes,' with a margin of error of 3%." For a political survey where the question is "Which candidate do you prefer?" the quoted margin of error really only tells you how many people were asked.

You might say, "Well, let's fix the problem by asking more people." If you ask 100 million voters which candidate they prefer, that's called an election. The hard part is to ask a moderately small number of people and still get an accurate answer. If you ask 10,000 people instead of 1,000 people, the standard deviation rises from 31.6 (square root of 1000) to 100, while the percentage represented by that standard deviation – and hence the margin of error – decreases from 3% to 1%. But to gain that improvement, you have to do 10 times as much work.

Just running up the numbers of people questioned doesn't fix everything. The pollster has to be wise enough to find a truly representative sample. If, for this coming election, one poll surveyed 1,000 people in Oakland, Maryland, and another surveyed 1,000 people in Oakland, California, you'd see vastly different results. (In the presidential election of 1932, a telephone survey showed that Hoover would easily beat Roosevelt. But in 1932, only the wealthy had telephones.) If the newspaper USA Today sends a reporter out into downtown Washington at lunchtime to survey "the man in the street," beware of the reported results!

There are other factors that throw off polling results, too. Suppose a lot of people want to vote for a candidate, but are ashamed to admit it to a questioner? (A former congressman from Youngstown, Ohio, now serving time in jail, fit that category.) The pollster goes away with a lot of "no response" answers, and that distorts the reported result. Spurious factors like this creep into polling results all the time.

Pollsters get much more accurate results not by asking more people, but by putting extra effort into selecting a cross-section of truly representative people. By looking at election results from past elections, they may have discerned that some little town in Ohio offers a surprisingly accurate cross-section of American opinion. A poll taken there is a lot more informative than asking everyone at a Pittsburgh Steelers' game, or everyone in Times Square at lunchtime, or everyone at the racetrack on a weekday afternoon, or everyone in the Pentagon parking lot.

Finally, there is no magical guarantee associated with one standard deviation. To be confident in the results of a physics experiment, three standard deviations are commonly required. When test results of new medicines on humans are submitted to a federal review board, the board may demand three standard deviations in the statistical averages before granting approval.

When predicting an election outcome, nobody really knows beforehand how many people will stay home due to bad weather, how many will make up their mind at the last minute, etc. Measuring human opinion is a very inexact science.

LEARNING ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES – Accident Elementary School students in the fourth grade class of Doris Cooper and Donna Hinebaugh are learning about different cultures around the world. The unit is part of the students' reading, language arts, science, social studies, and math classes. The fourth graders have learned about life in Japan, Spain, and the Philippines. Postmaster Pedro Cabral Badillo Jr. spoke to the students about his homeland of the Philippines. He has been in this country for nine years, and said he "thanks God for the United States of America," but he misses his family very much. Zion Lutheran Women Convene Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on September 7.

The session opened a new Bible study, "Everyday Surprises: The Parables of Jesus." Devotions opened with the hymn "Open My Eyes That I May See" being read as a choral reading.

The first lesson in the series, "God In The Everyday," was led by Leota Baker. The principal objectives of the study were to consider what it means to speak about the kingdom of heaven, and to note the characteristics of God revealed by the parables of the mustard seed and the leaven.

Devotions closed with the hymn "Your Word, O Lord, Is Gentle Dew."

A package has been sent to the Lutheran Home, Kane, Pa., containing the following: 10 dozen washcloths received in the recent shower sponsored by the women's group, 12 invalid gowns that were made from men's shirts, a hospital robe, and 12 pairs of cotton undergarments that had been donated.

Tribute to the memory of Verta E. Durst was made through a gift offering to Women of the ELCA–Churchwide. This gift was forwarded for the specific ministry Missionary Support.

Various donations have been received for the annual project for the Christmas clothing give-away on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation. Items will be received until November 1, at which time packages will be sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Box Elder, Mont., for distribution.

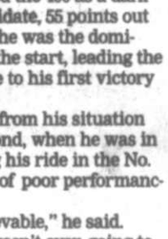
Musgrave rolls to easy victory at Richmond

Ted Musgrave led all but 10 laps in scoring a runaway victory in Thursday's Kroger 200 Craftsman Truck Series race at Richmond International Raceway.

The veteran driver had the dominant truck from the drop of the green flag. Starting second, he passed his new truck series teammate Jamie McMurray on the start and relinquished the lead only when he made pit stops.

McMurray, a Nextel Cup regular making a rare start in the truck series, appeared to be ready to challenge Musgrave as the laps wound down, but a late-race caution for Jimmy Spencer's blown engine broke his momentum.



MUSGRAVE

That set up a green-white-checkered-flag finish but Matt Crafton spun on the restart. With NASCAR rules allowing only one try at a green-flag finish after a late-race caution, the race ended under caution with McMurray trailing Musgrave across the finish line.

CHEVY ROCK AND ROLL 400 REVIEW

A CLUTCH victory

Jeremy Mayfield's win at Richmond lifts him into the Chase

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Richmond, Va.

With the stakes as high as they've ever been in a "regular-season" Nextel Cup race, Jeremy Mayfield turned in the performance of his career, winning the Chevy Rock and Roll 400 at Richmond International Raceway and clinching a berth in the 10-race Chase to the Nextel Cup.

While the four new "playoff" drivers — Mayfield, Mark Martin, Kurt Busch and Ryan Newman — were celebrating their good fortune, five others were eliminated from the elite 10 that will run for the biggest trophy in NASCAR. Jamie McMurray, Bobby Labonte, Kevin Harvick, Kasey Kahne and Dale Jarrett came up short.

Busch actually got his spot in the Chase when Todd Bodine dropped out on Lap 9, assuring Busch of a 42nd or better finishing position. He almost grabbed the race victory, but he ran out of gas while leading with eight laps to go.

Mayfield entered the 400 as a dark-horse Chase candidate, 55 points out of 10th place, but he was the dominant driver from the start, leading the most laps en route to his first victory in four years.

It was a far cry from his situation last fall at Richmond, when he was in jeopardy of losing his ride in the No. 19 Dodge because of poor performances on the track.

"This is unbelievable," he said. "One year ago, I wasn't even going to be here."

And Martin, who has been disappointed so often in Cup championship hunts — he has finished second or third eight times without a title — started the race 10th in the standings and stayed in the top 10 all night to secure the eighth spot in points at the start of the playoffs.

But it wasn't easy. He came within inches of crashing his car following a crash between Jimmy Spencer and Casey Mears. Martin did a 360-degree spin but didn't put a scratch on his car, and drove it to a fifth-place finish.

It capped a remarkable comeback for the driver, who started the season 43rd in points after falling out of the Daytona 500.

"It's been the hardest thing I've ever done in my life," he said.

The points standings seesawed all night but never more than after a collision between Jimmy Spencer and Casey Mears on Lap 179. That touched off a 10-car pile-up on the front stretch that trashed the car of points leader Jimmie Johnson and opened the door to the possibility of several drivers getting into the Chase by being within 400 points of the leader.

NASCAR

With Johnson in the garage awaiting repairs, all of the top 12 drivers were within the 400-point window at that point.

Mears said Spencer, who was racing him to get into the Lucky Dog spot, was to blame.

"He took me out and took out a lot of other people too," Mears said. "You can blame it all on Jimmy Spencer."

NASCAR initially ordered Spencer off the track, but after reviewing the incident decided no punishment was warranted.

Johnson blamed the melee on the Chase format.

"This is the way this points system works," he said. "You have desperate guys doing desperate things."

Kahne, who began the 400 ninth in points, found himself in dire straits for most of the race. He was running at the back of the pack when he spun in Turn 2 on Lap 206. He didn't make contact with the wall, but lost a lap getting back under way. He wound up 12th in the standings after finishing 24th in the race.

Jamie McMurray finished ninth in the 400, but came up 15 points short of a playoff spot.

"We'll just have to try to win a race before the end of the year," he said.

Many loyal fans aren't keen on NASCAR's Chase

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Richmond, Va.

Most of NASCAR's top drivers have been slow to accept the new Chase for the Nextel Cup "playoff" format or remain critics of it, and many longtime fans are right in step with them.

They say those who run the sport are tinkering too much with tradition.

"Why fix something that's not broke?" asked Sharon Jones of Tulsa, Okla., as she watched practice at Richmond International Raceway last week.

Jones said she believes the real reason behind the switch to a 10-driver, 10-race run to the title is that NASCAR wants its younger, more aggressive drivers like Dale Earnhardt Jr. standing on the stage when the season is over.

"They want the younger drivers up there, but the older ones are still the best," she said.

Brian Luders of Duluth, Ga., said he believes the points system change is all about money.

"Like the Southern 500, it's another piece of NASCAR history abandoned in favor of the almighty dollar," he said, adding that the change is all about "increased revenue for NASCAR through TV ratings."

Rob Poma of Marietta, Ga., likes the idea of the Chase.

"Race fans should raise their Buds and toast the finest minds in Daytona for the new 10-race Chase idea," he said. "It's a concept that everyone who knows NASCAR already understands: Hang on until the last quarter of the race or season and begin racing to the checkers or championship.

"When they raise the trophy at Homestead in a few months, there will be two winners — the fans and NASCAR."

Wayne Hanixman of Finksburg, Md., said he needs to see more before deciding whether he likes the Chase or not.

"My initial thought is that NASCAR is making too many changes, upsetting the applecart," he said. "They need to back off and let the drivers do their jobs."

But Hanixman said this year's points race has been better than some in recent years, and that may be due to the Chase.

"Matt Kenseth ran away with it last year, and it was really dull," he said. "It would have been close this year under the old system, but it may be that the Chase is the reason it's bunched up. I'm still waiting on the final judgment."

Drivers gearing up for the Chase

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

"This team is pumped up and fired up."
JEFF GORDON,
Nextel Cup points leader

Richmond, Va.

As the drivers and teams left Richmond International Raceway after Saturday's Chevy Rock and Roll 400, some were eagerly looking forward to the 10-race Chase to the Nextel Cup. Others were reluctantly looking back at what went wrong to knock them out of the playoffs.

Points leader Jeff Gordon, who finished third in the 400, seemed eager to get back to work this week at New Hampshire.

"We're going to give it our best effort and put everything we have — resources, people, race cars, engines, everything — into these next 10 weeks," he said. "I feel like we have great race tracks coming up for us.

"This team is pumped up and fired up."

On the other end of the scale, rookie Kasey Kahne, who entered the race ninth in points but fell out of the elite group after finishing 24th in the race, was searching for something to look forward to for the rest of the season.

"It's a huge letdown," he said. "It's like, 'What do you race for now?' "

Kahne said his poor run in the 400 made it hard to get any satisfaction from seeing his teammate Jeremy Mayfield pull off the seemingly impossible task of coming from 14th in points entering the 400 to ninth afterwards. Mayfield led five times for 151 laps, then passed Kurt Busch, who ran out of gas with eight laps to go, to get his first win in four years.

"If we didn't have such a bad race, everybody would be happy for [Mayfield] right now," Kahne said. "But right now, it stinks not making it."

For Mayfield, winning the race and a spot among the elite 10 for the Chase is the culmination of months of effort to make the No. 19 team a winner.

"We had a really tough couple of years trying to get this team to where it needs to be, and I think we've got it," he said.

Mayfield added that his car owner Ray Evernham, who won three Cup titles as a crew chief for Jeff Gordon, worked some magic on his team as it prepared his car for the 400.

"Ray has a way," Mayfield said. "It's wild. It's like he got a power or something, a way of stepping the deal up when it needs to be stepped up."

Perhaps no one was more relieved to wind up among the top 10 than Mark Martin, who has finished second or third in the standings eight times but has never won a title. He finished fifth in the race to secure the eighth spot to start the Chase.

Martin, who likely will run just one more season in Nextel Cup, showed the pressure of the Chase all week prior to the 400, as did the crew of his No. 6 Ford.

His teammate Matt Kenseth, who had already secured a Chase spot, was among those observing Martin.

"He was so stressed out all week," Kenseth said. "It looked like he was going to throw up at the drivers meeting."

But Kenseth also noticed that Martin is racing like a champion.

"I haven't seen him run like that for three or four or five years, you know, that good," he said.

NAMED STUDENT OF THE MONTH – Southern Garrett High School has chosen Cody Ferguson as the September Perkins Student of the Month. Cody excelled academically during his freshman year, and his agenda book cover entry was chosen for the 2004-05 school year. All Southern students are carrying Cody's artwork around the school with them everyday. Cody is extremely active in supporting all sports at SGHS and raises a variety of farm animals that he enters each year in the Garrett County Fair, said a school spokesperson. "Congratulations to Cody for setting an example of Ram maturity that makes Southern proud," said the spokesperson. Ferguson is congratulated by Principal Tom Woods for his accomplishments.

JWCC Holds Monthly Meeting

The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently met at Pine Lodge Steak House following their "Road Rally" meeting on Thursday, Sept. 2. Guest Kim Newmann was in attendance at the meeting where donations were allocated to Garrett Medical Hospital Foundation, Warm the Children, PAWS, and United Way of Garrett County.

The success of the fair booth, The Pizza Shack, was discussed and a donation was made to Southern volleyball for their service during the fundraiser.

The next meeting is at Elizabeth Huxford's house for "idiot proof craft."

JWCC of Garrett County is a social and civic organization that meets the first Thursday of every month at 6:30 pm. The object of this organization is the development of its members in intellectual endeavor and community service. The club is open to any woman 18 years of age or older.

Persons interested in joining the club may contact membership chairperson Marta Schroyer at 301-387-5898 or jwcc@iceweb.net.

Mayfield Named Outstanding Math Educator In State

Dave Mayfield, a mathematics and physics teacher for over 30 years at Southern who retired last year, was chosen as an Outstanding Mathematics Educator in the state of Maryland.

Ten awards were given last school year to mathematics educators at all levels from elementary through university.

"He is a wonderful example of what a teacher can be – knowledgeable in his subject matter, able to help students learn, tough and demanding, yet kind and funny and loved by his students, involved in their lives both in and outside the mathematics classroom," said Gail Kaplan from the Department of Mathematics at Towson University, after observing Mayfield's teaching.

Workshop Slated At GCMH For Cancer Patients

Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the American Cancer Society are sponsoring a workshop titled "Look Good...Feel Better," which is geared for individuals undergoing treatment for cancer. The workshop will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 28, in the hospital's conference room located on the third floor.

"Look Good...Feel Better" is a free, national public service program dedicated to teaching women and teenage cancer patients the techniques to help restore their appearance and self-image, and how to deal with the sociological effects they experience during treatment.

Cosmetics for the classes are provided free of charge courtesy of the American Cancer Society, The Cosmetics, Toiletry & Fragrance Association Foundation, and the National Cosmetics Association.

Demonstrations in the use of wigs, hats, and turbans will also be given.

This program is offered at no charge, however, reservations are required. To register or obtain more information, persons may contact Judy Simson at 301-533-4295.

Earns Academic Honors At Hood

Grantsville resident Tessa Jo Folk was among the Hood College students who were honored during a recent convocation ceremony at the Frederick college. Students who qualify for convocation honors must have earned a minimum 3.6 grade point average for the preceding academic year, have taken at least 12 credit hours on a letter grade basis during each semester, and have no outstanding incomplete grades.

TV PIPELINE

Krause made his TV debut with Burnett

By Taylor Michaels

Peter Krause

Q: In what state is HBO's "Six Feet Under" filmed? And what can you tell me about Peter Krause? –Cindy, Pennsylvania.

A: "Six Feet Under" is filmed primarily in Southern California, where the family drama is set.

A native of Alexandria, Minn., Peter Krause, who plays Nate Fisher on the hit drama, made his TV series debut in the short-lived 1990 Carol Burnett sketch comedy series "Carol & Company," followed by other series roles in "If Not for You," "Cybill" and "Sports Night."

He also has made guest appearances on "Seinfeld," "Beverly Hills, 90210," "Ellen," "Caroline in the City," "The Drew Carey Show" and "3rd Rock From the Sun," among others shows.

At 39, Krause's career finally seems to be kicking into overdrive. As of this writing, he is making his Broadway debut starring with Carla Gugino ("Karen Sisco") in "After the Fall," and he co-stars with Mark Ruffalo, Laura Dern and Naomi Watts in the new feature drama "We Don't Live Here Anymore." Krause, who has a young son with girlfriend Christine King, begins work on the new season of "Six Feet Under" in a few months.

Q: What has Ryan Gosling done besides "Remember the Titans" and "The Notebook"? –Janay W., Snellville, Ga.

A: Like Britney Spears, Justin Timberlake and Keri Russell, among others, Ryan Gosling started out in the fertile talent arena of Disney's "All-New Mickey Mouse Club," but the Canadian actor has since established himself as one of his generation's most promising talents.

After "MMC," Gosling appeared in several Canadian TV shows before being cast in the title role of the 1998-99 syndicated teen adventure "Young Hercules." He stunned film critics and audiences alike playing a young Jewish man who develops an anti-Semitic perspective in 2001's "The Believer," followed by the thriller "Murder by Numbers" and "The United States of Leland" in 2003.

Now 23, Gosling recently wrapped the movie thriller "Stay" with Ewan McGregor and Naomi Watts, and has been announced to co-star with Oscar winner Benicio Del Toro in "Che," Terrence Malick's epic portrait of revolutionary Che Guevera, due in theaters in 2005.

Q: Has Shari Lewis died? My son and I both adored "Lamb Chop's Play-Along." Is a collection of her work available on home video? –P. Hoffman, Jupiter, Fla.

A: I'm sorry to report that Lewis died of uterine cancer in 1998. She was 65.

You can find some of her work on VHS and DVD from retailers such as Amazon.com. More DVD releases are sure to follow, and you often can find out-of-print VHS copies for sale on eBay.

IN FOCUS

Cast changes on "Law & Order" are as inevitable as the NBC drama series starting another season, and Dennis Farina becomes the newest face in the regular cast as the show begins its 15th year Wednesday, Sept. 22.

A real-life Chicago cop before he turned to acting, Farina plays police Detective Joe Fontana, the new partner of Edward Green (Jesse L. Martin). Don't get too comfortable with the new lineup: Elisabeth Rohm, alias Southerlyn, is planning to leave soon.

"Our Water, Our Future" To Be Presented At Garden Club Meeting

Al Festerman, operations manager for Garrett County Public Utilities, will present "Our Water, Our Future" at the Mountain Laurel Garden Club's next meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 21, at the North Glade Inn, off Glendale Road at Deep Creek Lake.

The program will follow the 10:30 a.m. business meeting conducted by club president Peggy Nagel. A luncheon follow the program. Club members will be contacted for reservations.

Festerman is responsible for the sanitary district's compliance with state and federal regulations concerning the production of drinking water and the discharge of wastewater. He also acts as project manager for Friendsville and Trout Run wastewater inflo and infiltration repairs.

He is a Maryland certified Class IV water treatment plant operator and superintendent, having received his education through the American Water Works Association's (AWWA) Water Utility Management Institute, Garrett College, Allegany College of Maryland, Maryland Department of the Environment Superintendent Training Institute, and Maryland Center for Environmental Training.

Additionally, Festerman keeps up to date on water management for the county through numerous continuing education courses in water hydraulics, chemical dosage and safety, blueprint reading, electrical and pump repairs.

He received the Operator Meritorious Service Award from the AWWA in 2004 and was named the Waste Operator of the Year by the Maryland Rural Water Association in 1994.

The meeting will kick off the Mountain Laurel Garden Club's 2004-2005 year. Open to both men and women, the local club is a member of the National Garden Clubs Inc. and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. For more information, persons may call Norma Hesen at 301-387-4384.

AGF Buntings Now Available At Visitors Cent.

Autumn Glory buntings are now available from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at the Visitors Center, McHenry.

"The colorful buntings add to the festive fall atmosphere and invite visitors into local establishments," said Deb Clatterbuck, director of tourism and marketing. "Businesses and organizations traditionally hang the Autumn Glory banners early to let people know the county's major festival is approaching. More than 100 businesses fly the bunting."

The 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival will take place Wednesday, Oct. 13, through Sunday, Oct. 17.

Buntings cost $75 for a set. Only 10 sets are available at this time, Clatterbuck noted.

To order or to request more information, persons may contact Lynne Crehan, administrative assistant, at 301-387-4386 or lynne@garrettchamber.com.

GC's Center For Lifelong Learning Slates Courses

Four short special interest courses for adults will be offered this month by the Center for Lifelong Learning at Garrett College.

A discussion course titled Love Stories in Foreign Films is set for 6 to 9:15 p.m. over four consecutive Thursdays beginning Sept. 16. The instructor is Jack DuBose. Each week the class will view a selected foreign film with subtitles, then discuss the story and techniques used to create certain sought-after effects. Participants are encouraged to bring snacks and cushions if they desire.

Knowing Your Antiques, taught by Joanna Sisler, is scheduled to meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 28. Taught by Joanna Sisler, the course is designed to help students distinguish real antiques from imitations, and how to spot a bargain at flea markets and yard sales. Participants will also learn what to look for in glass patterns, jewelry, pottery and furniture.

Stress, Lifestyles and Health, a course that develops skills for reducing stress and enhancing well-being, will meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. over six consecutive Tuesdays beginning Oct. 5. Instructor Cynthia Knight will present ways to reduce stress through the practice of chi gong and other exercises. Students will learn to identify personal "body talk" signals and how to deal with them.

A four-session course in Memoir Writing will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m. over four straight Fridays beginning Oct. 15. The instructor is Joan Crawford. In this course students will learn how to recall and organize details of their experiences and to find the best words to preserve them. Memories of things they have done, people they have known, and places they have been will be reflected upon and recorded for future generations.

For further information on any of these offerings, or to register, persons may call GC's Continuing Education and Training office at 301-387-3069.

Local Citizen Review Panel Slates Meeting

The Local Citizen Review Panel (LCRP) will host an open meeting on Thursday, Sept. 23, from 10 to 10:30 a.m. at the Department of Social Services in Oakland. DSS is located at 12578 Garrett Highway.

LCRPs provide oversight for Maryland's child protection system by advising the State Citizens' Review Board for Children and the State Council on Child Abuse and Neglect on how effectively state and local agencies are fulfilling their responsibilities related to child protection. This is to be accomplished by ongoing local system reviews and individual case reviews. LCRPs offer the community a real opportunity to strengthen its care of children and youth. LCRP members include individuals with interest and expertise in the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect.

All local LCRP members are appointed by the Garrett County commissioners. For further information, or details on becoming a panel member, persons may contact Diane MacNicol 301-334-1892.

Underwood UB To Host Missionary To War-Torn Sudan

The Underwood United Brethren Church will host a 9 a.m. service this Sunday, Sept. 18, led by Beth Grayson, a missionary to Sudan.

Grayson will also present a slide program about her most recent missionary trip to the war-torn east African nation. The Keyser, W.Va., native has several years' experience in missionary service.

The Underwood UB Church is located along Underwood Road. For directions or additional information, persons may call Pastor Marshall Woods at 301-334-5777.

A Chance to "Make It Big"

Have you dreamed of "making it big"? Perhaps you desire your own successful company or to patent a wrinkle cream that works "indefinitely". Would you like to win the gazillion dollar lottery or the super-sweepstakes?

I would invite you to think of that which is even more valuable, such as job you really love or a hug when you need it the most. Some things are truly priceless... such as being a grandparent.

Despite all the attention paid to "eternal youth" and removing our wrinkles, we read in Proverbs 17:6... "Grandchildren are the crown of the aged." That is priceless... a crown to dim the wrinkles and the sagging of age. Just when we need them most, we have grandchildren who know none of our faults... a new beginning... a new chance to "make it big". We pass on to them the words of our grandparents, knowing that although they hear them now, one day they will also understand and pass them on the future generations. Isn't that a form of immortality?

You have a chance to teach your grandchildren about the love of their Heavenly Father. A Bible is a precious gift that will be cherished forever. If possible, worship with them as well. Your presence in their lives is priceless.

The Cruelest Month

The poet T.S. Eliot said that "April is the cruelest month, breeding lilacs out of the dead land, mixing desire and memory, stirring dull roots with spring rain" (The Waste Land). I have always thought that lilacs and spring rains were reasons to cherish April. For me, September is the cruelest month, with the waning of summer, the rapid shortening of the days, and other premonitions of death, such as the falling of the leaves, languid butterflies and the southern migration of the birds. And, despite the fact that September is also a month of bountiful harvests, this speaks to us of ripeness, over-ripeness, and eventual decay. And what American can think of September without remembering September 11, 2001 and the horrific attack on our country? We cherish life and prefer not to think of so much death. At this time of year, we would rather not think about loss and death, but preferring to taste the fruits of summer one last time. But, the fruitful bounty of September is not the only gift for us here. We should realize that death itself comes as a gift, as the foundation for more life. Without the death that September foretells, there would never be the sweet lilacs of spring. So, we should consider death as the necessary coun-terpart to life, and realize that even in its ugliness and rank decay, it is the ground spring of life.

O death, where is your sting? O Hades, where is your victory?

This Micronutrient Vital For Good Health

Magnesium is an important micronutrient found in many foods that have not been processed. This important nutrient is necessary for the metabolism of sugar throughout the body. Low levels seem to be prevalent in persons with type 2 diabetes. Although short term studies have suggested that supplementation with magnesium provides a beneficial effect on insulin action and sugar breakdown, more studies are needed. These observations, however, have led some doctors to suggest that a consistently low magnesium level may be a risk factor in the development of type 2 diabetes. In two new studies, at risk individuals who consumed the highest amounts of magnesium were the least likely to develop diabetes over time.

Magnesium has other medicinal uses. Magnesium and its salts are commonly used as a laxative when taken orally or as an enema. This mineral reduces the symptoms of acid reflux and is a common ingredient in antacid tablets. Also, intravenous or intramuscular shots of magnesium is the agent of choice for managing certain complications associated with pregnancy and childbirth.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It's fairly well known that the Statue of Liberty was designed by French sculptor Frederic-Auguste Bartholdi, but did you ever wonder if there was a model for the famous icon? He used his wife as a model for Lady Liberty's figure, but he turned to his mother, Charlotte Bartholdi, for the inspiration for the face.

• There are glaciers in Spain — 13 of them, in fact.

• The Pentagon, located in Arlington, Va., is one of the largest office buildings in the world, but many people don't realize that it's also quite amply supplied with restrooms. That's because when it was built, Virginia law required that separate toilet facilities be built for blacks and whites.

• Those who study such things have determined that the smell of Crayola crayons is one of the 20 most recognizable scents to adults in America. They also claim that the smell is so soothing, it's been known to lower people's blood pressure.

• You probably won't be surprised to learn that it was Zsa Zsa Gabor who said, "A girl must marry for love and keep on marrying until she finds it."

• In Liverpool, England, saleswomen at tropical fish stores are allowed to work topless.

• It's not commonly known that rock 'n' roll icon Elvis Presley had cosmetic surgery done when he was young. He had his skin, which had been scarred by acne, smoothed out; his nose was slimmed down and straightened; and he got implants in his chin. Also, he actually dyed his hair black — his natural color was a light reddish-blonde.

• Despite living in constant company, the original Siamese twins, Chang and Eng, weren't known to have fights. However, their wives didn't get along. They had to build a separate house for each of them, and the twins had to divide their time between the two homes.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Sept. 22, 1776, in New York City, Nathan Hale, a Connecticut schoolteacher and captain in the Continental Army, is executed by the British for spying. Before being hanged, legend holds that Hale said, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

• On Sept. 21, 1938, without warning, a powerful Category 3 hurricane slams into Long Island and southern New England, causing 600 deaths and devastating coastal cities and towns. Also called the Long Island Express, the Great New England Hurricane of 1938 was the most destructive storm to strike the region in the 20th century.

• On Sept. 25, 1957, under escort from the U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division, nine black students enter all-white Central High School in Little Rock, Ark. Three weeks earlier, Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus had surrounded the school with National Guard troops to prevent its federal court-ordered racial integration.

• On Sept. 23, 1964, the Paris Opera unveils a stunning new ceiling painted as a gift by Belorussian-born artist Marc Chagall, who spent much of his life in France.

• On Sept. 20, 1979, after being fired from the Ford presidency, Lee Iacocca is elected chairman of the failing Chrysler Corp. Despite dire predictions from his critics, Iacocca succeeded in rebuilding Chrysler through layoffs, cutbacks, hard-selling advertising and a government loan guarantee.

• On Sept. 26, 1982, the first episode airs of the TV show "Knight Rider," starring David Hasselhoff as private eye Michael Knight. However, the real star of the show was "KITT," his talking Pontiac Firebird.

• On Sept. 24, 1996, best-selling author Stephen King releases two new novels at once. The first, "Desperation," was released under King's name, while the second, "The Regulators," was published under his pseudonym, Richard Bachman.

Unchained Hearts

Q. One of my next-door neighbors has a cute, medium-sized mutt. This dog has a wonderful personality, but it is chained to a stake all day and often all night, even in the rain. I don't think this is good for the dog. How can I tell my neighbor tactfully that his pet needs a change of scenery? — Taletta L., Jacksonville, Fla.

A. Sometimes it's very difficult to tell a person that his or her dog is not being treated well, and is even in danger. Even pet owners who seem indifferent to the situation may care deeply for their pets and feel insulted by any outside advice, however well-meaning.

Still, this situation needs attention, and I'll tell you why. Dogs left on a chain or tether for long periods of time (hours, days, weeks, even months) become very unhappy and anxious, in part because they get so little social interaction (with people and other dogs). In many cases they become neurotic, acting out their frustration in unusual ways, and they can also become very aggressive.

In fact, the Humane Society of the United States cites an American Veterinary Medical Association study showing that from 1979 to 1998, 17 percent of dogs involved in fatal attacks on humans were restrained on their owners' property when the attack occurred. Dogs tethered outside are also vulnerable to attacks by other animals, insect bites or even being stolen by humans hoping to sell them or train them for fighting.

The HSUS and other advocacy groups are working to enact laws to keep dogs from being tethered outside for long periods. Dogs Deserve Better (www.dogsdeservebetter.com) is hoping to have national legislation put in place.

How can you help the mutt next door? If you're uncomfortable approaching the owner about this, you can contact the local Humane Society, animal shelter or animal control. Dogs Deserve Better also works actively with communities to resolve chaining issues. All these organizations will help you keep the lovable mutt next door from falling victim to frustration and loneliness.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q. I have a large collection of Emmett Kelly figurines and ornaments. I would like to sell them. — Roxie, Bethalto, Ill.

A. Don't clown around — contact N.W. Neill, Jr., a serious Kelly collector. His address is P.O. Box 38, Ennice, NC 28623. The Emmett Kelly Historical Museum might also be helpful and is located at 202 East Main St., Sedan, KS 67361.

Q. I have a small bowl marked Czecko Slovakia, and I wonder how much it is worth. — Barbara, Huber Heights, Ohio

A. I suggest you contact the Czechoslovakian Collectors Guild International, P.O. Box 901395, Kansas City, MO 64190.

Q. I have a small collection of tin containers that I think are collectible. How can I find out values and, perhaps, sell them? — Tom, via e-mail

A. Since most tin containers originally were for commercial products, you might want to contact the Antique Advertising Association of America, P.O. Box 5851, Elgin, IL 60123.

TIP OF THE WEEK: When you make a major purchase from an antiques dealer, always ask for a letter of authenticity.

HABITAT HELPS CITIZEN BURN HER MORTGAGE – The Garrett County Habitat for Humanity (GCHFH) affiliate organization hosted a celebration on Sept. 8 as members helped local resident Catherine Teter, the area's first Habitat homeowner, to burn her 20-year mortgage. Duane Yoder, the first president of the county's Habitat organization, is pictured at left as he assists. Other officials on hand were Bill Riley, GCHFH board president, Pastor David Moon, and Ida Maust, GCHFH board member and chair of the Family Relations Committee. Teter was praised for her dedication and commitment to the collaboration with Habitat, and she in turn expressed her gratitude to the organization for the successful partnership. During the week of September 14-20, Habitat for Humanity International will observe the 10th anniversary of Building on Faith, an annual celebration of church partnerships. Persons may call the Habitat office for free church bulletin inserts. The organization is currently building homes #47 and #48 along Rt. 135 in Deer Park. Help is needed to complete these houses, Riley said, and interested persons may call the office for information, or stop by the sites. Riley can be reached at 301-533-0600 or e-mailed at driley@garrettcac.org.

Area Pastor Begins 50th Year In UM Ministry

John Park, a native of Cumberland and now a resident of Sky Valley, this month began his 50th year of serving the United Methodist Church.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School (1951) and the University of Maryland (1955), Park began serving the Warfordsburg Charge in Hancock while a student at Wesley Theological Seminary.

Other churches he has served are the Bedford Circuit, New Windsor Charge, Kingsley in Cumberland, Emmarts in Baltimore County, Lovely Lane in Baltimore, Eastport in Annapolis, and Emanuel & Trinity in Baltimore Co. He participated in a summer pastorate in England in 1979.

Presently, Park is in his 10th year at the Barton United Methodist Church, where a number of structural improvements have taken place. Currently the congregation is completing a new parking lot and is seeking to restore or replace is 1922 Estey organ. The congregation is preparing for its homecoming service on Sept. 26. The church is in its 133rd year of service to the George's Creek Valley.

The pastor also serves as the secretary of the George's Creek Ministerial Association.

Pastor Park and Mary Jane Friend were married in 1956 in Cumberland at the Melvin United Methodist Church. They have two children, Jana Kolb of Deep Creek Lake and John Wesley Park of Carroll County. They also have three grandchildren.

AmeriCorps: Giving Back To The Community

by Lois Dever

The AmeriCorps program is starting its eleventh year at the Garrett County Health Department, with three new members coming on board to help make Garrett County a healthy and safe community.

AmeriCorps is a national service program for individuals aged 18 and up of all backgrounds. The AmeriCorps members commit a year of their lives to work among the nation's residents, whether it be in one of America's most crowded inner-cities or the most isolated rural communities. In exchange for their service, they receive a small living allowance and an educational award that gives them the ability to return to school or to repay their student loans.

Samuel Moon, coordinator of the AmeriCorps program at the Garrett County Health Department, is enthusiastic about this new AmeriCorps year.

"Although the number of AmeriCorps members allotted to the health department has gone down over the years, the members just pick up the load and keep doing what they do best, simply getting things done," said Moon. "The AmeriCorps program is a great asset to the community because the things that AmeriCorps does would not get done if the national service program went away."

The three new AmeriCorps members at the Garrett County Health Department are Christie Hamilton, Lorena Rodeheaver, and Nicole Thayer. Hamilton will be assisting with the Kids In Safety Seats (KISS) car seat rental program and directing the activities of Pandora's Box, a teen drama club.

"I would like to keep as many kids safe in their car seats as I can and to help the Pandora's Box kids to be the best they can be, on and off stage," said Hamilton. "I feel honored that they have entrusted me with the responsibility of young lives."

Nicole Thayer will be working with the health department sponsored after-school programs, as well as helping with dental health education.

"I am excited to help other people and to give children positive activities to do," she said.

Lorena Rodeheaver is working in the Healthy Families Garrett County program.

"All of the projects are exciting and I am looking forward to doing these different programs," said Rodeheaver.

Two of the members have had former experiences with programs related to either AmeriCorps or the health department as a volunteer or a client.

"I have personally been in the Healthy Families program with my children, and AmeriCorps gives me a good opportunity to help with areas I think are important to me," said Rodeheaver.

"I was in Pandora's Box for three years and I wanted to give back what has been given to me," said Hamilton.

The AmeriCorps program provides an opportunity for members to gain experience in different projects and programs, thereby giving them direction in their career choices.

"I don't know exactly what I want to do, but I plan on attending college," said Thayer, who, like many AmeriCorps members before her, will have a better sense of direction in her future vocation at the completion of her AmeriCorps service.

Although all of the new AmeriCorps members are from Garrett County, that is not always the case in the AmeriCorps program at the Garrett County Health Department. Previous members have come from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and even as far away as Oklahoma.

"I think AmeriCorps is great. It promotes service to the community, and we've had some great members, some of whom have gone on to be great employees for the health department," said Moon.

Persons interested in obtaining more information may contact Moon at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

GCMH VIVA EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS – Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Volunteers In Various Areas (VIVA) executive committee recently met to prepare for the upcoming VIVA biannual membership meeting. The volunteers staff the information desk in the hospital's lobby, staff an office providing various clerical services, serve as liaisons between physicians and patient families during surgery, and serve as hosts in the emergency room waiting area to keep families informed. "Volunteers are an important part of the healthcare team," said Kathy Greaser, director of development. "Their efforts go a long way toward making a hospital stay a little less stressful for both patients and families." Individuals interest in volunteer opportunities at GCMH may contact Greaser at 301-533-4178. Pictured above, from the left, are Greaser, Bill Heise, Fern Foley-Genung, Jane Frawley, Gretchen Rush, Anne Forrester, Jackie Johnson, and Maureen Mielenz.

PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety) received a record 206 entries in this summer's "Pets and Their People: A Celebration of Life With Animals!" photo contest. All winners in the contest have been notified, and the public unveiling of the winning photos will be made at a special ceremony during the PAWS Volkswaggle fundraiser, slated for Sunday, Oct. 3, from noon until 4 p.m. at the Mtn. Fresh Producers Pavilion, Oakland.

As is becoming a PAWS tradition, none of the winners has been told exactly what he or she has won, only into what category the winning photo was entered, a PAWS spokesperson said.

"Photos entered offered a glimpse into the special relationships that many area residents and visitors share with their pets," the spokesperson said. "The images captured moments of whimsy, peace, pride, and joy. In addition to cats and dogs, puppies, and kittens, the variety of pets represented included a hamster, a duck, a goat, a West Highland cow, some donkeys and a number of horses."

Every photo entered in the contest will be on display at the Volkswaggle. A special invitation to the event is being extended to all those who entered the contest "and helped make it a huge success," the spokesperson said.

The 2005 PAWS calendars will also be presented for the first time at the Volkswaggle fundraiser. Published using the contest's winning photos (with the Best of Show winning photo featured on the cover), this locally produced and funded project is a major part of PAWS fundraising program. Proceeds from the calendar sales will help support the organizations local spay/neuter assistance and humane education programs. All are aimed at creating a cruelty-free future for all Garrett County residents, the spokesperson said.

Calendars will be on sale at the Volkswaggle and various local venues thereafter for $8 each. Quantities are limited. This year's calendar sales will run from Oct. 3 through Jan 1, 2005, only. The PAWS organization will not be discounting calendars after Jan. 1, as has been the practice in the past. Any calendars not sold will be distributed to residents of long-term care facilities in the region.

JWCC DONATES TO 4-H – The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently donated funds to support scholarships for youth to attend the 4-H Camp. Each year 150 young people attend the weeklong event held at the Western Maryland 4-H Education Center. The goal of the camp is to provide a fun and educational experience for youth ages 8-14 as campers. Equally important, however, is the leadership development component. Youth ages 15-21 are also welcome at the camp as they assume leadership roles, such as cabin counselors and class instructors. Families with several young people attending the camp and those with lower incomes are provided an opportunity to submit a written request for scholarship assistance. JWCC member Sandy Zakaluzny, on the left, presented the check to Ann C. Sherrard, Extension educator for 4-H Youth Development.

INTERESTED IN "INTEREST ONLY"?

With so many mortgages out there these days, have you ever heard of paying "interest only"? It sounds pretty enticing at first, but consider whether this type of loan would benefit you.

Like traditional loans, the monthly interest payments are tax deductible, but much lower than normal, because you're just paying interest. However, if you plan to stay most of your life in the home you purchase, and you want to eventually eliminate your mortgage debt, an "interest only" loan can be a real disadvantage.

All that principal you could have paid early on will have to paid at some point down the road, since most interest only loans convert to traditional mortgages (usually after ten years or so). Your monthly payment will go way up at that point, too.

But what might happen if you sell your home in a few years? In many cases, your equity increases faster from the home's appreciation in value than it would from making principal payments. You might make only interest payments for a few years and still sell your home for a profit before the loan converts.

You'll find real estate agents are savvy about helping you determine an appropriate loan. An "interest only" mortgage may not be right for you, but ask the agent to explain your options and recommend a strong local lender for your needs.

If you'd like to buy a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad Station 1 of Grantsville will be holding a Wellness Fair on Sept. 25 at the Grantsville fire hall from noon to 4 p.m. Among some of the highlights will be a medicine check by Beachy's Pharmacy, a massage, a presentation by a dietitian, sun screen presentation, body mass index check, and healthy snacks. Different booths will be set up to display literature about Hospice, Goodwill Nursing Home, Garrett County Lighthouse, the health department, and others. This event is free to the public. Questions will be answered by professionals.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Friendsville Elementary School will hold a Mini-Bucks Bingo on Sept. 18 at the Friendsville fire hall. Doors will open at 4 p.m. The cost is $20. All proceeds will benefit the family of Leah Huber. Refreshments will also be available.

FRIENDSVILLE QUILTERS RAISE FUNDS FOR LIBRARY – The Friendsville Library Quilters raised $1,102 in a quilt raffle to benefit the Friendsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. The queen-size quilt (a sampler, with each square a different patch and pieced by a different person) was won by Kristen Enlow. Mary Frazee sold the winning ticket and also raised the most money – $208. The quilters entered the sampler quilt in the Schoolhouse Quilters show in Allegany County and the Penn Alps show in Grantsville. Members of the group are Betty Silbaugh, Mary Walcek, Jackie Snelson, Carole Frantz, Geni Serio, Marilyn Moors, Mary Frazee, Mimi Demaree, Violet Coddington, Peggy Frazee, Frances Friend, Glenna Reese, Mary Frantz, and Helen Bowser. The Friendsville Library Quilters meet on Tuesdays at 11 a.m. in the Friendsville branch of the library, and members are planning another quilt. For more information about joining, persons may contact Michele Liston at 301-746-5663. Above, left to right, are Enlow, winner of the quilt; Moors, member of the Friendsville Library quilters; and Liston, Friendsville branch manager.

Individual student pictures will be taken on Monday, Sept. 20.

The Aquatic Lab will be at the school the week of Sept. 20-24.

The school will host an Interact Program on Sept. 22.

IN HONOR AND REMEMBRANCE

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 hosted the third annual In Honor and Remembrance Ceremony at the Friendsville Town Park on Saturday.

Julia Sines, president of Lodge 45, gave the opening remarks by saying that the "Honor and Remembrance salute ensures that the day and the people will not be forgotten." The welcome was given by Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle. The invocation was given by Reverend Randy Nairn, and a musical selection was played by the Accident Concert Band.

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club participated in the flag raising and lowering ceremony. The "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by all with accompaniment by the Accident Concert Band. The Snowy Creek 4-H also led the pledge. The special speaker was Angie Baine, fraternal coordinator, who gave a short speech.

County commissioner David Beard also spoke. "No one can kill an idea, a dream. They cannot destroy the human rights or democracy. This day is to remember the victims and their families but also to recognize those who would be called to help in an emergency," stated Beard, "Let us honor the Maryland state and county police, the churches, civic organizations, youth groups, and rescue and fire departments."

Mary Friend spoke on behalf of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad and introduced members who were present. She also recognized the members who have since died: Bob Lapp, Brenda Hawkins, Don Newman, Ken Edwards, Orpha Weiserman, Loretta Rush, Fred Illick, Allan Cutler, Robert Enlow, Chris Browning, Darlene House, and Amy Durst.

Terry Spear represented the Friendsville Fire Dept. and gave a short speech. To the sound of bagpipes playing "Amazing Grace," Spear read the names of members of the Friendsville Fire Dept. who have died: Jonas Bittner, John Capel, Eugene Coddington, Merle Frantz, Jack Humberson, Carl Lefferts, Paul Lytle, Raymond McCullough, Charles Metheny, Quincy Murphy, Robert Murphy, Clarence Nicklow, John Savage, Kenneth Savage, Raymond Schlosnagle, Cecil Schroyer, Richard Selby, Emmitt Shumaker, Ben Sliger, Quinner Sliger, Allen Jack Teets, Clyde VanSickle, and John Williams.

The benediction was given by Pastor Mike Robinson and Jimmy Teets, and the singing of "God Bless America" topped off the evening. Soloists were Darlene Coddington and Ramona Artice. Refreshments were served.

TOWN HALL

The Mayor and Town Council will be holding a public hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 6:30 p.m. pertaining to the Army Corps of Engineers/Bear Creek Project. The meeting will be held to close out the project. Anyone with issues or concerns about this project is asked to attend.

The Mayor and Town Council have large pieces of wood and bark chips to sell. The wood and chips are at the Friendsville maintenance building at 946 Second Avenue. They will be accepting closed bids for the wood starting at $75. The person who bids on the wood must take all of the wood. They will be accepting open bids for the chips. The person who bids on the chips must take all of the chips. The bids will be opened at the Sept. 21 council meeting at 7 p.m. To place a bid, bids can be mailed to the Town Hall at P.O. Box 9, Friendsville, MD 21531. For more information, persons may call 301-746-5919.

Maryland Scores Well In National Report Card

Maryland outperforms nearly every state in the country when it comes to preparing students for and enrolling them in higher education, according to a report card released this week by the bipartisan higher education organization, the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education.

The report, Measuring Up 2004, evaluates each state by using grades "A" through "F" in five key areas of higher education performance.

Preparation: How well are students prepared to take advantage of college? Participation: Do state residents enroll in college-level education? Affordability: How affordable is higher education in each state? Completion: Do those who enroll complete their educational goals? Benefits: What economic and civic benefits does each state receive as a result of having a more highly educated population?

The findings overall were that Maryland offers students an exceptional opportunity to attend college.

Maryland received three As, one B, and a low grade in affordability, which it shares with most states. Except in the area of affordability, Maryland's grades have risen. No state received straight A's.

Maryland received an A- in preparation because of a high level of students earning diplomas or GEDs. The study found that Maryland's 8th graders do well on national assessments in math and writing, but not as well on national assessments in science. The state received an A in participation because of an extraordinary percentage of young adults (18-24) who are enrolled in education or training beyond high school.

In affordability, Maryland received the grade of F, because, according to the report, Maryland families devote a large portion of their family income, even after financial aid, to attend the state's public two-and-four-year colleges and universities.

Maryland received a B- for completion. The report said that a high proportion of Maryland's first-year students at public and private institutions return for their second year and that a high percentage of first-time, full-time college students earn a bachelor's degree within five years of enrolling. Out of proportion, according to the report, is that only a fair number of students complete certificates and degrees relative to the number enrolled.

Under the category benefits, meaning those that come to learn and stay here to work, the state earned an A. A high percentage of Maryland adults have a bachelor's degree, which strengthens the economy. Marylanders also contribute substantially to civic good, which is measured by charitable giving.

Student learning was also measured, but Maryland, like every other state, received an "I" for Incomplete because sufficient data was not available for evaluation.

"This report shows that Maryland is doing a terrific job of not only preparing students for college, but also for the workforce," said Governor Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. "Access to college and making college affordable is of great concern to me, which is why we put additional funds in our need-based financial aid. We want to make sure that our students, particularly those who can least afford it, will have a chance to attend college."

"This is great news for Maryland's education community as a whole," said Dr. Calvin W. Burnett, Maryland Secretary of Higher Education. "Our educators on both the high school and college levels work tirelessly to prepare students for the workforce. The report shows their hard work and commitment is paying off."

"Maryland schools take very seriously the job of preparing students, offering more AP courses in high school, and strengthened academic rigor at all levels," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "High standards and accountability pave the way for success for all of our students in whatever they plan to do after high school."

"Maryland's highly skilled workforce, ranked number one in the country, is one of the reasons that businesses choose to locate or expand in Maryland," said Aris Melissaratos, secretary of Business and Economic Development. "The Ehrlich administration's commitment to education, a commitment that I strongly support, will ensure that Maryland continues in the forefront when it comes to providing the workforce of tomorrow."

Measuring Up 2004 is available in both national and state formats at www.highereducation.org.

The national report offers a summary of the nation's current performance and its improvement over the past decade. The state reports provide a detailed picture of higher education in each state. The web site also provides comparisons of states based on each performance measure.

The National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education promotes policies that enhance Americans' opportunities to pursue and achieve a quality higher education. Established in 1998, the National Center is an independent, nonprofit, nonpartisan organization. It is not associated with any institution of higher education, with any political party, or with any government agency.

WORKING TOWARDS EAGLE BADGE — Jeremiah Wilt, Eagle Scout candidate of Troop 49 in Grantsville, recently received a check from Gene Dobos, Post 214 commander, to assist him toward completing his Eagle badge community service project. The funds will be used to purchase materials to build 12 benches for the new AYSO soccer fields on Fosters Inn Road, Grantsville.

REPUBLICANS HOLD RIBBON CUTTING – The Garrett County Republican Central Committee held a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Monday for the grand opening of the Republican Party headquarters, located at 119 S. Third Street in Oakland. Campaign materials for President George W. Bush, Senator E.J. Pipkin, and Congressman Roscoe Bartlett are available. The headquarters will be open Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., and on Saturday from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. For more information or to volunteer at the headquarters, persons may call 301-334-1336. Local Republicans at the ribbon cutting included the Garrett County commissioners, Del. George Edwards, Brenda Butscher, and State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

To the Editor:

Since there seem to be several issues creating interest on all political levels right now, I guess I have to choose which to dwell on today, so here goes!

On the local level, these commissioners are hanging themselves so high with all this spending and no property tax relief in sight. Too bad. I don't know how they think they can get away with this for long.

On the state level, I warned you gentlemen almost two years ago about the future electric rates you will soon have caused with your de-regulation scam. Now we have several more unjust fees on top of that. Remember Cas Taylor? Think about it, guys. Your time's coming. We won't forget!

Let's deal mostly with the national elections today. Wow! How to clean the clock?

As I see it, especially at this level, most people still refuse to realize that we lost control of our national government years ago. Both major parties are now funded by individuals who have absolutely no regard for our country's sovereignty or our constitutional rights.

Just let me explain, in case you don't yet understand. Over the last 30 years this nation has been de-industrialized. This has not happened by accident! The people who really run things have bought your so-called representative form of government. They paid dearly to get the trade bills passed that could allow this national catastrophe to occur. That is why Bill Clinton was against NAFTA before he was elected, but then kissed every cheek in Washington to get it passed after he was safely in office.

You have to understand, the industrial revolution has not ended. They just moved it to countries that can provide the "slave labor" that we had a hundred or more years ago. They have done this by promoting the big "global economy" lie to the public through a very controlled media over a long period of time.

As I have said before, we will soon find out that the only way you can compete with a man who lives in a mud hut is if you are willing to live in one also. Do you think I'm kidding? Just listen to Mr. Greenspan talking about your future Social Security benefits!

Let me state some facts here. The Democratic candidate for president voted in Congress for NAFTA, for GATT, for M.F.N. for China, and for "fast track" trade authority for the president.

Now guess who is going to be laughing all the way to the bank after the election? Try the super-wealthy heads of the multi-national corporations who have both of these guys in their pockets!

Meanwhile, they are busy finishing up the process of destroying the last of the gains won by American workers over the past century, with the apparent blessings of our elected officials, pension plans, retirees' health care benefits, can all be swept away these days with one stroke of a bankruptcy court judge's pen. Talk about a weapon of mass destruction! Folks who worked most of their lives to earn these benefits suddenly left high and dry when many of them are not just old, but sick as well!

There are terrorists on the loose all right! What else can you call the people who designed these laws and policies that allow millions of high-wage jobs to disappear forever from America only to turn up overseas where "lowest wage" conditions prevail? Guess how much they pay into our social support systems? Zero!!

As George Wallace, God bless him, said over 40 years ago, there's not a dime's worth of difference between the two political parties on these issues that will, I say again, will decide very soon whether we shall exist as a free nation or as just another colony in the international bankers' global empire.

Want to argue that point? Ask your congressman when we will again see a trade surplus. Ask him where the new jobs are. Do you hear of any new steel mills or shipyards opening? What do we make anymore? How many "McJob" workers does it take to pay enough taxes to support one retiree on Social Security?

Where are all of the people's "representatives" who voted for these "free trade" bills when these questions are asked? Hiding under a rock? Perhaps they should be! In my opinion, you can only call it one thing, and that is treason!

I have watched these events unfold for close to 40 years, and I am truly sorry to say that all of you good people can dicker all you want to over who is the best man in the next election, but until the American people find a way to take back the political system that moves the phonies (yes, I said phonies, for want of stronger words) up the line to the national level, you and I will continue to be the victims of the wealthy contributors of both national parties.

Years ago as a teenager, I had worked in a store that had large display windows in the front. About twice a year a person came and changed the arrangement of items in the window, but the products for sale remained the same.

Let me speak very plainly here. With the most sarcasm that I can muster on paper, let me state that I am convinced that the same thing is being duplicated in our national elections right now, and as far as I'm concerned, they might as well roll them in every four years on a hand truck and stand them up in the window of the oval office as what they are!

I say that what this country desperately needs and what we as the real power in this country should demand at all levels of American government are people who truly understand what "patriot" means and will not allow themselves to be bought by anyone at any price!

One thing is for sure – we have to fix it soon or we are done for as a free nation.

To the Editor:

The left's vision for America is very similar to other governments called "people's republic." The last thing they care about is people. The ideology, or even whims, of those in power routinely take away other people's right to live their own lives as they see fit. Wherever you get enough far left people in power, you can find a willingness to force everyone into a collectivist conformity at all cost. A prime example is Santa Monica, California where you can receive a fine of $2,500 a day for not cutting your hedges. The far left politicians who run Santa Monica have simply decided that people should not be able to have high hedges.

Santa Monica is not unique. Certain other cities in America have become a "people's republic." Too often these selfish ego trips of the left are called idealism, and issues are discussed in terms of the wonderful goals they proclaim such as "social justice." Their "social justice" is being forced on all of us with the entailed costs, even if that cost is $2,500 a day.

The same mindset is more prevalent in a number of western European countries. In Britain, for example, the right to defend yourself is being taken away in many ways. Gun control laws there have not only tightened restrictions on gun ownership; these laws ban anything that looks like a gun, especially if it is used in self-defense. The "social justice" here fails to address the murder rate as it doubles.

To the collectivist mindset, independent self-help of any sort is a threat to their vision of the government as the sole source of protection and direction. The left extremist in America who now represent the Democratic party are people who have led sufficiently sheltered lives and believe in their form of "social justice" imposing such notions on others through the power of government. Their vision is not my vision. They want to be our shepherds. But that would make us their sheep.

The critics of this administration share the leftist vision that have previously led to worldwide chaos and untold loss of lives. These people believe that negotiation, appeasement, and caving in to the demands of vicious totalitarian leaders can produce good-faith behavior. Their vision not only has a long record of failure, but devastating consequences. We should not forget that Winston Churchill and Franklin Roosevelt thought they could appease Josef Stalin by giving away eastern Europe in the hope that he would act in good-faith. Failing to stand up to Stalin resulted in unspeakable atrocities, enslavement, and human suffering. From 1917 until its collapse, the Soviet Union murdered or caused the death of 61 million people, mostly its own citizens.

The leftist vision in America is the same vision of European appeasers who were quite willing to respond to Saddam Hussein's violation of the peace terms in a fashion similar to Hitler's violation of the Versailles Treaty. Had Britain or France launched a military attack on Germany in 1934, when Hitler started his arms buildup in violation of the Versailles Treaty, he would have been defeated and at least 50 million lives would have been spared.

Kerry, Dean, Gore, and Clinton to name a few, should have studied history. The message they bring as appeasers for "social justice" is basically to cut and run in the wake of terrorist threats, just as Spain and the Philippines did. They want us to be more even-handed and wage a more sensitive war on terror. There is no evidence that today's fanatical terrorists and their nation-state supporters have any taste for compromise and negotiation. They want Western submission, and they just might get that with John Kerry. John Kerry would have us as the "people's republic" of America.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in concern for our children riding school buses. A lot of people know that the problem we have is drivers ignoring flashing red lights on our buses and going right on through.

The bus drivers and police force are doing their jobs as far as catching the person. But my main problem is that, when it comes time to go to court, all I have seen done is leveling a small fine. (I do mean small!) What ever happened to getting points, having driver licenses suspended, and or probation?

I was driving my bus along 560 one morning, loaded with Head Start children, when a log truck darted past five cars and then past my bus with the flashing red lights on. He continued driving and was finally apprehended at the bottom of Bloomington Mtn. The man pleaded guilty and only got a $100 fine. He almost cost a mother and her child their lives, as they were crossing the road when he passed.

Whatever happened to the court system by allowing these drivers to get off so easily? Why raise the fines if the courts don't enforce them? The courts are supposed to be the ones who put their foot down and let people know that it is no joke running lights on stopped school buses.

Is it going to cost another child's life before the courts finally do decide to put their foot down?

To the Editor:

It's time that both parties bear down on what's really important for the American people. On Monday the president spoke at a rally saying that Kerry's plan for more health care was studied by an "independent group" and deemed too expensive to implement. That "independent group" was the American Enterprise Institute. "Independent" would be the last word I'd use to describe this right-wing focus group. Unless you, as a voter, are aware of who these people are, you'd be tempted to believe him.

What's too expensive is $200 billion for his handling of the war in Iraq and his boondoggle tax refund of 45% of the money going to 1% of the people, all of whom probably have decent health insurance.

The upcoming debates are our greatest hope of seeing these two candidates "on the stump." Three debates are scheduled, which in this person's opinion, should be a minimum. Mr. Bush now thinks that two should be sufficient. Both candidates owe the voters more than that. Any attempt by either candidate to limit our access to information should be viewed with disdain. No person running for any office should shy away from a one-on-one formal exchange of ideas. Hey, George, that means you can't bring Dick.

To the Editor;

Many election officials have been sufficiently concerned about the reliability of electronic voting systems, or DRE's Direct Recording Electronic Systems, that they have banned their use. If such machines are deemed unreliable in some counties and states, shouldn't they be considered unreliable everywhere? We all know about computer viruses, secret code, and hackers. Why expose our elections to the risk?

Johns Hopkins University recently released a report that stated plainly, "The most fundamental problem with such a voting system is that the entire election hinges on the correctness, robustness, and security of the software within the voting terminal." The only solution to this problem is to introduce a voter-verified audit."

A case is pending in Maryland in which state election officials are opposing a paper-trail requirement for its Diebold voting machines. This is an outrage! If any results from the presidential election, or any election, are questioned due to these unverifiable and easily-tampered-with digital votes, our entire claim to being a democracy is a joke. This a fundamental and huge issue with the potential to rock our society to its foundations. In a time of war do we need this one more heartache?

Please write, call, or e-mail your representatives – Mikulski, Sarbanes, and Bartlett – and request they they support and pass H.R. 2239, which would mandate that all voting machines produce a paper trail. If they don't support it, they will be responsible and we should hold them accountable for any problems in 2004.

The entire democratic process is in jeopardy if the American public perceives any sort of improper vote counting. We all remember the presidential election debacle of 2000. Here we are trying to promote democracy throughout the world and our system resulted in the Supreme Court appointing the president because the vote counting was so screwed up by the president's brother Jeb (only one person is ultimately responsible for a state's voting procedures – the governor).

Even after his failure in 2000, Florida governor Jeb Bush refuses to install voter verified paper audit trails for his new touch screen voting machines. In fact, the Republican party of Florida has even urged its supporters to order absentee ballots because even it doesn't trust the accuracy of electronic voting systems. Oh, by the way, did you know that the Miami Herald asked Jeb's secretary of state for the electronic records of the 2002 election when Jeb won re-election? The answer, oops... we're sorry, they got deleted in a computer crash...how convenient. Easy technology exists to leave a physical trail of paper for an election. Why is Jeb not doing this, and demanding this? Are we blind?

With a collapse of faith in our system, potential chaos is possible, as well as an obvious further loss of good standing in the eyes of the world. This looming potential problem is at a time when we need to be respected, our system trusted, and when our country feels most fractured and divided.

In four years after the mess of the 2000 election, why has our president not taken it as a personal mission to fix all the problems of the 2000 election and leave no shadow of doubt as to the 2004 results? The Intelligence failures of 9/11 did not help the president and vice president avoid the even more serious intelligence failures leading us to a war on claims that turned out to be false (absolutely no WMDs and no important or cooperative links to al-Qaeda).

If a voting failure in 2000 leads to a voting failure in 2004, it will just be par for the course for this Republican administration (i.e., fight terrorists by enflaming much of the world and the entire Arab world against us, and winning hearts and minds by torture and bombing).

President Bush's total failure to ensure the integrity of the voting system in four years speaks volumes as to the competency and concern he has for the people, the spirit, the democracy and the reputation of this "one nation under God." We were warned about false prophets deceiving most of the faithful. It's time to open our eyes before it's too late.

Sincerely,
Crede Calhoun

Oakland is a beautiful town with a proud history. Recent completion of the Oakland Railroad Station and the Garrett County Museum has greatly added to the appeal of our small town.

We are now in a unique position to return one of our most famous landmarks to its original beauty. We would like to add our name to the many residents who believe we can take a step back into history by restoring our courthouse and at the same time make a major step forward for Oakland and Garrett County. We encourage our local government not to miss this opportunity.

Conservation Reserve Program Deadline Sept. 24

Michael R. Kozier, executive director for USDA's Farm Service Agency in Garrett and Allegany counties, reminds farmers and landowners that sign-up for the Conservation Reserve Program will end Sept. 24.

"This is an opportunity for farmers and landowners to participate in a cost-effective, voluntary program to improve their land, water, and wildlife resources," said Kozier. "It is also an opportunity for participants with contracts expiring in 2004 or 2005 to make new contract offers and lock in a multi-year payment."

The CRP is designed to improve the nation's natural resource base. Participants voluntarily enter into contracts with USDA to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in long-term contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, participants receive annual rental payments and a payment of up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing conservation practices.

The program protects millions of acres of American topsoil from erosion. By reducing water runoff and sedimentation, it also protects groundwater and helps improve the condition of lakes, rivers, ponds, and streams. Acreage enrolled in the CRP is planted to resource-conserving (vegetative) covers, greatly increasing wildlife populations in many parts of the country.

USDA will continue to evaluate and rank eligible CRP offers using an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI), which is based on the potential environmental benefits gained from enrolling the land in the CRP. Decisions on the EBI cutoff will be made after sign-up 29 ends. The EBI cutoff used in previous sign-ups may not be used for this one. The cutoff is decided after analyzing the EBI numbers of all the offers. Those who would have met previous sign-up EBI thresholds are not guaranteed a contract under sign-up 29.

"CRP is a highly successful and competitive program," said Kozier. "I encourage all landowners to find out more about the EBI before the Sept. 24 deadline, and to consult with local USDA experts on steps they can take to maximize EBI points and increase the likelihood that their offer will be accepted."

FSA is authorized to maintain CRP enrollment up to 39.2 million acres. Approximately 34.9 million acres were enrolled in CRP contracts as of July 2004. The contracts awarded under sign-up 29 will become effective on Oct. 1, 2004, or Oct. 1, 2005, at the producer's choice.

In addition to general sign-up, producers may enroll the most environmentally sensitive land under CRP's continuous sign-up program. Under the continuous sign-up, relatively small amounts of land serving to protect much larger areas, such as filter strips, riparian buffers, and grass waterways, may be enrolled at any time.

More information on the CRP and USDA's other conservation programs is available at the Garrett and Allegany FSA county offices, or USDA's Web site at: www.usda.gov.

USDA Seeking Public Comment On ELRRP Rule

Michael R. Kozier, executive director for USDA's Farm Service Agency in Garrett and Allegany counties, announced that USDA is requesting comments for the Ewe Lamb Replacement and Retention Program (ELRRP) proposed rule that was published in the Federal Register on September 7. The proposed program will assist producers of sheep and lambs by providing up to $18 million total, in direct cash payments, to encourage the replacement and retention of ewe lamb breeding stock during the one-year period from August 1, 2003, through July 31, 2004. This action is designed to provide immediate financial assistance to sheep and lamb producers who have recently experienced reduced production and flock size, low prices, and poor market conditions.

The public has 30 days to comment on the proposed rule, and 60 days to comment on the information collected on the application form, which is still in clearance for approval. Comments on this rule must be received on or before October 7 in order to be assured of consideration. Comments on the information collections in this rule must be received by November 8 in order to be assured of consideration.

The Farm Service Agency invites interested persons to submit comments on this proposed rule and on the collection of information. Comments may be submitted by any of the following methods:

E-Mail: Send comments to danielle_cooke@wdc.fsa.usda.gov.

Fax: Submit comments by facsimile transmission to 202-690-3307.

Mail: Send comments to Grady Bilberry, Director, Price Support Division (PSD), Farm Service Agency, United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), STOP 512, Room 4095-S, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-0512.

Hand Delivery or Courier: Deliver comments to the local Farm Service office.

Federal eRulemaking Portal: Go to http://www.regulations.gov. Follow the online instructions for submitting comments.

Comments on the information collection requirements of this rule must be sent to the Desk Officer for Agriculture, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503, and to Grady Bilberry, Director, Price Support Division, Farm Service Agency, United States Department of Agriculture, STOP 0512, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-0512, or telephone 202-720-7901.

Comments may be inspected in the Office of the Director, PSD, FSA, USDA, Room 4095 South Building, Washington, DC, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, except holidays. A copy of this proposed rule is available on the PSD home page at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/dafp/psd/.

4-H Club News

COUNTRY KIDS
by Sara Rexroad, reporter

The Country Kids 4-H Club members just finished a busy summer full of activities. Their June meeting was held on their annual overnight camping trip to Swallow Falls State Park.

In July, the club traveled to Sandcastle in Pittsburgh, Pa., where the members enjoyed a day of water slides and swimming.

Their July meeting followed a picnic and an afternoon of farm tours, where all the members' farms were visited and animal demonstrations were given.

The members were especially busy in August, participating in the Garrett County Fair. Some of the exhibits and shows they entered included beef, sheep, hog, goat, fashion revue, lead contest, 4-H booth, fair queen, and more.

The club will hold its September meeting on Sunday, Sept. 26, at 2 p.m. at the Rexroad house. After a covered-dish picnic and meeting, the members will complete their animal project sheets for their record books.

Members are reminded to bring the bills of sale for their animals, and the entries and placings sheets they received with their premium checks.

The Country Kids welcome new members to their club. They invite interested youth to attend one of their meetings before new enrollment in January.

For more information about the Garrett County 4-H Program, one may call the Extension Office at 301-334-6960, or for more information on the Country Kids 4-H Club, one may call Susan Rexroad at 301-387-6424.

SADDLE TRAMPS
by Shanna Holliday

At the Sept. 8 meeting, we discussed the mix up that occurred on award night at the fair. Because of some mix-up, members were not allowed to received their awards on the stage.

We would like to thank our sponsors: Small Jobs Unlimited General Contractors, Naylor's Hardware, Lisa Sweitzer (in memory of Frank Sweitzer), Greg and Brenda Wotring, Butch and Rita Smith of Triple S Stables, American Legion, and Crescent Moon Builders.

NORTH GLADE
by Samantha Gibson, reporter

The North Glade 4-H Club held its August meeting and annual club campout at the Winegardner house on August 20. There were 12 members, several guests, and family members in attendance. We welcomed one new member, Liz Regina.

The meeting was called to order by Rebecca Winegardner, vice president.

Under old business, it was reported that Rachel and Rebecca Winegardner, and Lee and Todd Custer entered market steer projects in the Garrett County fair; Samantha Gibson, Derek and Tyler Gilpin, and Joe and Nicole McClosky entered market lamb/sheep projects; Derek and Tyler also entered market hogs; Liz Regina and Joe and Nicole entered chickens; and Kevin Bernard took a tractor for the tractor show and parade. A number of other projects were entered by our members.

Our club was also in charge of running the paging booth at the fair, and Samantha Gibson and Kari Bernard, along with leaders Debbie Friend and June McClosky, volunteered to work at the Livestock Association's corn booth one evening. The members decided that, because of their busy schedules at the fair, they did not want to take on the paging booth again next year.

Derek and Tyler, Samantha, Joe, Nicole, and Emily and Lindsay Lipscomb all attended the skeet shooting activity at Wings of Challenge on Aug. 6.

Under new business, members were given a report on donations given to the club from the livestock sale at the fair. Four animals purchased were donated by the following: Eugene and Mary Shreve (a hog), Charlie and June McClosky (hog and lamb), and Paul and Barbara Donaldson, (lamb).

One of the hogs donated will be used for fundraising efforts, with ½ for a raffle and the other half for a pig roast, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 25, at the Green Glade 4-H building along Rt. 495. (See separate story about the pig roast.)

June McClosky reported that Custer's Auction Service had once again given us the opportunity to sell food at an upcoming auction (Sept. 11).

After the meeting, we enjoyed a cookout hosted by the Winegardners, played volleyball, roasted marshmallows, and camped out overnight (despite heavy downpours all night). The next meeting will be held this Friday, Sept. 17, at 6 p.m. at the 4-H building.

Good Week For Corn Harvest Is Reported

With 5.7 days suitable for field work, Maryland farmers had excellent conditions for harvesting corn. Corn harvested for grain is ahead of schedule at 14 percent complete, with 79 percent of the crop rated in good to excellent condition. Corn for silage passed the halfway mark at 60 percent harvested, 15 percent higher than the 5-year average. Farmers are pushing harvesting activity with anticipation of wet weather during hurricane season.

Harvesting activities are approaching a close for some vegetables and melons. Potatoes, tomatoes, and cucumbers are 94 percent, 89 percent, and 87 percent complete, respectively. Cantaloupes are 94 percent harvested, while watermelon harvest is 90 percent complete.

Although the recent dry weather has boosted harvesting activity, moisture is needed to maintain good conditions in hay fields and pastures. Pasture is rated 15 percent in excellent conditions, 37 percent good, 37 percent fair, 7 percent poor, and 4 percent very poor.

Friendship Quilt Exhibit Now Open In Aurora

A Friendship Quilt Exhibit, sponsored by the Aurora Area Historical Society and CEOS (Community Education Outreach Service) is displaying Friendship Quits made in Union District, Preston County. This exhibit is in the community building in Aurora, located on Rt. 50.

Quilt dates ranged from the early 1930s to a recently completed cancer fundraising quilt in 2002. Just recently, Roger Forman discovered quilt squares belonging to his mother, Mildred Forman Kovalck. These squares have been joined and will be quilted at a later date.

Quilts are on loan from individuals of Union District, the Aurora Alumni Association, the Union Ambulance Service, and the Anna Jarvis Birthplace Museum.

Hours for viewing the quilts are Wednesdays, Saturdays, and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m., and Fridays from 5 to 8 p.m. The exhibit will continue until Oct. 10.

Special appointments may be made by contacting JoAnn Helton at 735-5832 or Virginia Martin at 735-3402.

TERRA ALTA

LIBRARY NEWS

The Preston County Literacy Volunteers visited the Terra Alta Public Library on Sept. 8 in honor of Literacy Month. the volunteers gave out literacy pamphlets to patrons. They also donated several books to the library. Buzz and Mary Jo Shaffer presented the library with two books in memory of Harry (Fuzz) Shaffer. The books are titled Watermelon Days & Firefly Nights by Annette Smith and A Treasury of Miracles for Women by Karen Kingsbury. Franklin's School Treasury by Paulette Bourgeois was presented in memory of Marjorie E. Washabaugh by Bob and Leana Boal. Patrons donating books, magazines, and audios have been Mary McLaughlin, Carol Bennett, Steven White, Lorrie MacArgle, Allen Niner, Barb McCartney, Billy Spamer, Cindee Wheeler, Brian Schoolcraft, Al Ossman, Linda Alkire, Mary Hart, and Una Kisamore.

STEVENS FAMILY AT MAPLE GROVE

On Sunday morning, Sept. 19, the Stevens Family will be ministering to the Maple Grove Assembly of God at its 10:30 a.m. service. All are invited to attend. The Accident Road is west of Horse Shoe Run on Rt. 24, and the church 1.6 miles on the Accident R. Pastor of Maple Grove is the Rev. Robert Klier.

Rich and Tami Stevens are from Warren, Ohio, and have been traveling in full-time music ministry since 1985. Both attended Central Bible College. Tami is accomplished as vocalist, pianist, flutist, and songwriter.

UNION SENIORS

Attending a ham and covered dish dinner at their Sept. 9 meeting were 41 members and guests of Union District Senior Citizens. The meal at the United Methodist Memorial Building was followed by a business meeting. This began with the Pledge of Allegiance led by president Janice Tackett and a prayer by Sheridan Layman. Mary Jane Hanline added devotionals using a "Bumper Sticker Observed by Grandma." She also read a short devotional from Daily Bread and Matthew 6:19-20.

A county trip to Adaland was attended by two Union members. The Country Fest at the Garrett County Fairgrounds was attended by three members who reported on their day.

Ms. Tackett thanked those who made the yard sale at the fire hall a success.

A trip to Wayside Theatre in Winchester, Va., is planned for Oct. 6.

Election of officers retained the present slate: Janice Tackett, president; Shirley Parsons, vice president; Dee Douglas, secretary/reporter; and Wilda Harsh, treasurer.

The county-wide picnic will be Oct. 14 at Big Bear Lake. Because of the conflict with the date for the local meeting, the Union Seniors will meet Tuesday, Oct. 12, rather than the regular date. The county picnic will begin at 2:30 p.m. this year.

Three candidates for county or state offices were visiting.

The county senior nurse discussed the effect of Alzheimer's Disease on children in the family. She also discussed the importance of food and fitness through exercise and addressed the interaction between drugs and food.

Janice Tackett, president, dismissed the meeting with a humorous reading, and some members stayed to play Bingo.

The Union Seniors extend an invitation to anyone 55 and over to come to their meetings and to join in their activities. The next meeting will be at noon on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building.

ADAMS BIRTH

Greg and Elizabeth Adams of Aurora announce the birth of their daughter, Averi Elizabeth, on Sept. 7 at Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown. She weighed 7 pounds, 8 ounces at birth. Maternal grandparents are Charlotte Cook and Richard Long, both of the Fairmont area. Paternal grandparents are John and Jeanette Adams of Aurora and Reedsville. Local great-grandparents are Tom and Lois Adams of Aurora.

ELIMINATION DINNER

An Elimination Dinner held Sept. 10 at the Union Ambulance Service squad hall was made possible through the help and donations of many persons. For this help, the Union Ambulance Service and Mountain Lions Club expressed their appreciation.

OBITUARY JANET "JAN" L. SHAFFER

Janet L. Shaffer of Grove City, Ohio, died Wednesday, Sept. 1, 2004. The daughter of Dorothy (Bird) Mitchell and the late Darrell Mitchell, she was born July 9, 1935, at Markleysburg, Pa.

She attended WV State College and was employed with Marathon Oil for 45 years. Jan also had 19 years of service with Memories Restaurant in Grove City and 17½ years of service with Bauman Oil. She was an active member of Southwest Grace Brethren Church, Grove City.

Jan is also survived by her husband of 48 years, Carl E. Shaffer; a daughter and husband, Debra and David Anderson; a granddaughter and husband, Celena and Paul Evans; two brothers and their wives, Stephen D. and Charlene Mitchell, and Myron Guy and Carole Mitchell; and numerous nieces and nephews.

In addition to her father, she was preceded in death by her brother, Randy Allen Mitchell.

Services were held Sept. 3 at the Southwest Grace Brethren Church, and on Sunday, Sept. 5 from Carl R. Spear Funeral Home in Brandonville, the latter with Revs. Vicki Sheppard and Dennis Hagar officiating. Interment was in the Shady Grove Cemetery, Bruceton Mills. In her memory, contributions may be made to the Southwest Grace Brethren Church, 3989 Neff Rd., Grove City, OH 43123.

AVFD HOSTING CHICKEN BBQ

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department's chicken barbecue fundraiser will be Friday, Sept. 17, beginning at 4 p.m. The cost per meal is $6 for eat-in or carry-out. The fire hall is located on Rt. 50, Aurora. The public is welcome to attend.

Members of the AVFD also remind the public of their monthly breakfast at the fire hall on Sunday, Sept. 19, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 years and younger.

PERSONAL MENTION

Former residents Sue and Charles Grove are reportedly in ill health and a note or card from friends here would be appreciated. Mrs. Grove is recovering from a stroke she had earlier this summer. Their address is 566 Johnsonville Road, Berkeley Springs, WV 25417.

Jesse and Faith Zenker and their children, Nathaniel and Shea, of Arroya Grande, Calif., were visiting with Faith's parents, John and Florence Minnig, at Eglon. They left last Thursday to visit relatives in South Carolina before returning home. While here, the other Minnig children and grandchildren also visited, including Cherie Minnig of Huntington, and Wayne, Kim, Tarin, and Kira Pifer of Morgantown.

Jean Skipper of Kingwood underwent kidney surgery Wednesday and returned to her home on Saturday of last week. Her son, Brent Skipper, Aberdeen, spent last week in the Skipper home helping care for his grandfather, Ronald Parsons. Their daughter, Carla Rodman, Sarasota, Fla., arrived Sunday to replace her brother for a week or two.

Jason and Amanda Mowery and their children, Zachary and Elora, are establishing their home in the old Lawrence home at Horse Shoe Run since moving here from Baltimore.

Milinda Teets is staying with her parents, Bruce and Mary Teets, Eglon, while working this month at the Friendsville Clinic. She will be graduating next May as a Physician's Assistant.

Junior Slaughbaugh of Horse Shoe Run was taken Saturday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Monongalia General Hospital for diagnostic tests and, it is reported, will probably undergo surgery.

Janet Judy of Horse Shoe Run is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital with phlebitis in both legs.

Gary, Julie, Grayson, and Madison Baker of Virginia Beach, Va., were weekend visitors at Eglon with her parents, Tom and Linda Lewis, and sister, Sara, and attended the Baker reunion held Saturday at Terra Alta Park.

Harold "Buzz" Bachtel of Ben DeWitt Road is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries received in a Saturday morning, Sept. 11, accident just minutes after a separate accident near the same site had killed his grandson, Cheston Bachtel. Mrs. Bachtel was apparently also injured, but not admitted to the hospital.

Members of Maple Spring Church of the Brethren enjoyed a Sunday picnic at Camp Horseshoe, Leadmine following morning services.

Treatment for Plant Allergy Skin Rash

During warm weather months, the risk of exposure to poison ivy, oak, and sumac increases. While most animals are not sensitive to urushiol, an oil in these wild-growing plants that causes allergic reactions, almost 85% of humans are sensitive. A rash, also called allergic contact dermatitis, results from exposure to urushiol and can develop from directly touching the plants, rubbing against them, touching things like gloves or sports equipment that have rubbed the plants, or even through the air via smoke or lawn mower particles.

IvyBlock lotion (bentoquatam) was recently government approved to provide a protective barrier to allergic reactions from urushiol exposure. Once a rash appears, use of topical steroid creams can be helpful in easing the itch. Over-the-counter steroids containing hydrocortisone may help some, but some cases of urushiol rash may require prescription strength steroid creams. Diphenhydramine by mouth may help, but the cream is generally not used. A cool wet compress (with water or aluminum acetate)is sometimes used if there are large areas with blisters.

High Court Tosses Complaint About Touch-Screen Voting

by Stacy Kaper
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — There will be no paper ballots or audits for Maryland voters in the November election, Maryland's high court ruled Tuesday. The Maryland Court of Appeals rejected the appeal of a group of voters who claimed the state's $55 million touch-screen voting machines are not secure enough.

The plaintiffs, part of a citizen's organization called TrueVoteMD, said voting machines need to be able to produce a paper record to avoid the kind of problems occurring during the contentious 2000 presidential election, when vote counts and recounts in Florida held up the final decision for weeks.

Ryan Phair, the plaintiffs' attorney, argued during an hour-long hearing before the court Tuesday that the State Board of Elections has not done enough to ensure that the Diebold AccuVote TS machines meet the required security standards for elections.

One of the main problems, Phair said, is that voters cannot be certain their votes are being accurately recorded by the machines. In the event of a recount, the machines will merely reprint what they initially recorded, he said.

However, an attorney representing the National Federation of Blind Voters, Daniel Goldstein, called the TrueVoteMD members' case "all passion and no proof." Recounting paper ballots, he said, does not improve the integrity of the intended vote cast on those ballots.

A real blow to the plaintiffs' case came when the court's seven judges pointed out that all the security studies voters cited had also found that voting with paper ballots was the least accurate voting method.

"The bottom line is that there is no way for voters to verify or audit their votes," said former Prince George's County Democratic Delegate Joan Pitkin. "I don't think that the court or the State Board of Elections is in tune with the voters and I think the voters are going to wake up and be very unhappy about this."

The appeals judges questioned whether the appeal should even have been heard in court and indicated that the General Assembly may have to weigh in on voting systems in the future.

Phair echoed that, saying his case is now focused on making improvements before elections in 2006. He is using state documents that could not be included in time for this case, including an internal report commissioned by the Maryland Association of Election Officials in May called "Lessons Learned," which points out numerous problems with training, communication, and contracting for the voting machines.

Members of TrueVoteMD say the state board has tried to hide the findings of this report from the public.

The State Board of Elections and its attorney, Michael Berman, would not comment on the case.

Barbara Fisher, president of the election officials association, called "Lessons Learned" an "in-house" document designed to improve the use of the voting machines. She said although state officials have not formally responded to the report, the situation has improved.

The Court of Appeals decision follows a weekend incident in which U.S. Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Maryland, reportedly had difficulty using one of the voting machines in a mock election at a festival in Takoma Park.

On Tuesday, Montgomery County Circuit Judge D. Warren Donohue issued a restraining order to force the return of the disputed machine after a local election judge took it for testing.

Mikulski has added her name to proposed federal legislation that seeks a mandatory paper record for elections.

SUPPORTING THE TOURNAMENT OF BANDS – The Jr. Woman's Civic Club recently donated to the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, sponsored by the Southern Band Boosters. A record number of bands – 19 – are scheduled to perform Oct. 16 during the Autumn Glory weekend. On the left is Sandra Zakaluzny, projects chairperson for JWCC, presenting the check to Sheila Edwards, chair of the Tournament of Bands.

RAFFLE WINNER — Lynn Patton was the winner of the Mountain Escape Package raffled off at the Garrett County Fair. A total of $1,100 was raised, and all proceeds went to the Make-A-Wish Foundation. The booth was sponsored by Garrett County Hilltopper's Quality Circle from the State Highway Administration at Keysers Ridge. What's Happening At The Drane House?

by Becky Aiken and Sherri Georg

If you have picked up a copy of the Drane House brochure this year, you will recognize the picture above. It is a representation of Pricilla Drane working in her garden. The art work was provided by Northern High School student Julianna Nixon as a service learning project.

The mission of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society is to not only preserve local history but to also educate the public about that history. This month marks the 10-year anniversary of the dedication of the Drane House, and we could think of no better way to commemorate such a special milestone than through education.

Through grant funding and the support of the Garrett County Board of Education, we were able to enlist the support of several Garrett County teachers to write a curriculum for students to study colonial life by studying the Drane House and its history. We would like to thank Lynn Bell, Carolyn Tice, Twylah Stewart, and Doris Cooper for their dedication and hard work.

The Drane House will be open this Saturday, Sept. 18, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. A copy of this curriculum will be on display. Information on the Drane House and Museum Garden can be obtained by calling Becky Aiken at 301-746-8427 or Sherry Georg at 301-726-8766.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing on October 4, 2004, at 7:15 p.m. at the Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to receive public comment regarding proposed Ordinance O2004-06. This proposed Ordinance has been introduced before the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland. A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF ITS GENERAL OBLIGATION BOND IN THE AMOUNT OF EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($800,000) TO BE ISSUED AND SOLD PURSUANT TO §6-102 OF THE CHARTER OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND AND ARTICLE 23A, §31-39 OF THE ANNOTATED CODE OF MARYLAND FOR THE PURPOSE OF REFINANCING AN EXISTING GENERAL OBLIGATION BOND ISSUED TO FINANCE THE PAVING OF STREETS IN THE TOWN, FINANCING ADDITIONAL STREET PAVING IN THE TOWN AND FINANCING THE PURCHASE OF A PLOW TRUCK FOR THE TOWN. THE ORDINANCE FURTHER PROVIDES THAT A PROMISSORY BOND WILL BE ISSUED UPON THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE TOWN AND PROVIDES FOR THE FORM, TENOR, DENOMINATION, MATURITY DATE, INTEREST RATE, AND OTHER PROVISIONS OF THE BOND AND FURTHER MAKES PROVISIONS FOR RELATED PURPOSES.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal office hours Monday through Friday.

By Authority,
Mayor and Town Council
Oakland, Maryland

Notice to Public

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

On or about September 23, 2004, the above named Board of County Commissioners will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following projects:

Project Title: Housing Study Purpose: Included is studying and evaluating conditions of existing housing. Location: Countywide, Garrett County, Maryland

Project Title: Home Rehabilitation Purpose: Continuation of county-wide housing rehabilitation program for low to moderate income homeowners. Location: Countywide, Garrett County, Maryland.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion: Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the projects described in this Notice and has determined said projects to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of these projects is available to public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on week days excluding holidays.

Request for Release of Funds: The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will undertake the projects described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds. This notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairperson of the Board, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in the relation to the environmental reviews, decision making and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the Garrett County Board of Commissioners may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objection to Release of Funds: Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following basis: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800 (d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. and to the SCCDBG Program Manager, Md. Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than October 15, 2004.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber on 30 acres of Compartment #47 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to yield 236,080 Bd. Ft. of measured and marked live hardwood sawtimber according to the International ¼" Saw Kerf Rule (FC=78), and 142 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less.

This timber is located approximately .3 mile east of the intersection with Westernport Road on the North side of Aaron Run Road, Savage River State Forest.

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on MONDAY, September 20, 2004. Interested persons should arrange to meet at the intersection of Westernport and Aaron Run Roads, at the above date and time.

2. Contract/Bid forms will be available at the showing or from Savage River State Forest Headquarters, 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville, MD 21536, 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted must be posted as bids are submitted to the MD State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Products Operator in Maryland for the current year and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control training to be awarded a State Forest Timber Contract.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid amount must be posted upon notification of bid acceptance. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volume will be made under any circumstances.

7. The successful bidder may make payment as follows: (1) make full payment upon notification of bid acceptance, or (2) select to make a 50% payment upon notification of bid acceptance, with the remaining 50% payable and due within 90 calendar days of the bid acceptance. If the buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in a form acceptable to the state of MD.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 2004.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Department of Natural Resources and the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board are proposing to increase the permit fees associated with the recreational use of Deep Creek Lake. The proposed fees, scheduled for implementation beginning in calendar year 2005, are as follows:

Deep Creek Lake
2005 Proposed DCL Fee Schedule

Class	Permit Description	2005 Proposed Fee
1	Residential/Private
	a. Type A and E	200.00
	b. Common	160.00
	c. Mooring Buoys	70.00
	d. Misc-Buffer Strip Use Only	70.00
	Residential/Rental
	e. Type A and E	200.00
	f. Common	160.00
	g. Mooring Buoys	70.00
	h. Rental Property Fee	70.00
2	Development (Commercial)	1,350.00
3	Special Permit (B/S Improvement)	70.00
4	Commercial
	a. Commercial Slips (Wet)	160.00
	b. Day use/Dry Storage Slips	160.00
	c. Yacht Club Slips (Wet)/Mooring	70.00
	d. Rental Boat Fleet (Motorized)	200.00
	e. Gas Sales	650.00
	f. Ramped Boats	10.00 MD residents 11.00 non-MD residents
	g. Commercial - General Use of Buffer Strip & Lake	135.00
5	Non-Conforming Use	50.00

The reason for this change is to provide additional revenue for the lake management program to continue to provide services on Deep Creek Lake. Lake buffer strip use permit holders will still be able to use the ramp at no extra charge by presenting their dock permit. The State Forest and Park Service All-Season Pass will continue to be applicable for boat launches.

A public hearing on the proposed change will be held at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center on Wednesday, October 20, 2004 at 1:00 p.m.

Written comments on the proposal may be submitted to Lake Manager, Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, 898 State Park Road, Swanton, Maryland 21561.

Complete Auctioneering Service - Serving Preston County Since 1982

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Maryland Mining Program, Bureau of Mines will submit an application to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, for the funding for the TD Mining Abandoned Mine Reclamation Project.

Location: Approximately 2.5 miles northwest of Midland, Maryland, just west of the Allegany/Garrett County line.

Problem: An abandoned surface coal mine originally mined in the mid-1960s and subsequently re-affected by the TD Mining operation is in an unstable and unreclaimed condition creating dangerous conditions from a highwall and spoil piles. The site is also causing erosion and sedimentation and disrupting access to adjacent property.

The funding will be in accordance with Title IV, Section 405 of Public Law 95-87, Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977. Qualification for Federal Funding under Title IV is contingent on an approved State Surface Coal Mining Regulatory Program and a State Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Plan. Maryland has received Office of Surface Mining approval of both programs. Project funding will originate from the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund, administered by the Office of Surface Mining.

It is the goal of the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program to promote the reclamation of abandoned coal mines in Maryland that have been left in an inadequately reclaimed condition and endanger the safety of the public, degrade the quality of the environment, and/or diminish the beneficial use of land and water resources.

Comments are being solicited on the relative priority of the projects listed below and/or any other abandoned mine problems in the Maryland Coal Region. The Bureau of Mines requests information from the public concerning abandoned mine problems that pose a potential threat to the public health and safety or severely degrade the environment.

A public informational meeting concerning the proposed projects will be held as follows:

Wednesday, September 22, 2004
7:00 p.m.
Maryland Bureau of Mines
160 South Water Street, Room 107
Frostburg, MD 21532

Further information concerning the proposed project can be obtained by contacting Mr. Mike Garner, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water St., Frostburg, MD 21532, 301-689-6764, ext. 317. Written comments concerning this project and the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program will be received at the public hearing and until Wednesday, September 30, 2004. Address all comments to the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Attention: Mr. Mike Garner at the address listed above.

Notice is given that Lena M. Beitzel, 586 Beitzel Valley Drive, Accident, MD 21520, was on September 2, 2004, appointed personal representative of the estate of Ernest Raymond Beitzel Sr., who died on August 10, 2004, without a will.

Further information can be obtained by reviewing the estate file in the office of the Register of Wills or by contacting the personal representative or the attorney.

All persons having any objection to the appointment (or to the probate of the decedent's will) shall file their objections with the Register of Wills on or before the 2nd day of March 2005.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Six months from the date of the decedent's death, except if the decedent died before October 1, 1992, nine months from the date of the decedent's death; or

(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claims within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

Judge Upholds Board Decision To Keep Nader Off Nov. Ballot

by Samson Habte
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — A Maryland judge Tuesday upheld a State Board of Elections decision to deny presidential hopeful Ralph Nader a spot on the ballot as a candidate of the Populist Party. Nader supporters had gathered 15,094 signatures, well over the 10,000 needed by a third party to put a candidate on the ballot. But elections officials last month invalidated 5,631 of the signatures.

The elections board said the rejected voters were incorrectly listed under counties where they did not reside, violating a rule that is aimed at making it easy for county election officials to verify signatures. Nader's campaign sued to overturn that decision.

The campaign conceded that the voters were listed under the wrong counties, but argued that it was unconstitutional to throw out the signatures of registered voters. It said technological advances have made verification easier and eliminated the rationale for the county-by-county requirement. But the judge said that while the county-by-county requirement may be unnecessary, it is not the role of the courts to change it.

Anne Arundel Circuit Judge Philip Caroom ruled that Nader's supporters should ask their legislators to update the law, because "the court's function is not to second-guess the legislature or to criticize the option selected as less than the most efficient possible solution."

"It is sad that the state of Maryland puts technical issues ahead of the wishes of voters," said Kevin Zeese, a spokesman for the Nader campaign. "It is sad that they put the form of the law before the substance."

Zeese said the campaign would appeal Caroom's ruling.

"The judge acknowledged that more than enough voters signed a petition to put Ralph Nader on the ballot, but they will be ignored and he won't be on the ballot," Zeese said.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office declined to comment on the ruling.

Zeese said Nader is on the ballot in 33 states, but that his appearance on 12 of those ballots is being challenged in court.

Florida election officials ruled on Monday that Nader's name could appear on that state's ballot, according to published reports, despite a court order that denied him access. Nader received 98,000 Florida votes as a Green Party candidate in 2000.

Democratic presidential nominee Al Gore ultimately lost Florida by 537 votes, and many Democrats blame Nader for pulling votes from Gore and throwing the election to President Bush.

DCL Resident Requests Change In Road Project

A Deer Creek Lake resident asked the Garrett County commissioners and other officials this week to consider changing the county's realignment plans for Glendale Road. Current plans call for straightening a curve near the intersection of Glendale and Zeddock Miller roads.

"We moved to Garrett County for its charm and tree-lined country roads," said John Cobb of Penelacre Lane, representing six other residents. "The straightening of Glendale Road will result in the loss of 17 majestic white pine trees."

He noted that the loss of the tree "buffer" and new construction at Silver Ridge Development would result in more noise pollution and traffic, which would be unpleasant and unsightly to those living along and using Glendale Road.

He added that he and his neighbors were not against development, but they were interested in keeping the country ambience of the road.

Director John Nelson, Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, said the realignment was for safety reasons. "The county HISTORY "HIT THE ROAD" THIS WEEK to make an appearance at Garrett County's oldest structure, the Drane House, in Accident. Local school children were treated to a visit from the West Virginia University Extension Service's covered wagon exhibit, titled "History Hitting the Road." Re-enactors, dressed in 1800-style clothing, talked with the students about the lives and times of early Americans. Several stations were set up for the children to experience: a Drane House tour and lesson on colonial living, a garden tour and lesson, a blacksmith demonstration, candlemaking, corn-grinding, and, as shown here, discussions with docent Dean Hardman about methods of transportation in those early days. The weather was perfect for the field trip, and the young Garrett Countians seemed to enjoy their step back in time. Photo by John McEwen.

Three Injured As Wheel Bounds Across Interstate

A wheel that came loose from the cab of a tractor-trailer Sunday on Interstate 68 bounded across the median strip and struck an oncoming car, injuring three occupants of the sedan. Maryland State Police troopers investigated the 11:47 p.m. mishap, which occurred west of Finzel.

The accident occurred as a 1996 Kenworth tractor, operated by Garvin D. Lutes, 35, Campton, Ky., traveling east lost its driver's side front tractor wheel west of Finzel Road. The wheel rolled across the median into the westbound lanes, striking the driver's side of a 2001 Toyota Camry driven by Scott M. Trickett, 26, of Morgantown, W.Va. Delia Trickett, 25, and two boys, ages 3 and 1, passengers in the car, were injured.

Sources reported that at least one of Trickett's passengers required transport to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by the Frostburg Area Ambulance Service.

Oct. 12 Deadline Set To Register For Election Vote

Citizens wishing to vote in the upcoming General Election of Tuesday, Nov. 2, must register to vote by 9 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 12, according to the Garrett County Board of Elections office. Voter registration application must be received in the election office by 9 p.m. Oct. 12 or bear an Oct. 12 postmark from the United States Postal Service in order to qualify for the upcoming election.

Voter registration applications are available at Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration and Department of Health offices; and local Social Services departments, offices on Aging, and Division of Rehabilitation Services offices; public institutions of higher education; marriage license bureaus, U.S. post offices; public libraries; and county and state Board of Elections offices.

A citizen may download a voter registration application from the web site of the State Board of Elections at www.elections.state.md.us, or may have a voter registration application mailed by calling the state's 24-hour toll free telephone number at 1-800-222-VOTE (8683), or the Garrett

Cell Phone Call Leads To Arrest Of MLP Man

A Mtn. Lake Park man was arrested after police received a report via a cell phone that a male driver was aggressively pursuing her vehicle through Mtn. Lake Park Tuesday afternoon, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

John W. Hinebaugh, 32, was charged with two counts of first-degree assault, two counts of second-degree assault, harassment, driving on a suspended license, negligent driving, and aggressive driving.

In other police news, deputies investigated two separate and unrelated motor vehicle accident Tuesday.

Joanne Buckle, 17, Mtn. Lake Park, was driving a vehicle that struck a second vehicle operated by Virginia Upton, 72, Oakland, when Upton slowed to avoid pedestrians walking along Oakland Drive near the intersection with Pensinger Blvd. No charges were filed, and no injuries were reported at the 8:07 a.m. accident.

Later in the day, Robert Connell, 50, was operating his Polaris 4-wheeler on private property when he lost control and overturned

Glendale Road Collision Injures Oakland Driver

A rear-end collision Sunday on Glendale Road slightly injured an Oakland man, according to troopers from the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police. No charges were filed in the afternoon crash, which is reportedly still under investigation.

Ronald Rhodes, 29, was driving a 1991 Pontiac Bonneville westbound on Glendale Road, a short distance east of the Glendale Bridge, when he attempted to turn left onto Glen Cove Road. While still on Glendale Road, the stopped Pontiac was struck from behind by a 2000 Chrysler operated by Ronald Kealy, 67, of Frostburg.

Rhodes was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital when he complained of neck pain.

The Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company assisted at the scene.

Pittsburgh Man Seriously Hurt In ATV Mishap

A Pittsburgh man was seriously injured when the all-terrain vehicle he was operating overturned early Sunday morning in the Sky Valley area of Deep Creek Lake. Alcohol was cited as a factor in the 1:45 a.m. crash, and Maryland State Police troopers assigned to the McHenry barrack reported that charges are pending.

Robert Charles Eddins, 52, was driving a Polaris Sportsman ATV north on Bench Road, south of Summit Drive, when he swerved into a ditch. The Polaris struck an embankment and rolled end-over-end, ejecting Eddins from the operator's seat.

Eddins was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by the MSP Trooper 5 medevac helicopter, where he was listed in critical condition later that same morning.

Volunteers from the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, and the Bittinger VFD assisted at the accident scene.

Friendsville VFD Receives $96,300 Grant For Equip.

Friendsville Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department has received a $96,300 grant from the Department of Homeland Security's Office for Domestic Preparedness in cooperation with the U.S. Fire Administration, Congressman Roscoe Bartlett announced yesterday.

"This is a big boost to our fire safety," said Friendsville fire chief Terry Spear. "we are very excited and will now be able to purchase much needed safety equipment for our firefighters."

In addition to Friendsville, three other western Maryland volunteer fire departments were also awarded funding: Midland, $165,320; Bowman's Addition, $90,296; and Williamsport, $135,990.

"These federal grants are part of the federal government's effort to equip our nation's first responders," said Bartlett. "Firefighters give their time and energy and put their lives in harm's way to protect us. After Sept. 11, 2001, they also know they might face the need to respond to terrorist attacks. The new and improved operations and safety equipment that will be purchased with these grants will improve the capability of western Maryland's firefighters to respond to emergencies and protect the lives and property of everyone in the surrounding communities."

Pa. Man Faces DUI Charge After Crashing Truck

A Pennsylvania man who was involved in a single vehicle accident Saturday morning at Keyser's Ridge was charged with driving under the influence, according to the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police.

Shawn Michael Mock, 31, Colver, Pa., told police that he was traveling north on Garrett Highway at 10:17 a.m. when he failed to realize he had come upon the stop sign at the T-intersection with Route 40. Mock claimed heavy fog prevented him from seeing the sign in time, and when he attempted to stop his vehicle went into a skid. The 2000 Ford Ranger struck a guard rail, overturned, and slid down an embankment.

During the course of the accident investigation, a strong odor of alcoholic beverage was reportedly noted on Mock's breath, and upon failing sobriety testing he was arrested for DUI. He was also charged with failure to obey a traffic control device.

Mock, who did not require an ambulance transport, was subsequently released from police custody on his own recognizance.

The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad assisted at the accident scene.

Terra Alta Man Arrested On Drug Charges

A West Virginia man was arrested on drug charges after his vehicle was stopped on Fingerboard Road Thursday evening, according to the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Earnest Short, 52, Terra Alta, W.Va., was charged with possession with intent to distribute marijuana, possession of marijuana, and maintaining a common nuisance. In addition, his 1999 Chevrolet vehicle was seized and more than $5,000 in cash was recovered.

A K-9 search of the vehicle revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana with a street value of more than $3,000.

Task force investigators were assisted by uniform members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Community Action Gets $100,000 Grant For Crellin Tipple Project

Interior Secretary Gale Norton this week announced that the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM) has awarded a Watershed Cooperative Agreement to Garrett County Community Action Committee in the amount of $100,000 for the Crellin Tipple Acid Mine Drainage (AMD) Project.

"The grant we've just awarded will go a long way in helping Garrett County restore one of its most significant waterways," said Norton.

When completed, the Crellin Tipple AMD Project will treat a significant amount of acid mine drainage discharging into Snowy Creek, a major tributary of the Youghiogheny River. The Crellin/Snowy Creek AMD seep is caused by an old coal mine tipple.

The Crellin Tipple AMD Project, which will incorporate passive, bio-remediation technology, will greatly improve the water quality at this site, according to the OSM. Incorporating this new technology will return the water quality to near-neutral pH, with a low metal content discharge into Snowy Creek.

The tipple site is adjacent to Crellin Elementary School, where faculty and 108 students will participate in the project. When the project is completed, the site will serve as an outdoor classroom to educate students on such environmental issues as acid mine drainage.

"Not only will the project improve water quality in Snowy Creek, it will also improve the wetlands adjacent to the abandoned coal tipple, and will help the Crellin Community Group and the Crellin Elementary School improve the center of their community," said a OSM spokesperson.

Community Action is partnering with the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association, Maryland Department of the Environment Bureau of Mines, Crellin Elementary School, Garrett County Board of

Calif. Fugitive Found Living In Grantsville

A fugitive from California was taken into custody after a search and seizure warrant was executed on a Chestnut Ridge Road residence Friday evening, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Rosanne Livengood, 50, reportedly had been a fugitive for eight years for parole violations. According to police, she had been staying at the Grantsville address for several years, and was there when deputies searched the residence.

She was taken into custody and remanded to the Garrett County Jail to await extradition to California.

Sheriff's deputies were assisted by members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

W.Va. Man Faces Drug Charges After Traffic Stop

A Keyser, W.Va., man faces drug charges filed by Maryland State Police troopers during a Saturday afternoon traffic stop on Interstate 68 near Friendsville.

Arthur Mongold, 19, was initially stopped for speeding on the eastbound interstate west of Route 42. He was arrested when a computer check revealed he was driving on a suspended license, and an ensuing vehicle search uncovered a small amount of suspected marijuana and a marijuana pipe in the center console of his 1989 Chevrolet S-10.

Mongold was charged with marijuana and drug paraphernalia possession, and driving on a suspended license. He was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center when he posted a $1,000 bond set by a District Court commissioner.

Names Drawn For Autumn Md. Black Bear Hunt

The drawing for Maryland's first black bear hunt in five decades took place yesterday in Annapolis, where a computer randomly selected the names of 200 permit recipients from a pool of 2,383 applicants. The Maryland Department of Natural Resources will be notifying the lottery winners via mail this coming week.

The hunt is not going to be official until Monday, when the hunting regulations are expected to be formally published in the Maryland Register. Bear hunt opponents, including the Fund for Animals, are threatening legal action to stop the adoption of the new regulations.

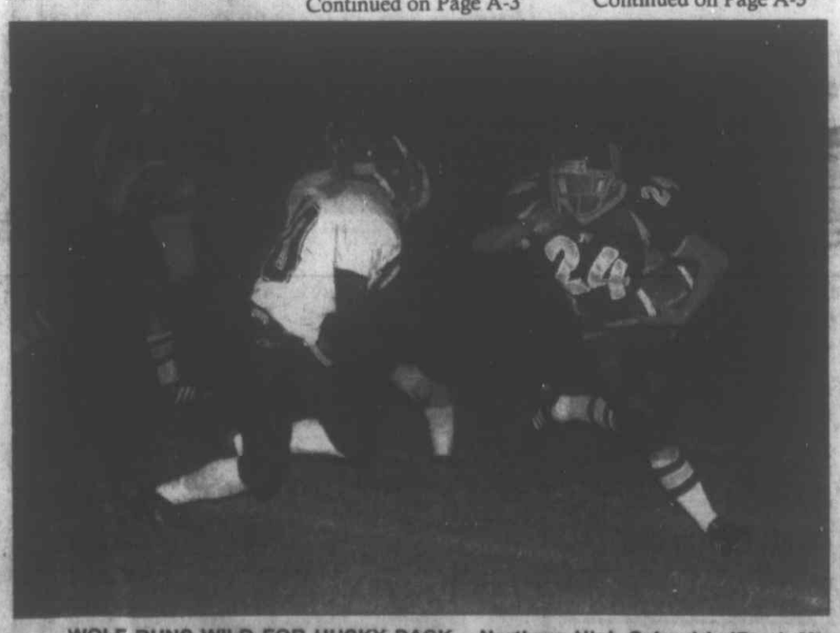
If the hunt goes ahead, it will open Monday, Oct. 25, and continue through Saturday, Oct. 30, coming to a halt when 30 bears are killed and checked in at DNR checking stations. If the 30-bear limit is not reached during that week, a second week will be added from Monday through Saturday, Dec. 6-11.

Complete details are available on the DNR black bear web site at www.dnr.state.md.us/wildlife/blackbear.

News Sought For Annual Autumn Glory Supplement

Local churches, organizations, or groups wishing to submit news items for the Autumn Glory supplement, Splendour, in The Republican may do so by Friday, Oct. 1.

Submissions may be mailed to P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550; e-mailed to newsroom@therepublicannews.com; or dropped off at the Oakland or Grantsville office.



WOLF RUNS WILD FOR HUSKY PACK – Northern High School halfback Michael Wolf (#24) led the undefeated varsity Huskies to a 58-25 massacre of the visiting Berkeley Springs Indians Saturday night. The senior smashed the school rushing record with 342 yards on 26 carries, scoring four of the victors' eight touchdowns along the way, and likely claimed the county single-game rushing crown. Wolf is in hot pursuit of his second straight area rushing crown with 617 yards in three outings, by far the top tally in the area this season. See sports pages for details on NHS's big 33-point win. TRAFFIC WAS FROZEN IN PLACE Tuesday after this tractor-trailer carrying frozen vegetables overturned on westbound Interstate 68 approximately one mile west of Grantsville. No injuries were reported by Maryland State Police troopers who investigated the 2 a.m. mishap, but it was nearing mid-morning before the truck's contents were unloaded and the rig was set upright. Woman Found Not Guilty On Assault Charge

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury recently found a 20-year-old Edinburg, Va., woman not guilty of second-degree assault. Judge Gary Leasure also granted a motion to acquit Milanda Kay Wright of first-degree burglary and first-degree assault.

Additional charges of reckless endangerment and theft of less than $500 in value were not prosecuted.

Wright was charged following an investigation conducted by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation. In the early morning hours of June 13, 2003, Wright allegedly entered her former boyfriend's home in the Deep Creek Lake area, stunned him with an air Taser gun, and removed property.

LOCAL BOY GETS WISH GRANTED – Jed Crawford of Oakland was diagnosed with Hodgkin's lymphoma in January 2003, when he had just turned 15. He underwent chemotherapy and radiation treatments through July 31, 2003. He has beaten the disease so far, and continues to go for three-month check-ups. The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Western Maryland recently sent Jed and his parents to San Diego, Calif., to grant his wish – meeting and having a private golf lesson with Tiger Woods. Jed is a member of the Southern High School golf team, works part-time at the Wisp as a golf attendant, and has a junior membership at the Oakland Golf Club. "We would like to thank everyone, not only the Make-A-Wish Foundation, but also all family, friends, and the community for their prayers and support that has brought us to today," said Jed's parents. Anyone with a child who has a life threatening illness and would like an opportunity for a wish to be granted may call the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Western Maryland at 301-729-6571.

"Strut Your Stuff" Car Show Slated At GC Fairgrounds

The annual Strut Your Stuff Shine & Show will be held Friday through Sunday, Sept. 24-26, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry. In previous years, the car show was held at the Mineral County Fairgrounds in Ft. Ashby, W.Va.

This year's event will feature more than 150 competitive classes, according to show coordinator Bill Dixon, and is open to all years, makes, and models of cars, trucks, and motorcycles. There will also be classes for go-carts, golf carts, bicycles, and watercraft. In addition to four Best of Show trophies, more than 50 special awards will be presented.

Gates open at 5 p.m. on Friday, with a demolition derby kicking off the three-day show at 8 p.m. There will be heats for 4-cyclinder cars, 8-cyclinder cars, small trucks, full-size trucks, and Gates open on Saturday at 7 a.m. for registration. That day's activities include a poker run, which is open to automobiles and motorcycles, live music by Jim House and Enuwendo, and a four-wheeler pull.

Sunday will feature a stereo competition at 11 a.m., a tattoo contest at noon, and a swimsuit competition at 2 p.m., with the winner receiving $500.

Scheduled throughout the weekend will be car shows, 50/50 raffles, vendors, a flea market, tattooing/piercing, and a car corral area. In addition, Savage Cycles from Frostburg/Eckhart, will show some of their custom bikes, choppers, and paint work.

At the end of the weekend, a Big Bear Chopper, valued at $30,000, will be raffled off. Tickets can be purchased from several local merchants and at the show, or by calling the show coordinator.

For more information, persons may call Dixon at 304-788-1114, or visit online at strutyourstuffcarshow.com.

Oakland Man Arrested For Drunk Driving

An Oakland man was arrested after police responded to a residence on Sunnyside Road Wednesday night for a reported domestic disturbance, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Upon arrival, deputies discovered a 1994 Pontiac Grand Prix that was abandoned over an embankment near the residence. Further investigation revealed that a verbal argument at the residence led to Joey Wesley Baker, 35, attempting to drive the vehicle after he had been consuming alcohol, police said.

Baker backed the vehicle down the driveway, crossed the road, failed to stop, and slid down the embankment. After failing field sobriety tests, he was arrested for driving while impaired.

He was also charged with driving under the influence (DUI), DUI per se, and unsafe backing of a motor vehicle.

Baker was later released pending a future court appearance.

Rabies Clinics Scheduled By Health Dept.

A series of low-cost rabies clinics have been scheduled by the Environmental Health Services office of the Garrett County Health Department.

The rabies vaccination clinics will be offered from 5 to 6 p.m. at Grantsville Elementary School on Monday, Sept. 27; at the Swanton Community Center on Tuesday, Sept. 28; at Crellin Elementary School on Wednesday, Sept. 29; at the Kitzmiller Community Center on Thursday, Sept. 30; and at Friendsville Elementary School on Friday, Oct. 1. A sixth clinic will be offered from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Health Department on Saturday, Oct. 2.

The vaccination cost is $5 per animal, and Health Department officials remind the public that only pets under the control of a responsible person may be brought to a clinic. Dogs must be on a leash, and cats and ferrets must be in a cage or tightly secured box with air holes. If a cage/carrier is not available, cats must be carried in a pillowcase or suitable cloth sack. No other animals will be vaccinated.

To date, the county has had three confirmed positive cases of rabies in raccoons in 2004, and last year the county experience nine confirmed rabies cases in raccoons. Officials urge citizens to protect their pets and families from the disease by having their dogs, cats, and/or ferrets vaccinated at one of the six clinics.

For further information on the clinics or on the rabies disease, persons may call Environmental Health Services at 301-334-7760.

Accessible Poll Sites Available By Request

Any Maryland voter who is elderly or disabled and who wishes to vote in person in the Tuesday, Nov. 2, General Election has until close of business on Tuesday, Oct. 12, to request that he or she be reassigned to an accessible polling place if the voter's home polling place is inaccessible.

A request for reassignment must be in writing and reach the appropriate local board of elections by Oct. 12. At that time, the local board of elections will reassign the voter to a polling place that is accessible, where the voter may vote the ballot of his or her home precinct.

For more information, Garrett County voters may contact the Garrett County Board of Elections at 301-334-6985, or the Maryland state Board of Elections at 1-800-222-VOTE (8683), or consult the state Board of Elections web site at www.elections.state.md.us.

is not pursuing this to increase commercial development," he said. "That's not why we're doing this."

The director noted that Glendale has been classified as a "major collector" road by the Maryland Department of Transportation, and enhancements to it are a priority. The road is an important link between Rt. 219 and Rt. 495.

During a two-day period late last month, 10,737 cars traveled Glendale Road at an average speed of 33 miles per hour, according to a traffic survey conducted by the Garrett County Roads Department. General superintendent Fred Polce, Roads Department, said 216 bicycles also used the road during that same time period.

Cobb also stressed the importance of safety. A bike path, part of the Garrett County Recreational Trails System, is slated to be constructed along the south side of Glendale Road to Deep Creek Lake State Park.

"If the road is straightened," said Cobb, "then the safety of bikers and walkers will be in question." He also noted that the realignment would create safety issues with private driveways and lead to more speeding and accidents on the road.

"The steepness of a number of driveways in the proposed area of road modification will require a flat landing (prior to stopping to exit and enter Glendale Road), especially in winter weather conditions," he said. "Vehicles would be forced to come to a complete stop before turning onto very sloped driveways, and this is a dangerous situation."

The county has been negotiating rights of way with Glendale property owners in order to realign the road. Highland Engineering has been contracted to draw up plans for the project. There are still three owners, however, who have not conveyed their properties to the county, according to Nelson.

Cobb suggested "only partially modifying the curve" by taking land off nearby commercial property, which is slated for development. He said only two, possibly three trees would have to be cut to still have a safe road.

"Some owners want their property back from the county that was deeded at the time of sale of the land to current owners," he said. "And we as a group of seven property owners and taxpayers are planning legal action to stop or modify the current plan of modification for Glendale Road."

Cobb also said he and his neighbors wanted to come up with a "friendly, positive solution."

"We would rely upon the designs of the engineers," said Nelson. "If we can save some trees, sure, but we have to work with the designs of the engineers."

Commissioner Ernie Gregg indicated that the county would review the plans and schematics with Highland Engineering. He noted that if changes did not affect funding for the alignment project and if all affected property owners agreed, new plans might negate eminent domain procedures.

PAWS "Bones For Phones" Drive To Benefit Dove Center Efforts

Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) will be helping the Dove Center collect used cell phones at the Volkswaggle fundraiser, which is slated for Sunday, Oct. 3, from noon until 4 p.m. Any dog-owner who turns over an old cell phone to the Dove Center at this event will be given a free bag of homemade dog biscuits for his or her pet.

The "Bones For Phones" exchange is meant to help the Dove Center provide cellular phones to local victims of domestic abuse, as well as to draw attention to the link between animal cruelty and family violence, a PAWS spokesperson said.

Used cell phones have been collected for domestic violence shelters for some time now, the spokesperson said. Because they are programmed for "9-1-1" emergency use, they provide a valuable means of getting immediate aid during a violent family crisis.

Lately the Dove Center has also been able to convert donated cellular phones into a means of raising revenue for its general operating needs and victim support, the spokesperson said. Older model cell phones and those the center receives in excess of their client needs are being sold to a Florida salvage firm called the Shelter Alliance, which pays for the phones regardless of age or condition. The phones they purchase are then disassembled and sold for parts. Those phones and parts that are of no value are disposed of in an environmentally safe manner, the spokesperson said.

"Animal abuse and neglect are often the first, and at times the only, outward signs that domestic violence may be occurring within a given household," The PAWS spokesperson said. "Suspected animal abuse, whether perpetrated by an adult or a child, should be reported to animal control or local law enforcement officials. This may be important to the welfare of the other residents of the home because in a home where animals are abused, children and spouses are likely the victims of abuse as well."

For more information about animal cruelty, persons may visit the PAWS web site at www.garrett-paws.org and click on "Our Programs." The site provides information on what animal cruelty is, how it is defined by state and local law, and what physical signs to look for. Also provided are links to other organizations that provide extensive information on all aspects of animal care.

The Volkswaggle animal walk fundraiser is free and open to the public. Proceeds will benefit animal welfare efforts of PAWS, including the "Big Fix" spay/neuter assistance and the KIND News Adopt-A-Classroom programs.

For more information about the Volkswaggle and to obtain walk sponsor registration forms, persons may visit PAWS at the web site noted above. Sponsor sheets for the walk may also be picked up at any Ruth Enlow library, local veterinary offices, and Muttworks or Animal Cracker pet groomers.

ANNUAL HARVEST SALE SLATED – Swan Meadow School's PTO annual fundraiser, the Harvest Sale, will be held on Friday, Sept. 24, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, south of Oakland. This annual auction of farm produce, handmade crafts, and baked goods features items provided by Amish and Mennonite families and students of Swan Meadow School. This is the 55th year of the Harvest Sale. Doughnuts made by mothers of the students on the day of the sale will be available for purchase by 5:30 p.m. Also for sale will be homemade caramels, taffy, cookies, fudge, and gallons of apple cider. Other dinner items will also be sold. The evening will begin with the 6th, 7th, and 8th graders of Swan Meadow School singing songs at 6:45 p.m. The auction will begin at 7 p.m. The Swan Meadow School History Book filled with photographs and memories will also be sold.

County Board of Elections office at 301-334-6985.

If a voter registered by mail after Jan. 1, 2003, federal law requires that the voter provide identification information before casting his or her vote in the upcoming election. To avoid presenting identification information at the time of voting, the voter should send the board of elections either a copy of a current or valid photo identification, or a copy of a current utility bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck, or government document that shows the voter's name and address.

If the voter is required to provide identification information but fails to do so before voting, the voter will be issued a provisional ballot. The provisional ballot will only be counted if the voter is duly registered and provides the identification information before canvassing of the provisional ballots occurs.

For more information, voters may contact the Garrett County Board of Elections or the state Board of Elections at the numbers listed above, or consult the state Board of Elections web site, also listed above.

That Doesn't Cut It...

Reprehensible, outrageous, and animalistic are among the adjectives that we are using to describe the public beheadings of Americans by extremists, but words do not exist to completely identify or convey our gut-wrenching feelings about such behavior. This simply lies beyond verbal description. The extremely frustrating part is not knowing what we can do about it other than continue to try to capture the murderers.

In reading the opinions of others, some believe that those in the media should do all they can to limit the airing/reporting of these brutal, graphic murders because media coverage is something that is coveted by the killers. Broadcasting their threats and demands every half hour via every electronic media outlet plays precisely into their hands. Unfortunately, though, even if the major news media would curtail such reporting, the Internet is the perfect tool for them to spread their message, and their videos, worldwide.

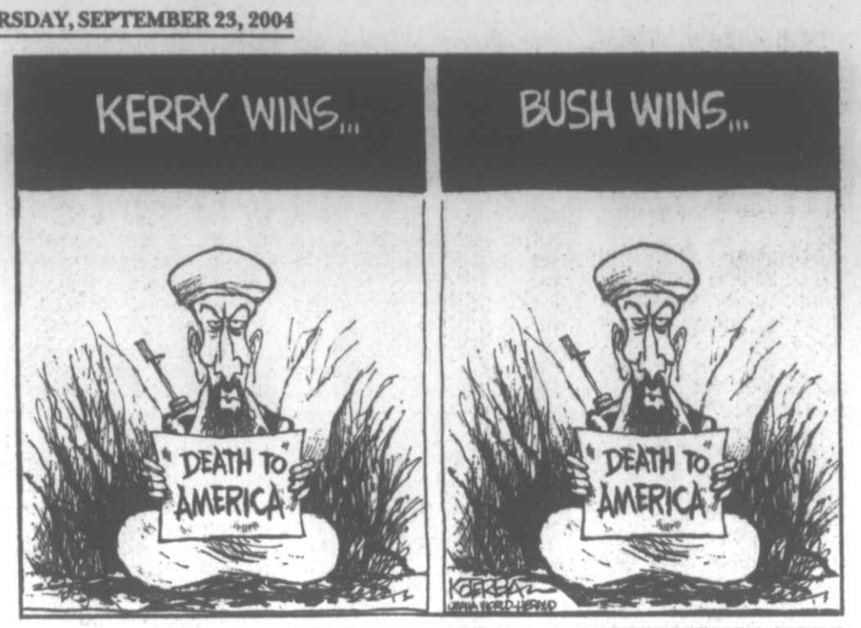
The opposing viewpoint is that, as difficult as they are to watch, these vicious murders need to be seen by the public so that there is a united feeling of outrage that will, it is hoped, produce a strong, swift, and unified effort to put a stop to them. The video-showing of violent automobile crashes to young driver-education students is an example of this approach. Surely if there were videos showing Hitler's death camps to the rest of the world in the late 1930s and early '40s the effort to stop him would have been expedited.

But the latter argument brings up at least one highly disturbing question: Why, oh why, isn't most of the rest of the world — which is likewise viewing and hearing all about the kidnapping/killings — at least vocally condemning these acts? Where are our allies, citizens of those nations for whom oceans of American soldier blood has been spilled on more than one occasion to liberate them? Why are they so silent?

Where, indeed, are the voices of our own citizens? Thousands of Americans will turn out to march for or against everything from a sitting president to abortion to the death penalty to saving the whales!

No doubt those who are anti-Bush are already typing up the answer to these questions: that the rest of the world is refusing to come to our defense in any way because of President Bush's invasion of Iraq against the wishes of the United Nations. We are getting what we deserve.

Sorry, but that doesn't cut it. While our allies have the right to disagree with President Bush, and the right to not send troops into Iraq and participate in the coalition, it is unconscionable that they are not at least adamantly, publicly, and loudly condemning the actions of these cold-blooded savages.



Babbling Brainstorms

By Beth L. Bowers

EVERYTHING COMES BACK AROUND

My mother's pack rat ways have always confused me, but as I have gotten older I have started to appreciate it and understand it a little bit more. Now I said a little bit, I will never totally understand all of it. Luckily, she has always lived in a big enough house to store all the tokens of days gone by. When my kids are at her house it seems like Christmas to them just about every day. She has saved so many toys and things that they are constantly discovering "new" things to play with.

Take for instance their "vintage" Halloween costumes for this year. Initially, they were both going to be the same as last year, a fireman and Superman, until my mom dug through the archives and found two very old costume boxes. When I picked up Carter yesterday from my mom's I could hear this strange breathing from the living room. He sounded like a asthmatic who was hyperventilating. As it turned out, Carter was dressed in my brother's Darth Vader costume, circa 1977.

She had also saved my C3PO costume, which Tyler is more than a little excited to wear. He will be 6 in a few weeks, the exact age I was when I originally wore the costume. I also realized the boys are right in style this year considering that the trilogy was just released on DVD this week. Talk about good timing. I just couldn't help thinking that with the boxes and the costumes in such good shape, we could probably made a little bit of cash on eBay.

Mom had to do a bit of altering and adjusting on Darth. She told me later that she had to wipe a bit of mold off it. Now, right there is a reason I would have pitched it years ago. And that awful elastic string on the mask had to be restapled on. All kids from the '70s remember how awful that string was. It always get stuck in your hair and as the night of trick or treating progressed you had to make the string shorter and shorter because it kept breaking.

I didn't think Carter would be a big fan of wearing a mask, especially that awful hot plastic mask, but right now the problem has been getting him to take it off for bedtime or school. Darth met the bus yesterday, and said he planned on scaring everyone getting off the bus. The bus driver got a big kick out of it. Have you ever noticed that only a little kid can get away with dressing up for no apparent reason?

He tried to talk me into letting him wear it in the bathtub. He said, "But Mom, it's made out of plastic." I had to give him credit for making a good point. So the mask laid on the bathroom floor until he was finished and immediately donned the suit when he got out of the tub. I have tried to explain to him that he has many weeks until Halloween. I just hope the costume doesn't disintegrate before then.

Both boys also got a kick out of wearing the outfits and watching Star Wars at the same time. Every time Darth Vader appeared on the screen, Carter would yell, "There I am. Look Tywer, there you are too."

So all in all it is super that Mom saved all these things from my childhood. The big things like toys I can understand why she saved them, but when I opened the box of extra Halloween costume pieces and found an old Halloween napkin...now that is where I would draw the line.

Letters to the Editor

New Letters Policy

Effective today, letters to the editor exceeding 400 words will be published only if there is adequate space available and, as with all letters, totally at the discretion of the editor. Among the lengthy letters that will likely be denied publication will be those that are repetitive, from the standpoint of subject, content, and the identification of the writer. We will continue, however, to be as fair as possible in providing space for opinions from all sides of the issues.

To the Editor:

One hopes rising costs of newsprint and ink and not a search for gold in brevity led to the decision to limit letters longer than 400 words to "adequate space available" because the letters section of The Republican newspaper is among the strongest grassroots editorial sections in the mid-Atlantic, including major daily papers.

The dread one feels anticipating reading only short, pithy letters is difficult to describe.

This is not to suggest short letters should not be written.

To the Editor:

This summer, 19 New York City children found out just how special summer in the Grantsville area really is. Thanks to the dedication of Fresh Air Fund hosts, volunteers, and supporters, these inner-city youngsters spent a fun-filled summer vacation in your community. Our city children experienced the simple summertime pleasures of the Grantsville area.

None of this would be possible without Alice Orendorf, your local Fresh Air Fund volunteer leader, who works throughout the year to make sure summer magic happens with host families and children. Alice's generosity and commitment are an inspiration to us all. I invite you to join Alice next summer in planning fun summer activities, interviewing prospective host families, and/or hosting a child.

The Fresh Air Fund, an independent, not-for-profit agency, has provided free summer vacations to over 1.7 million New York City children from low-income communities since 1877. For more information on how you can help to continue this wonderful tradition of volunteering, please call Rachel Berinsky at 800-367-0003, ext. 8972, or visit www.freshair.org.

Sincerely,
Jenny Morgenthau

To the Editor:

Attention Garrett County – Having come to the county on vacation, I was prompted to write this. Development is one thing, but tasteful development lasts longer. It's a run away train! I hope when it stops you will continue to think of nothing except the money, because it may not be there. The mountains will be ruined.

Letter to the Editor:

As we travel around to various places, we inevitably find ourselves marveling at the beautifully preserved courthouses in those towns. What must visitors to Oakland think when they see the mess that has been tacked on to the front of our own courthouse? Maybe they don't give it a thought, because unless they have business requiring them to enter the building, they probably aren't even aware that a courthouse is there.

We want to join with the rest of our interested citizens in urging the Garrett County commissioners to restore this building to its former splendor. The jail should never have been constructed in that location in the first place, but moving the jail to a new site will provide the opportunity to correct the disgraceful ruination of our courthouse grounds.

Let's all join together to see that this grand historical courthouse is restored. If we have no past, we have no future.

Respectfully,
Bob and Dixie Moore

To the Editor:

Thank you for your September 16 editorial! Regarding the candidates' Vietnam era service the bottom line is: the National Guard granted Mr. Bush an honorable discharge and the Navy awarded Mr. Kerry a silver star, a bronze star, and three purple hearts. It is high time to leave these topics to the realm of tasteless jokes (like the purple heart band-aids gag at the Republican convention). Besides, there are ways other than military service for a person to prove his/her courage, character, and constitution.

And there are many ways, other than war, to protect freedom and promote democracy. I would like to hear the candidates discussing that issue... and homeland security... and the economy... and the war in Iraq. Yes, the media should have enough to keep them busy right now.

Of course, elections involving an incumbent are always, at least partly, a referendum on job performance. On this issue Kerry has plenty to debate with Bush. The president has given us, NOT strong leadership, but instead he HAS given us a taste of strongman Rule, a style of governance that historically has appealed to weak and frightened people. America is too good for that!

We should thank President Bush and Senator Kerry for their service and forgive them for any mistakes they might have made 30 years ago. Then we should show Mr. Bush to the White House door with a firm, "No, thank you. We don't want anymore."

To the Editor:

I cannot believe that our county commissioners could be so deep in delusion that they would even consider tearing down a multi-million dollar public building that more millions were spent on not so long ago to renovate.

Has the recent windfall of property tax dollars that they refuse to give back filled the county's coffers so full that they have finally been driven over the brink to complete financial insanity?

I will almost guarantee you that, countywide, the vast majority of taxpayers, if given a voice on this goofy, expensive issue, would soundly reject spending the public's money on it.

At a time when many of us have to cut corners every way we can just to get by, the idea that the people we have chosen to run our local government and to manage our hard-earned tax dollars could be persuaded to literally throw them away on such a boondoggle of a project is truly absurd.

All because a few individuals say they want to recreate history, no matter what it costs the rest of us? What's next? Rebuilding the Deer Park Hotel? Whoops! Maybe I shouldn't give them any more expensive notions.

But seriously, folks, at the constant yield tax meeting last spring some citizens were almost begging for some kind of property tax relief. They got none!

In my opinion, this project, above all the other "worthy projects" they have planned to spend our money on, will tell the underpaid, over-taxed, and overlooked voters all over Garrett County how their public servants really feel about their plight and set a new standard of out-and-out waste that they will never live down.

Especially not before the next election! We won't forget!

To the Editor:

This September is "Join the Voices for Recovery... Now" month, a campaign designed to promote support for effective and coordinated alcohol and/or drug treatment and recovery services for those in need. Garrett County is home for two substance abuse outpatient treatment services: the Family Therapy Services, and the Garrett County Health Department Substance Abuse Program.

The common question asked by many is, "Why is alcohol and drug treatment so important?" For every $1 invested on treatment, there is a return of between $4 and $7 in reduced drug-related crime, criminal justice costs, and theft.

In a national survey (year 2002), about 54 million Americans said that they had participated in binge drinking (five or more drinks on the same occasion) at least once in the last 30 days. Nearly 16 million said they were heavy drinkers (had more than five drinks on the same occasion on at least five days during the past month).

By supporting local alcohol and/or drug treatment, we can all help more people toward recovery. We can also join millions of others,

"Les Deux Magots"

It was a rainy day, and I was headed for the Boulevard St. Germain des Prés. This grand street is named for one of the oldest and largest churches in Paris. Though the middle ages live on in Paris in a variety of ways, most of the mediaeval buildings were knocked down to make room for so-called improvements. The Church of St. Germain des Près is a delightful exception.

The church stands in the heart of the Latin Quarter of the Left Bank. Perhaps it is the heart. The "Latin Quarter" is the district of Paris where Latin was the language of the street during the middle ages. It was the university district where the schools, colleges as we would call them today, were located.

During the 13th century, St. Thomas Aquinas and St. Bonaventure were contemporaries there. The drama of Peter Abelard and Eloise unfolded there more than a century earlier. Many other dramas of both learning and love have unfolded in this district both before and since.

Just opposite the Church of St. Germain des Près, on the same side of the street, is a famous café, called Les Deux Magots. The English translation of the name communicates little more than the French, "the two magots."

My French-English dictionary does explain that a "magot" is a grotesque porcelain figure of a Chinaman, the meaning taken by the café, or a kind of ape. The café depicts two Chinamen facing each other as on the supposed original sign at the place of business prior to the café.

"Magot," in French, can also mean "pile," as in "a pile of money."

One could speculate that the owner of Les Deux Magots has made two magots of money. The coffee is four dollars per cup. The pastries are seven to ten dollars apiece. During tourist season the tables outside are crowded with people watchers.

The tarte tatin is the signature dish at Les Deux Magots. The easiest way of imagining it is as a pineapple-upside-down cake with apples instead of pineapple (and without the cherries). Mine came steaming hot from the oven, and was delicious. Tarte tatin is served with crème fraîche, which is like American sour cream except not as sour. I savored the counterpoint of the sweetness of the caramelized sugar and the cream with a bite.

Perhaps the café would be slightly famous in any event because of its location and fine pastries, but it is known all the more because the 20th century philosopher Jean Paul Sartre, his lover, Simone de Beauvoir, and their friends met here often to discuss philosophy and politics.

Hardly a guidebook on Paris published in the past 40 years has omitted the fact of the great French existentialist's penchant for drinking coffee and smoking cigarettes here. What I have never read about is the counterpoint of Les Deux Magots and the Church of St. Germain des Près.

I do not believe for an instant that it was lost on Sartre. For him the great monument of mediaeval faith was a mere cultural relic. It was talk, not from the pulpit about God, but from philosophers in cafés which would save the world.

The church and the café are themselves two magots, two piles of wealth, each with doors open to the world, facing each other in rivalry as old at least as that of Cain and Abel. As St. Augustine reminds us, Cain built a city, but Abel built none. The café is emblematic of the world's pleasures, delightful and transient. The church wears its centuries lightly, and points with its tower toward the location of another city and a better.

The rituals of the café are not unlike those of the church in their mechanics. For the bread and wine there is tarte tatin and coffee; for the incense there is cigarette smoke. Instead of seeking the holiness of God, the philosophers who gathered there sought the revolution of man.

Sartre believed with Nietzsche that God is dead. Sartre and Nietzsche are surely dead – Sartre even dead in the sense of having been discredited. The revolution of the left, which he espoused, has been exposed as an ugly thing when implemented in human society.

What about God?

This day of sudden rain storms approached twilight in a gentler spirit. The rain fell in manageable quantities for mortals with umbrellas. From my window as I write I can see the full arc of a rainbow over Paris. The rainbow has served as God's sure sign of promise long before the Church of St. Germain des Près was built, and shall kindle hope in the human heart long after that noble monument has crumbled with age.

To the Editor,

On Monday, September 13, approximately 30 people were "left out in the cold." – this "cold" meaning the unemployment line. For those who haven't heard the news, a local fine-dining restaurant closed its doors abruptly on this day. Although the public has been notified of this through signs at the restaurant and advertisements in local papers, they were denied the rest of the story.

On that day, many of the employees showed up to work only to find a sign on a locked door saying "Closed until January for Construction." What? No two-week notice? Absolutely not! Not for the new father with a 5-day-old baby, not for the single mother raising a child, and not for my significant other who has dedicated nine years of her life to service at this restaurant. Left "out in the cold." Absolutely!

In the past week while gathering more information regarding the dirty deed, a statement by the restaurant was discovered that it will indeed be reopening in January. Now let's think about this awhile, shall we?

Why would an establishment like this do such a thing to their employees if they were truly planning to reopen in January? Most likely, not a single employee would return to work there after being put "out in the cold." The owners had to consider this in their whole scheme of things, didn't they? Of course they did! No, I don't believe they will be reopening in January. By that time, this Garrett County landmark of 28 years will be bulldozed over and anxiously awaiting those new condos to fill the void. That, my friends, is the rest of the story.

For the other businesses in the county, be on the lookout for the job applications from the people who were most recently employed by this restaurant. These people are hard-working and dedicated professionals who can benefit your job force. Help get them "out of the cold."

One last thing – if you see any of the owners on the construction site, thank them for ridding Garrett County of another landmark. Also thank them for making more great strides from changing Deep Creek Lake to "Deep Pockets Lake."

To the Editor:

The glow that emits from the Garrett County Agriculture Fair at night still shines. This year's trip to the fair with my 4-year-old son proved to be a bonding and enlightening experience.

Yes, a 4-year-old couldn't get enough of the rides and the games or, more so, the goats and the horses and the french fries – but this trip had an unexpected surprise.

My son pulled on my shirt saying, "Daddy, daddy, look, look, looook!" There was an awesomely painted red hummer with the Marine logo on it. A work-of-art sword painted down the side, expressing so much emotion and pride.

We "had to go find the hummer," according to the motivated 4-year-old. We were on his first mission.

I had already talked to my son about his grandfather and the fact that he was a Marine. Now, however, he had something to connect it all to. His questions flowed with enthusiasm.

I was able to get a picture of him beside the majestic HumVee to place on the hearth beside his grandfather's picture. This made his night!

My son now knows and believes that all the men and women in the Marines and all of the armed services are fine people.

I'm not sure he totally understood the words of sacrifice and honor that I tried to put into so many words, but he did say he wanted to go back and thank the Marine for "protecking" his house.

I cried that night when he went to bed, for he never was able to meet his grandpa. I was near D.C. building on the Metro system the day the Pentagon was hit, and I was overcome with emotion. I just know everyone has to be proud of all the men and women who are in the armed services sacrificing unconditionally for the safety of our families and our country.

To the Editor:

Editorial of Sept. 2 – Points to Ponder.

First, Mr. O'Reilly's comments indicate to me that, like our current president, he doesn't seem to know history or understand democracy. In a democracy the people are the government. The government is not something separate from the electorate, the voters – we who pay taxes and send our representatives to Congress. We entrust to these elected officials the spending of our money for services we want, as we have tried to indicate by our votes.

Unfortunately, this congress, this administration are giving service to meet the needs of the lobbyists for special interests – not for the needs of the government of, by and for the people. The constitutional responsibility of Congress is to debate, argue, compromise and act for the good of the people. Presidents have the duty to lead Congress in meeting their responsibilities and to ensure the welfare of both the majority and the minority. Mr. Bush needs to remember the special circumstances of his election to the presidency as he acts for the country.

Mr. O'Reilly states that the federal government can't afford to pay our health bills. But, we the people have the right to decide how and for what our tax dollars are spent. The electorate essentially voted for government responsibility for our health insurance by electing President Clinton to his first term and Vice President Gore to his majority vote victory.

Congress did not listen to the will of the people. You who can afford health coverage are willing to pay into private, profit making companies. Why are you not willing to pay into a government program that would benefit all the people? You pay either way, but many who serve you in this community do not have the means or the benefits, no matter how hard they work.

Once again, Mr. O'Reilly is in line with President Bush in defining compassion – and they are far too conservative with their compassion. Perhaps Mr. O'Reilly should consider that those who fail at life skills and struggle to survive might have been failed by society. After all, schools are not perfect, good parenting is absent to many, drug and alcohol addiction are true illnesses – there but for the grace of God go I. Maybe our current leaders should remember that, if you want folks to fish and be self-reliant, don't blame them if you haven't at least given them a fishing pole.

To the Editor:

On August 26, 2004, The Republican published a letter from Mrs. Kathleen Seaman regarding the recent transfer of her husband within the Maryland State Police. I normally refrain from responding to this type of correspondence; however, as president of the Maryland Troopers Association, I felt compelled to share a response with your readers concerning the Maryland State Police and this issue.

The Maryland State Police is an organization steeped in tradition and committed to providing efficient and effective law enforcement services to the citizens of Maryland. From the day troopers enter the police academy, they are taught the department's core values of fairness, integrity, and service. These words were not drawn from a hat, but rather they represent the culmination of almost 75 years of perseverance, sacrifice, and dedication to duty by hard-working men and women who built the outstanding reputation of the organization. Following graduation and throughout their careers, troopers are expected to govern their actions by these values and to impartially and compassionately enforce the laws of the state of Maryland.

With that said, the issue of family and betrayal alleged by Mrs. Seaman needs to be addressed. The strong bond among troopers, often characterized as "family," is borne in common interest and experience much the same as is developed in any other organization. Although prevalent, this atmosphere of comradery does not guide the decisions of the department's administration; the need to provide law enforcement services does. Personnel moves within the department to meet short-term needs happen quite often and are very seldom popular among those affected. To retire from a career with the Maryland State Police and not be impacted by such a move is rare indeed. To suggest that a sergeant at the Finzel scale house, motivated by some personal agenda, was the architect of such a transfer is ludicrous. This is simply not the way things are done. Transfers are approved at the bureau level and are scrutinized for the purpose of accomplishing the department's overall mission.

I certainly understand the frustration felt by Mrs. Seaman in this case, but I believe her anger is misdirected and her characterization of the sergeant in question is at the very least unfair. There are several avenues available to the trooper within the Maryland State Police to address his concerns. As a member of the MTA, there are resources at his disposal. Energy exploring these options is much better spent than venting frustration with your employer in the local editorial column.

Sincerely,
M. Kirk Daugherty

Old-Fashioned Ice Cream Social Set At Senior Center

An old-fashioned ice cream social will be held at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Monday, Oct. 4. The event, sponsored by Volunteer Services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, will include a presentation on volunteer needs and opportunities at the hospital.

"Our goal is for attendees at the social to realize that volunteering means being a vital part of your community and hospital," explained Kathy Greaser, GCMH director of Development and Volunteer Services. "Volunteers learn new skills, meet new peoples and reap the rewards of service, while sharing their talents, time, and energy with others."

"Some volunteers are seasoned by decades of volunteering, and for many, GCMH is a place where friendships have blossomed." she added.

There is no cost for the event, and all local seniors are invited to attend.

Nature Connection

By Liz McDowell & Ron Boyer

It's hard to believe that summer is over. Patches of frost have already made an appearance in Garrett County. The leaves on the trees are changing to their brilliant fall colors. Looking around the landscape you see a variety of wildlife with one thing on their minds — food. Whether it's an eastern chipmunk, running to and fro collecting nuts, or a little brown bat hunting insects on the wing, animals are occupied with obtaining as much fuel as possible. We recently happened upon two animals eating in surprising locations — a white-footed mouse, Peromyscus sp. and short-winged blister beetle, Meloe sp.

It's generally known that small mammals and birds eat the seeds from a variety of plants. Presumably seeds from non-woody plants are collected after they drop on the ground. Needless to say, we were astonished to watch a tiny white-footed mouse climbing up and down stems of orange jewelweed, happily eating seeds as he went from plant to plant. Somehow we didn't think about wildflowers supporting the weight of animals. Then we recalled how we'd seen a smooth green snake climbing in a patch of swamp sunflowers as it hunted invertebrates, and a flock of American goldfinches grabbing seeds from green-headed coneflowers. We later learned that the seeds of jewelweed and wild black cherry are favorite foods of white-footed mice. In fact, one researcher reports that the stomach contents of white-footed mice are colored green-blue from all of the jewelweed seeds that they consume.

The short-winged blister beetle is a fairly showy beetle, because of its relatively large size (almost an inch long) and deep blue-purple metallic color. Their larvae feed on bee eggs, as well as food stored in their egg chambers. The adults are not commonly encountered, so imagine our surprise to see four of them feeding quite contentedly on jack-in-the-pulpit. Because of an irritating chemical (calcium oxalate) contained in the plant, this native wildflower is reportedly eaten by only a few animals, including wood thrush, wild turkey, and ring-necked pheasant. Over the course of several days, we watched as these short-winged blister beetles slowly but surely consumed all of the leaves and fruit, as well as most of the stem. Perhaps the calcium oxalate in jack-in-the-pulpit is a component in the oily substance that's secreted by these beetles when they're threatened. It is best not to handle this beetle, since this defensive chemical will cause blisters on human skin.

This is a great time to explore nature. For help in identifying the various species you observe, look for field guides at the library or local bookstore. An on-line field guide is also available at www.enature.com.

Reports from the field: Barb and George Gaffney of New Germany reported four river otters, a greater yellow Llegs, and a spotted sandpiper during an early morning walk at Little Meadows earlier this week.

Fran Pope of Mtn. Lake Park observed gray comma butterflies in the Herrington Manor area recently.

If you'd like to share your Garrett County nature sightings or if you have questions about the plants and animals that you've observed, e-mail Liz and Ron at info@elkridgenatureworks.com.

Adorable Adoptables

THIS YOUNG FELINE CALICO was found in front of the Garrett County Animal Shelter and is available for adoption. She is described as being very friendly. Also looking for a home is a male, black/white tuxedo, who was found as a stray. "Bob the Tailless Tabby," who was recently featured, was adopted this week, but his buddy, a gray male feline, is still at the shelter waiting for a home. "Please have your pets spayed or neutered," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "There are still lots of kittens being brought in, and there aren't enough homes for them all. Remember not only females need to be 'fixed.' A male cat or dog can impregnate many females. There are already too many homeless and unwanted kittens and cats in the county. Please help to stop the problem." For more information about adopting these or other pets from the shelter, persons may call 301-334-3553.

Caring, Sharing Day Planned By United Way Of GC

United Way of Garrett County is expecting more than 200 volunteers for the 2nd annual Garrett County Day of Caring and Sharing on Saturday, Oct. 23. The local Day of Caring and Sharing will once again correspond to the National Make a Difference Day that is sponsored by USA Weekend.

The Garrett County event will begin at 8:30 a.m. with breakfast and opening ceremony at the Mary Browning Senior Center located on Center Street in Oakland. The breakfast is sponsored by Browning's Foodland, Perkins Family Restaurant, and Oakland Wal-Mart. Volunteers will meet back at the Mary Browning Senior Center at 12:30 p.m. for a box lunch and to celebrate the day's accomplishments.

Many participating United Way agencies have projects scheduled for the day, including the Dove Center, Habitat for Humanity, Mountain Glade Adult Day Services, Maryland Salem Children's Trust, and Garrett County Community Action. Other United Way agencies will be providing volunteers all around the community, including Boy Scouts, Big Brothers Big Sisters, and Girl Scouts.

"Right now, it looks like we could have a wonderful problem – too many volunteers. So, we are lining up extra projects," said Bob Stephens, a volunteer for United Way and the event chairman.

He said he is encouraging community groups and organizations to contact him if they need volunteers to complete a special project that day.

"We are really looking forward to the event. Our initial Day of Caring and Sharing exceeded our expectations," said Jeannette Fitzwater, United Way of Garrett County chairperson. "We hope to build on last year's event and double our number of volunteers.

"We also hope to draw in new businesses and individuals. Last year we had several volunteers who were new to the county. After participating in the Day of Caring and Sharing they continued to volunteer around the community. The event serves as the kickoff for the United Way of Garrett County's annual pledge drive. The organization has set a goal of raising $100,000 for its affiliates this year."

There is a $5 registration fee, and all registered volunteers will receive a commemorative Day of Caring and Sharing T-shirt.

Major sponsors for the event include Fitzwater Furniture, Rudy's Clothing, and Wisp Mountain Resort. For more information about the Day of Caring and Sharing or the United Way of Garrett County, persons may call 301-359-9697 or visit the web site at garrettunitedway.org.

More information about National Make a Difference Day can be obtained at www.usaweekend.com/diffday.

The Arts

National Players Slated To Offer Local Workshops

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) will end its 2004 Season of Arts Education with two full-day workshops for Garrett County students on Thursday, Sept. 30 and Friday, Oct. 1.

Six hundred secondary students from Northern and Southern will be bussed to Garrett College for the workshops and performances of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet offered by the National Players of Olney.

The specific goal of the school workshops and performances is consistent with the mission of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, which is to support the educational enrichment of children through exposure to the arts through performances and seminars through the schools.

The hands-on workshop prior to the performance of Romeo and Juliet (which is part of the school curriculum) will prepare the students for the presentation so that they will receive the full benefit of understanding and appreciation of the live presentation. The workshops develop Shakespearean appreciation and offer acting/actor preparation, stage combat, voice and movement, scene analysis, and improvisation. The workshops also allow students the rare opportunity to interact with the energetic and accomplished young players, according to a spokesperson.

National Players, America's longest running classical touring company, has now reached its 56th consecutive season of touring. Currently the touring program of Olney Theatre Center for the Arts, National Players has earned a distinctive place in American theater.

Committed to the formation of young theatrical talent and audiences, National Players seeks to celebrate the experience of theatergoing by presenting the world's greatest dramatic literature.

A full-length version of Romeo and Juliet will also be offered to the community Friday, Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The school events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council. Mettiki Coal is the sponsor partner for the community performance. For tickets or further information, persons may contact the GLAF office.

STILL KICKIN' THEIR CLOGS – The Still Kickin' Cloggers recently entertained residents of Dennett Road Manor and Cuppett & Weeks nursing homes, Oakland, as well as Cherry Hill Assisted Living in Accident. The cloggers also danced at an August fundraiser for the Southern Rescue Squad at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion, Oakland. "Clogging is a great exercise for men and women, but most of all it is fun," said Sara Donley, leader of the group. The cloggers dance at Southern Middle School every Thursday from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m. New classes are planned to begin Oct. 21. Beginners' class lasts for seven weeks from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m., and the first class is free. Those interested or wanting further information may call Donley at 301-387-0035.

Brenneman Heads To Orlando In Search Of Becoming A Star

by Beth L. Bowers

"She sings when she gets up in the morning and she sings when she goes to bed at night," and that is just the sort of passion Patty Brenneman knows will take her daughter Alexis to a professional singing career. Maybe a combination of that determination and a lucky break at a national event this December.

Alexis, an eighth grader at Southern Middle School, has been invited to attend Lou Pearlman's Fashion Rock talent search event in Orlando, Fla., from Dec. 3 through 5. This national event is "an opportunity for models, actors, and vocalists to be discovered by more than 100 of the world's top industry professionals and the opportunity to gain knowledge about the many facets of the entertainment business at industry workshops," according to its web site.

Alexis, the daughter of Patty and granddaughter of Joyce and Harley Brenneman, Bittinger, has been taking private voice lesson with Mary Mickle Ministries Inc. in McHenry for the past year. According to her mother, she has been singing since she was 2 years old.

"All she has ever wanted to do was sing," said Patty. "She has devoted herself to achieving a professional career in music. She never stops singing. She has a different quality in her voice. When she opens her mouth, people want to hear her."

Mickle, who has been teaching piano and vocal performance for nine years, said Alexis came to her with a lot of raw talent and just needed to learn the basics for vocal.

"I knew her goal was to be a star, and with her talent that is definitely a possibility," said Mickle. "There is a lot involved in becoming a star, but it is still a possibility."

Mickle found out about Fashion Rock and signed Alexis up. She said she wanted to get her into a really good first competition.

"She's ready for this exposure and this experience," said Mickle. "This is a grand opportunity. This girl can make it, and this county can be very proud of her when she does."

Alexis said even though she has been singing as long as she can remember, she realized she wanted to be a professional singer after a singing performance in fifth grade.

"I had three solos in a school program, and everyone really seemed to like it," said Alexis.

According to her mother, after Alexis performed at the middle school talent show, she was the only one to receive a standing ovation after she performed "My Immortal," a chart topping song by Evanescence.

Alexis has written more than 30 songs of her own, and is in the process of getting them copyrighted.

She prefers punk rock and said she has been inspired and influenced by Good Charlotte, saying that this is the type of music she can relate to.

"When I found out I was invited to Fashion Rock, I was very nervous, but I will try very hard. My friends thought it was awesome. Many of them asked me to sign their foreheads," said Alexis. "A regular pen didn't work very well so I had to use a highlighter. One girl even asked me to sign her lotion. They were all very excited for me."

Alexis said she also plans on starting guitar lessons in the next week.

Alexis, who is sponsored by Mary Mickle Ministries, is seeking donations to help her in this and all future endeavors. Other local supporters include the county assessment office, the clerk of courts, and Sheriff Dick Sanders. Estetica Salon has offered to give Alexis a complimentary "new look."

All donations, which are tax deductible, may be mailed to Mary Mickle Ministries Inc., 5240 Sang Run Road, McHenry, MD 21541.

Persons who have questions or want to find out more about Mary Mickle Ministries may call 301-387-0295.

The Fashion Rock event is open by invitation only.

Pearlman's first talent endeavor with his company Trans Continental Records was with the creation of the Backstreet Boys. Not long after that, Trans Continental and Pearlman repeated the success with *NSYNC, which has sold more than 56 million units globally.

Alexis and other attendees to the Fashion Rock event will have spots aired on Fuse, which is a music video channel that "gives viewers 'a voice and a choice' in the music they watch," according to its web site.

Nashville Singer Slates Return To St. Paul's Church

Nashville recording artist Jim Worthing will return to St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Sunday, Sept. 26. The Altoona, Pa., native will minister through testimony and music during the 8:30 and 10:45 morning services.

The 10:45 service will be broadcast on WMSG 1050 AM.

"A three octave range, a voice alive with the dynamics of faith and experience, a clear and winsome testimony, and a deep-seated commitment to the Christian message make a Jim Worthing concert inspiring, challenging, and uniquely unforgettable," said a church spokesperson.

In addition to solo concerts, Worthing has sung with two national award-winning groups: Re-Creation and the Cumberland Boys. While he was with Re-Creation, the group was awarded the prestigious George Washington Medal of Honor by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

With the Cumberland Boys, he also shared in the Horizon Award and the Christian Country Group of the Year award, and had seven nominations for the Music City News/TNN Christian Artist of the Year award.

Worthing has appeared on the Grand Ole Opry, Prime Time Country, Nashville Now, Crook and Chase, on several shows on the Trinity Broadcasting Network, the Canadian Gospel Television show 100 Huntley Street, and CTV's channel 40 several times.

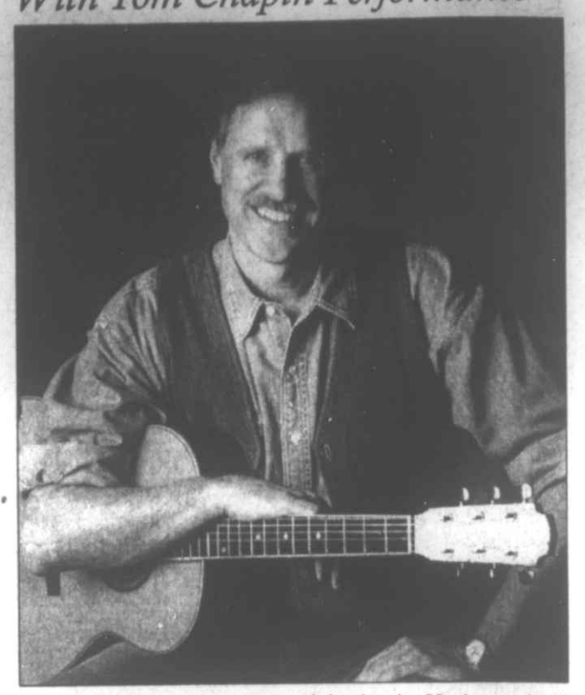
He has produced three albums and has appeared in 48 states, Canada, the Bahamas, and Switzerland.

Worthing, who now makes his home in Grenada, Miss., moved from Nashville, Tenn., in 2001, where he maintains his organizational connections.

Pastor Patrick Kerr invites the public. St. Paul's is located at 318 East Oak Street.

FSU Family Fun Series To Begin With Tom Chapin Performance



Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series will launch its Family Fun Series, sponsored by Smiley's FunZone and Pizzeria, with Grammy Award-winning entertainer Tom Chapin on Saturday, Oct. 2, in the FSU Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. Two shows will be presented on that day at 1 and 4 p.m.

"A 2001 Grammy Award winner, Chapin is a gifted entertainer who charms audiences of all ages," said an FSU spokesperson.

Chapin grew up in a musical family, performing with his brothers, Harry and Steven, and earning acclaim on the Greenwich Village club circuit. He has gained widespread critical and popular acclaim for his recordings aimed at 4- to 11-year-olds and their families, and has been recognized with awards from the American Library Association, Parents' Choice, the New York Music Awards, the National Association of Parenting Publications and Parents Magazine. His latest family CD, Making Good Noise, was nominated for a 2003 Grammy award.

To purchase tickets or for more information, persons may call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at frostburg.edu.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE TO PRESENT DAMN YANKEES – Frostburg State University Theatre will present the musical comedy Damn Yankees on Oct. 8, 14, and 15 at 8 p.m. and on Oct. 9 and 16 at 2 p.m. in the FSU Drama Theatre. The musical, based on a novel by Douglass Wallop, details the Washington Senators Baseball Team's "number one" fan, Joe, and his attempt to make a deal with the devil in order to finally beat the New York Yankees for the pennant. Joe sells his soul to the devil in exchange for becoming a phenomenal rookie baseball player. When it looks like the Senators have a chance against the Yankees, the devil decides to throw Joe and the Senators a "curve ball." The devil introduces Lola to the plan and stirs up commotion between Joe, his wife, and the Senators. The cost is $5 for FSU students and $10 for the general public. Tickets are free for those who purchase a University Theatre Season Discount Card. For reservations and information, persons may call the University Theatre Box Office at 301-687-7462 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Pictured is Northern High School graduate Coty Warn as Lola and Ryan Bowie as Joe.

Gallery Presents New Artwork, Paintings by James C. Groves

The Autumn Glory exhibit at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland features more than 50 new original paintings and photographs by regional artists, as well as numerous three-dimensional works and gift items by contributing artisans, according to Steve Schlosnagle, executive director of the arts council. The highlight of the exhibit, Schlosnagle said, is a special display of seven oil landscapes by Frostburg artist James C. Groves.

The Groves collection includes scenes of Swallow Falls, Blackwater Falls, the Cheat River, and Georges Creek. Noted for his large, highly detailed, grand-view geographic landscapes, Groves is a contemporary practitioner of the "Grand Landscape," which is a painting technique practiced by 19th century American artists Frederic Church, Albert Bierstadt, and Thomas Moran.

"Groves's landscapes invite the viewer to commune with the mysteries and intricate beauties of the natural world," said Schlosnagle. "His style is technically accomplished and remarkably developed, incorporating aspects of Romanticism, Impressionism, and Modern Realism. His paintings convey subtleties of mood and depth of perspective through adept use of light, color, season, subject, and composition."

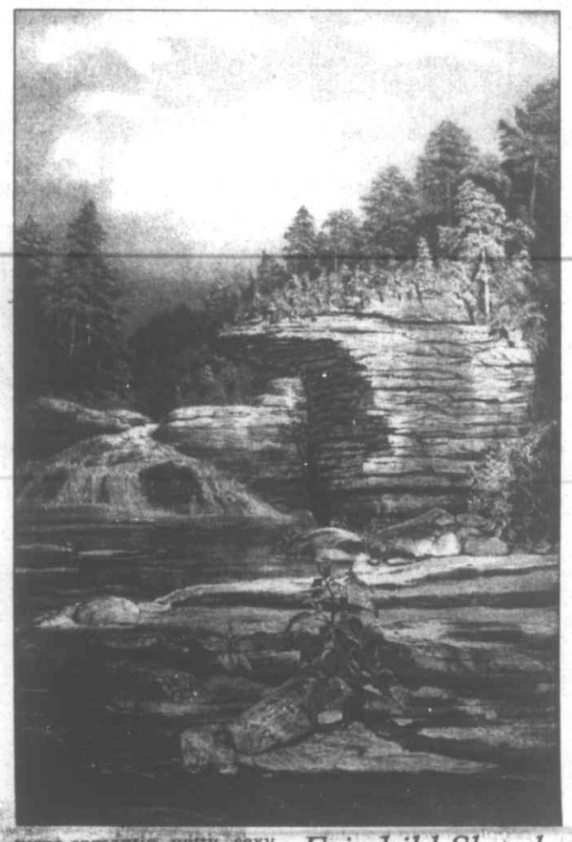
Born in Fairmont, W.Va., Groves graduated from Frostburg State College in 1973 with degrees in geography, psychology, and education. In the 1970s and '80s, he spent nearly eight years and thousands of hours visiting and studying at major galleries in Washington, D.C., where he learned to utilize the painting techniques of America's 19th century Hudson River painters.

Later, he began delving into the methodologies of much older schools of oil painting. His lengthy study introduced him to a unique scope of knowledge pertaining to traditional oil painting practice and materials, Schlosnagle said.

A full-time painter, Groves paints almost daily, grinding his own unique oil paints just before use. In addition to painting, he has been creating limited edition offset lithographs of his work since 1987, and thousands of his art prints have sold worldwide. He maintains a studio gallery near Frostburg, the Western Maryland Gallery, where at least 60 of his original works are currently on display.

The Groves exhibit at the Gallery in Oakland will be on display through Oct. 23. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Additional information is available by calling 301-334-6580 or by visiting the council's web site at wwwgarrettarts.com.

OIL PAINTINGS BY JAMES GROVES are now on display at the Gallery in Oakland. There are seven oil landscapes, all of local sites, by the Frostburg artist. The display is a highlight of an Autumn Glory exhibit. Shown above is Groves's "April: The Mid Morning Shadows." Below is a well-known natural rock formation found near Oakland in the Youghiogheny River. It is titled "The Swallow's Rock: Morning at Swallow Falls." See story for gallery hours and artist details.



Frostburg State University Theatre Announces 2004-05 Season Schedule

Frostburg State University Theatre announces its 2004-2005 season for its main stage and student productions.

The stage season will launch with Damn Yankees on Oct. 8, 9, 14, 15, and 16 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 9 and 16 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. Based on the novel The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant by Douglass Wallop, Damn Yankees is about the Washington Senators' number one fan, Joe, who strikes a deal with the devil and is transformed into a superstar rookie baseball player. The new Joe has a chance to lead the Washington Senators to victory over "those damn New York Yankees." All the while, the devil intends to throw Joe a screwball at the bottom of the ninth.

Naomi Wallace's The Trestle at Pope Lick Creek will be presented on Nov. 12, 13, 18, 19, and 20 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 13 at 2 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. The play is one of several award-winning works by Kentucky poet/playwright Naomi Wallace. Set in 1936 at the height of the Great Depression, Trestle presents two teenagers who plan a game of "chicken" with an oncoming train, high on a trestle above a bone-dry creek bed. At first, the scheme adds excitement to life in this small factory town during an era of stifled ambitions. However, this youthful flirtation with death awakens other dangerous passions. "A touchingly poetic play, Trestle is a powerful depiction of how economic depression contaminates individual lives," stated a theatre spokesperson. On seeing an early production, a critic with the Louisville Courier-Journal said, "After the play ended ... there was a moment in the darkness when I thought: 'This must be how it felt when people saw A Streetcar Named Desire for the very first time.'" The play is recommended for mature audiences.

Metamorphoses will be presented March 4, 5, 10, 11, and 12 at 8 p.m. and March 5 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. One of the most unusual and highly acclaimed contemporary plays, Mary Zimmerman's Metamorphoses is an evocative, retelling of selected myths from the Roman poet Ovid. The stories of King Midas, Orpheus and Eurydice, Cupid and Psyche and Phaeton, among others, are included. Set in and around a large, shimmering pool of symbolic water, the play probes enduring questions about life, love, death, and the inevitability of transformation and change. Time Out NY says, "Befitting its name, Metamorphoses is by turns romantic, witty, sexy, and sublime."

The main stage season will wind up with, Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest on April 15, 16, 21, 22, and 23 at 8 p.m. and April 16 at 2 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. Wilde's 19th century "trivial comedy for serious people" is arguably one of the greatest English satires to grace the stage. The amusement begins when bachelors Jack Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff both go by "Earnest" – a name that "seems to inspire absolute confidence" – in order to win the love of the women they adore. Gwendelon accepts her proposal from Jack, and Cecily from Algernon, but the women become heatedly confused when they meet and believe they are engaged to the same man. This witty comedy erupts when the formidable Lady Bracknell becomes involved, and, with the help of Miss Prism and a hand-bag, everyone is forced to discover the importance of being "earnest."

Tickets are $10 for the general public and $5 for students. Season discount tickets are also available. By purchasing three tickets for $30, one will receive a free ticket to Damn Yankees. For reservations, persons may call 301-687-7462, weekdays, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The box office opens one hour prior to curtain. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

The public is also invited to join University Theater for a season of student-directed productions in "Season Too!" All seats are $5 and will be performed at 8 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theater. The Piano Lesson by August Wilson will be presented on Oct. 29 and 30. The Shape of Things by Neil Labute will be presented on Dec. 10 and 11. Suicide In B Flat by Sam Shepard will be presented on Feb. 18 and 19. The Ornamental Hermit by Jocelyn Beard will be presented on May 6 and 7.

Colburn To Direct Sold-Out Marine Band Concert

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) and Mead-Westvaco will present "The President's Own" United States Marine Band to a sold-out audience, Sunday, Oct. 3, at 2:30 p.m. in the Southern Garrett High School gymnasium, with Lt. Col. Michael J. Colburn directing.

All free tickets have been distributed; however, the presenters will make available any unclaimed seats after 2:20 p.m. Doors will open at 1:30 p.m., and ticket holders must be seated by 2:15 p.m.

Colburn is the 27th director of the Marine Band. He joined in 1987 as a euphonium player, performing at the White House, in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area, and throughout the country during the band's annual concert tour.

He quickly distinguished himself as a featured soloist, and in 1990 was appointed principal euphonium. Colburn also was active as a conductor for the band's chamber music series. In 1996, he was appointed assistant director and commissioned a first lieutenant. In July of 2004, he was promoted to his present rank by retired 26th Marine band director Col. Timothy W. Foley.

For further information or to make special accommodations for disabilities, persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

Fairchild Slated To Appear At Swanton Church

Multiple Grammy award nominee and noted Nashville and Branson country, gospel, and pop singer Barbara Fairchild and her performer husband, Roy Morris, will make two concert appearances at the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church at 2:30 and 7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 24. The concerts are free to the public, but tickets are required to assure seating.

Barbara Fairchild is most noted for her crossover No. 1 Columbia hit single, "The Teddy Bear Song," which launched her career, has taken her to major venues around the world, and has given her other hit songs including "Kidstuff" and "Babydoll."

Her busy appearance schedule over the years has taken her to the Grand Ole Opry, the NBC's Tonight Show, Hee Haw, TBN, TNN, and her own theatre shows in Branson, Mo., which annually include her Christmas concerts and Sunday theatre worship services.

When not performing full time in Branson, Fairchild and Morris minister to congregations through song, prayer, and words of nurturing encouragement and faith.

"Their upbeat outlook on life, their commitment to helping lift the Kingdom of God, and their personal testimonies and stories of life continue to distinguish their outreach and services," said a spokesperson.

A major artist in country and gospel music, Fairchild has accumulated many accolades during her career with the most recent being four Grammy nominations for her newest album, Love Never Fails, recorded with Grand Ole Opry artists Connie Smith and Sharon White and produced by Ricky Skaggs for Daywind Records.

"This is one of the most powerful projects I've ever been involved in...powerful singing, powerful lyrics, powerful music," said Skaggs.

She was a performer in the acclaimed Mel Tillis Branson Theatre Shows in the 1990s and also made her a regular voice in "Heirloom," a female gospel quartet she formed with Candy Hemphill Christmas, Sherri Easter, and Tonya Goodman Sykes.

Now, with her husband as her duet traveling partner, she works for Christian and veterans' causes. She is known as "The Veteran's Sweetheart" and has become renowned for her patriotic concerts and her European and USO military tours.

The concerts at Swanton are open to the public, but tickets are required and free-will offerings will be received in support of the Fairchild-Morris Ministries.

Persons interested in obtaining tickets should call Carol Sweitzer at 301-387-6864. Seating is limited. A requisite is that all tickets issued be used by the recipients or passed to persons who will definitely use them, added the spokespersons.

Barn Dance Fundraiser Set In Aurora

An "old fashioned" Aurora Barn Dance fundraiser is slated for 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3, at Brookside Farm, located off Route 50 behind Cathedral State Park. Tickets will be sold at the door for $5 each (children under 10 admitted at no charge), and proceeds will benefit the Aurora Project to benefit its Artists' Residency and Educational programs, slated to get under way in the fall of 2005.

The music will be provided by the noted Garrett County band The Remedy, a "jazz-rock-soul-blues outfit, with a little country thrown in." The local 10-piece band features, among others, Oakland optometrist Jim Jones, Garrett County administrator Monty Pagenhardt, electrical engineer Mark Ashby, Oakland surgeon Charles Walch, singers Kim Grimm-Weimer and Jana Brown, both of Oakland, and the wailing sounds of the Bittinger Brass. The Remedy has its roots in the 1960s Southern High School teen group the Apple Corps, founded by Pagenhardt, Jones, and two other SHS schoolmates.

The benefit event will also include a raffle of a Volkmar Wentzel photograph titled "Quilting Bee on Stemple Ridge," which appeared in this newspaper last month. Free food and refreshments will be served, and fresh pressed apple cider will be available for purchase.

The barn dance will take place rain or shine, and signs will be posted along Rt. 50 to provide directions to the parking area off the old Brookside Road.

For further information, persons may call Michele Moure at 304-735-6344.

Kitzmiller Native Pens Book About Life In Hometown

PublishAmerica, located in Frederick, has just released Orphans of the Wind, G.M. Smith's personal account of growing up in Kitzmiller. The story reveals the "joys and sorrows" of life in the small mining town from post WWII to the Vietnam era.

"Particular emphasis is placed on the impact of the winding down of the industrial era on the people of Appalachia," the author said. "The story details the unique experiences of multicultural people struggling against poverty, apathy, unemployment, and uncertainty. Additionally, many interesting, one-of-a-kind characters are detailed in the book."

Orphans is the first major book-length work by Smith, an international essayist, songwriter, and author. His previous works include the song "Silver Mine" ("Mina de Plata"), released in the U.S. and Spain; an essay in Think On the Edge: Essays by Members of the International Society for Philosophical Enquiry, and several musical CDs.

He was also the first director of several amateur films starring Jack Lecza in the 1970s. Lecza recently appeared in the popular PBS series Colonial House.

Smith is a former fellow of the International Society for Philosophical Enquiry. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from State University of New York and is listed the 2005 edition of Who's Who in America.

He lives near Kearneysville, W.Va., with his wife Nita, who is also a writer.

Local Storytellers Prepare For Tall Tale Festival

Old time tales and "true" stories that are stranger than fiction will be told at the annual Tall Tale Storytelling and Book Festival on Saturday, Oct. 16, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, during the Autumn Glory festivities.

"Stories can be from a book, your imagination, or even from your life; after all, 'truth can be stranger than fiction,' " said Dr. Gail Herman, organizer of the event. All proceeds from the festival go toward the AAUW Garrett Scholarship and Educational Fund.

Herman gives some tips on finding a story:

•Retell a favorite traditional tall tale.

•Take a traditional tall tale and retell it and place it in the local area with local people.

•Talk about family pets.

•Exaggerate an adventure.

•Expand old jokes into tall tales.

•Start a story with, "Nothing much bad happened while you were gone, except..."

To register as a teller, persons should call Herman at 301-387-9199.

Herman is also available to help those who need help finding a story or creating one.

She will teach a class in mime and stories on Wednesdays, Sept. 29, and Oct. 6 and 13 at the Balanced Body Studio near Foodland Fresh, McHenry.

Students will begin their tales at 9 a.m. Saturday in the church's fellowship hall, and the adult tellers will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded to all tellers from area businesses.

Admissions donations are $2 for students over 5 years old, $3 for senior citizens, and $4 for adults.

Rams Cruise To First Win By Caging Wildcats, 43-8

After a pair of tough losses to open the 2004 football season, the Southern High School varsity broke into the win column Friday evening in Lonaconing with a convincing 43-8 victory over Westmar.

The Rams finished with a modest 193 yards in total offense, but capitalized on nearly every offensive opportunity, while the SHS defensive unit all but shut down the Wildcats' ground game, holding their hosts to just 32 yards on 26 attempts, and only six first downs.

Nick Gregg opened the scoring for the Rams, reaching pay dirt on a five-yard carry, and Cory Bosley ran successfully for the two point conversion to give Southern an 8-0 first-quarter lead.

Later in the same period, Bosley connected with Ryan DeWitt on a 48-yard touchdown pass play. Bosley's conversion pass was then hauled in by Brad Reese to give the Rams a 16-0 advantage.

A pair of touchdown runs by Bret Dewitt followed in the second quarter, the first on a two-yard carry and the second on a 38-yard punt return. Jeremy Gregory ran for the conversion on the first one, but the run for the second two-pointer failed, leaving the Rams with a commanding 30-0 lead.

Still in the second quarter, Gregory scored on a two-yard run, and Bosley's conversion kick put the Rams up 37-0 at halftime.

The only score of the third period was a touchdown by Southern's David Reams on a two-yard carry. The PAT kick was no good.

The Wildcats avoided a shutout when quarterback Russell Miller capped a drive with a three-yard touchdown run. Justin Keller ran for the extra two points.

The Rams finished with a 14-6 lead in first downs and had only two penalties for a total of 23 yards. The Wildcats (1-2) were penalized eight times for a total of 67 yards.

"We finally executed the way we wanted to and basically controlled the game from the get-go," stated Ram coach Fred Gregg.

"We played better overall, and most importantly, we played with a much higher level of intensity. For the first time this year, we really swarmed to the ball well on defense, and we controlled the line of scrimmage on both sides.

	West.	South.

Penalties-Yds.	8-67	2-23
Total Offense	113	193

"It really felt good to get a win," he added.

The Rams were the favorite in last Friday's contest, but they will definitely be the underdog this week when they host a fine Allegany team.

The Campers are currently 3-0 and coming off a lopsided 39-0 victory over Beall last Thursday, even playing without star running back Andre Pope, who has been lost for the season because of a knee injury. The Rams were topped by the Mountaineers the previous Friday.

The Alco offense continued its tradition of running from the wing-T, which is led by senior quarterback Austin Scell (6-0, 165).

Described by Gregg as "a very good passer," Scell proved that label appropriate last week when he completed all seven of his passes against Beall. His favorite target is junior split end Donavin Vinson (6-2, 185), who had four receptions and two touchdowns vs. the Mountaineers.

"Vinson is very quick and has good hands," Gregg said. "He's just an excellent athlete."

Another leader in the Camper backfield is sophomore running back Tyler Wharton (6-0, 175), who is noted by Gregg both for his speed and his strength. Wharton had 72 yards on a dozen carries against Beall.

Allegany utilizes primarily a 4-4 defensive set, but moves people up and back consistently.

"Their inside linebackers are extremely active," Gregg said. "They blitz one or both of them just about every play."

Superior size, strength, numbers, and general experience will all pose big problems for the Rams.

"They are just unbelievably big," Gregg said. "We give up as much as 100 pounds in several man-to-man situations. They have several kids in the 270, 280, 285 range.

"We are absolutely going to have to play with the same intensity that we played with last week, we are going to have to be fundamentally sound, and our technique is going to have to be near perfect if we are going to have a chance to win the game," he said.

Making things even more difficult for the Rams is the fact that six players are listed by Gregg as "questionable" for Friday night, suffering from a variety of injuries and illness. They are Tyler Graham, Nick Gregg, John Knox, Doug Upole, Rick Wotring, and Travis Nice.

"It's possible that all six of them will have to sit out, but it's also possible that all six will be ready to play," Gregg said. "Most likely we'll be somewhere between those two extremes."

This will be Southern's homecoming game, and the kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Southern JVs Run To 3-0 In Downing Alco

The Southern High School junior varsity remains undefeated after the Rams downed Allegany 20-14 Monday on hostile turf in Cumberland's Greenway Stadium. SHS is 3-0 for the season, and the victory marked the third straight time that Southern's jayvees have beaten the always-powerful Alco squad.

The Rams got on the board first with a 22-yard scoring strike from Andrew VanBogelen to slotback Dean Hoffman, but the ensuing conversion run was stopped shy of the goal line. The Campers followed with a first-quarter score of their own when Johnny Hamilton found the end zone from six yards out, and a successful conversion run put the hosts up 8-6.

Southern tailback Justin Ratliff put the Rams back on the board in the second stanza with a seven-yard scoring carry, but Southern's conversion attempt was stymied again. Allegany followed with a 49-yard touchdown scamper by Hamilton, and was left with a 14-12 halftime lead when the Rams foiled Alco's conversion attempt.

SHS got what turned out to be the winning touchdown in the third quarter as fullback Eric Pike exploded for a 37-yard scoring run. Freshman Tommie Reams put two insurance points on the board with Southern's first successful conversion carry.

"This was the most exciting and one of the hardest fought junior varsity games I've seen," Ram coach Jim Bosley said afterward. "Allegany is very good, and we were the underdogs going into the tough Greenway atmosphere. It was the biggest win in my 15 years of coaching Southern JV football, and I'm really proud of our guys."

The Ram jayvees go for their fourth straight win Wednesday in a home field battle with Westmar. Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. in Oakland.

Ram Duffers Take Fifth In Regions; Huskies Struggle

The Southern and Northern High School golf teams participated in the West Region 1A/2A tournament Tuesday in Hagerstown, where the Rams came in fifth, 11 strokes off the leader, and the Huskies finished 19th in the 21-team field. Three Garrett County golfers – the Rams' Josh Lear and Matt Skidmore, and Husky Michael Bergstrom – earned trips to the Maryland State Tournament next month in College Park.

Walkersville took the region crown with a 314, Catoctin was runner-up at 319, and Boonsboro finished third at 320. The next three top-scoring teams came in tightly bunched, as fourth-place Williamsport carded a 325, Southern had a 327, and Smithsburg recorded a 328. NHS score of 404 put the Huskies near the back of the pack.

The top three individual scorers were low medalist Kevin Grady of Century High School with a 2-under par 70, Middletown's Tyler Ausherman at 73, and Ram senior Josh Lear at 74. Rounding out SHS's individual performances were senior Matt Skidmore at 80, junior Ivan Stutzman with an 85, and sophomores Joe Albert and Seth Fike with 88 and 93, respectively.

Northern standout Michael Bergstrom paced the Huskies with a 79. Other NHS individual scores were not made available.

The Maryland State Tourney is slated for Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 27-28. This week's Southern slate opens with today's home match against Allegany, set for a 4 p.m. tee-off at the Oakland Golf Club. The Huskies are idle until Monday, when they visit Cumberland to take on Alco and Bishop Walsh.

Southern and Northern will go head-to-head on Wednesday at the Wisp, when they are joined by Beall for a 4 p.m. triangular.

NHS Takes Third In Lead-Up To Region Tourney

The Northern High School golf team finished third in a Wednesday, Sept. 15, triangular that was the Huskies' last outing prior to Tuesday's Region Tournament (see other story). Fort Hill and Allegany both finished ahead of the Huskies, who hosted the match at the Wisp.

The Sentinels came out on top with a 182, while Alco was runner-up with a 190. The Huskies were nipping at the Campers' heels with a 194.

There was a three-way tie for low medalist honors, as FH's Josh Barrett, Allegany Jessica Jewell, and Northern senior Michael Bergstrom each carded a 40. Husky senior Ben Margroff added a 46 to the Northern tally.

NHS's slate for the coming week features a Monday visit to the Cumberland Country Club to take on Allegany and Bishop Walsh, and a Wednesday home course triangular as Beall and arch-rival Southern visit for a 4 p.m. battle.

Wolf Runs Wild In Huskies' Massacre Of Berkeley Tribe

Cross a Husky with a Wolf and you get the top running back in the area, a notion borne out by the 342 rushing yards racked up by halfback Michael Wolf in 26 carries as Northern High School's varsity football squad romped to a 58-25 slaughter of the Berkeley Springs Indians Saturday night. Wolf broke the NHS single-game rushing record, and most likely laid claim to the countywide mark, as his four touchdowns paced the undefeated Husky pack to the program's 200th varsity victory before a frenzied home crowd.

"Mike reminds me of NFL running back Eddie George," Northern coach Phil Carr said of his standout senior. "He hits the hole real quick, then slides sideways until he finds another opening to hit real quick again. One of the things helping him out, along with our great offensive line, is the excellent runners we have throughout our backfield. No defense can realistically consider keying on Mike alone, because then guys like Tyler Warn, Eric Johnson, and Robert Stark can pick up some big yardage."

The Huskies set the stage early for the runaway win, their third in as many outings, by scoring four unanswered touchdowns over the first 1½ quarters. Wolf started the ball rolling with a six-yard TD carry in the first quarter. Later in the same stanza, NHS fullback Tyler Warn shot through the line for a 19-yard touchdown run that put the Huskies up 16-0.

Northern's "Grave-Digger" defense got into the act in a big way during the first quarter, as defensive guru Frank Ewing's troops worked their newly installed defense to perfection in shutting down Berkeley's dangerous big-play offense. NHS dropped a second safety into its secondary to protect against the long pass, gambling that the defensive front could pressure talented Indian quarterback Tony Belt into making a mistake, and the Grave-Diggers' wager paid off in spades when Husky safety Robert Stark picked off two Belt passes in the first quarter. Stark's second interception came at the 15-yard line, halting what could have developed into a Berkeley scoring opportunity.

"Our defensive line did a fine job, especially considering we had taken one lineman away in order to beef up the secondary," Carr said. "We didn't pressure the quarterback as much as we would have normally, but we did got the job done with what we had."

Northern's scoring flurry turned into a storm in the second quarter, when Stark scampered 42 yards on a quarterback keeper for a touchdown. Wolf followed with a 46-yard TD ramble that put NHS up 30-0 midway through the stanza. The Indians finally found the end zone thanks to their special teams, when their recovery of a blocked Northern kick led to a three-yard TD plunge by fullback Randy Waugh. Wolf answered Waugh's touchdown with a 32-yard scoring carry of his own, then Berkeley's Belt receiver Ricky Kump with a 15-yard scoring strike to make the margin 38-13 heading into the half.

After the intermission, the Huskies picked up where they left off when tight end Brock Glotfelty gathered in a 19-yard touchdown strike from Stark. Belt responded with a 24-yard scoring pass to Ryan Morris, who had the Indians' biggest day on offense with seven catches for 112 yards.

In the final stanza, Wolf shot through the Berkeley defense for a 70-yard touchdown run, then the Huskies suffered another special teams breakdown when Waugh returned the ensuing kickoff 82 yards for a score. Finally, reserve Northern halfback Mitch Fost entered the scoring fray with a seven-yard TD carry to give the Huskies their 33-point margin of victory.

When the dust settled, Northern had amassed 580 total yards of offense to Berkeley's 222. Wolf's ground-breaking rushing performance was supplemented by Warn's 73-yard tally, while on defense Stark's pair of interceptions bolstered a unit paced by linebacker Corey Carr's game-high 11 tackles.

"We did what we thought we were capable of on offense, only more so," stated Carr. "Our execution was perfect, our blockers were hitting quick and hard off the line. We told our line they could dominate their defenders, and they did.

"All our backs were hitting the holes quick. In all my years of coaching, I've never seen so many long breakaway runs; even the refs told us afterward they had never seen a game like that," the NHS skipper said.

"I'm thrilled with our defensive performance too. Coach Ewing put a great game plan together after scouting their offense, and we only introduced it to the guys on Tuesday and we worked hard on it in practice Wednesday and Thursday. Our players believe in what we're teaching them and commit themselves to learning it. That can make all the difference," Carr stated.

Berkeley Springs coach Angelo Luvara had nothing but praise for Northern's efforts, especially on offense. "We were unable to stop their offense. We played well enough offensively to win, but we couldn't stop them on defense. Their offensive line dominated our defensive front. They got ahead of us early, and that really changed what we could do offensively," Luvara said.

The Huskies' next outing takes them north to Turkeyfoot on Saturday, where the small but determined Ram roster will pull out all its punches to try for a major upset. The hosts are coming off a superb 7-2 season in 2003, but first-year head coach Andy Wheatley is coping with the loss of a number of talented seniors to graduation.

As is often the case, Northern will be giving away some size in the trenches, but hopes to capitalize on speed and brainpower to offset the brawn differential. The Rams average approximately 230 pounds down their offensive line, so the Huskies know they will have to push that much harder.

The Rams have several

NHS GRAVE-DIGGERS PLANT ANOTHER – With an "immovable object" of a defense to go with their "irresistible force" offense, the Northern High School varsity football squad has dominated all comers as it has run up a 3-0 mark so far this season. The latest victim was Berkeley Springs, which NHS vanquished in a 58-25 route Saturday evening in Accident. Pictured above chomping down on an Indian ball carrier's ankle – for a loss – is senior Husky defensive tackle Ben Wagner (#77, left), with help from nose-guard Trevor Butler (#79) and defensive end Jeremiah Wilt (#76), as linebacker Tyler Warn (#35) and defensive back Eric Johnson (#22) follow the action from the background. Northern's offense blasted through the Berkeley defense at will for 561 rushing yards and eight touchdowns, including a 42-yard keeper by senior quarterback Robert Stark (#7), pictured below as he embarks on that second-quarter scoring carry. THREE STEPS TO "SOLD"!

There are many ways to improve your chances of a quick, full-price sale, but understanding a few of the most basic foundations makes the whole experience more enjoyable and profitable.

First realize that price is everything. Your home is being compared to similar homes in your area. Cosmetic improvements don't necessarily mean that you can demand a higher price. What if you just spent $3,500 installing premium carpeting and the potential buyers are dreaming of wood floors?

Related to pricing are handling repairs. Ideally, your real estate agent has "walked through" your home and made suggestions for both cosmetic and possibly more serious repairs. A rule of thumb states that buyers will offer $2 less for every $1 of needed repairs. Take care of what's necessary and move on.

Finally, one of the most misunderstood concepts of successfully showing your home is that you should not be there when an agent shows it! Of course you'd love to witness the reactions of prospective buyers, but your presence will make them feel more like guests and less like would-be owners. Give the agent a chance to field their questions about pros and cons, and provide answers that will put them at ease.

These three considerations are just the beginning to a speedy and successful sale. Discuss the entire marketing plan with a professional and list with confidence!

If you'd like to sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call at the office, or on my cell phone at 301-501-DALE

Husky Jayvees Blank Blazers, Declaw 'Cats

The Northern High School junior varsity football squad ran away from the Clear Spring Blazers in a 37-0 shutout last Wednesday, Sept. 15, then rolled over visiting Westmar Monday by a 20-0 margin. NHS's record is 2-1.

The Huskies ran wild during the contest, racking up over 300 yards on the ground. NHS roared out to a 24-point first quarter lead, and added six points in the second quarter and seven in the third stanza.

Northern's trio of freshman halfbacks shined during the contest, as Blair Silbaugh finished with 121 rushing yards and one touchdown, Andy Ganoe reeled off 97 yards and two touchdowns, and Ben Diehl recorded 79 yards and one TD.

Northern crushed Westmar Monday with its second straight shutout behind some big plays by the Huskies and a stellar defensive showing that included a pair of interceptions.

The Huskies drew first blood in the opening stanza when Silbaugh reeled off a 60-yard punt return for a touchdown. In the second quarter, freshman Garrett Gulledge scored on a 25-yard pass from sophomore Bryce Manges. Diehl scampered 50 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown to finish the scoring.

Diehl led all rushers on offense with 76 yards, while freshman linebacker Matt Mason stoked the Huskies' swarming defense with 13 tackles. Sophomore Neil Kamp and Silbaugh each picked off an interception for the NHS secondary.

The Huskies are slated to visit Berkeley Springs on Monday.

weapons on offense, chief among them being up-and-coming sophomore quarterback Cody Colflesh (5-10, 155). "Colflesh throws a nice pass, and he can run," observed Carr. "Coach Wheatley was an excellent quarterback for Turkeyfoot less than 10 years ago, so we know he's going to try to get everything out of Colflesh that he can over the next three years."

Senior tailback Billy Hinzy (5-9, 165) is a fast runner who turns into a significant receiving threat when he goes in motion prior to the snap. Classmate Bob Stark (5-10, 175) is another experienced receiver at slotback, as is senior tight end Chuck Stemac (6-2, 185). Anchoring Turkeyfoot's offensive line is senior guard Justin Sines (5-11, 190) a veteran of Northern youth football play who is familiar to a number of Huskies.

On defense, the Rams operate out of a 5-3 scheme, stacking the line in short yardage situations with a 6-5 defense. Stark is a top linebacker, and sophomore defensive tackle Phil Wass (5-11, 210) has shown a lot of promise.

Husky fans who make the 25-minute trip from NHS to Turkeyfoot will note that their squad is a little banged up. Standout senior offensive and defensive lineman Ben Wagner sustained a broken wrist against Berkeley, and will play in a cast, if at all. Junior linebacker/tight end Jeff Wilburn dislocated his kneecap against the Indians, and is out for several weeks, while sophomore linebacker/quarterback Corey Carr bears a cast courtesy of a wrist he broke earlier in the campaign.

Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Turkeyfoot.

Lander Victorious For Elizabethtown

Northern High School alum Heather Lander continued her winning ways on the tennis court this week, as she won in singles and doubles for the Elizabethtown College women's tennis team.

The Blue Jays disposed of host Dickinson College, 6-3, and upped their undefeated team record to 8-0. Lander defeated Anne Kiely in singles, 6-1, 6-2, and teamed with Emma Smith to win in doubles over Dickinson's Kiely and Aubrey Swift, 8-0.

Elizabethtown will compete again today on the courts of Commonwealth Conference rival Juniata College.

23rd Great Allegany Race Set For Oct. 2

The 23rd running of the Great Allegany Run (GAR) will be held at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 2, in Cumberland, with all proceeds benefiting County United Way.

The GAR consists of a 15k point-to-point race, a 5k race, a 2-mile walk, and a kids' run. A total of $2,500 in savings bonds will be awarded to open and masters runners in the 15k.

A pasta dinner and Runner's Forum will be held on Friday night. All runners will receive a T-shirt, refreshments after the race, and be eligible for a random drawing that will include a mountain bike grand prize.

Registration is open until shortly before race time on Saturday.

For additional information or an application, persons may visit www.IPlayoutside.com or www.qcstriders.org, or call Bill Workman at 301-729-3088.

Steelers Take CAYFL Pair From Ridgeley

The Northern Steelers downed the visiting Ridgeley Rams in a Division I and II sweep at Northern High School Sunday.

The Division I Steelers improved to 3-1 with their 22-12 victory. The triumph was bolstered by a pair of Nick Graham touchdown runs, from one and three yards out, respectively, and a 39-yard TD pass from Randy Wiley to Zach Fratz.

Ryan Evans paced the Northern rushing tally with 78 yards on 10 carries. The Steelers' coaches credited the blocking efforts of offensive lineman E.J. Lytle, J.P. Law, Mike Ragola, Dustin Stough, and Nathan Dawson.

Northern's Division II win featured just one scoring play, a nine-yard touchdown carry by Josh Duckworth.

The Steelers take on D&D Saturday in a pair of road contests.

Weekly winners are awarded a certificate, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers are invited to register their catch at Deep Creek Outfitters at 32 Outfitters Way, McHenry. The fishing contest runs from the first weekend in May through the first weekend in October.

Shewach Joins GC Adventure Sports Faculty

Steven Shewach, a recognized leader in wilderness education and adventure recreation, has been appointed instructor of adventure sports at Garrett College.

As outdoor activities manager for the Sierra Club national headquarters in San Francisco for the past four years, Shewach created and managed a national outdoor training program, developing curriculum and coordinating workshops, seminars, and field trips throughout the United States. During this period he served as lead instructor for numerous outdoor leader workshops and conducted field experiences in locations such as Tahoe National Forest and the Appalachian Trail to train volunteers in group management, safety management, evacuation response, menu planning, and nutrition.

Prior to that time, Shewach coordinated the teen program at a high adventure camp in Georgia, guided and counseled behaviorally challenged teens on snowshoe/backpacking trips in Oregon, instructed classes in wilderness studies for the Environmental Conservation and Outdoor Education Expedition (ECOEE) in the United States and Mexico, and supervised camps and backcountry trips in Alaska and Michigan. Among his leadership experiences are Sierra Club backpacking trips on the Pacific Trail and the Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Forest and Catherine Freer Wilderness Therapy Expeditions in Oregon. He also climbed the Avalanche Gulch to the summit of Mt. Shasta (14,165 feet) using crampons and ice axe.

Shewach earned a bachelor of fine arts degree in media arts from the University of Arizona, and a master of science in recreation, park and tourism administration, with emphasis in adventure education and therapeutic recreation from Western Illinois University.

He holds certifications as Wilderness First Responder, Heart Saver CPR, Leave No Trace Environmental Ethics Trainer, and Certified Outdoor Leader for the Wilderness Education Association. He is a member of the Association for Experiential Education, Wilderness Education Association, Bradford Institute, and Wilderness Risk Managers Conference.

Among Shewach's other experiences are instructing ECOEE field studies at Western Illinois University, serving as community service volunteer with Project Atzma for the Youth Agency of the State of Israel, and as counselor for a group of 238 teenagers from Michigan on a trip to Israel.

NHS Booters Fall To Beall And Allegany

After opening their season with four straight wins, the Northern High School boys' soccer team endured a pair of frustrating Western Maryland Interscholastic League losses this week, the first a 3-2 defeat by undefeated Beall last Thursday in Frostburg, and the second a 2-0 setback by visiting Allegany on Tuesday, despite dominating in shots on goal.

In last Thursday's battle of the unbeatens, Beall's Matt Fiorita opened the scoring with a goal off an assist by Lonnie Harvey at the 27:12 mark.

Bryon Folk made it 2-0 with 8:17 left in the half, as he scored off a feed by Fiorita.

The Huskies cut the Mountaineers' lead in half midway through the second half when Derek Cutter scored an unassisted goal at the 20:44 mark; however, Beall's Carter Dickel answered with his own goal just 34 seconds later off an assist by Josh Bittner.

The final goal of the night was recorded by Husky Eric Wood, unassisted, with just 26 seconds left in the match.

Playing an outstanding game in goal for the Huskies was Chris Fickes, who turned away 21 of the Mountaineers' 37 shots, while Chris Fike recorded 10 saves for Beall (5-0).

The Northern jayvee squad was blanked in the preliminary match, 4-0.

The most frustrating of the two losses for the Huskies, however, was the 2-0 defeat by Allegany, as Northern finished with a commanding 42-7 advantage in shots, but could not convert a single one of them.

The Huskies also had 10 corner kicks in the match, compared to just one for the Campers.

Recording 24 saves for Alco was Garrett Matthews, while Fickes was credited with three saves.

The Campers took a 1-0 lead with 11:11 to play in the first half when Brett Showalter scored on a penalty kick.

Josh Pratt made it 2-0 when he scored the final goal of the night, unassisted, with 19:35 remaining in the match.

The Huskies will try to get back on the winning track this Saturday when they host Fort Hill. The jayvee contest will get under way at 6 p.m., and the varsity is slated to kick off at 7:30.

Northern will entertain Salisbury next Thursday evening, with a varsity match only, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Northern Girls Lose A Pair, But Top Rams And Spartans

It was a 2-2 week in Western Maryland Interscholastic League competition for the Northern High School girls' soccer team, which fell to visiting Beall last Thursday, 3-1, dropped a tough, 1-0 match to host Allegany on Saturday, recorded a 4-1 win over county rival Southern on Monday in Oakland, and topped visiting Bishop Walsh last night, 2-1. Both Beall and Allegany were undefeated.

The results left Coach Lynn Lais and the Huskies with a 2-2 record.

Beall scored all three of its goals in the first half of HUSKY NETTERS BATTLE ALCO – The Northern High School varsity volleyball squad hosted Allegany last night, and were swept in a hard-fought match that included two games where a meager three points separated the combatants. The entire Husky floor unit is shown above, as NHS sophomore Jackie Rodeheaver (#10, at center) goes to the floor for a dig, surrounded from the left by teammates Angie Umbel (#5), Dani Glotfelty (#11), Tara Devine (#21), Keri Bachtel (#7), and Jayme Miller (#3). NHS is slated to visit Beall this evening. Photo by John McEwen.

Northern Netters Fall To Raiders, Alco In Sweeps

The Northern High School varsity volleyball squad had a tough go this week as the homecourt Huskies were victimized in consecutive 3-0 sweeps at the hands of the Meyersdale Red Raiders and the Allegany Campers. Despite the outcome, the Huskies put up a strong fight against their Alco visitors last night.

Monday's match with Meyersdale finished with Northern on the short end of 25-22, 25-7, and 25-11 margins. NHS senior Jayme Miller netted nine attacks and six digs for the Huskies, while classmate Lakin Weimer recorded six attacks and four digs. The Raiders' Cassie Buterbaugh and Corinne Moser had 14 kills each.

Northern's junior varsity squad was also defeated in consecutive games, 25-13 and 25-19. Sophomore Leah Biser was credited with a strong performance for NHS.

The Huskies nipped away at Alco's heels last night, but never were able to catch the Campers in narrow losses by 25-19, 25-22, and 25-22 margins. Weimer recorded 17 hits, two kills, and five points, junior Keri Bachtel eight points, five hits and three kills, and senior Danielle Glotfelty seven points for Northern. Allegany's Sara Watson had a match-high 18 service points.

Northern took one of the three JV matches, dropping the first by a narrow 25-21 margin, rebounding to take the second 25-16, then falling in the third by a 15-11 tally. Sophomore Emily Sisler had nine points for the Huskies.

Northern (2-4 overall, 1-3 WMIL) hits the road this week as the Huskies visit Beall tonight, Bishop Walsh Tuesday, and Westmar Wednesday.

SHS Netters Take Frankfort By Storm; Down Beall, 'Cats

The Southern High School varsity volleyball team looks like the team to beat in area netters' action, as the Rams rolled through a busy week in improving their overall season record to a perfect 4-0 with a Monday sweep of visiting Beall and a 3-1 homecourt win last night over Westmar.

Perhaps the most telling triumph did not count toward that perfect season mark, as on Saturday SHS claimed the Frankfort Classic Volleyball Tournament crown over six opponents in round-robin play. Joining the Rams for the daylong event were Frankfort, along with Meyersdale, Westmar, Bishop Walsh, Preston, and Martinsburg.

Southern went 11-1 for the day, and took the tourney with a 2-1 win over the host Falcons. SHS stumbled in the final round's opener as Frankfort took a 25-23 squeaker, but roared back with convincing 25-9, 25-13 triumphs.

The nine-member All-Tournament Team included Ram standouts Kayla Nazelrod and Julia Bosley, both seniors, and stellar sophomore Sarah Stephens.

"I couldn't have asked for a better day," SHS coach Sue Newton remarked. "We played great, and every player who stepped onto the court gave 100 percent. It was very exciting to watch."

Southern "returned" to WMIL play with a vengeance Monday, as the Rams blasted visiting Beall 27-17, 25-13, and 25-11. Bosley paced the hosts with 10 points, four assists, and three kills, while Stephens netted 10 points and six hits. Nazelrod contributed five kills. Jessica Burkett led the Mounties with four hits and a pair of aces.

SHS's junior varsity unit swept to 25-17, 25-14 victories behind strong showings by sophomores Adrienne Yoder and Danielle Daniels.

The Rams opened last night's 3-1 victory over the Wildcats with a 25-13 win, but dropped the second contest by a narrow 25-22 tally. However, much like the Frankfort outing, SHS took the hit and responded with two straight victories, 25-18 and 25-22, to claim the match. Bosley recorded 10 service points, three aces, and six kills, while junior Randi Bennett contributed nine points, four aces, and three kills. Nazelrod took team-high kill honors with seven, and added four blocks, while seniors Bethany Steyer and Sarah Bittinger netted 15 and 13 assists, respectively. Christina Steibing had 10 service points to pace Westmar (2-4, 1-4).

SHS also took the jayvee outing, 25-12, 25-18, behind 13 points, six aces, and two kills recorded by Daniels. Yoder dished out five assists. The Ram JVs have a perfect 4-0 mark, same as the varsity counterparts.

Southern hosts Fort Hill Tuesday, with a 6 p.m. start for the junior varsity and the varsity match kicking off at approximately 7 p.m. The Rams visit Beall the following evening.

Laker Netters Sweep PG, Fall To Howard, Down Catamounts

The Garrett College women's volleyball team took to the road early this week to battle two Maryland JUCO opponents – Prince George's and Howard – before returning home to host cross-river rival Potomac State College Tuesday in McHenry. The Lakers recorded a 3-0 sweep over PG Friday, fell to Howard by a 3-1 margin the following day, then turned the tables on Potomac State for a 3-1 victory Tuesday.

The Lakers downed host Prince George's in three straight by 30-11 tallies in each contest Friday.

Sophomore hitter Amanda Frantz, a Northern High graduate, netted 19 points, picked up eight digs, and recorded nine aces to pace the squad to victory. Classmate and fellow Friendsville native Molly Wolf, a setter, dished out 16 assists. Freshman setter Danielle Thompson served eight aces, turned in a 16-for-17 performance from the service line, and contributed 13 points. Autumn Beavers, a sophomore hitter, made 15 of the team's 24 kills and was 22-for-22 on the attack. Freshman hitter Jhonna Newby had Garrett's lone block of the day.

The Lakers dropped their first game at Howard Saturday, 30-13, then evened things up with a 30-26 win. Howard took the third outing 30-20, and clinched the match with a fourth-game 33-31 triumph.

Frantz and Anthony paced Garrett with 12 service points, Beavers had 11 kills, Newby had nine, Frantz recorded eight, and freshman hitter Yolanda Anthony had seven kills. Sophomore Tabitha Beitzel, the third of the squad's three NHS graduates, netted two aces, while Wolf handed out 18 assists, and Frantz recorded 14 digs. Frantz, Anthony, Newby, and Beavers had one block apiece.

The Lakers opened Tuesday's match with a convincing 30-21 win over visiting PSC, but the Catamounts clawed back to take the second game 30-28. GC went on to take the next two games by 30-21 margins.

Garrett's win over the Catamounts was paced by Anthony's 20 points and two blocks, while Beitzel went 20-for-21 on serves with six aces as she recorded 14 points. Beavers had 20 kills and was 34-for-40 on attacks, Frantz netted 11 points, nine kills, and 13 digs, and Newby had nine kills and three blocks.

Potomac State was paced by Felicia Sharff's 14-for-14 service tally, while teammate Kate Harvey was 11-for-11 on serves with four aces, Jeana Barnes was perfect in all nine of her service attempts, and Jodi Sites dished out 23 assists.

The Lakers' (4-7, 2-2 in the Maryland JUCO) home stand continues with a 6 p.m. match tomorrow against Butler, then Cecil pays a 2 p.m. visit Saturday.

Southern Girls Tie 0-0 With Sentinels, Fall To Huskies

The girls' varsity soccer team of Southern High School salvaged one tie and suffered one loss in Western Maryland Interscholastic League play this past week, battling host Fort Hill to a scoreless, double-overtime tie last Thursday and falling to county rival Northern, 4-1, Saturday evening in Oakland.

Saturday's 0-0 match at Greenway Avenue Stadium was close in every way, as the Sentinels (2-1-1) finished with a 15-13 edge in shots and led in corner kicks, 5-2.

Ram keeper Jessica Petrella recorded seven saves, while Fort Hill's Rebecca Zajdel was credited with eight stops.

Details of the loss to Northern can be found in the Northern girls' story.

The Rams, who are now 1-2-1, will host undefeated Beall this evening, entertain St. Maria Goretti in a 2 p.m. match Saturday, and play at Westmar next Tuesday.

Tonight's jayvee contest will kick off at 5:30 p.m., and the varsity match will get under way at 7 p.m. Tuesday's meeting with Westmar will be varsity only, kicking off at 7 p.m.

Southern Boys Net Six Goals; Defeat Wildcats

Five members of the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team scored a total of six goals among them, as the Rams rolled to a 6-1 victory over host Westmar last Thursday.

The Rams were also scheduled to play at Keyser on Tuesday, but the results of that encounter were not reported.

Against Westmar, Ethan Chorpenning gave the Rams a 1-0 lead with a goal off a feed by Mike Edwards at the 11:29 mark of the first half.

Shawn McCreery quickly made it 2-0 1½ minutes later with an unassisted goal, and Bob Bonser's unassisted goal at the 7:55 mark gave the Rams a 3-0 halftime advantage.

The next three Ram goals came within a 7½-minute span in the second half, with McCreery recording his second of the evening, unassisted, with 27:34 left in the match. James Naylor and Matt Burton followed with unassisted goals at the 26:06 and 21:07 marks to conclude Southern's scoring for the night.

The Wildcats finally put a goal on the board with just 2:06 left when Derrick Skidmore scored on a penalty kick.

Drew Proudfoot was credited with 11 saves in goal for the Rams, while Westmar's Adam Stott turned away 14 of the Rams' shots.

The loss was the fourth in five starts for the Wildcats.

The Rams will play Fort Hill this evening at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland. The kickoff for the varsity match is set for 7:30 p.m.

Southern will travel to Bishop Walsh next Monday for a 4:30 p.m. contest.

Lose A Pair,

Thursday's match, as the Northern defense stiffened and kept the Mountaineers out of the net the entire second half.

Kaitlin Gregg put Beall up 1-0 with a goal off an assist by Tasha Wilhelm at the 17:21 mark of the first half.

Wilhelm followed with two unassisted goals, one on a direct kick at the 8:27 mark and the other with just 23 seconds left before intermission, to give the Mountaineers a 3-0 halftime advantage.

The Huskies avoided a shutout when Amanda Heacock scored a goal off a feed by Brittany Milbourne with 7:53 to play in the match.

The Huskies won the battle of the statistics, as they finished with a 15-10 advantage in shots and a 5-1 lead in corner kicks.

Kasie Fratz of Northern and Beall's Jena Sloane each recorded six saves.

Second Half

N - Amanda Heacock assisted by Brittany Milbourne, 7:53.

It was the third win in as many outings for Beall.

The match against Allegany at Greenway Avenue Stadium on Saturday was all defense, with the exception of a lone goal scored by Alco's Julie Mizak, unassisted, with 5:30 left in the first half.

Both defensive units excelled, as there was a total of only 18 shots on goal in the match, 12 by the undefeated Campers (5-0) and six by the Huskies.

Fratz had eight saves in the net for Northern, while Lindsey Twigg turned away all six of the Huskies' shots.

Sarah Voelkel and Megan Shaffer each scored two goals for the Huskies in Monday's win over the Southern Rams.

Voelkel's first came at the 28:28 mark of the first half, and Shaffer scored with 17:50 to play in the half to give the Huskies' a 2-0 lead at halftime. Both of the goals were unassisted.

Shaffer put another ball into the net unassisted at the 18:50 mark of the second half to make it 3-0 in favor of Northern.

Southern avoided a shutout when Hannah Storey scored less than a minute later (18:01) off an assist by Jasmine Scheffel, but Voelkel answered that with her second unassisted goal of the night with just 1:50 left in the match.

Fratz was credited with eights saves. Other statistics on shots, saves, and corner kicks were not reported.

The junior varsity game ended in a scoreless tie.

Voelkel put the first goal on the board last night against Bishop Walsh when she scored off an assist by Brittany Milbourne with 27:16 remaining in the first half.

The winning goal would be one scored by Amy Brenneman off another assist by Milbourne at the 2:32 mark of the first half, putting the Huskies up 2-0.

The Spartans cut the lead in half when Kara Miller recorded an unassisted goal just 47 seconds before halftime, but that would be the final score of the night, as the second half was all defense.

The Huskies finished with an 18-12 advantage in shots and a 3-2 edge in corner kicks.

Fratz and Kayla Kipp were credited with a total of six saves, while Brittany Riley had six for the Spartans (3-5).

The Huskies will host Westmar this evening and entertain Fort Hill next Tuesday. The junior varsity matches will kick off at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity contests at 7:30.

Class officers for the senior class of 2005 are Danielle Hickman, president, Erin Rhodes, vice president, Emily Bowman, secretary, and Logan Osekowski, treasurer. The officers meet every Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in the Media Center. Activities planned so far for the year are the class panoramic on Thursday, Nov. 18, candy sales beginning Sept. 30, and the annual Winterball dance to be held December 18. Anyone wishing to offer suggestions to the officers concerning senior activities, please feel free to do so. Open class meetings will begin in October. Seniors are invited to attend and participate in the planning of activities.

X-COUNTRY RAFFLES STEELERS TICKETS

Due to a generous donation, the cross country team is raffling two club level tickets to the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cincinnati Bengals game on Oct. 3. Tickets will be sold through Sept. 28, with the drawing held at the Broadford Invitational Cross Country Meet that evening. Tickets can be purchased through any cross country team member or by contacting Coach Beeman or Coach Cosner.

PSAT OFFERED TO UNDERCLASSMEN

Tenth grade students will take the new PSAT on Wednesday, Oct. 13. Ninth and eleventh grade students wanting a little extra practice may sign up for and pay to take the test in the guidance office before Oct. 13. The cost for ninth and eleventh grade students is $11. Tenth grade students do not pay to take the test. Juniors wishing to qualify for the National Merit Scholarships Program must take the PSAT as a junior. African American students wishing to qualify for the National Achievement Scholarship Program must also take the PSAT as a junior. Please stop in or call Mrs. Davis in the guidance office with questions.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS ELECTED

The following seniors were elected last June to serve as National Honor Society officers for the 2004-2005 school year: Emily Bowman, president; Erin Rhodes, vice president; Jadyn Swerbinsky, secretary/treasurer; and Emil Green, historian. The Foster D. Bittle chapter of the National Honor Society has been active at Southern for 39 years.

SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL REPLICAS FOR SALE

The class of 2004 sold Cat's Meow wooden replicas of Southern High School. They are still available for sale in the school store for $20. These make great gifts for present and past SHS students.

MOUNTAIN TOP EXPO SCHEDULED AT GARRETT COLLEGE

The Garrett County Board of Education and Garrett College will be holding the annual Mountain Top College Exposition on Monday, Oct. 11, from 6:30 to 8:30 at the Garrett College gymnasium. This event is available for all area high school students. It is an excellent opportunity to talk with representatives from at least 30 colleges, military academies, and trade schools from neighboring states. A session dealing with "Understanding Financial Aid" will be held at 7 p.m. in the Art Gallery. Seniors will have the opportunity to register for three $500 scholarships. Juniors will have a chance to register for a grant to visit the local college of their choice. Please be sure to attend.

2005 PRUDENTIAL SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY AWARDS APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED

Applications are available in guidance for students, grades 9-12, who wish to be considered for the 2005 Prudential Spirit of Community Awards. One student can be selected as Southern's honoree for having participated in outstanding acts of volunteer work in the community. One student will be selected in Maryland as the high school state honoree who will receive a $1,000 award, a silver medallion, and a trip to Washington, D.C. Ten national honorees will be awarded $5,000, a gold medallion, and a crystal trophy for his or her school. Applications can be picked up in Guidance now. All that is required is for students to fill out the application and return it to Guidance by Friday, Oct. 29. Applications can also be downloaded from www.prudential.com/spirit. Candidates will be reviewed on the basis of their initiative, effort, impact, and personal growth as evidenced through their involvement in community service activities.

COCA-COLA SCHOLARSHIP

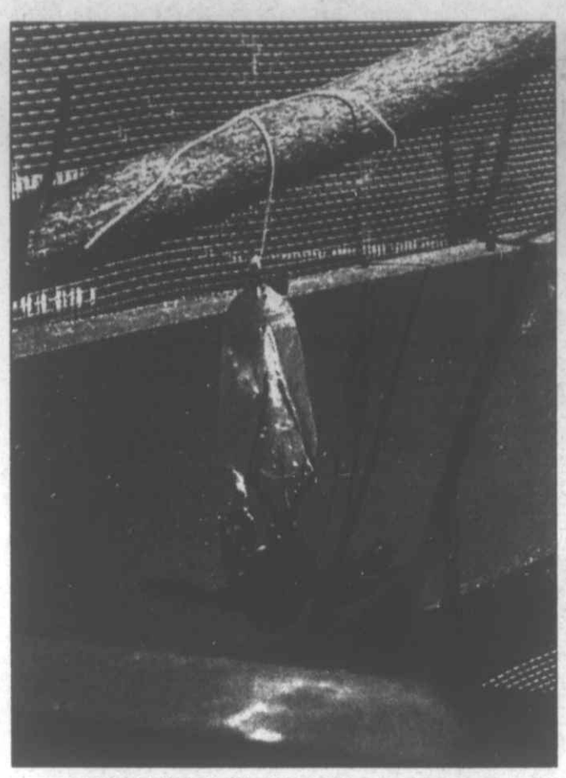
The deadline is midnight on Oct. 31. Two hundred fifty high school seniors across the country will receive scholarships: 200 will receive $4,000 scholarships while 50 will receive $20,000 scholarships.

Eligibility requirements are: current high school senior in the U.S., U.S. citizen, on track to graduate this year, planning to pursue a degree at an accredited U.S. post-secondary institution, and carry a minimum 3.0 GPA at the end of junior year of high school.

Students are to apply online. The web site for this scholarship program is www.coca-colascholars.org. Students who do not have access to the Internet should see Mrs. Sincell in the Guidance Office. Directions to complete the online application are available in the Guidance Office for interested students.

SOCIETY OF AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEERS SCHOLARSHIPS

Postmark deadline is Dec. 1. Seniors interested in a career in engineering should stop by the Guidance Office to review information on the Society of Automotive Engineers Scholarships. Seniors may apply. Applicants must plan to obtain a degree in engineering or related science. A 250-word essay is a required part of the application. There is also a $5 processing fee. More information is available in the Guidance Office. Students can also log onto the web site for a copy of the applications and more information, www.sae.org/students/engschlr.htm.



A WONDER OF NATURE – Hundreds of monarch butterflies like the one above that is emerging from its chrysalis (like a cocoon) were tagged during a recent Deep Creek Lake State Park project, according to naturalist Caroline Blizzard. The butterflies are being released to continue their journey to Mexico. Visitors have been able to watch the butterflies form into their chrysalis and emerge approximately two weeks later. Blizzard said this coming week will be a prime time for butterflies to emerge, and visitors are welcome to learn more about them. Park personnel plan on releasing them daily between 1 and 2 p.m., but interested persons should call 301-387-7067 for more details. Blizzard and Lynne Crehan are pictured at right discussing the various stages of the monarch.

Back-To-School Dance Slated

The annual back-to-school dance will be held on Friday, Sept. 24, at Route 40 Elementary School from 7 to 9 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The cost is $5 per family, and pizza, drinks and snacks will be sold during the dance.

Music will be provided by DJ Tom Garlitz.

Grantsville Cub Scouts To Meet For Night Hike

Grantsville Cub Scout Pack 49 will meet this Saturday, Sept. 25, at New Germany State Park.

A pack meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the lake house, which is the newer building on the dock side of the lake.

A guided night hike will begin at 8:00. Scouts should wear their uniforms if they have them, along with jeans and good walking shoes.

Anyone needing more information may call Lorie Burdock at 301-689-8805 or Darrell Yoder at 301-895-3269.

LOCAL DEMOCRATS OPEN HEADQUARTERS – Garrett County Democrats recently celebrated the opening of their new headquarters, 224 E. Alder Street in Oakland, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony and dessert social. Betty Pritt, Democratic Club president, is shown cutting the ribbon while club members and visitors look on. The headquarters will be open and staffed Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The club has planned numerous election-year activities, including an "old-fashioned" Democratic political rally for "Families for a Stronger America," slated for Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon until 5 p.m. at the fairgrounds in McHenry. This family event will include speakers, live entertainment, food, and children's activities.

Different booths will be set up to display literature about Hospice, Goodwill Nursing Home, Garrett County Lighthouse, the Health Department, and more. This event is free to the public. All are urged to attend to obtain medical information. Questions will be answered by professionals.

UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Kerri Sines, daughter of Gene and Lois Sines, and Robert Speicher, son of Harvey and Barbara Speicher, were united in marriage on Saturday, Sept. 18, at Deep Creek Baptist Church. Pastor Edd Myers officiated over the doublering ceremony.

The bride was escorted by her mother and her father. The wedding party consisted of matron of honor Laura Bowyer, sister of the bride; and bridesmaids Jill Speicher, sister of the groom; and Laura Wolf, Mel-issa Tucci, and Rachel Leverenz, friends of the bride. The best man was Brian Heslop, friend of the groom. The groomsmen were Shane Myers, Jason Kitts, and Frankie Friend, friends of the groom, and Greg Speicher, brother of the groom. The ushers were Darrick Lowdermilk, nephew of the bride, and Chris Speicher, brother of the groom.

The flower girls were McKenna Houser, niece of the groom, and Rileigh Lowdermilk, niece of the bride. The ring bearer was Colton Houser, nephew of the groom. Acolytes were Brianna Lowdermilk and Taylor Sines, nieces of the bride.

The guest book attendant was Hannah Sines, niece of the bride. The program attendants were Madison Sines, niece of the bride, and Patrick Sines, nephew of the bride.

The soloist was Alison Sines, cousin of the bride, and the pianist was Michelle Harman.

Grandparents of the bride are Ralph and Edna Sines, and the grandmother of the groom is Beatrice Roth.

Flowers were placed on the altar in memory of Elwood and Freda Riley, the bride's grandparents; Harvey and Willa Speicher, groom's grandparents; and Edwin H. Roth, Jr., the groom's grandfather.

A reception was held at the McHenry House at the Wisp.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents.

AURORA/EGLON

TEXAS SING

The annual Texas Sing will be held at the Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run, this Sunday afternoon, Sept. 26, at 1 p.m. Groups from the surrounding area will be present. The public is welcome.

SIMMONS-SPAID NUPTIALS TOLD

A Saturday, Sept. 18, wedding united Amanda Spaid and Ryan Simmons in marriage. The Rev. J. Rogers Fike officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. A reception followed at the farm home of the bride's parents, Bob and Peggy Spaid, and grandparents, Joe and Clara Spaid, all Eglon. The groom's parents are Allen and Debbie Simmons, also Eglon.

EGLON 4-H

Vice president Caitlin Roth presided at the Sept. 13 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. Devotions were presented by the Citizenship Committee: Caitlin Roth, Kaitlyn Schalker, and Jonathan Blamble. Nathan Cussins led the pledges. Roll call was answered by 12 members.

Members turned in pop tabs and Boxtops for Education to be used by local schools.

With the Buckwheat Festival at the doorstep, members were reminded that if they are planning to exhibit projects they need to be in the leader's possession by Monday, Sept. 27, for entry is on Tuesday this year.

Linda Lewis distributed new enrollment cards to members and pointed out new and revised projects. She also had examples of project books for members and parents to check out for requirements. These cards need to be back to Mrs. Lewis, also by Sept. 27.

The club is scheduled to serve the Mountain Lions Club on Oct. 7, for which Jackie Blamble volunteered to plan the menu and solicit food. A Garrett County 4-H Project Workshop will be held at Garrett College in October. Elaine Roth had pre-registration forms and asked that they be returned at the October meeting. All club officers are expected to attend the County Officers' Training and Achievement on Nov. 7. The club is contributing a gift of $25 to Cortland Acres Nursing Home in memory of Donald Roth. Mr. Roth was instrumental in establishing the nursing home, was the husband of co-leader Elaine Roth, and had also been interested in the work of the club.

Election of new officers is as follows: president, Debbie Collins; vice president, Caitlin Roth; secretary, Caitlin Norwish; reporter, Katelyn Harsh; recreation leaders, Nathan Cussins and Nathaniel Lawler; music leaders, Jesse Schalker and Cody Hardesty. An executive committee (involving the above new officers) to plan the 2004-2005 program will meet on Sunday evening, Sept. 26, at the Eglon Memorial Building, at 6 p.m.

The activity for the evening was tie-dying T-shirts, which took place in the kitchen, with adult supervision. Members were reminded to include "4-H" in decorating their shirts for wear during National 4-H Week, Oct. 3-9.

The next meeting will be Oct. 11, and each member needs to bring a pumpkin, with plans to decorate it. The Safety Committee will be in charge of devotions.

Reporter, Debbie Collins

BARN DANCE

Everyone is invited to come to Brookside Farm on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 1:30 p.m. for a barn dance. Brookside Farm is located back of Cathedral State Park and was once a part of the Brookside Hotel complex. The afternoon's activities will feature music by The Remedy, free food and refreshments, fresh pressed apple cider, and a raffle of the Volkmar Wentzel photograph, "Quilting Bee on Stemple Ridge." Admission is $5, with children under 10 admitted free, and tickets will be sold at the door.

The barn dance is being sponsored by the Aurora Project to benefit its Artist's Residency and Educational Programs opening in fall 2005. For further information, persons may call Michele Moure at 735-6344.

50TH YEAR REUNION

The Aurora High School class of 1954 celebrated its 50th year anniversary with a reunion held at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building on Saturday evening, Sept. 18. A ham and turkey dinner was served by the women of the church, and the decorations were provided by Glendora Skidmore, Iris Simmons and Beverly Knotts.

Those in attendance were Roy and Reba Fike of Parkersburg; Robert and Lois Strawser of Amboy; Mary Hauser Kelly and Ralph and Selma Cummings, all of Stemple Ridge; Gene and Iris Shaffer Simmons, Aurora; Charles "Smoky" and Sally Myers Beckman, Hagerstown, Md.; Frank and Helen Pretzel Burke of Cumberland, Md.; and Robert and Beverly Knotts, and Glendora Feather Skidmore, Aurora; Victor and Ruth Beckman, Parsons; Donald and Marilyn Arnett, Amboy; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pennington, Cresaptown, Md.; Donald Henline of Delaware; and Huey Auvil of Leavenworth, Kan., and his cousin, Robert Lantz, Missouri. Faculty who attended were Martha Bolyard and Virginia Martin.

Candles were lit in remembrance of deceased members Frances Shay, Cynthia Allen, Edwin Fike, Loraine White, Shirley Feather Beckman, and Mary Ellen Harsh Stewart. Members who were unable to attend and who sent their regrets were Naomi Arbogast Carpenter, Alma Lewis Brake, and Winona Hauser Buckley. Also absent was Frank Denison.

Junior Slaubaugh has returned to his home at Horse Shoe Run after undergoing diagnostic tests at Monongalia General Hospital.

Janet Judy continues her recuperation from phlebitis at her home in Horse Shoe Run.

Tucker Paugh was injured Saturday in a fall from the barn bridge and was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment. He is the son of Tony and Lyndia Lewis, who recently purchased and are living in the former John Teets home, Eglon.

Doris Adams of Aurora received an apparent injured elbow as the result of a Saturday afternoon fall at Arby's in Oakland.

Wilma Waybright of Brookside is currently a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Viola Antasova and her mother of the Slovak Republic were guests this past week of Bob, Peggy, Don, and Amanda Spaid at Eglon. Viola had lived with the Spaids as a foreign exchange student during the 1999-2000 school year and was here to attend Amanda's wedding.

Leonard and Tammy Parsons invited family to join them for a Sunday birthday dinner and party at their Horse Shoe Run home. Their elder son, Daniel turned 9 on Saturday, but his younger brother Michael was helping with the celebration.

West Marva District Church of the Brethren held its annual District Meeting, Sept. 17 and 18 at the Moorefield Church of the Brethren. A District Conference for Youth was held Saturday at nearby Walnut Grove Church of the Brethren. Maple Spring had representatives at both of these conferences.

Those who haven't seen the Friendsville Quilts on display at the Aurora Community Building may still do so on Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m., Friday evenings 5 until 8 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday afternoons, 1-4 p.m., until Oct. 10.

All-Day Buckwheat Cake Dinner Slated At Terra Alta Church

The Christian Women's Organization of Terra Alta Methodist Church will hold an all-day buckwheat cake dinner on Thursday, Sept. 30, from 5 a.m. until 7 p.m.

In addition to buckwheat cakes, the menu will include sausage, sausage gravy, fried potatoes, applesauce, and drinks. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

The church is located along Rt. 7.

Corinth UM Church To Hold Bazaar

The Corinth United Methodist Church will hold a bazaar on Oct. 16 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Handmade crafts, gifts, and decorations will be available, as well as baked goods and soup.

The proceeds will go toward the church's pavilion building fund. The event is being sponsored by the Women's Fellowship.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN–The sun spends nearly all of October within the boundaries of the star group Virgo, the largest zodiac group. On Oct. 30, the sun moves into Libra. The amount of daily sunlight drops in October. The month opens with about 11 hours and 45 minutes of sunlight, and closes with about 10 hours and 30 minutes of sunlight. In early October the sun rises about 7:15 a.m., and sets around 7 p.m.; in late October sunrises are about 7:40 a.m., while sunsets are about 6:15 p.m. (On the last day of October, when we shift to standard time; our sunrises fall back to about 6:45 a.m., while sunsets slide back to 5:17 p.m.) The sun's midday height during October drops from 47 to 36 degrees. In early October, we begin a five-month span when our shadows during the day are always longer than our heights. During the month the length of twilight is about an hour, meaning that the fainter stars fade from view about an hour before sunrise and the fainter stars reappear an hour after sunset. In mid October, we will have about 11 hours each night for star gazing.

THE MOON–As October begins, the moon shines in the late evening sky. After Oct. 5 the moon shifts into the morning sky, then most easily viewed at dawn. On the mornings of Oct. 10 and 11 the crescent moon appears near the brilliant planet Venus in the eastern dawn. On Oct. 13 and 14 the moon hides in the sun's glare. On Oct. 16 the moon reappears as a narrow crescent low in the western dusk. By Oct. 20 the moon has grown to half full (resembling a letter "D"), the best moon shape to view the craters with binoculars. The moon grows to full on the evening of Oct. 27, then shining among the stars of Aries. Late that evening, the moon will pass through the Earth's shadow, resulting in a total lunar eclipse. The Earth's shadow will begin to creep across the moon around 9:15 p.m. Totality (when the moon is completely in the Earth's shadow) will be from 10:23 p.m. to 11:45 p.m. The moon will then likely appear a dull orange or grey. During the remaining evenings of October, the moon shines brightly in the evening sky.

THE SOLAR SYSTEM–Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine steady, unlike the bright night stars that twinkle. The brilliant planet Venus is spectacular in the eastern dawn in October. At the start of October, Venus is close to the bright star Regulus of Leo. As the month draws to a close, Venus creeps closer to the bright planet Jupiter. The planet Saturn is in the south at dawn. In the last week of October, Saturn can be seen low in the east in the last hour of the evening. The planets Mercury and Mars are at too low an angle to the sun to be seen in October.

THE STARS–In the evening hours, the brightest star is Vega, a white blue star high in the west. Vega is part of the Summer Triangle, a trio of bright stars. The Big Dipper is now very low in the north. Becoming more prominent in the northeast is the golden star Capella, the first bright winter evening star to appear.

ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES–The Frostburg State Planetarium program each Sunday is "Eclipses–Sun, Moon, and Stars," with public showings at 4 and 7 p.m. The Planetarium is in Tawes Hall 302. Persons may call 301-687-4270 for further information and directions on how to get to the planetarium.

The Cumberland Astronomy Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 15, at the LaVale Public Library. All sky gazers are welcome.

Dr. Doyle Writes this column for beginners who would like to identify the brightest starts, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure or sky charts, persons may call the FSU Planetarium at 301-387-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "SkyWatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights, that airs weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and 96.3 FM in the Oakland area. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

RUSH SERVICES DONATES TO ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY – Rush Services bought Levi Green's county-bred champion hog at the Garrett County Fair and donated it to Accident Elementary School. The students and parents sold chances on the pork, and the winner was Louise Wilt, Swanton. She purchased her ticket from her grandson, Zac Bittinger, a first grade student. Accident's character education team made approximately $2,000 from the sale. Pictured above with Wilt and Bittinger are Madison McKenzie, daughter of Josh Rush and Julie Severe, and Morgan Rush, daughter of Angie and Jason Rush. Madison and Morgan were "instrumental" in encouraging the Accident students to help with the fundraiser. The girls also picked the winning ticket.

Senator Accepting Applications For Service Academies

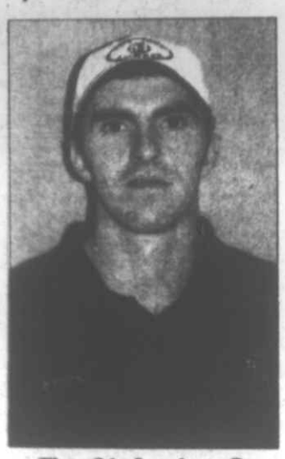
U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes recently announced that his office is now accepting applications for nomination to the four United States service academies for classes entering in 2005. The deadline for submitting completed applications is Friday, Nov. 5, 2004.

"I urge young people who are interested in attending the U.S. Naval Academy, U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Air Force Academy, or the Merchant Marine Academy to obtain a nomination application packet from my office," Sarbanes said. "The packet contains the necessary information and forms to apply for consideration of a nomination. Upon review of completed applications, candidates who appear to meet the minimum entrance standards established by the academies will be invited to appear for an interview before my Academy Interview Panel."

Applicants must be U.S. citizens who are Maryland residents; at least 17 years old, but have not yet passed their 23rd birthday by July 1, 2005; have high academic standing in school, and demonstrate extracurricular or community activities, or both, which show leadership potential.

Interested persons may obtain the nomination application packet by writing to Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, Tower One, Suite 1710, 100 S. Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21201. Additional information is available on the senator's web site at sarbanes.senate.gov.

Payne Hired As Manager Trainee At 84 Lumber



The 84 Lumber Company has hired Byron Payne as a manager trainee at the local 84 Lumber store near Deer Park.

Payne, a native of Oakland, graduated from Southern High School in 1993 and Pittsburgh Technical School in 1996. He is the son of Byron and Tena Payne, Morgantown, W.Va. He currently lives in Morgantown with his fiancé, Kim Osbourne, and son Tyler.

As a manger trainee, Payne is responsible for sales, estimating, and material take-offs, performing in-store merchandising, and maintaining store and yard appearance, a spokesperson said.

The 84 Lumber Company was founded by Joe Hardy in 1956 in the town of Eighty Four, Pa., where the original store continues to operate. There are now more than 470 stores in 34 states which employ more than 7,500 associates nationwide.

SYLVANIA 300 REVIEW

BUSCH kicks off the Chase

Roush driver sweeps at New Hampshire as wreck shakes up the Chase standings

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Loudon, N.H.

The 10 contenders in the Chase for the Nextel Cup were worried about some wild Sunday driver messing up the championship hunt, and then Robby Gordon came crashing in.

Gordon, so far south of the top 10 — 22nd — he'd have a better view of the 10-race playoff if he bought a ticket, became a major player in the Chase and single-handedly scrambled the standings.

Tony Stewart, who finished 39th, and Jeremy Mayfield, who finished 35th, were the innocent victims of Gordon's retaliatory wreck of Greg Biffle early in the Sylvania 300. NASCAR penalized Gordon two laps for rough driving. His only explanation to reporters afterward was a single-digit gesture.

Kurt Busch, in the No. 97 Ford, led 155 of 300 laps and swept to his second victory at New Hampshire International Speedway this year.

Busch beat Roush Racing teammate Matt Kenseth in the No. 17 Ford by 2.488 seconds and leaped from seventh to a tie for the points lead with Dale Earnhardt Jr., who finished third in the No. 8 Chevrolet.

Earnhardt overtook Hendrick Motorsports teammates Jeff Gordon and Jimmie Johnson, who finished seventh and 11th, respectively.

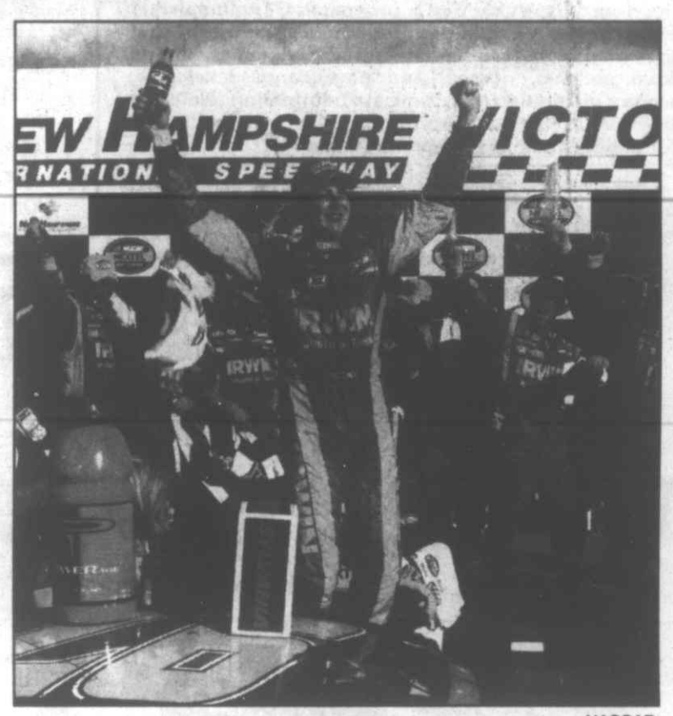
Busch led the last 35 laps and won in undramatic fashion. But Robby Gordon had provided a day's worth of drama early.

Biffle, driving the No. 16 Ford, had gotten into Gordon on the 17th lap and sent the No. 31 Chevy into the wall at Turn 2. "I will get him," Gordon said on his radio.

He did, on Lap 64, bumping Biffle from behind. Biffle's car spun to the left, striking Mayfield's No. 19 Dodge on the right side and then collecting Stewart's No. 20 Chevrolet, which was coming up fast.

"I got into him by accident early in the race, and he came back and spun us out on purpose and took two of the guys in the points race out," Biffle said. "I feel bad for those guys."

Stewart's car couldn't make it past Lap 83. Mayfield's car was patched up but finished 49 laps behind.



NASCAR

Kurt Busch celebrates in Victory Lane after his No. 97 Ford led 155 of 300 laps to win the Sylvania 300 at New Hampshire.

"Robby will have his day," a dejected Mayfield said. "I don't know who will do it, but I'm just an innocent bystander here, and I'm just voicing my mind.

"I guess Biffle started it and Robby came back. Maybe it was just racing, who knows? I just think Robby Gordon and Biffle ought to go outside the racetrack and fight and get it over with. Go outside and settle it somewhere else."

Ray Evernham, who owns Mayfield's car, wasn't sure NASCAR's punishment fit the crime.

"When a bad day is caused by a temper, there's just no place for that at this level. I'm happy that they did something," Evernham said. "For us it was severe. They cost us a lot of money, a lot of points and it was done intentionally. I just have a tough time dealing with that stuff, a bonehead deal like that."

All weekend, the contenders had speculated how they would be treated by the rest of the field. With the elevated stage NASCAR has given the championship finalists, the races are being set up as the top 10 vs. the bottom 33.

Earnhardt said the racing Sunday wasn't any more intense than usual.

"In your brain, it was more intense," he said, "but the actual actions you were doing weren't more intense, if that makes sense."

Robby Gordon's actions gave some more concern Sunday.

"It's survival," Johnson said.

"All this stuff that's happening right now and all the stuff that will happen in the next nine weeks is what NASCAR is going to have to look at to evaluate this system," Jeff Gordon said.

SYLVANIA 300 NOTES

Stewart already off winning pace

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Loudon, N.H.

With nine races left in the Chase for the Nextel Cup Championship, Tony Stewart is already counting himself out of contention. A 42nd-place finish tends to have that affect on one's optimism.

"It wasn't but two years ago that we left Daytona 43rd and came back and won [the championship]," said Stewart, driver of the No. 20 Chevrolet. "So, it can happen again this year. But to try to make up that amount of points in nine more races is virtually impossible."

Stewart was a victim of a Lap 64 confrontation between Greg Biffle and Robby Gordon, unable to avoid crashing into Biffle's No. 16 Ford as it spun wildly thanks to a nudge from behind by Gordon's No. 31 Chevrolet.

That was of no consolation to Stewart, considered a favorite for the championship.

"It's just part of racing," Stewart said. "We're leaving here early because we've got a tore up race car that we got involved in somebody else's wreck. That's just part of our sport, it's what happens.

"All I can do is go out and try to win the next nine races in a row."

It's a race of hurdles

Dale Earnhardt Jr. sees Sunday's race as a cleared hurdle in the 10-race playoff. Half of Sunday's top 10 finishers are not in the championship chase.

"You've got to go every week and try to get what you can as an end result," he said. "If your car is a 20th-place car, you've got to try to muscle it up to maybe just outside of the top 10, but you can't just take the risk of wrecking. You can't get involved in crashes or get cut tires. You've got to try to minimize all the mistakes you can on pit road.

"Every lap you're going to be a lot more nervous than you were before. Is this the lap where the motor blows or a tire comes apart? You've seen so many more motor and tire failures this year than we normally see and you really are curious about it. It's almost as expected as a debris caution with 25 laps to go."

TALK THE TALK

A guide to NASCAR terms

"Support crew"

The crew that assists the "over the wall" crew by rolling them tires, handing them tools and retrieving air hoses.

"Jack post"

The area where the jackman places the jack on the side of the car during a pit stop.

Nextel Cup elite leave also-rans in dust

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Loudon, N.H.

Most of the drivers on the Nextel Cup circuit are on the outside looking in. They are mere spectators at the championship dance available to just 10 drivers.

The top 10 in points have been elevated to a special status: invited to Nextel's Reston, Va., headquarters last week for the unveiling of the Tiffany-produced trophy and chauffeured about New York for TV appearances.

And as if the also-rans needed another reminder of their second-tier status, the top 10 drivers started in front of everyone else in the Sylvania 300 because qualifying was rained out.

The racing gods have been rubbing it in, it seems.

"I feel like the kid in school that was left out of recess," Jamie McMurray said. "You feel like you deserve to be there."

After the first 26 races — essentially the prelims in the new order of NASCAR racing — McMurray ended up in 11th place. He missed the top 10 by 15 points when the engine in his No. 42 Dodge died a slow death during the last 20 laps at Richmond.

"I feel like the kid in school that was left out of recess."

JAMIE McMURRAY,
Driver not in the Chase

The other drivers who were fighting for a spot in the playoff were putting on a positive spin at New Hampshire: Gee, we still have 11th place to shoot for, which pays a million bucks and earns a special seat at the awards banquet.

"The beginning of the week was tough," said rookie Kasey Kahne, who also missed the Chase. "What can you do? If we cry about it anymore, we'll miss our chance to finish in 11th or win a race."

McMurray still hurts.

He had to finish at least fourth at Richmond to make the cut; he came in ninth with a gradually slowing car. "I don't know that I could have made another lap," McMurray said. "At the start-finish line, I was just going 50 mph."

The disappointment has been just as slow to ease.

"I have had, gosh, like two or three nights of literally no sleep just running over the last 30 or 40 laps [at Richmond] in my head," McMurray said. "I've never been through something like that with a points system, and it got very heartbreaking."

Drivers not in the Chase say they haven't experienced extra pressure from their sponsors for failing to make the playoff.

"Dodge would have definitely liked to have all 10 of the cars in there to be Dodges," said Kahne, who is sponsored by Dodge dealers. "But we all worked hard; we all did what we could do this year and didn't make it. Now we just try to win races for Dodge. They didn't put any extra pressure on me."

Sponsors will have to embrace the exposure their non-Chase cars receive and root for their drivers.

"We've never built our sponsorship of Dale Jarrett and the No. 88 Ford on just 10 races," said Susan Rosenberg, a spokesperson for UPS. "We look at it as 36 weeks of racing. Sure, we would have loved for Dale to have made the final 10, but he got so much more exposure the last few weeks being on the bubble compared with the drivers who were already a lock."

OFF THE TRACK

Drivers go from restrictor plates to fashion plates

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Loudon, N.H.

As a prelude to the Nextel Cup's final 10 races, the top 10 drivers had to put in an appearance last week in New York. After a round of interviews, they participated in a fall fashion show Sept. 16 on "Live with Regis and Kelly."

They didn't set out to create any trends. Their fashion statements bordered on outrageous.

Tony Stewart modeled a loud bright orange sweater. Matt Kenseth sported a striped head cap. Regis put Dale Earnhardt Jr. in a business suit.

"It was a fall fashion thing and they had clothes picked out for everybody," said Kenseth, the defending champion and driver of the No. 17 Ford. "I didn't think my beanie hat was any worse than Stewart's orange sweater or the coat with the fringe around it like an Alaskan guy that [Elliott] Sadler had to wear."

"Back in the green room, what we were agreeing to wear and not agreeing to wear was pretty funny," Jeff Gordon said. "Jeremy Mayfield was not going to wear that argyle sweater."

WOMEN SOLDIERS OF THE CIVIL WAR will be presented Monday, Sept. 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa., by William T. Carroll. An educator and history speaker from Pittsburgh, Pa., Carroll has served more than 35 years in the education field. He will discuss how women fought alongside men in battle. The War Between the States was also a war between brothers, cousins, friends, and neighbors – and some of them were females. Women served as nurses, cooks, Union and Confederate soldiers, and even spies. Pictured is a rendition of Loreta J. Velazquez, a Confederate officer who went by the name of Lt. Harry T. Buford. The meeting house is located along Springs Road. Sponsored by the Springs Historical Society, the presentation is free and open to the public. For further information, persons may call 814-445-6945 or 814-662-4366, or visit springspa.org.

Md. Child Hlth. Insurance Enrollment Falls Sharply; Rebound Hoped For

by Kia Hall Hayes
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Budget tightening pushed more than 23,000 children off the Maryland Children's Health Insurance Program in the last six months of 2003, a 21 percent drop in enrollment that was among the steepest in the nation.

But state officials said few, if any, of those children lost insurance coverage as a result of the restrictions that were placed on the plan, which included an enrollment freeze and a premium for some families who had not had to pay before. And both of those measures were reversed this summer.

Health care advocates, who challenged the claim that no one was hurt by the program cuts, welcomed the return to the original MCHIP standards. "I think low-income families are extremely sensitive to premiums, and particularly when they are experiencing budget concerns themselves," said Barbara Lyons, Medicaid director for the Kaiser Family Foundation.

The State Children's Health Insurance Program, or SCHIP, is a federal program that provides coverage to low-income families who make too much money to be eligible for Medicaid, yet cannot afford private insurance.

The program grew every year from its inception in 1997 until enrollment peaked at close to 4 million children in June 2003. By December, however, nationwide enrollment had dropped by 37,000. Maryland's decline, driven by state budget cuts, contributed to that nationwide decrease. Maryland's drop was second to that of Texas and comparable to New York's.

In June 2003, Maryland changed enrollment requirements for MCHIP and reviewed the eligibility of children already in the program. It removed roughly 15,000 children from MCHIP after finding they were eligible for some form of Medicaid coverage. Another 2,300 children were removed after the state found their parents had employer-sponsored health insurance. MCHIP also charged some families a $37-a-month premium, and closed enrollment to families with incomes of more than twice the poverty level. Another 1,600 children dropped out of the program after the premium was added.

Officials at the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and at Kaiser, which issued a report on the drop in SCHIP enrollment, said they could not account for the remaining 4,100 children who left the program last year, except to say they are not covered by MCHIP.

Maryland officials believe the majority of healthcare recipients simply switched providers, and that the requirements imposed last summer were not wholly responsible for the enrollment drop.

The premium's effect on enrollment has been small, according to a report by John G. Folkemer, Medicaid director of the state health department. Since December, he said, enrollment has grown among families required to pay a premium, and 14 percent of those who pulled out of the program last year had reenrolled by June 2004.

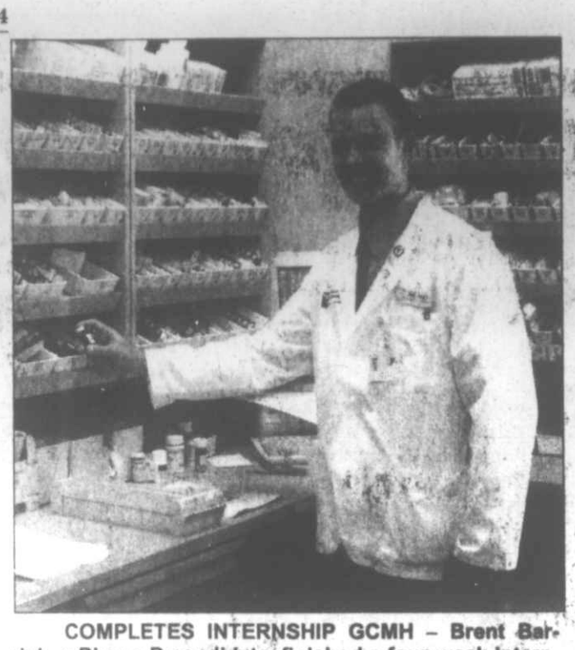
In the report's sample survey of families who were required to pay the premium and later dropped out, most said the fee was affordable and more than half said the $37 fee was not their reason for leaving the program, Folkemer said. Some cited problems navigating the bureaucracy of the system, he said, and others found other health coverage programs that did not charge a fee.

"And some of them just said they didn't think it was worth it," Folkemer said.

The majority of those dropped from MCHIP still have coverage, just under a different program, he said.

But Lyons said Maryland's enrollment was hurt by the premiums, and the General Assembly knew that when it voted against extending the premium and the enrollment freeze beyond this summer, she said.

"We thought (that) was very positive," she said.



COMPLETES INTERNSHIP GCMH – Brent Barrick, a Pharm D candidate, finished a four-week internship at Garrett County Memorial Hospital last week. Barrick, a resident of Keyser, W.Va., is completing his final year at the West Virginia University School of Pharmacy. "Brent has demonstrated the skills to practice pharmacy at a very high level. I am impressed with his ability to effectively communicate pertinent information to both patients and health care providers," said Lance Rhodes, directory of pharmacy. "Brent will be successful in whatever setting he chooses to practice pharmacy." While at GCMH, Barrick enhanced his knowledge by assuming the pharmaceutical care responsibilities of a pharmacist under the direct supervision of a pharmacist. The emphasis of his activities includes developing pharmaceutical care plans; responding to pharmacy related questions from patients, nurses, and physicians; developing written material to communicate information related to medication use; and performing education activities for patients and health care providers.

Garrett College To Host Mountain Top College Expo

Nearly 40 colleges, universities, technical schools, and military academies will be represented at the Mountain Top College Expo on Monday, Oct. 11, at Garrett College from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

A financial aid workshop will be held at 7 p.m., and seniors can register for up to three different $500 scholarships.

This event is sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education.

All students and their parents are encouraged to attend.

Open House Set At Flowery Vale Sept. 27 - Oct. 1

Free fitness assessments and mini-workout programs will be offered to Garrett County residents age 55 and over and health care providers at Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center, from Monday, Sept. 27, through Friday, Oct. 1.

This opportunity is provided by Garrett County Community Action's Agency on Aging as part of an open house event to mark National Active Aging Week. The center will be open to visitors from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"We will demonstrate use of the equipment and offer sample classes, as well as assessments and brief workout programs," said fitness director Elaine Kackley. "Experiencing what the center has to offer is the best way to learn about it."

Holding the open house for five days rather than just one day will provide greater opportunity for people to take advantage of this offer, Kackley explained.

"We hope to have many of our local health care providers visit and learn about the benefits of our program as well as our residents who haven't been in to see our facility before," she said.

Flowery Vale is located at 204 South Street. For more information about the open house, persons may call 301-746-8050.

TV-PIPELINE

McCrane of 'ER' has a movie in the works

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Paul McCrane

Q: Has Paul McCrane done anything since leaving his "ER" role as Dr. Romano? I love his acting style! –Bette Belanger, Acushnet, Mass.

A: Yes, McCrane, 43, who got his big break in the 1980 movie hit "Fame," just completed work on the film "A Year and a Day." The ensemble drama, which costars Fairuza Balk, is due in theaters in 2005.

Q: I remember a very early Hanna-Barbera cartoon called "Ruff and Reddy." When did it premiere? –K.W., Copiague, N.Y.

A: The first made-for-TV cartoon from Oscar-winning "Tom and Jerry" team William Hanna and Joseph Barbera, "Ruff and Reddy" premiered Dec. 14, 1957, on NBC. The cartoons, which unfolded in serialized style, showed how Ruff, a clever cat, and Reddy, a dim dog, squared off against villains such as Killer and Diller or Captain Greedy and Salt Water Daffy.

During its initial 1957-60 NBC run, "Ruff and Reddy" had a live host in Jimmy Blaine and his puppet sidekicks, Rhubarb the parrot and Jose the toucan. Later, when NBC aired reruns from 1962-64, Captain Bob Cottle hosted the shows with his puppets Jasper, Gramps and Mr. Answer.

"Ruff and Reddy" is only dimly remembered by many today, but it provided proof that limited, low-tech animation could economically fill viewing hours of children's television.

Q: Why is TV being so unfair to overweight actresses lately? "King of Queens," "Still Standing" and two new sitcoms with John Goodman and Jason Alexander: All have overweight male leads with beautiful wives. Where are the shows with overweight women with slim, good-looking husbands? –Anita Watson, Kansas.

A: "Lately," you say? What TV shows did you use to watch that featured all those heavier women with the studly hubbies? I agree that it's a glaring double standard, but it's also one that widely exists in American society as a whole. Various studies confirm that when it comes to picking mates, women are generally more willing and able to look beyond the superficial than men are.

Even a show with as strong a feminist streak as HBO's "Sex and the City" had its characters viewing sexy Samantha's (Kim Cattrall) affair with a younger male model (Jason Lewis) with skepticism, whereas had the genders been reversed – a 40-ish male executive dating a 20-something female model – no one would have batted an eyelash.

The HBO series ended with Samantha embracing her lover's very real affection for her, but I don't know that you're going to be seeing that kind of evolved sensibility on more commercial sitcoms anytime soon.

TRIVIA

W.C. Fields ("My Little Chickadee") was born William Claude Dukenfield. He went by many pseudonyms, including Primrose Magoo.

Buster Keaton ("Go West") worked behind the scenes at MGM in the 1930s and '40s, and coached youngsters Red Skelton and Lucille Ball.

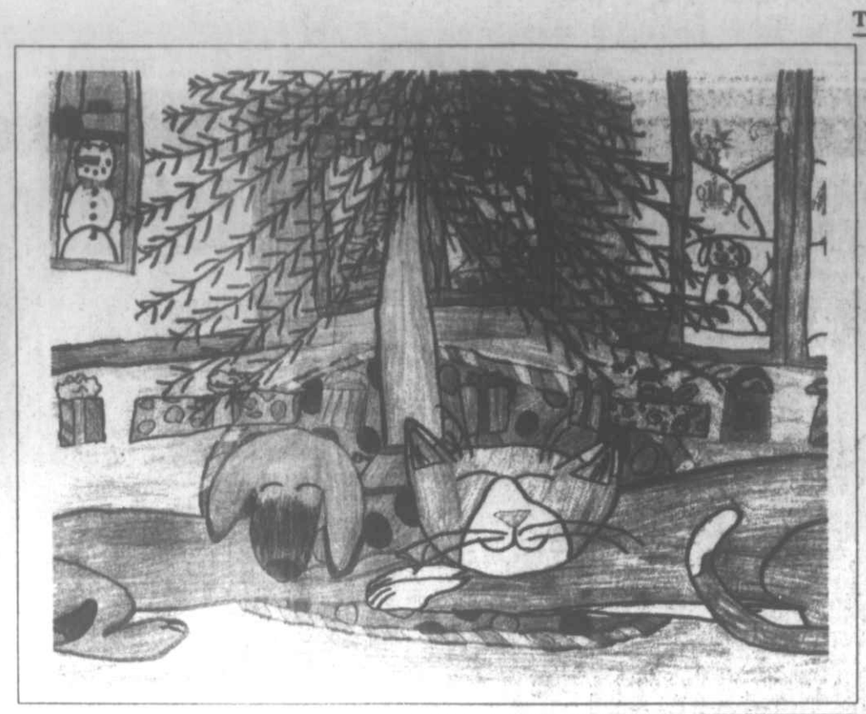
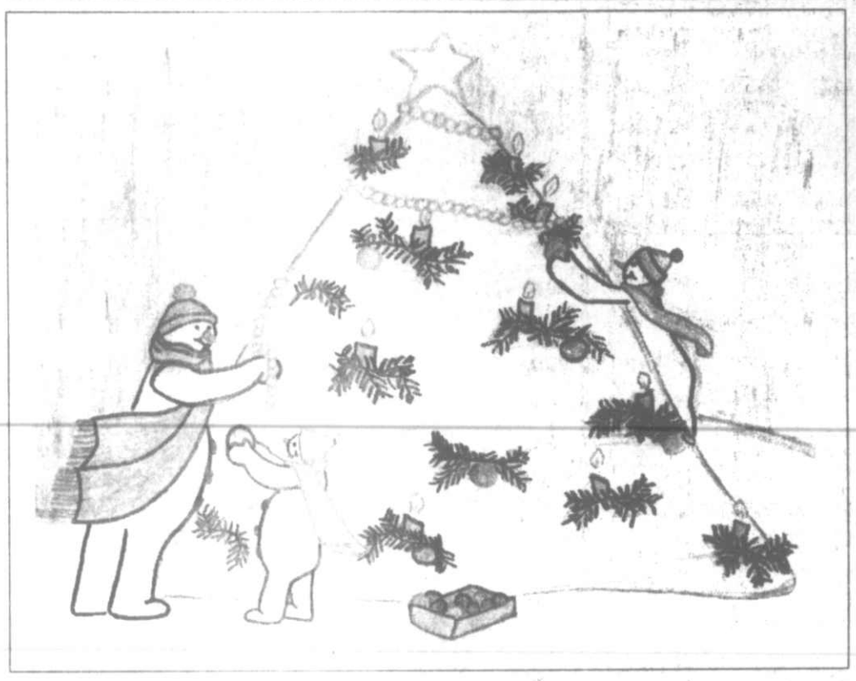
SIBLINGS CREATE CARDS FOR CANCER – Ten-year-old Becky Diller of Oakland and her 14-year-old brother Steve are artists with a cause. Each designed a holiday greeting card that will be used to benefit young cancer patients at West Virginia University Children's Hospital. Their designs were selected following this year's U.S. Cellular Cards of Hope Summer party – a joint project of the Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center and WVU Children's Hospital. The cards are marketed throughout the tri-state area by volunteers and U.S. Cellular stores. Proceeds benefit the Pediatric Cancer Care and Research Fund at WVUH. Becky's card, Share the Joy, is sponsored by Morgantown Florist and features popular pets under the tree. Steven's card, Built with Love, is sponsored by Twin Oaks Home Care and features holiday decorating. Becky is a leukemia survivor. She was diagnosed with the disease in 1997, and had a bone marrow transplant. Steve was her donor. "She's doing great," said her mother Marilyn. "She has no problems, other than growing slower physically compared to other kids her age." For more information or to order Cards of Hope, persons may call 304-293-3711 or visit www.cardsofhope.com.





Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

This year's Confirmation class at Emmanuel was successfully launched Sunday evening. Emma Bass and Meredith are second-year students and will complete their journey toward being full-fledged members of the congregation next May. It is always good to see our congregation grow with newly confirmed members. There are no first-year students from Emmanuel, but Zion in Jennings has two students entering the class and St. John's on Meadow Mountain has one student starting her journey. We wish them well.

Young Alayna Weir was so excited on Sunday morning. She could hardly wait to get to church and show off pictures of her newborn sister. McKenna Rae is lucky to have such a very happy and proud big sister, and Aaron and Patty are lucky to have such a good helper for the new baby. She also has a very pleased and proud grandfather in Sam Stanton, who pronounced that she is a very good baby who only cries when she needs something. I didn't get much of a chance to chat with Cindy, but I did want to call her Grandma Cindy, no matter how strange that would sound. How my favorite playmate from childhood got to be a grandmother is so hard to comprehend. Same way all grandmothers get there, I guess. Ferne Beachy is an old hand at being a great-grandmother. Who knows, before long she may have a dozen or so. Time does fly. I do not expect to reach that milestone very soon.

Last weekend was the big game in Morgantown. It was amazing that they had such a nice day for the handful of Bittinger folks on both sides that made the game after such a frightful Friday. On the Maryland side was the Rodney Glotfelty family. Of course, the Southerly clan rooted for the Mountaineers. The Southerlys always seem to have a substantial family crowd from down-state who are Maryland fans, including John and daughter Kelsey Wells of Rockville, Bee Buckel and friend Charles Nolan, and all the way from Lexington, Ky., were Dave and Donna Buckel. Even more than I usually do, I hoped for a Maryland win because I can't help but worry about my Claire's safety if Morgantown gets a big win. I was relieved to hear from her that she was safe in her dorm room before dark. She still has to have some divided loyalties since she was raised a rabid Maryland fan. She will probably always have a place in her heart for the Terps. Sheila Southerly reassured me that the post-game scene was really very peaceful.

We certainly are enjoying several days in a row of sunshine after the dismal wet weather that made its way to the mountains from Florida last week. I did not get a chance to check Rock Lodge spring, but I am pretty sure that it is flowing strong. Today it is only one day from the first day of fall. Although most trees are still mostly green, there are some small patches of brilliant red and yellow here and there. But one thing is business as usual – the drop of the thermometer during the nighttime. Last week Pastor Pat remarked to me that she noticed the smell of wood smoke in the air. I have not seen my hummingbirds for several weeks. Even my thistle seed feeder is less busy. I have seen a few finches and sparrows around.

Most haymaking is over around here. Now the next big job is manure spreading to clear those barns before another winter. That is the other aroma that I remember fall bringing. There was no sign of it when I just let Boo out, but the air certainly felt like autumn with its slight chill. That is one big regret that I feel about the change of the season. Instead of the front door being open with only the screen door closed, which Boo can open herself, now I will make dozens of trips to the door to let her out, and in, and out, and in, etc. It is a fulltime job. She seems at times to need more attention than a newborn baby. And although she is pretty beautiful, she is no way as cute or sweet as a baby, although my girls disagree with me about that. They think she is the most beautiful thing in the world, if not the cutest.

The semi-annual Bittinger community interdenominational worship service is in the planning stages. In the spring the community comes together for the Easter Sunrise service, and in fall we celebrate around All Saints' Day. The service will be held at the Bittinger fire hall on October 24 at 7 p.m.

Emmanuel Lutheran will celebrate Appalachian Sunday in conjunction with a debt retirement ceremony on October 10. The new building replaced what in my mind was a perfect traditional church building with a more suburban type building. The most current project to finish the building is the construction of a bell tower in line with the original design. A major workday is planned for Friday of this week. It will be wonderful to hear our bell ringing again. But I still regret the loss of our century-old, simple wood church and think back on the many memories of times in that old structure. So many baptisms, confirmations, weddings, and the funerals of four grandparents, my father, and my youngest brother Scott. Even after several years in the new church, I still feel slightly out of place. But I guess this is progress. Very few of the old-type churches seem to be in use. I guess it is like the passing of the old one-room community schools which were replaced with new, larger consolidated elementary and high schools. With something new there is always the loss of something old.

Margaret and Jim Wagner visited Jimmy and Nadia Wagner at Hilton Head, S.C., and Chuck and Judy Klotz of Columbus, S.C. They also visited Donna and Wayne Wagner of Rocky Mount. They attended the wedding of Jay and Michelle Wagner on Saturday.

Bee Buckel of Adelphia and friend Charlie of Lutherville were weekend guests of Lenny and Sally Poholsky. They attended the West Virginia/Maryland game on Saturday. Ferne Beachy and Sally Poholsky were recent visitors of Bertha Rodamer.

ROTARY HOSTS DISTRICT GOV. – Rotary District 7350 Governor Kelly C. Wike of Tyrone, Pa., spoke at a recent meeting of the Oakland Rotary Club, where she thanked the local club for its many service efforts. She also highlighted the district's priorities for the current year, which include focuses on literacy, AIDS, water management, starvation, the family of Rotary, and community centennial projects. The district has a special project to provide one million meals for the needy. Past District Governor Doug Riley of the Oakland Club announced that the club would make a contribution to provide 1,000 meals to that project in honor of Wike's visit, and would provide more funds in the future. Wike also visited Oakland's Rotary Park, where she viewed the Rotary Centennial. Wike is pictured at the left accepting a gift of an Oakland Rotary Club banner from Oakland Rotary Club president-elect Daryl Walters. For further information about the local club, which meets Thursdays at 12:15 p.m., persons may contact secretary Joan Johnson at 301-533-1031.

Primrose Oil Reduces Arthritis Pain

Evening primrose oil is an herbal supplement with a variety of uses. It has been shown to be as effective as some prescription drugs in relieving breast pain in women. When taken by mouth in combination with fish oils and calcium, evening primrose oil seems to decrease bone turnover and increase the density of the spinal and femoral bones in elderly people with osteoporosis. After six months of steady oral use, some research has shown that evening primrose oil can significantly reduce the symptoms and pain associated with rheumatoid arthritis. However, recent studies have shown that evening primrose oil does not seem to be effective in the treatment of its two most publicized indications-premenstrual symptoms or eczema.

Obtained from the seed of the plant, evening primrose oil's main active ingredients consists of an anti-inflammatory compound called gamma-linolenic acid and vitamin E. Although there is some evidence that this oil may lower levels of fats or cholesterol in the blood, thin the blood, or prevent pregnancy-related complications, more studies are needed.

"To Thine Own Self Be True"

This famous quote from Hamlet, one of William Shakespeare's most popular plays, is as true today as it was centuries ago. In context, the wise father, Polonius, was giving this advice to his son, Laertes, who was about to embark from Denmark to France. Yet, how easily might a parent today give this same advice to a son or daughter about to leave home for the first time to go to college or to begin a new career.

How difficult it can be to stick to one's convictions in the face of diversity. Temptations await at every turn. Of course most of us falter at one time or another, but as we experience life, we realize our parents' advice to be unfaltering. How many times have their admonitions rung true? "What goes around comes around."

If we are untrue to our convictions, we are untrue to ourselves. The philosopher, Marcus Aurelius, said, "Never esteem anything as of advantage to thee that shall make thee break thy word or lose thy self-respect."

What is a source of strength for us as we strive to be true to our convictions? God's Word has been a pillar of strength for generations. In every location, a place of worship and new friends are not far away. Your truth lies with your Heavenly Father. He waits for you there.

Remaining in God's Love

As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you; abide in my love. If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in His love. These things I have spoken to you, that your joy may be full (John 15:9-11). These encouraging verses from the Holy Bible should be beneficial in helping us build a deeper relationship with God, and allow us to stay in His love. At times, the daily happenings of our busy world may cause us to forget about God's love, and this may cause us to separate ourselves from Him. Having a good prayer life and asking God for His help in everything we do will strengthen our relationship with Him. We should try to recognize all of the daily blessings that come our way, and also accept any disappointments without grumbling or complaining. Problems, or even disasters, should be a means to help us grow in God's love, we abide in Him and our joy may be full.

If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever you will, and it shall be done for you.

R.S.V. John 15:7

Dog-Friendly Reading

Pet-friendly places seem to be springing up everywhere lately. I was walking past a newly opened hotel near my office recently, and noticed a set of nice chrome-plated doggie dishes sitting at the end of a small red carpet, next to the main door. A sign above water and doggy bones proclaimed, "Welcome Dottie!" It was cute, unexpected, and sure to alert passersby that this was a pet-friendly hotel.

Which brings me to my first of two books by author Darlene Arden in this month's recommended reading: "Unbelievably Good Deals and Great Adventures That You Absolutely Can't Get Unless You're a Dog" (McGraw-Hill, $14.95). This catchy paperback lists more than just pet-friendly hotels. It provides a wealth of information on special travel options (like airlines that cater to pets and special canine camps), treats and toys, veterinary services, day care and dog parks, artwork and even radio stations that cater to dogs. It's a unique angle on a subject of interest to anyone who wants to bring their best friend along on vacation.

And before you hit the road, you might want to pick up a copy of The Angell Memorial Animal Hospital "Book of Wellness and Preventive Care for Dogs" (McGraw-Hill, $14.95). Care and feeding of your pooch, from puppyhood to old age, is described in a simple but informative manner. Basic training, behavior problems, and many types of disease are addressed, along with treatment options. It's a good, comprehensive manual to have on hand from the first day you bring your puppy home.

Strange BUT TRUE

• Tigers have stripes, but it's not just their fur — their skin is striped, too.

• McDonald's once offered a sandwich it called the "Hula Burger," consisting of a pineapple ring with two slices of cheese on a toasted bun. It was thought that vegetarians would make it a success, but it turned out to be a flop.

• You might be surprised to learn that sunglasses were worn in China in the 15th century. You'd be even more surprised to find out who wore them: judges. When a judge would preside over court, the sunglasses would help to conceal their facial expressions from those in the courtroom.

• Plano, Texas, is home to the Combat Cockroach Hall of Fame.

• There's now a company that manufactures a gun that looks like a cell phone. Evidently, they look exactly like real cell phones, but they're heavier. Bullets are fired by using the keypad.

• If you take one ounce of solid gold and hammer it out until it's as thin as possible, you could get a sheet of gold that covers 100 square feet.

• Arica, Chile, holds the dubious distinction of being the driest place on Earth. It receives an average of only 0.02 inches of rainfall every year.

• You can hardly mention Dracula without thinking of film star Bela Lugosi, who portrayed the character in classic movies. Most people don't realize, though, that Lugosi was also an accomplished sculptor.

• It was in 1907, in St. Louis, that the first automobile service station opened. Today, there are more than 200,000 of them in the United States.

Beer Steins

Q. I have several early beer steins and am wondering if they have any value. — Jack, Pueblo West, Colo.

A. Beer steins, often called mugs, jugs and tankards, are generally drinking vessels for beer with both a handle and lid. The word "stein" is derived from the German word "steinzeugkrug," which, roughly translated, means stoneware jug or container. Many different types of steins are collected, including etched, pewter, character, regimental, porcelain and commercial examples.

Prices vary, of course, on rarity, condition and desirability.

George F. Adams is an appraiser who specializes in vintage steins. Write to him c/o Steins Unlimited, Rt. 600, Box 7-B, Pamplin, VA 23958. For a second opinion, you might want to contact dealer John D. Stuart, c/o Thirsty Knight Antiques, 7 & 9 East Main St., P.O. Box 48, New Market, MD 21774.

Q. I have a small collection of books published during the mid-20th century about ghosts and hauntings. Is there a market for such materials? — Robert, Midland, Texas

A. Chris Woodyard is a serious collector of paranormal books and might be interested in the ones you have. His address is 1811 Stonewood Drive, Dayton, OH 45432.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Several readers have contacted me concerning tarnished silver. A simple, inexpensive solution is to put two tablespoons of baking soda into a bowl. Add warm water, one drop at a time, until a thin paste forms. Spread the paste on the silver with a soft, clean cloth. Let sit for a couple of minutes and then rinse, dry well and polish with a soft cloth.

Message from the Dean's Desk

Garrett College

by Dr. Virginia Broaddus
Dean of Academic Affairs

It's hard to believe that only a month ago, we at Garrett were gearing up for a new semester, eagerly anticipating new classes in both our credit and non-credit division and counting down the days until we welcomed students. Now, even though students have been in credit classes for just two weeks, it feels as though they've been a part of our lives here for a long time. That's the essence of being a small college. We get to know our students quickly and well, and in turn, they come to know a great deal not only about their courses, but also about life at GC, where they play important parts on a dynamic team of learners and educators.

Part of GC life involves getting to know new faculty and staff, and this semester has given us some super opportunities to welcome colleagues. For instance, Eric Hallenbeck has joined our team in more ways than one. Eric, who has most recently worked at Frostburg State University as an assistant baseball coach, now serves as GC's head baseball coach and as a member of our admissions crew. He's at the helm of a great baseball team and joins Thea Garland, Ann Wellham, and Dennis Gibson in coaching a dedicated group of student athletes from Garrett County and beyond.

Coaching, as it happens, occurs in our classrooms every day, in a sense. Many of our faculty work hard to bring out the best in their students and to engage them in team work, particularly appropriate given the workplace and its call for team-centered employees. Working as a team can be particularly important when students are studying science, including in Linda Griffith's chemistry and physics classes. Linda, who has taught in Frederick County's public schools as well as at Frederick Community College, brings dynamic energy to Garrett, as well as experience in industry and as a graduate of WVU's master's in chemistry program. We're glad she's on board as we continue building our math/science program in order to provide the best education possible to our students.

We're building our AVS program, too, and part of that effort has involved bringing in two new faculty. Terry Peterson has long been a valued member of Garrett's adjunct faculty. Most recently, she's served as an instructor for us and as coordinator of the Transitional Age Youth (TAY) grant administered with Garrett County Core Service Agency. With her master's in parks and recreation management from WVU, she holds multiple professional certifications and has abundant energy for leading Garrett's students in great new directions. Steven Shewach, who's new to Garrett but not new to the adventure sports field, also brings lots of energy to our AVS program as well as a master's degree in recreation, parks, and tourism administration from Western Illinois University. As instructor of adventure sports, he'll work with Terry, Michael Swiderski, and Mike Logsdon, along with adjuncts, support staff, and students to continue strengthening a program that helps students achieve their potential in and out of the field.

We've welcomed other new faces to Garrett recently, too. In addition to Rick McCrobie, who's coordinating our agriculture program, and Rich Seese, who's instructing computer courses and leading our High School Computer Repair Academy, we've been glad that Pam Warnick has joined our financial aid team. Pam, who works closely with Chris Walters and other members of the Student Assistance Center team, is here as a financial aid assistant and works to be a strong support for our students.

All of us at Garrett are, in fact, here for our students. We work with them as a team, and that's why there is perhaps no greater sadness for us than when we confront tragedy involving one of our own. Cheston Bachtel had been a student at GC for several semesters, and he was known to many of us for his exuberance and his great outlook on life. Last week, the campus had a definite pall as we learned of the tragic accident that took his life. Ending this column by noting our community's loss is our way of saying that we are holding Cheston's family and friends in our thoughts and that we will miss Cheston, who will always have a place in Garrett's collective heart.

Benefits Of Community Colleges Resound Throughout Communities

Multiple benefits of investment in community college education have been captured and quantified in an economic analysis conducted and published by CC Benefits Inc. The report was contracted by Maryland's 16 community colleges. "This study shows that investment in the Maryland community colleges benefits not only the students who attend, but the taxpayers and the local and state economies," commented Garrett College president Dr. Steve Herman.

The model for analysis, which took over a year to develop, relies on data collected from individual community colleges and translates these into "common sense" benefit/cost and investment terms. Four types of benefits are tracked in the report: regional economic benefits; higher earnings of graduated students; social benefits such as improved health, reduced crime, and lower welfare and unemployment; and the return to taxpayers for their support of Maryland community colleges.

Regional economic benefits are realized through the $507.7 million in direct faculty and staff wages and salaries paid by Maryland's 16 community colleges, earnings that are roughly equal to 143,220 jobs. Likewise, the aggregate college operating and capital expenditures generate further earnings that account for $755.4 million in the state's economy, the equivalent of 22,378 jobs. Additionally, the students who graduate from the community colleges and join the workforce find that their added skills translate to higher earnings, adding some $4.9 billion to the state's economy.

The most obvious benefit of higher education can be seen from the student's perspective. Students will earn an additional $4,499 per year for every full-time year they attend a community college, giving them a 24 percent rate of return on their investments of time and money. By computing the benefit/cost ratio according to the formula published in the CC Benefits report, students can expect to receive a cumulative of $5.65 in higher future earnings for every $1 they invest in their education.

Some of the social benefits of investment in community college education are seen in health-related savings because educated people are less likely to smoke or abuse alcohol, resulting in dollar savings of $8.8 million and $7.6 million per year, respectively (including insurance premiums, co-payments and deductibles and withholding for Medicare and Medicaid).

Because incarceration numbers drop with each year of higher education, 448 fewer individuals will be incarcerated each year, resulting in annual savings of $4.2 million. Reduction in victims' costs will add an additional savings of $4.7 million per year. With people employed rather than incarcerated, earnings of $2.1 million per year will be added to the economy, and fewer people on welfare and drawing unemployment benefits will save $15.7 million and $13.7 million, respectively.

Benefits to the taxpayers of investment in community college education are shown in strong and positive returns, according to the report, a ratio of return of 11.9 percent and a benefit/cost ratio of 2.1. Every dollar of state or local tax money invested today is shown to return a cumulative $2.06 over the next 30 years, according to the report.

AIDS Council Slates Meeting, Public Invited

The Garret County AIDS Council will hold an HIV/AIDS awareness meeting on Thursday, Sept. 30, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Continuing Education building at Garrett College, Room 207. The public is invited.

The council educates individuals in Garrett County on the transmission, prevention, and psychosocial aspects of AIDS, and provides counseling and testing resources or medical treatment referrals. It also advocates for HIV-positive persons and their families.

"October is AIDS Awareness Month, and Dec. 1 is World AIDS Day," said a council spokesperson. "Your support will make a difference in someone else's life."

Soup Labels For Mission Project Being Collected

The members of the Church of the Nazarene, which is located at 203 South Eighth Street in Oakland, are collecting Campbell's Soup labels for their newest missions project. The labels will be used to purchase vans for the Sun Valley (Ariz.) Indian School.

"We want to do our best for the Native American children," said Connie Mohr, president of the local Nazarene Missions International Society.

Boxes will be placed in Stop and Save near Deer Park and Browning's Foodland in Oakland, as well as Foodland Fresh in McHenry. Other collection sites are located at the Crellin Service Center, and Brenneman's Store in Accident. Pictures of vans purchased in past years will be displayed at the sites, as well as information about what specific labels are needed.

"Our denomination needs one million labels by April 2005. Every label counts," Mohr said.

Democratic Club To Host Family-Oriented Rally

The Garrett County Democratic Club will sponsor a "Families for a Stronger America" rally from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 2, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. The free public event will take place rain or shine, and will feature a number of speakers, live entertainment, food, and children's activities.

The program includes performances by local musicians The Remedy, Richard Hill, and Allegany. The guest speaker list includes Lanny Davis, former special counsel to President Clinton and Maryland Democratic committeeman of the Democratic National Committee; Dan Rupli, central and western Maryland's representative for the Kerry-Edwards campaign; Ken Braitman of Veterans for Kerry; Garrett County representative; John Riley, president of the Allegany Teachers Association; and West Virginia attorney Danny Staggers, son of Congressman Harley Staggers, West Virginia House of Representatives.

The food menu includes crabcakes from Pointview Inn's Sweetwater Grill, ice cream from the Lakeside Creamery, and a variety of baked goods and other items foods prepared by Democratic Club members. Among the children's activities will be free pony rides and face painting.

The local Democratic Club is also currently offering raffle tickets for a "get-away package for two" donated by the Pointview Inn. The winner will enjoy dinner and a bottle of wine at the Sweetwater Grill, and overnight lodging and breakfast at the Inn. These tickets will be on sale at the rally for $1 each or six for $5, with the drawing to be held at the conclusion of the day's events.

Oakland Couple Finish Appalachian Trail In Five Months And One Week

(And Are Still Happily Married!)

by Jen Sober

For many years now I have lived by the words "When you believe in yourself, you can achieve anything in life." My husband Sean and I had talked about hiking the entire Appalachian Trail for over six years. Honestly, we never thought we'd even attempt it. But a year ago, we got out of the cloud we were in, and realized that if it were truly something we wanted to do, then nothing should hold us back from at least attempting it – NOW!

By believing in ourselves and in each other, we have successfully completed something not many can say they have. On Aug. 31 – after five months and one week, hiking through 14 states from Springer Mountain, Ga., to Mt. Katahdin, Maine – we did it! We made it!

The two questions we were asked the most when we first mentioned what we were setting out to do were: 1. Why? and 2. Can a marriage survive being together 24/7 in the woods away from life's comforts?

Well, I'm sure many of you still wonder why? Why put ourselves through it? Especially after reading about the steep climbs in Georgia, the cold snowy days in North Carolina, having no privies in Tennessee, the 25 out of 30 days of rain in Virginia, the painful rocks in Pennsylvania, the endless mud in Vermont, the intensity and challenge of the mountains in New Hampshire and Maine, the strong winds atop many peaks, the slick roots, the frightening "arping" animal (we think a coyote) circling our tent, the fear when a rattle of a snake goes off one inch from your foot, the scary night hearing a tree fall near our tent, watching Sean trip and ping pong off a few trees before falling flat on his face (he never got hurt), the aches of putting a heavy pack on our backs each day, the hundreds of mosquito bites or finding ticks on our bodies, dealing with many blisters on our feet when we first started, finding a skunk and rat in my pack one night or having mice run over you as you try to sleep in a shelter, having to smell our stinky bodies and gear every day, constantly being wet and cold, and, mostly, being away from friends and family.

STILL HAPPILY MARRIED after hiking the entire Appalachian Trail in five months and one week are Oakland couple Sean and Jen Sober. They traveled through 14 states, from Springer Mountain, Ga., to Mt. Katahdin, Maine, experiencing challenging terrains and weather conditions, breath-taking scenery, primitive living conditions, and wildlife encounters. See story for details.

Experiencing all these things and more has made us stronger mentally and physically. Our souls are fuller and our spirits are higher. We look at what life gives us in a completely new, more enjoyable way. We are more appreciative of the things we have such as a flushing toilet, showers, beds, chairs, and pillows. We have learned to work through the tough times and look forward to the better days.

Of course, the adventure wasn't all mud and rain and rats and skunks. We saw and experienced so many wonderful things that will last in our minds and give us stories to tell forever. They made the hard times every bit worth it – the incredible sunsets we watched high in the sky on mountain peaks; the mountain views that seem to go on forever; the deer that would hang out at camp with us as if our pet for the morning; the bears playing in the woods; seeing Sean jump 2 feet up and 2 feet left when he saw a black snake near his foot; the cows in the fields and the feral ponies on top of the mountain; the many moose we encountered in Maine; the waterfalls, streams, ponds and lakes to relax by or swim in; listening to owls at night; campfires (cowboy TV); the new towns we got to go to and experience; the thousands of wild flowers; the other hikers we met along the way; the anticipation each morning of what we were going to encounter and what views we'd have and what camp would be like that night; the intensity and beauty of the White Mountains; the many lakes of Maine; the joy we felt when coming across trail magic; and the list goes on and on. The beauty we saw in all of the trail, from Georgia to Maine, can't be explained in words. It all was so much more than we expected.

We were most touched by all of our friends and family and how they came together to make this dream come true. It is all of you who kept us going. Your e-mails of good luck before we left or your encouragement during, those of you who were able to come out and hike with us gave us energy, being able to hike the first 2 miles with my mom and brother meant so much to us. To those who took us in and gave us a bed to sleep in and fed us good "town" food, to the care packages and letters we got along the way – we are so thankful for all of this and more. All of you touched our lives more than you know. It was amazing to us to be able to hike along the East and see many friends and family along the way.

As for hiking the Appalachian Trail as a married couple and not coming out of it in a divorce – it is possible. We know first hand. If fact, we would have to say our relationship is stronger than ever. I guess it is how a couple looks at it going into it. It really isn't about being "stuck" together for 24/7, but learning to work together through really tough times. There were many times when one of us would mentally be struggling and the other knew he/she had to really help encourage and be strong for the both of us. We helped each other get through our fears, sad emotional times, boredom, stress, and exhaustion. We learned to work together in all situations. And for that, we've come out of this adventure with a stronger marriage and will continue to work together in life's tough times. We held hands as we walked our first few steps together on the trail in Georgia, and we held hands as we walked our last few steps together in Maine.

We went though every emotion possible out there. We stuck it out and came out of it with a lifetime of stories and memories. It was a journey that changed our perspective through which we view the world and our place in it. We are now happily finished and left with smelly packs, ripped up holey shoes, beat up nasty feet, ripe dirt-stained clothing, and an excitement to see everyone!

We are thrilled to have achieved such a goal. Statistics show in past years that of all the hikers who set out to hike the AT, only 10 percent actually make it.

We are really sad it is over and already miss it. But life's adventure isn't over; it's just time for new ones to begin.

I end this with a quote that my father-in-law sent us prior to our leaving. It is a favorite of ours and means more to us now then even before:

"Life is not a journey to the grave with the intention of arriving safely and in a pretty and well-preserved body, but rather to skid in broadside, thoroughly used up, totally worn out, and loudly proclaiming: Wow! What a ride!"

And remember: Live Life! Be Happy!

Farming On The Mountaintop

Farmers Zero In On Tourism Opportunities To Subsidize

By Judson Berger
Capital News Service

ELLICOTT CITY — Clarks' Elioak Farm has found a way to stabilize the ups and downs of traditional farming.

"Farming's tough, you know," said Martha Clark, whose father owns the Howard County farm, ". . . between the weather and the commodity prices, you never know in a given year if you're going to make any money or not."

And so the Clarks have turned 20 acres of their 540-acre farm into a high-draw petting zoo, featuring alpacas, emus, hay rides and pumpkin picking. They are part of a growing guild of farmers throughout the state who, over the past few years, have sought to supplement their income through agritourism.

Though agriculture officials have not statistically tracked the rise of this field, many say it is clearly expanding.

"On a sunny day on an October weekend, we might have a couple thousand people here a day," said Clark, who charges an entrance fee of a few dollars a head.

She and other farmers looking to diversify have each found their own niche: Some try corn mazes, some try pick-your-own produce in addition to their standard harvest.

"There are just a number of attractions that are really appealing to the consumer public, particularly the urban areas," said Lewis Riley, Maryland's secretary of agriculture.

Agritourism rose from the popularity and profitability of long-standing farm markets, he said, and has proven innovative and successful in the past few years. The Clarks' farm, for one, is in its third year of agritourism and recently built a gift shop, selling items like preserves and horse figurines at the entrance.

"It's the greatest advertising in the world," said Riley, who added that farm marketing has received a boost in nearly 10 counties with the appointment of agricultural specialists working in economic development.

Frederick, one of the highest-producing agricultural counties in the state, has begun helping farmers advertise their attractions through the county's Virtual Farmers' Market Web site and a countywide gala.

The annual "Family Festival at the Farm," which features 11 farms holding various activities, is expected to draw more than 20,000 visitors on Oct. 16-17.

Colby Ferguson, business development specialist for agriculture in the county, said this projection has jumped drastically from the 5,000 who attended its debut two years ago.

"[Tourism] is growing very, very fast," said Ferguson. In Maryland in particular, the proximity of farms to each other heightens the draw.

During the October festival, said Ferguson, a family could easily hit Lilypons Water Gardens for bird watching, Hedgeapple Farm for Black Angus tours, and Mayne's Tree Farm for pumpkin picking all in one day.

The financial benefit, Ferguson added, is tremendous. "You can take a 40-acre field that would normally produce $350 to $400 an acre . . . and turn it into an additional, maybe as much as $2,000 to $3,000 an acre . . . that's a pretty good turn-around on 40 acres."

Alice Bender, who with her husband Bob runs Cove Run Farms in Garrett County, said the second income from tourism is nearly a necessity to keep their dairy farm running.

Every August for the past four years, they have grown 170 acres of corn to transform into a corn maze through October. They charge $4-$6 per person, and see about 4,500 people come through the maze per year. Afterward, they store the corn in a silo to feed their cattle.

Because milk prices have been so low, she said, that extra money has helped them stay afloat. Bender said they often see families from the Baltimore-Washington area not familiar with Maryland farming.

"We've had families get to watch [calves] be born, and to some people this is a once-in-a-lifetime chance," she said.

"One of the things that is missing, especially in the metro area, is a connection with the land," said Cheryl DeBerry, agriculture marketing specialist for economic development in Garrett County. Trying to account for the appeal of day treks out to produce picks and field tours, she added, "Folks are really looking for a natural experience."

Broiler Production Meeting Set For Garrett, Preston

A free informational program on the basics of producing broiler poultry for Pilgrims Pride in Garrett and Preston counties is slated for 9:15 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 30, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. Co-sponsored by several extension services and other agriculture agencies, the program is designed for farmers, businesspersons, and government officials, but is also open to the general public.

The program will include presentations on production tasks in broiler production, the structure of farming in broiler production areas, profits, financing, crop insurance, pollution and other regulations, bio-security, and composting. The presenters are a faculty member from the Maryland Cooperative Extension, a loan officer from Mid-Atlantic Farm Credit, and a USDA representative, each of whom specializes in broiler production. A panel of current broiler producers led by a Maryland County Extension educator will discuss their experiences in producing broilers, and representatives from the Maryland and West Virginia Departments of Agriculture will also speak.

The program is co-sponsored by Maryland Cooperative Extension, Maryland Department of Agriculture, West Virginia Extension, West Virginia Department of Agriculture, and the Risk Management Agency of USDA, and is supported by a Risk Management Agency grant.

A noon meal will be provided. Interested persons may call their local county extension office to register.

SHS Students Compete In FFA Exposition

Four Southern High School students recently competed in the Eastern States Exposition, also known as "The Big E." This trip was an opportunity for Maryland students to compete against FFA members from the New England states as well as other mid-Atlantic states.

Representing Southern High School in the Environmental/Natural Resources Event were Hanna Stahl, Becky Shipe, Greg Beckman, and Jessica Arnold.

The 36 students who attended the Big E and competed in the Career Development events were granted this opportunity by placing second at the Maryland qualifying events held during the 2003-04 school year and over this past summer. A portion of the cost for the students to travel to this event was provided for through the annual support of the Maryland Agricultural Fair Board.

Career Development Events (CDEs) are competitions that serve to bring a real experience to the subjects discussed in the classroom, and range from areas of general career skills like public speaking and job interviewing to specific fields such as forestry and agricultural business management.

The FFA Program at the Big E is like no other, said a spokesperson. FFA youth represent a 15-state regional and participate in more than 19 different contests. These students of high school agriculture compete in contests that range from mechanics and livestock judging to public speaking and agricultural business management.

The Regional FFA Program at the exposition is considered the most significant FFA activity of the Eastern FFA Region. These major FFA Career Development Events at the Big E are primarily conducted during the first and second days of the 17-day exposition.

The Big E FFA planning committee is committed to making the events educational and relevant to the needs of high school youth studying agriculture, agribusiness, and natural resources education, added the spokesperson.

This showcase enables the public to recognize the importance of FFA members in these educational venues. FFA is a national organization of 464,267 members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business, and technology of agriculture, with 7,194 local chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

In Maryland, there are 1,317 members in 30 chapters from 16 counties across the state. FFA strives to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education, added the spokesperson.

USDA ANNOUNCES LOAN DEFICIENCY PAYMENT SERVICE AVAILABLE ONLINE NATIONWIDE

Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman has announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has launched a nationwide Electronic Loan Deficiency Payment (eLDP) service. The service will now enable producers across the country to request and receive LDP payments online.

"Expanding electronic government or 'eGov' is a major element of President Bush's management agenda to better serve individuals and businesses across the country," said Veneman. "The eLDP program allows producers to apply for and receive Loan Deficiency Payments online from remote locations such as their homes or offices."

In January, USDA launched its eGov initiative by unveiling a new web site, which was the first phase in efforts to make the web site more powerful and accessible to USDA information and science. Features are continually being added such as the Customer Statement in March, which puts a whole range of USDA services and programs into a single report at the fingertips of agricultural producers. Farmers are able to view their contracts in various conservation programs, payments under commodity programs, and information on loans and crop insurance.

Farmers participating in the eLDP service will no longer have to travel to USDA Service Centers to receive their benefits. Payments are automatically deposited in the producer's bank account, reducing paperwork while speeding up payment processing.

To participate, producers must meet all eligibility requirements for marketing assistance loans and LDPs for barley, canola, corn, corn silage, dry peas, flaxseed, grain sorghum, honey, mustard, oats, peanuts, rapeseed, rice, safflower, soybeans, sunflower oil, sunflower seeds, wheat, wool, mohair and unshorn pelts. eLDPs for upland cotton producers will become available at a future date.

When local market prices are less than the marketing assistance loan rate, producers can choose to receive LDPs for their crops in lieu of marketing assistance loans. An LDP is based upon the quantity of the commodity pledged as collateral for a loan multiplied by the difference between the local marketing assistance loan rate and the posted county price for the commodity.

The voluntary eLDP service has stringent security measures to protect participants' private information. As with traditional LDPs, only authorized federal employees have access to information that is submitted electronically. All participating producers must have an e-mail address and set up a customer profile through their local USDA Service Center that validates their farming and crop information.

To register, producers can go to: www.sc.egov.usda.gov and complete form CCC-634-E, "Request for Electronic Loan Deficiency Payment Services" or they can obtain the form at USDA Service Centers. Eligible producers must also have an active USDA eAuthentication Level 2 account, which requires filling out an online registration form at http://www.eauth.egov.usda.gov/ followed by a visit to the local USDA Service Center for identity verification.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
409 North Ridge Road
a/r/t/a North Ridge Road
McHenry, MD 21541

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Michael A. Rogers and Angela D. Rogers, dated March 18, 2002, and recorded in Liber 886, Folio 407 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Rontunda Entrance at the Court House Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on October 14, 2004, at 1:30 p.m. All that fee-simple lot of ground, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, encumbrances, prior deed(s) of trust and/or agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind. Terms of Sale: A deposit of $10,000.00 by cash, or certified check, or in any other form suitable to the Substitute Trustees in their sole discretion, shall be required at the time of sale, except no deposit shall be required of the secured party, its successors or assigns. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property may be resold at the purchaser's risk and expense. The defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation that the borrower did not file for protection under the U.S. Bankruptcy Code prior to the sale, as well as to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest. Purchaser assumes liability for payment of all taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, from the date of sale. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $500 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. In the event the sale is not ratified for any reason, the purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit. Additional terms, if any, to be announced at sale. Purchaser agrees to pay $245.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents.

Notice to Public

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

On or about September 23, 2004, the above named Board of County Commissioners will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following projects:

Project Title: Housing Study Purpose: Included is studying and evaluating conditions of existing housing. Location: Countywide, Garrett County, Maryland

Project Title: Home Rehabilitation Purpose: Continuation of county-wide housing rehabilitation program for low to moderate income homeowners. Location: Countywide, Garrett County, Maryland.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion: Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the projects described in this Notice and has determined said projects to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of these projects is available to public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on week days excluding holidays.

Request for Release of Funds: The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will undertake the projects described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds. This notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairperson of the Board, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in the relation to the environmental reviews, decision making and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the Garrett County Board of Commissioners may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objection to Release of Funds: Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following basis: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800 (d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. and to the SCCDBG Program Manager, Md. Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than October 15, 2004.

CONTRACT: SR-02-05 BOWMAN HILL
STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber on 23 acres of Compartment #10 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to yield 486,040 Bd. Ft. of measured and marked live hardwood sawtimber according to the International ¼" Saw Kerf Rule (FC=78), and 243 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less.

This timber is located approximately one mile north of Bowman Hill Road back a state forest access road from a point approx. two miles west of the intersection with Foxtown Road in Comp. #10 of Savage River State Forest.

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on MONDAY, September 27, 2004. Interested persons should arrange to meet at the intersection of Bowman Hill and Foxtown Roads, at the above date and time.

2. Contract/Bid forms will be available at the showing or from Savage River State Forest Headquarters, 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville, MD 21536, 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted must be posted as bids are submitted to the MD State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Products Operator in Maryland for the current year and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control training to be awarded a State Forest Timber Contract.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid amount must be posted upon notification of bid acceptance. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volume will be made under any circumstances.

7. The successful bidder may make payment as follows: (1) make full payment upon notification of bid acceptance, or (2) select to make a 50% payment upon notification of bid acceptance, with the remaining 50% payable and due within 90 calendar days of bid acceptance. If the buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in a form acceptable to the state of MD.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on TUEDAY, OCTOBER 12, 2004.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty of any kind

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $7,000 will be required at the time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in other form as the Substitute Trustees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion. Balance of the purchase price is to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Allegany Co. If payment of the balance does not take place within ten business days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from date of sale to date of settlement, in the event the property is purchased by someone other than the note holder. Taxes, ground rent, and water rent to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale.

The services will all be-gin at 7 p.m.

September Named Recovery...Now Month BY GCHD

September has been named "Join the Voices for Recovery...Now" month by the Garrett County Health Department. According to Patty Sines, acting director of the Garrett County Health Department Substance Abuse Program, the community has many resources available for people who have alcohol and drug addiction problems.

"One of the greatest consequences of untreated alcohol and drug problems is the negative impact on children," said Sines. "Working with the different treatment and prevention programs at the local health department and other community agencies, we are able to help our county's citizens live more safe and productive lives."

Studies show that problems with alcohol and drugs exist in many families. The problems faced by families with alcohol and drug problems need intervention beyond what one agency or one individual can do, said Sines. National studies have shown that to achieve long term abstinence from alcohol and/or drugs, the individual and his/her family need access to housing, child care, transportation, and therapy (including family counseling, parenting groups, and trauma recovery services).

In addition, personalized services directed to the individual, their children, and other family members are considered a must for the recovery of the entire family. With added support from the local faith-based community, individuals can get support and information on the treatment they may need, Sines said.

"There is a great need for professionals in the alcohol and drug field to work closely with local mental health providers, social service organizations, local officials, churches, schools, courts, and law enforcement," said Sines. "Developing and cultivating partnerships can extend a program's reach, impact, and credibility."

To learn more about the different programs in the community and through the local health department, persons may call 301-334-7670 or 301-895-3111.

State Charges GC Builder With Deposit Misuse

The Consumer Protection Division of the Maryland Attorney General's Office has filed charges against a Garrett County home builder alleged to have taken deposits and payments from a consumer and failed to complete construction, or refund the payments. Other consumers who may have had problems with the builder or his company are being encouraged to contact officials at the number(s) listed below.

Donald Corby of D&M Corby Construction of Oakland is accused of violating the Maryland Custom Home Protection Act, the Home Builder Registration Act, and the Consumer Protection Act by failing to place the $24,500 into an escrow account or having a surety bond to cover the deposit, and by failing to build a home as promised. Corby reportedly entered into a contract with a con-

WHAT IS MORE BEAUTIFUL than an autumn sunset in Garrett County? The skies are taking on the brilliant blue of fall, and when the sun settles down for the evening, the colors and cloud formations create a most pleasing sight. This shot is especially striking on our web site, too, found at www.therepublicannews.com. The scene was captured (digitally) at the scenic overlook near Northern High School. Autumn has arrived on the mountaintop, and the leaves are doing their thing. Enjoy! Photo by John McEwen.

Federal Funding Allocated To Nine GC Departments

The Garrett County commissioners this week approved the allocation of funding from a 2003 Homeland Security grant to nine local emergency response departments and units. The federal funding will be used to purchase equipment.

Sharing nearly $85,000 will be Friendsville, Oakland, Accident, Bloomington, and Grantsville volunteer fire departments, Southern and Northern rescue squads, the Sheriff's Office, and Emergency Management.

Overseeing the allocation process was Garrett County Emergency Management director Brad Frantz, who will officially notify the recipients about the exact amount of their awards.

"We had to identify what we saw as the need to be addressed," Frantz said.

A number of departments and agencies had requested funding amounting to nearly $390,000, he said. Given the limited amount of funding available, the criteria for allocation were eligibility, cost effectiveness, geography, and intended usage of the equipment to be purchased.

The director said his department wanted to get as much equipment into as many communities as possible and looked at how that equipment would be used on a day-to-day basis, as well during "big event" emergencies.

"There were a number of good projects, but we didn't

PETS TO BE BLESSED AT VOLKSWAGGLE — Area pet owners are invited to take part in an animal blessing on Sunday, Oct. 3, in celebration of the Feast of St. Francis, patron saint of animals. The blessing will begin at 1 p.m. in the Mtn. Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. Presiding over the brief service will be Rev. Chip Lee, pictured above at last year's blessing. The blessing is one of many activities to take place as part of the "Volkswaggle" animal walk and fundraiser, sponsored by Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS). Before the blessing, an awards ceremony will take place to announce the winners of the 2004 PAWS Photo Contest and to unveil the 2005 PAWS calendar compiled of the winning photos. The Volkswaggle, a 1.5 mile walk around town to raise money and show support for PAWS programs, will begin at 1:30. Following the walk, prizes will be awarded for the top three pledge-raisers. A number of other events will follow, including games and activities for pets and their owners, information tables, activities for kids, face painting, a visit by Clifford the Big Red Dog, "pup-arrazzie" pet photos, raffles, and food. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may visit the PAWS web site at www.garrett-paws.org.

Accident Gets $250,000 For Sewer System

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has approved $250,000 in federal funds to repair and upgrade Accident's failing sewer system, Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski announced last week.

"These funds are critical in maintaining a clean, safe, and healthy water supply for the residents of the town of Accident," said Sarbanes.

Groundwater is currently entering the system, and the existing treatment plant does not have the capability to handle the amount of flow now being collected, noted Sarbanes.

The ARC grant will be used to repair the collection lines, increase the plant's treatment capacity, and allow businesses to obtain necessary permits to accomodate expansion plans. The town is currently under a Consent Order from the Maryland Department of the Environment and has not been allowed to add new sewer users to the existing system.

"Maryland cities and towns need to upgrade their Partnership Nets $272,964 For Six Area After-School Programs

The Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc. was awarded $272,964 for fiscal year 2005 to continue operations of six after-school sites through the 21st Century Community Learning Centers funds. The after-school programs serve youth third through eighth grade living in Grantsville, Friendsville, Mtn. Lake Park, Oakland, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn, and Accident.

The purpose of the 21st Century Community Learning Centers is to create community-learning centers that provide students with academic enrichment opportunities as well as additional services designed to complement their regular academic program. Community Learning Centers must also offer families of these students' literacy and related educational development.

Proposed activities target students, and families of students, who attend schools eligible for Title I school wide programs or schools that serve a high percentage of students from low-income families.

Each site provides academic tutoring to assist students with homework and specific academic issues. As an example of the effectiveness of this strategy, several sites have noted dramatic improvement in the academic performance of students.

According to data provided by Friendsville's site coordinator Tammy Humberson, Friendsville reported a 20% increase (from 50% at mid-year to 70% at end-of-year) in the number of students maintaining at least a "B" in reading and an even more impressive

Friendsville Man Charged With Arson Offenses

Deputy state fire marshals assisted by the Maryland State Police Narcotics Taskforce arrested Seth Adam McCombie, 18, of Friendsville at his residence without incident last Thursday, Sept. 23, on several charges stemming from two separate events that occurred in Friendsville.

The first incident occurred in the early morning of March 25, when a fire in an exterior bedroom window at 366 Blue Goose Road, Friendsville, was discovered by the occupants. Investigators determined the fire at the one-story single family residence to have been the result of arson.

The second incident involved a physical confrontation between McCombie and several juveniles on Tuesday, Sept. 21. During this incident McCombie allegedly made a threat of arson against the Blue Goose Road residence and assaulted a male juvenile.

Charges filed by the Office of the State Fire Marshal include first-degree arson, two counts of first-

County Receives Funds For Pysell Ridge Project

Garrett County was one of nine counties to receive a spring 2004 award for Rental Housing Funds and federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits (LIHTC) for its family housing project in McHenry, according to the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development.

Garrett County Community Action Committee will receive a little over $2 million in funds for the Pysell Ridge project, once the tax credits are sold and converted. Pysell Ridge is the second phase of the Mountain Village West housing development in McHenry.

The winning projects were selected from a pool of 22 applications requesting more than $22 million in Rental Housing Funds and LIHTC totaling more than $14 million.

The spring 2004 rental housing project awards are expected to produce expenditures worth $1.57 million; generating approximately 30 full-time jobs, an estimated payroll of $533,000, and nearly $572,00 in state

Keyser's Ridge Industrial Park Gets $750,000

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded a $750,000 grant to Garrett County to construct a sewer system for the new 385-acre Keyser's Ridge Industrial Park, Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski announced this week.

The infrastructure, consisting of five miles of new sewer line and five pumping stations, will move wastewater to a nearby treatment facility and provide service to 23 homes and businesses.

According to the senators, the industrial park will create between 250 and 500 jobs within the next three to five years.

Director Jim Hinebaugh, Garrett County Department of Economic Development, said the application for the ARC grant was submitted last year through the Tri-County Council.

Salem Children's Trust Requests Funding To Construct New School

Members of the Maryland Salem Children's Trust board of directors asked the Garrett County commissioners this week for help in funding the construction of a new school. The board would like the county to contribute $250,000 toward the $1.764 million project.

"We know you have to have the good of all the county in mind," board member Lowell Bender told the commissioners. But, he added, that the board also had a case in making its request for funding. He noted the nonprofit children's home and its school provided educational services for the county and impacted it economically.

"We have a viable program, and we can stand on our on feet," said Bender, "but we can't engage in a capital project without help."

Executive director Louise Richards gave the commissioners a brief overview of the residential program. Located near Grantsville, the center was established in Garrett County 25 years ago to help abused, neglected, and abandoned children from throughout Maryland. Many of the children have been in numerous foster homes, violent environments, and failed adoption situations.

"Preference is given to Garrett County children and students," Richards stressed.

She noted that that the family-like setting – which includes house parents, gardens, and animals – makes the home unique. Many of the children who come to Salem need help with their social skills. At the center, they not only live together but they also "learn how to live together." Additionally, they have the opportunity for spiritual growth and

A FINAL FAREWELL was given to young firefighter John Boone, 23, who died in a fire last week at his home. He was a member of the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department #36 and was therefore accorded the honor of "Last Call," a final tribute paid by his fellow firefighters. The casket was place aboard Bloomington's fire truck and a processional of fellow members followed in a solemn walk from the Durst Funeral Home and past the Oakland fire hall. The 5-5-5 ringing of a brass bell was performed, which is code for a fallen firefighter, and the last call, the sounding of the fire siren that goes unanswered, was also accorded. The fire trucks were draped in black, and Boone's uniform hung on the back of the truck. The casket was transported beneath the crossed ladders, as pictured, as another act of respect and tribute. The family expressed their gratitude to both the Oakland and Bloomington fire departments for their assistance in the procession. Photo by John McEwen.

RECEIVES USDA FUNDING – The proposed Adventure Sports Center on Marsh Mountain has received $150,000 from USDA Rural Development. The funds will be used to purchase equipment for whitewater rafting and other water-related activities. Expected to be completed in spring 2006, Phase I of the public/private $10 million project will include a 1,000-foot whitewater course, a 600-seat amphitheater, and an operations building. Beltzel Corporation of Grantsville was recently awarded a $3.4 million contract to begin grading and construction at the site. Phase II will include a whitewater hall of fame, an adventure sports museum, and the 550-acre Fork Run Recreation Area. State director Marlene Elliott, USDA Rural Development, recently presented a symbolic check to Adventure Sports Center Inc. (ASCI) board members at the Garrett Information Enterprise Center in McHenry. Pictured above hold the check, left to right, are Julianna Albowicz, representing Sen. Barbara Mikulski, Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, and Elliott. Also on hand for the presentation were Garrett County commissioners Ernie Gregg and Fred Holliday; Tim Magrath, representing Sen. Paul Sarbanes; Eric Urfer, ASCI executive director; and Del. George Edwards and other ASCI board members. Photo by John McEwen.

Animal Protectors Claim State Used Bad Science to Justify Bear Hunt

by JUDSON BERGER
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Animal protection agencies defended a lawsuit filed Monday to block Maryland's first black bear hunt in half a century, saying flawed science and a governor tied to hunting organizations led to the hunt's approval. The hunt, scheduled for the last week in October and the second week in December, will kill a maximum of 30 bears in an effort to curb an expanding bear population.

In authorizing the hunt, the Department of Natural Resources "relied on glaringly faulty scientific assumptions concerning Maryland's bear population," said the suit, filed by the Fund for Animals, the Humane Society, and three citizens. DNR declined to comment, but Paul Peditto, DNR director of the Wildlife and Heritage Service, said in an interview two weeks ago that the public has supported its decision.

Hunting is needed, he said, to check the state's growing bear population – one that has rebounded in Maryland from near extinction in the 1950s. "It's part of a model that works though history and continues to play a role in the modern wildlife management model," he said.

But the plaintiffs said the bear hunt is unnecessary. "The tradition in Maryland has been to protect bears . . . all we're asking here is to maintain the status quo," said Michael Markarian, Fund for Animals president.

The state's studies estimating the black bear population at 400 were flawed, he said. The suit cites a study by statistician Phillip Good who reported that DNR used two different methods to estimate bear populations between 1992 and 2000, and therefore could not rely on its conclusions.

Bear populations may not have changed much, said Markarian. "The only thing that has changed is the person who sits in the State House." Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich, he said, has tried to appease the National Rifle Association and other hunting organizations by approving the hunt.

"That's ridiculous," said Shareese DeLeaver, Ehrlich's press secretary. "[The hunt] isn't based on a quid pro quo for any groups or organizations that supported him," she said, adding that the governor relied on scientific studies to determine the need for the hunt. But the DNR knows very little about the bears, said Markarian. "You need to do a lot more homework before you can rush to judgment and allow hunters to kill those animals."

A more effective and sensitive solution, he said, would be to manage conflicts instead of numbers. He suggested homeowners store trash, take down bird feeders, and refrain from feeding their dogs outside. The state Attorney General's Office will represent DNR in the case; however, it declined to comment on the suit.

"Their suit is not about trying to save 30 bears," said Steven Christian, president of the Maryland Sportsmen's Association, "It's about preventing hunters from killing bears." The Fund for Animal's opposition to hunting would have fueled a dispute even if the hunt targeted only a few bears, he said. "There is no question that you have a very strong hunter cohort out there that wants this hunt," said Joseph Lamp, who served on the Wildlife Advisory Commission for the DNR and opposed the bear hunt.

The bears have posed no serious threat, he said, based on complaints that he reviewed. Referring to the questioned population studies, he said, "If we don't know how many we have, how do we know we have too many?" The suit comes as the DNR notifies the winners of last week's lottery, which determined who could participate in the hunt. Only 200 of the more than 2,300 people who applied will receive permits.

Markarian still questions DNR's motives. "It doesn't help anybody except for the few people who want a bearskin rug."

In other police news, Meghan Kennedy, 18, McMurray, Pa., was treated for injuries she received when she was ejected from a 4-wheeler on private property off Marsh Hill Road Saturday night.

Kennedy, who was not cited in the accident, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

In a separate incident, a passenger in a vehicle that was struck from the rear on Interstate 68 near the 40-mile marker shortly after noon on Friday was transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., for treatment.

According to the sheriff's office, Alice Lucas, no age given, was injured when a vehicle driven by Charles Lucas, Mechanicsville, was struck by a second vehicle driven by Aubrey Mayhew, Edgewater.

Maryland State Police, Northern Rescue Squad, and Friendsville firefighters responded to the scene.

Police Respond To Van Engulfed In Flames Sunday

Police and Oakland firefighters responded to a 1975 Dodge van that was engulfed in flames on Hutton Road just west of Old Crellin Road Sunday night, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Investigation revealed that the vehicle, operated by Ronald Ray Guthrie, had run out of gas and Guthrie was attempting to restart the vehicle by pouring gas into the carburetor when it ignited.

Oakland firefighters extinguished the 8:30 p.m. fire.

ARC Funding Awarded To Local Towns

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has approved two grants to the town of Oakland, one for $50,000 and one for $60,000, and a $5,000 grant to the town of Grantsville.

The $50,000 grant to Oakland will fund construction of the Oakland Community Center, which will be used for health programs, education opportunities, and civic activities. The center will serve the community in many ways, such as after-school programs, citizen meetings, and senior and adult education programs, and will also be a designated emergency shelter for the area, noted Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, who made the grant award announcement.

The center also received a USDA Community Connectivity Broadband grant that will make high speed Internet access available to the community. In addition to ARC funding, the center is also receiving $65,000 in state and local funding, for a project total of $115,000.

Oakland was also awarded a $60,000 ARC grant for business development in Garrett County. The town is working with the Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC) to redevelop the old Pritts building, owned by GCCAC, in downtown Oakland for use as an entrepreneurial center. The center will contain a micro-business assistance center, an artisans' cooperative, a commercial kitchen, and commercial office space, as well as commercial retail space.

This grant will assist in providing 13 projected new businesses, and 36 new jobs in downtown Oakland. The total project funding comes to $120,000, with $60,000 being provided through local sources, according to Bartlett.

Grantsville has also been awarded a $5,000 grant from the ARC to fund a project supporting the community's effort to create a new regional tourism destination. The project will provide a handicapped accessible entry point to the Casselman River.

"Community groups have worked hard to make this project possible," said Bartlett.

This newly constructed pier would comply with requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and would be open to all. In addition to the $5,000 ARC grant, private organizations have committed an additional $5,000 for a total project cost of $10,000, he noted.

learning and development activities that may not have otherwise been available to them. Activities included academic and cultural field trips, computer classes, library enrichment and book clubs, athletic clinics, karate classes, theater, and arts and crafts.

"The youth and their parents really enjoy working together to complete community projects. We like to encourage service learning," says Grantsville site coordinator Karen Wood.

"I have been in the Grantsville After School program for six years ever since I was in third grade. It's like a second home to me," said student Amanda Brenneman.

"This is great news for the after-school sites," said Sue Athey-Oxford, director of the Partnership.

The organization has also secured other sources of after-school funding which supplements the sites and also provides funding to the 38% increase (from 47% at mid-year to 85% at end-of-year) in the number of students maintaining at least a "B" in math.

Another emphasis of the initiative is to provide cultural enrichment activities for students. Because of the rural and geographically isolated nature of many of the small communities in the county, along with the high rate of poverty, many youth have very limited exposure to opportunities for enrichment, according to a spokesperson.

This project component provided students (and parents, as possible) with the chance to participate in School Community Centers program administered by Tom Woods.

"Combined, we serve over 700 youth year-round and have seen some remarkable results. Students are in safe, structured activity with nurturing adults during the period of time during the day, 4 to 6 p.m., where the research shows us they need this structured support to do well."

For more information, persons may visit the closest after-school on Oct. 14 for the Lights On After-school event or contact the Partnership at 301-334-1189.

Tickets Still Available For AG Kick-Off

Tickets are still available for the annual Autumn Glory kick-off dinner slated for Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the Lodge at Wisp.

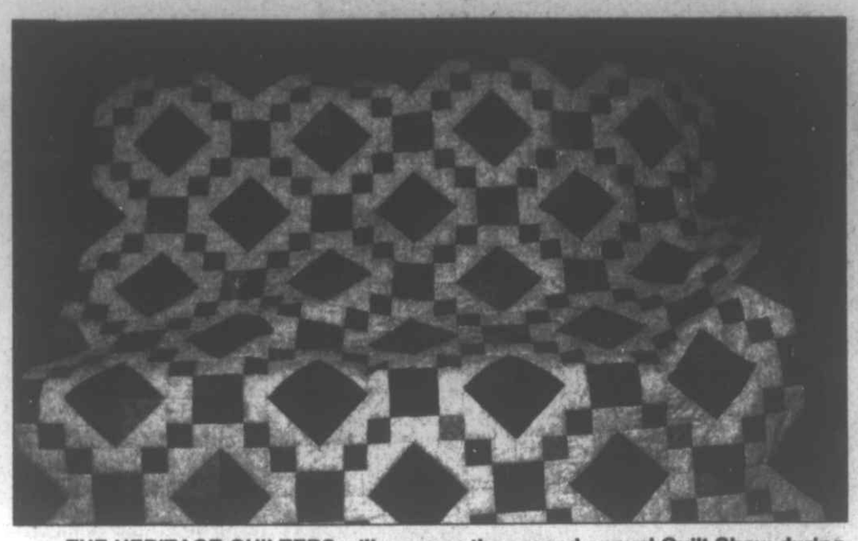
Besides the naming of the Golden Ambassador, the evening includes the coronation of the Autumn Glory King and Queen and their court, and recognizes the festival sponsors. This year music will be by Queen City Funk & Soul. "The prestigious fundraising event provides an elegant, yet lively atmosphere to kick off the Autumn Glory festivities," said a spokesperson.

Each attendee to the kick-off reception receives a collectible Autumn Glory pin and Golden Ambassador pass. The pass entitles the holder to admission and priority seating at the Ronnie Reno and the Reno Tradition Concert and the Banjo Contest on Friday night and the Fiddle and Mandolin Contest on Saturday night, as well as priority seating on the bleachers near the viewing stand for the Grand Feature Parade Saturday afternoon.

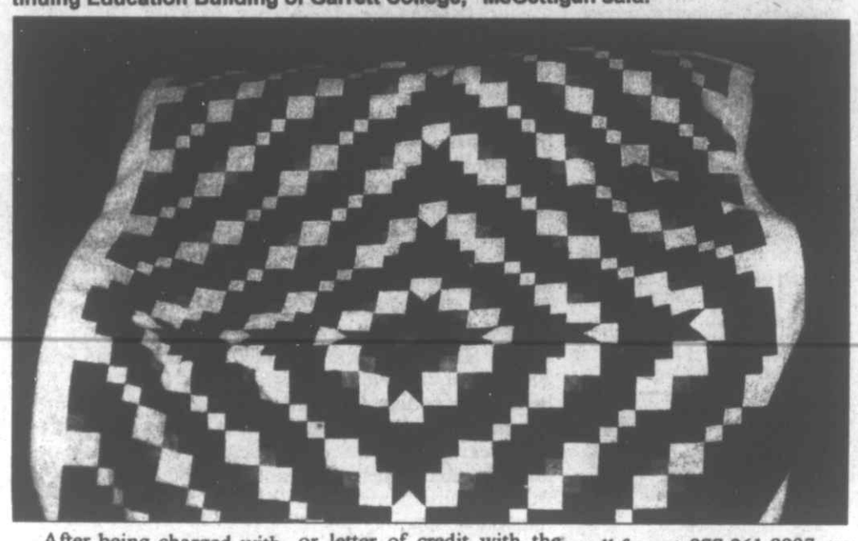
The evening starts with a 6 p.m. cocktail hour, and the sit-down dinner begins at 7 p.m. The reception ticket includes an open bar, hors d'oeuvres, sit-down dinner, and first-class entertainment.

Admission to the event is $125 for a single ticket or $195 for a couple.

For more information or to make reservations, persons may call the Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386.



THE HERITAGE QUILTERS will sponsor the second annual Quilt Show during Autumn Glory weekend (Oct. 15-17) at the Social Hall of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. Pictured above is a jewel tone quilt, for which the group is selling chances to help defray the cost of sponsoring the show. An autumn quilt will also be for sale during the show. Pictured below is a quilt which the group donated to Hospice of Garrett County for a drawing during the first part of December. Anyone interested in entering a quilt in the show may contact Martha McGettigan at 301-387-4959. "We would love for you to share your talents with everyone. Also, come join our group on the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education Building of Garrett College," McGettigan said.



Oakland Man Handed Drug Charge Friday

Oakland Police officers arrested an Oakland resident Friday evening on drug charges filed during a traffic stop on Pennington Street.

Nicholas Michael Oliverio, 21, was stopped for speeding at 5:17 p.m., and a Motor Vehicles Administration computer check revealed that his driver's license was suspended. Oliverio was arrested, and a subsequent search of his vehicle revealed suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

After being charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and driving on a suspended license, Oliverio was released on his own recognizance.

sumer to construct a home, and accepted advance payments of $24,500. To date, however, Corby has not begun construction of the home, nor refunded the money paid, according to Attorney General J. Joseph Curran Jr.

"Consumers should protect themselves by ensuring that their deposit will be protected before writing a check to a builder," Curran said. "Builders who collect deposits from consumers are required to protect those deposits by posting a bond or letter of credit with the Division or having consumers make deposits payable to an escrow account separate from the builder's operating account."

The Consumer Protection Division's charges seek an order barring Corby from acting as a builder in Maryland and requiring Corby to pay restitution to consumers who have been harmed by his unlawful practices, including the $24,500 collected from the consumer identified in the charges. The Division is also seeking a $1,000 civil penalty per day of unlawful practice and the costs of the investigation.

The Consumer Protection Division has issued a notice seeking to revoke the home builder registration of Donald Corby and immediately suspend Corby's registration.

A public hearing on the charges will be held at the Consumer Protection Division, 200 Saint Paul Place, Baltimore, on Monday, Nov. 1. Consumers who may have had problems with Donald Corby of D&M Corby Construction should contact the Home Builder Registration Unit at 410-576-6573 in Baltimore, toll-free at 877-261-8807, or via e-mail at homebuilder-@oag.state.md.us.

Other consumers can check the method their builder has reported using to protect deposits by contacting the Home Builder Registration Unit at those same numbers.

Domestic Call Leads To TA Man's Arrest

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man was jailed Saturday evening in connection with a reported domestic incident at an East High Street residence, according to the Oakland Police Department.

Danny Ray Shiflett, 23, was charged with trespassing and disorderly conduct following the 6:36 p.m. incident, during which Shiflett reportedly locked himself in a woman's apartment after she told him to leave. Shiflett was located in the bedroom of the residence and arrested.

During their investigation, officers were informed by neighbors that Shiflett had been yelling profanity and exposed himself outside the building prior to their arrival. Garrett County sheriff's deputies assisted on the scene.

Shiflett was incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $3,000 bond.

W.Va. Woman Injured Friday In Single-Car Crash

A single-vehicle accident on Garrett Highway Friday morning injured a West Virginia woman, according to the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police.

At 9:07 a.m., a 2004 Mercedes Benz 2000 was traveling south when the driver, Martha Marie Williams, 19, Franklin, missed her left turn at Sand Flat Road. After passing the turn, she attempted to turn around in a driveway on the northbound side of Garrett Highway, but as her sedan crossed the northbound shoulder, the vehicle ran across some loose gravel causing her vehicle to slide into a tree.

Williams was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

No charges were filed by the investigating state trooper.

Two Arrested On Drug Charges After Traffic Stop

A traffic stop Tuesday evening on Maryland Highway in the Deer Park area led to charges against the driver and passenger, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Thomas Wayne Bowman, Smithsburg, failed field sobriety tests. During a search of the vehicle, the deputy discovered a small quantity of marijuana and rolling papers.

Bowman was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired by alcohol or drugs, failure to drive right of center, possession of marijuana, and possession of paraphernalia.

Also traveling with Bowman was William Gary Riggleman Jr. of Kitzmiller, who was charged with possession of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Anne Arun. Man Faces Charge Of CDS Possession

An Anne Arundel County man was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) during a traffic stop on Interstate 68 last Thursday, Sept. 23, by Maryland State Police troopers.

Jason Carl Wilson, 23, was stopped at approximately 12:20 p.m. on the westbound interstate near Bittinger Road. When the odor of suspected burnt marijuana was noted emanating from his black Honda, troopers advised Wilson of his Miranda rights, and he voluntarily produced a bag of suspected marijuana from his pants pocket.

Va. Man Jailed For Possession During I-68 Stop

A Friday morning traffic stop near Grantsville led to the arrest of a Virginia man on drug charges, according to Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack.

Chester Gene Tippins, 35, Portsmouth, was stopped at 11:22 a.m. for a seatbelt violation on westbound Interstate 68 just east of Bittinger Road. Tippins was found to be driving on a revoked license, and a silver metal smoking device was observed in plain view on the passenger side floor. An ensuing search led to the discovery of a bag under the driver's seat that contained suspected burnt marijuana.

Tippins was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and driving on a revoked license. He was released from state police custody under unspecified circumstances.

have the funding for them all," said Frantz about the requests.

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue will use its funding for identification equipment. The department wants to equip all emergency response personnel in the county with ID badges, similar to those issued to county employees, for verification and accountability purposes, Frantz noted, especially during dangerous situations.

"It's a novel approach," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg about Friendsville's project.

Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads will use their funding to purchase equipment to deal with mass casualties, and the Sheriff's Office will buy equipment for its special rescue team, according to Frantz.

The director noted that the county was now moving into the 2004 grant allocation period for Homeland Security funding. That amount, he said, would be significantly higher than the 2003 funding, but most of it will have to go toward Emergency Management's Interoperability Project.

The goal of that project is to increase communications among various emergency services throughout the state and county.

Thank You

I want to thank everyone who helped make my 90th birthday so special. For all who sent cards, gifts or birthday greetings of any kind, I thank you. May God Bless each one of you.

Freda S. Denison's
90th Birthday Celebration
ON OCTOBER 9, 2004

Friends and family are invited to a 90th birthday celebration honoring Freda S. Denison on Saturday, Oct. 9, 2-4 pm, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center Oakland, MD.

She is the widow of Hugh T. Denison. They are the parents of one daughter, Barbara Steyer and her husband Kenneth, Oakland, and two sons, Richard H. Denison (deceased) and Roger S. Denison and his wife Eleanor of Fairmont, WV. She has three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

She retired from the University of Maryland Extension office in Garrett County. She taught school in Preston and Wood counties for many years.

To wish Mrs. Denison a happy birthday, send card to 3743 Gorman Road, Oakland, MD, 21550.

Directions: From Oakland take Rt 219 south 3.5 miles, turn left onto Paul Friend Road, right onto Joni Miller, 1/4 mile on right.

No gifts please, your presence is enough.

HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY
Have a great day, we are proud of you!

It's a Small World . . .

Riding a tram up a mountain several thousand feet to stand at the base of a 120-foot, 1,000-ton statue of Christ overlooking the city of 10,000,000 below; worshiping in a Benedictine church built in 1617 where every square inch of the walls and ceiling are covered by incredible wood carvings; visiting the beautiful summer palace of Emperor Peter II; attending a professional soccer match in a 100,000-seat stadium; getting three dollars for every one U.S. dollar; riding a cable car up to the top of Sugar Loaf Mountain for yet another breathtaking, bird's-eye view of the city; playing volleyball, swimming, and lazing on sunny beaches that are 100 yards deep and stretch for miles; eating wonderful food, including just-picked bananas and pineapple; taking a three-hour trip north into the mountains and having lunch at a home that would rival some of the finest on Deep Creek Lake; meeting Leo (pronounced Lay-o), a precocious 3-year-old who knows his colors both in Portuguese and English; riding in a taxicab, which is as exciting (death-defying?) as any carnival ride; gazing on an amazing and enormous rock formation called the "Finger of God" that remarkably resembles a hand, with the index finger pointed upward (yes, that's index finger); greeting and saying goodbye to all lady friends by exchanging a light kiss on each side of the face; seeing water swirl down the drain in the opposite direction; spending a week with friends, wonderful, generous hosts who are more like family.

Greetings from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

One cannot help but be amazed at how small the world is becoming because of the wonders of technology, particularly in the areas of transportation and communication. A person can roll out of bed in Mountain Lake Park one morning and go to bed that very night in Rio de Janeiro. Indeed, one can be anywhere in the world within 24 hours, a feat that was impossible for 99.9% of human existence. Just 100 years ago the great majority of people spent their entire lives never venturing more than a couple hundred miles in any direction.

And literally with the click of a few buttons, immediate (yes, even free) communication across thousands of miles is at hand via the Internet, impossible just a couple decades ago. The split-second transmission of this editorial from a little cafe in Rio to the newsroom of The Republican is a good example.

What a wondrous, exciting time to be alive.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Barbara A. Mikulski is seeking re-election to her fourth term in the U.S. Senate. Sen. Mikulski's unwavering commitment to serving her country and her constituents throughout Maryland has resulted in accomplishments few others in high office can match. We in western Maryland are exceptionally fortunate to have Sen. Mikulski working for us.

Sen. Mikulski's rise from humble origins to her current status as one of the most admired and influential members of the U.S. Senate has been well chronicled. Because of her experience, diligence, and ability to work effectively with colleagues from both parties, Sen. Mikulski has been appointed to serve on some of the Senate's most important committees, including the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence and the Senate Appropriations Committee. The Appropriations Committee writes the legislation that annually allocates federal funds to government agencies, departments and organizations. Sen. Mikulski has used her seat on this committee to help secure funding for numerous Garrett County programs ranging from firefighting to health care to education and more.

A snapshot of some of Sen. Mikulski's most salient recent accomplishments in Garrett County includes:

• Securing over $1 million to help bring technology jobs to the region by supporting grant requests for the Garrett Information Enterprise Center, located at Garrett College.

• Securing almost $745,000 in federal funds to aid the construction of a 2-mile access road to the Adventure Sports Center near McHenry. When completed, the ASC is expected to attract more than 100,000 visitors.

• Securing funding for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department to purchase a thermal imaging camera.

• Saving AmeriCorps programs in Garrett County that provide numerous educational, environmental, and health care services.

• Maintaining the Small Business Administration's HUBZone program in Garrett County.

• Securing $300,000 in federal funds to expand the Ruth Enlow Library System by building a branch library in Grantsville.

• Saving the Meals on Wheels program in Garrett County.

Sen. Mikulski's enthusiastic style of oration aptly personifies her zeal for helping people. It mixes effectively with a professional demeanor and collaborative spirit that have endeared her to her congressional colleagues. As evidence of her cooperative nature, she is currently working with House Majority Leader Bill Frist to help secure an additional $170 million in federal funding for homeland security needs.

On November 2, cast your ballot for a true American patriot with a fervent love for her country, a resolute determination to improve the lives of its citizens, a steadfast willingness to fight for change, and an unparalleled record of achievement. Vote for Senator Barbara A. Mikulski.

The Rejuvenators for Life team would like to thank the following businesses/individuals for their donations toward our fundraiser during the Relay for Life Event held in June: Nature's Own, Norma Rodeheaver, Allison Shaffer, Deep Creek Salon, Country Treasures, Keystone, Railey Realty, Christmas Chalet, Schoolhouse Earth, Snazzi Stitches, Deep Creek Gourmet, Bill's Outdoor Center, and members of our team. Donating water for the evening was Eberly Wood.

We would like to thank all these businesses/individuals and to congratulate the winners. To those of you who sponsored a member of our team, we are grateful. This past month several persons, young and old, have died from cancer. We would like to urge all Garrett Countians to come out to the Relay for Life in 2005 and support this event, which in turn supports all those battling this dreadful disease.

Thank you,

What a season! All the glorious colors are starting to appear. Something else also starts to appear. As the grass and weeds along our highways and byways start to wither, all the litter dumped by our irresponsible visitors and locals is made disgustingly visible. It is time for all the people who love the beauty of our county to respond by cleaning up this trash around their property and maybe a little more. If we make this effort, our county will once again become the beautiful place we love.

In October 1981, the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence observed the "First Day of Unity." The purpose of this day was to connect advocates across the nation who were working to end domestic violence in their communities. Eventually, the Day of Unity evolved to include a special week of local, state, and national activities. These events varied among communities. However, three main goals emerged, including mourning those who have died as a result of domestic violence, celebrating the lives of survivors, and recognizing and connecting the many dedicated victim advocates across the nation.

In 1987, October was named Domestic Violence Awareness Month, with the beginning of the first national, toll-free hotline. Since then, domestic violence agencies everywhere have utilized the month of October to engage in exhaustive public awareness campaigns in an effort to prevent and end abuse.

The Dove Center and Garrett County Family Violence Coalition would like to take this opportunity to invite the community to engage in our awareness activities. On Monday, Oct. 4, we plan to begin Domestic Violence Awareness Month with a service of remembrance of all lives that have been touched by domestic violence. We will be holding this Awareness Ceremony in the parking lot of the Oakland Train Station at 5:30 p.m. As part of the event, we will be exhibiting the Silent Witnesses, a mobile, wooden sculpture, representing adult and child lives who have been devastated by violence. The Clothesline Project will also be on display. This project initially began in Cape Cod in 1990, to allow survivors to tell their stories of victimization by decorating T-shirts in a way that represents their experience. The shirts are then displayed on a clothesline in an effort to put a human face with the statistics surrounding domestic violence and sexual assault, and to "air society's dirty laundry."

Pandora's Box, a local, teen theatrical group, will be performing at the event, and refreshment will be served.

We encourage community members to attend this event, and to show a visible gesture of support for survivors and victims by wearing a purple ribbon throughout the month. Ribbons will be given at the ceremony, or you may stop by the Dove Center business office to receive one. The more purple ribbons seen in the community, the more powerful the message that domestic violence will not be tolerated. Garrett County should be a place where individuals feel safe within their own homes.

For additional information about this event, or about Dove Center services, please call 301-334-9000.

Heather Hanline

To the Editor:

The July 29 Republican article, "GC Advocates Graduate From First Roper Victim Assistance Academy" really caught my eye. The article, found on page C-8, noted that one of the special guests was Public Safety Secretary Mary Ann Saar.

Here's what is interesting.

In the 1990s, around 1997, the Maryland Correctional Institution Lifestyles self-help group had a presentation given by the Roper Committee, which included Roberta Roper and about six other crime victims, and in turn there was an open discussion between about thirty prisoners and about a dozen crime victims.

It was an astonishing event, precedent setting, and I reported on it for the prison newsletter, the "MCIH Inside Report." The prisoners saw the depth of the hurt and anger felt by crime victims as never before, up close and personal.

Likewise, the crime victims were enlightened to the real conditions in incarceration, as opposed to the media stereotypes and all the false assumptions regular citizens of society hold erroneously from the community gossip on which they rely, as opposed to the facts given by Lifestyles.

This was a very powerful and emotional meeting, and it was so productive that another three-hour seminar and discussion was scheduled, but never occurred.

And why did this never occur? Why wasn't there a permanent relationship established?

Simple. As soon as the then Secretary of Public Safety Bishop Robinson and Division of Corrections headquarters learned of this event, they immediately prohibited any further meetings of this kind.

In short, the powers that be thought this was too innovative, that it broke new and dangerous ground. They foresaw a coalition forged between prisoners and the victims, and worried that if the victims of crime truly saw what was happening in the prisons, as opposed to the myths and gossip on which they relied, there would be a force for change in the penal gulag in Maryland which would be too powerful for the criminal justice system to prevent.

And so there was never another seminar or workshop approved between Lifestyles and the Roper Committee, and this was precluded solely on the specific orders of DOC Headquarters.

So the questions which arises in my mind is whether the more positive and progressive approach by Public Safety Secretary Mary Ann Saar would have brought different results between the Roper Committee and Lifestyles all those years ago if she had been the public safety secretary when the first and only ever meeting of crime victims with Maryland prisoners occurred with such powerful results.

To the Editor:

Writing in response to Glenn Tolbert's piece of Sept. 2, "Depression Rate Is Highest in Garrett County," I feel it lacks clarity, substance, and credibility. The study Tolbert reported on, Garrett County Speaks, Improving Health & Well Being, "spoke" neither adequately nor informatively to this reader. Granted, Tolbert's report was just that, his impressions of a seminar turned into facts he felt newsworthy; however, to take a subject as serious as this article talks about – involving those people in Garrett County who usually aren't allowed to "speak" (in politics, labor, or academia) and present it like a high school book report – does a genuine (journalistic and ethical) disservice to those working (or not), struggling citizens of the community.

The article got my attention,"Depression Rate is Highest in Garrett County," as it was supposed to, but highest? (You mean, in the world?) "A study done by two renowned sociologists from the University of Maryland" sounds credible, but is this Tolbert's impression? Reading critically, what makes some "renowned" and others "so so"?

If you don't have access to the Internet at home, go to the library and look up www.hhp.umd.edu/FMST/FacultyBBraun (and E. Anderson).htm. One may get the impression there are careers in the making behind most research studies. In academia, if you don't publish, you don't rate, or remain employed

"LIFE IN RURAL PARIS"

Surprise may be the reaction of many to discover that there is rural Paris. "Rural" is just not an adjective often associated with the great metropolitan centers of the world: New York, London, Tokyo, Rome, and Paris.

The fact is that all cities once had thriving agricultural districts. When the horse provided the fastest means of transportation, fresh produce had to be grown nearby. The horses themselves had to be fed and housed. If one housed a horse, what was a cow in addition, let alone a pig or two and a few hens.

Rural Paris is today something different than that. It is the way that Parisians perpetuate the rural heritage of their nation. France underwent more than 150 years of political revolution (from 1789 until after World War II). She experienced during that period the same industrial transformation as the rest of the world.

At the end of that revolution monarchy and empire were dead. France had become one of the great industrial and economic powers of the world. Her culture, however, remained rural. I have already described the Saturday morning gardening of my neighbors on the balcony of their apartment. As I look across the rooftops of Paris I can see many such gardens.

There is also a garden in Paris which belongs to everyone and which explicitly and intentionally preserves the rural character of this beautiful and gracious city. It is the Luxembourg Gardens, a 12-minute walk from my room.

The Luxembourg Gardens surround the building where the French Senate sits. These are, in many respects, the heart of the Left Bank. They are surely the back yard of Paris. How lovely they are!

The fountain at the center supports miniature sailboats launched by children and their interested parents and grandparents. There is an area for playing chess, checkers, tennis, pétanque (French bowling), kids' pedal toys, a jungle gym for children, children's theatre, jogging, sitting on the grass, looking at the grass. One sees there young love, old love, lots of family love. Children are everywhere.

One also finds in the Luxembourg Gardens an apiary. That's right, beehives. The sign tells the story of the Paris beekeeping society. The display includes a variety of active hives, some which represent the history of beekeeping. Nearby there are several acres of vines, fruit trees, and vegetable gardens. I do not know who gets to eat the fruits of those gardens, but they are there as part of the national heritage.

At one point, there is a glade surrounded by trees. At the edge of the glade is a bronze statue of a well-racked stag, a doe, and a fawn. The effect is that one is in a forest. The purpose of that scene is not that one can pretend not to be in Paris, rather to pretend one is in Paris. To the French, Paris represents all things of their nation. The forest with its wild creatures must be represented in the heart of their capital.

Not merely symbols of rural life does one find in Paris.

While one does not have to live in the country to bake bread, it is a tradition associated with a rural way of life. In every neighborhood of Paris, and of France, there is at least one small bakery which bakes fresh bread every day.

Within a few minutes of my room there are at least five such bakeries. At each of them a baguette, the traditional long French loaf, costs less than a dollar.

Between my lodgings and the Luxembourg Gardens there are open air farmers' markets three days a week. One of these surpasses the other two. There are real farmers at this market. One can tell by the dirt under their fingernails.

At a few stands the vegetables remain unwashed. At first, I thought that evidence of less care, but it may be otherwise. The French love to talk of terroir, the taste of the soil terre, in their wine. It occurs to me that such people may also want to see the soil on their vegetables.

A typical stand has a half-dozen different types of lettuce, several kinds of fresh herbs, two or three different kinds of edible pumpkin and on and on. There are cheesemakers, winemakers, makers of jams and jellies, bakers of pastries and breads. The sizzle and smell of frying potato pancakes fill the air.

That market is thronged with people who are eager to buy real food from real farmers, often a family of farmers. France has the soul of a peasant. The most sophisticated Parisian still participates in that soul.

So I claim to live in rural Paris. One of the most developed cities of the world has not forgotten the soil and those who husband it. That is a cultural discovery which makes me, a Maryland farm boy, feel comfortable living here.

Private Pre-Schools Operators Worry As Enrollments Drop

By Mary Sincell McEweh

Ask nearly any operator of a private pre-school in Garrett County about enrollment of youngsters this year and the answer will be a stream of concern and worry. The private schools, which, according to a child-readiness report from the Maryland State Department of Education, turn out children far more ready to start kindergarten than any other form of pre-school education, are facing an enrollment problem that may soon become a crisis.

The private groups, some of which are non-profit and others that support a small staff, say that the decreasing enrollment is a direct consequence of growing public programs, such as pre-kindergarten and Head Start. The programs have recently become more available to local children, so many whose parents would have paid for the private instruction are now taking advantage of the opportunity of fee-free schooling.

"It's really a problem and I think it's just going to get worse," said Debbie Shaluta, co-owner and operator of Little Rascals Early Learning Center in Oakland. "We hear all the time that the public system hopes to eventually have a pre-K in every elementary school. This will definitely continue to hurt the private centers."

She noted that operating such a business is difficult when enrollment fluctuates dramatically. "Of course our overhead stays the same no matter how many children are enrolled, so we (the staff) just take a cut in what we bring home," she said. "There was a time there when 18 of our 20 children suddenly switched to pre-K. It was a bad time, but we crossed our fingers and prayed a lot, and through advertising and word of mouth we got our enrollment back up."

Donna Cook, a teacher at the Renaissance Center in Oakland, echoed some of the same worries.

"We're doing all right now, but I am concerned," Cook said. "We have more kids signed with us than ever, but they're not all full time. That makes a difference."

What Cook referred to is a common caveat in this dilemma — the private schools all offer flexible time to the children, so parents who wish to send their youngsters to the school just two or three days a week may do so. The public schools require attendance five days per week. So what is an attractive aspect of private schools to some parents is also somewhat of a liability for the owners.

"We like to offer the flexible time because the parents really appreciate that. Some just don't want to send their children to school for five days a week yet," Cook said. But that of course means that the income is not as steady as it would be if all the enrollees were full time.

Tom Myers, executive director of the board for St. Mark's Christian Early Learning Center in Loch Lynn, agrees.

"We have 13 children enrolled right now, but not all of them are full-time. To really make our budget work we need several more full-time students," Myers said.

Melissa Anderson, director of Willy Wisp Children's Center in McHenry, said the numbers at the center are not down significantly this fall, but she, too, is concerned about the situation.

"We have noticed a drop in the number of 4-year-olds at the center," Anderson said. "Normally we would have about 50-50, half 3-year-olds and half 4-year-olds. Now the majority of our enrollment is made up of 3-year-olds.

"We're concerned because the pre-school experience is critical," Anderson said. "But in Garrett County it's hard to ask families to pay for schooling when the public system is offering it to them. The private school

SCRAP TIRE AMNESTY DAY IN GARRETT COUNTY IS OCT. 2, and to remind residents of the importance of recycling, the Solid Waste & Recycling Division has set up a display in the window of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Beginning at 9 a.m. at the fairgrounds in McHenry, Garrett County residents may bring up to 10 passenger tires per household, free of charge, for recycling. Because of the limited container capacity, however, the collection will be on a first-come, first-served basis. No commercial, truck, equipment, or agricultural tires will be accepted, and the tires must be free of dirt, mud, and water. They may, however, have rims. A residential permit is not required to participate in Scrap Tire Amnesty Day, or any other recycling program in Garrett County. Newspaper, office paper, cardboard, aluminum, #1 PETE plastic, #2 HDPE plastic, and other items are accepted at certain collection sites in the county. For more information, persons may call at 301-387-0322.

16,000 Families On State Waiting List For Child-Care Assistance

by Kia Hall Hayes
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - Kimberly Mcmurray thought she was doing the right thing by moving from southeast Washington to Rockville, where her three kids could get a better education. What she did not know when she moved in December was that the child-care assistance she got in the district would not be there for her in Maryland. Because of budget woes, the state currently has more than 16,000 families on a waiting list for day-care vouchers.

Unable to pay for after-school care on her own, Mcmurray had to watch her kids in the afternoon. But her work schedule was not that flexible. Last month, she was fired from her job as a human resources assistant.

"I just couldn't cut it, it was just too much," she said.

Mcmurray's story is all too familiar to advocates like Helen Blank, a spokeswoman for the National Women's Law Center, which issued a report this month that said child-care assistance across the nation is moving backward.

"If we were serious about helping families work, we would understand that child care is really a linchpin for low-income families," Blank said.

The center's report said Maryland had the ninth-longest waiting list in the country as of early 2004. By comparison, it said there was no waiting list in December 2001. The state, anticipating budget problems in 2004, instituted the waiting list for its Purchase of Care program in January 2003.

The program is designed to help low-income families pay for child care by providing parents with a voucher that pays part of the cost of day care, with the family paying the rest. Those co-payments are set on a sliding scale, with needier families paying less per month.

Advocates say there are more than 220,000 licensed day-care slots in the state, and about 20,000 full-time slots are currently funded in some portion through the Purchase of Care program. The program is budgeted at $109 million this year, $25 million less than last year's budget.

To be eligible for the voucher program, a Maryland family of three can earn no more than $29,000 a year, less than half the state's median income. That cap is actually higher than it was in 2001, according to the women's law center report, which said a family of three used to be cut off if it earned more than $25,140.

But at the same time that it loosened the income requirement, the state increased the co-payment. Clinton MacSherry, director of public policy for the nonprofit Maryland Committee for Children, said families that do receive vouchers now pay an average of $19 to $90 more per month than they did in 2001.

The state also instituted the waiting list. Families on welfare bypass the wait, but MacSherry said that thousands of others, working poor families who have managed to get off welfare, are left out. His group worries that those families may wind up putting their kids in unsafe settings, leaving them home alone or in a public place like a library. Some take their older kids out of school to care for their younger children, or turn to cheaper, unlicensed providers, he said. Or they quit their jobs and return to welfare.

"We don't know what their options are, but they're not good ones," MacSherry said.

The Department of Human Services, which funds the child-care voucher program, is looking for a way around the problem, said department spokeswoman Elyn Garrett Jones.

"We are looking at ways to help alleviate the burden families see as it relates to child care," she said.

She said day care is a major concern for Gov. Robert Ehrlich, who has urged the department to find ways to provide assistance to those families. But until the state can find the extra funds, the waiting list will continue to grow.

Meanwhile, mothers like Mcmurray may have to return to welfare — something she thought women like her were supposed to avoid — to receive day-care assistance.

While she looks for another job, Mcmurray's daughter Nicole, 15, watches her son Brandon, 9, after school, while her aunt collects Laurence, 5, who is in school for half a day. Brandon's school has an after-care program, but Mcmurray cannot afford the $175 a month fee without for that matter. While you're in the Family Studies department, click on the numerous research projects completed by the department.

Tolbert reported that statistics gathered by the research team revealed "the depth of mental and physical problems faced by a significant number of Garrett Countians. I would not say that "twenty Garrett County women who willingly shared their life experiences and views during a 2-3 hour interview conducted in October 2000" is a significant number, considering there are approximately 30,000 people in Garrett County. Tolbert also reported, according to Braun and Anderson, that "Garrett County has abnormally high rates of bipolarism (manic depression). They gave no reasons for the findings... Gave no reasons for their findings? To throw out a statement like this with nothing to substantiate it? Can we assume this is simply speculation then?

Twenty Garrett County women (why no males?) were given $25 gift certificates and their children were given books for participating in the study. Participants were interviewed for 2 to 3 hours about their living situations and given a standard assessment for depression. Results rated two points higher for symptoms of depression than for participants in the same study in Dorchester County. Readers should know that this assessment was conducted by the Family Studies department, a division of the School of Social Work, not clinical psychologists.

Do we know if any of the "willing" participants were told the entire "nuts and bolts" of the research study? One must remember if not given a voice in society, no one can take your eyes (to read) or ears (to listen, not just "hear," but listen). The key is to be a "willing participant" when it comes to your own life, not just a passive observer.

If you happen to read the study, note in Background Information the information Tolbert failed to report: "Following the passage of federal welfare reform legislation in 1996, faculty from land-grant universities organized to conduct a study of the legislation's impact on rural studies. The five-year project began in 1998 and runs through 2003. Fifteen states joined together to execute the research project. The intent is to provide policymakers and program directors with up-to-date information about the ability of rural, low-income families to be economically self-sufficient. Data will be collected at three points over three years...."

The basis for this research project was welfare reform, as researchers noted: "Welfare reform was intended to move families off cash assistance and into work with wages. At issue is the extent to which these wages provide enough income to meet basic needs. Welfare reform was further intended to make families economically self-sufficient, which implies not needing public assistance. This study focuses on the extent to which these families are using cash and other assistance, and the degree to which they are employed and using their income to meet needs." "Moving families off cash assistance and into work with wages" should instead read: "into work with LIVABLE wages."

Tolbert ended with: "The ongoing study concluded that Garrett County needed more better paying jobs with benefits."

Was this news to anyone – struggling day-to-day in economic conditions that are far from "cheery" – living in Garrett County? Why not conduct research on those responsible for economic development? Could they be depressed? Unmotivated perhaps?

Knowing the spirit of native Garrett Countians, especially the strengths, not the weaknesses, may I suggest a research project on the human capacity for resilience? This is one human factor in which many Garrett Countians really rate the "highest."

1-26-19 - 9-30-00

God took you to heaven four years ago.
We know you are safe with him up there.
One day at a time we make it through,
That is how each day was lived by you.
We miss your laughter and smiling face,
Your sweet love and tenderness
We cannot replace.
Although our hearts will never be the same,
Your spirit inside us will always remain.
The years we spent together
The happy times we knew
Are most treasured memories
With loving thoughts of you.
For you were someone special
So gentle, kind and true
You will never be forgotten
For we thought the world of you.
Life goes on, we know that's true
But it's not the same since we lost you.

Sadly Missed by,
Husband Asa, and children, Doris,

EMERSON E. FRAZEE

Emerson E. "Pete" Frazee, 79, Friendsville, died Saturday, Sept. 25, 2004, in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Born Dec. 26, 1924, in Leisenring, Pa., he was the son of the late Clark and Daisy (VanSickle) Frazee.

He was a U.S.M.C. veteran who was wounded while serving in World War II and received the Purple Heart. He was a lifetime member of the VFW Post 10077 in Deer Park, a member of the American Legion Post 0071 in Oakland, and charter member of the BPOE Lodge 2481 in Oakland.

He was a graduate of Friendsville High School and was co-owner of D&B Mine Materials. He was a timberman all his life.

Surviving are his wife, Shirley (Ryzok) Frazee; three children, Bradley Frazee, Uniontown, Pa., Lisa Westhafer, Charlotte, N.C., and Dana Frazee, Friendsville; five stepchildren, Janet Jefferys, Valley Point, W.Va., Bill Glisan, Uniontown, Michael Glisan, Clearwater, Fla., Tammy Brugger, Richmond, Va., Brian Glisan, LaVale; one brother, Charles J. Frazee, Friendsville; four sisters, Mabel Griffith, Bernice Rodeheaver, and Ruby Ryan, all of Friendsville, and Delores Miller, Austintown, Ohio; one grandson; and nine step-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Crawford Funeral Home, Farmington, Pa. Additional visitation was held in Blooming Rose Church of the Brethren, where a service was held Wednesday, Sept. 29, with the Rev. Phil Dukes officiating.

Interment followed in Asher Glade Cemetery.

Military rites were accorded at graveside.

GEORGE W. LEE JR.

George Wesley Lee Jr., 48, Westminster, died Sunday, Sept. 26, 2004, at his residence.

Born Dec. 5, 1955, in Baltimore, he was the son of George Wesley Lee Sr. and the late Catherine Marie Huffman Lee.

In addition to his father, he is survived by his wife of seven years, Edith Wolf Lee; his stepmother, Ada M. Lee; one daughter, Shannon Lee, Finksburg; one stepson, Daniel N. Wolf, Nottingham; one stepdaughter, Hannah M. Wolf, Westminster; three sisters, Deborah A. Rutter, Hanover, Pa., Linda S. Blake, Eldersburg, and Nancy A. Baker, Westminster; and one grandson.

He was employed in construction as a project superintendent. He was a graduate of Randallstown High School, class of 1974.

Friends will be received at the Pritts Funeral Home, Westminster, today, Thursday, Sept. 30, from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m., the time of the service. The Rev. Donald A. Haas will officiate.

Interment will be on Friday at 1 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Cemetery, Accident.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made in his memory to the American Cancer Society, j393 Progress Way, Suite 908, Eldersburg, MD 21784.

BITTINGER LUTHERAN PARISH TO CELEBRATE APPALACHIAN SUNDAY – The churches of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish – Emmanuel, St. John's, and Zion – will celebrate Appalachian Sunday with a special joint communion worship on Oct. 10, at Emmanuel in Bittinger. The service will begin at 9:45 p.m. with music celebrating the Appalachian heritage of the area. A "land and seasons" worship setting will be used. Bishop Ralph, head of the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod, will preside, assisted by Rev. Alex Black, bishop emeritus of the synod, and Pastor Pat Pittsnogle, Bittinger Lutheran Parish. The service will include a brief ceremony marking the retirement of a construction loan debt for Emmanuel (pictured). The church's sanctuary was dedicated in September 2000, following a 1½ year construction period. Assisting with the construction of the church were members of the Mission Builders of the Evangelical Church in America, members of Emmanuel, and other local individuals and businesses who contributed time, materials, and equipment. "The construction loan was paid off in just over three years due to numerous memorial gifts and regular offerings of members toward the building fund," said a church spokesperson. The public is invited. Following the service, a luncheon will be held in the Bittinger fire hall at 12:30 p.m.

CLARENCE R. KIRK

Clarence Richard "Dick" Kirk, 74, Keyser, W.Va., and part-time resident of Deep Creek Lake, died Sunday, Sept. 26, 2004, at his residence.

Born Dec. 15, 1929, in Luke, he was a son of the late James and Molly (Mason) Kirk. He was also preceded in death by one son, Clarence Richard "Ricky" Kirk II.

He was a member of the Potomac Highland Baptist Church. He was also a U.S. Army veteran, and had worked several years for the B & O Railroad before starting work for the Westvaco Corp., where he worked for 37 years and retired as a shift foreman on No. 9 paper machine.

Surviving are his wife, Jerri (Ceglar) Kirk; one brother, James C. Kirk, Hagerstown; four sons, Randy Kirk, Long Beach, Calif., Chris Kirk, Westernport, Richard Kirk of Elk Garden, W.Va., and Robert Leatherman, Front Royal, Va.; two daughters, Renda Hott and Karen Hartman, both of New Creek, W.Va., 11 grandchildren; one great-granddaughter.

Friends were received at the Markwood Funeral Home, Keyser.

A service was held at the Potomac Highland Baptist Church, Keyser, on Thursday, Sept. 30, with the Rev. Lloyd Heatwole officiating.

Interment was in the Potomac Memorial Gardens, Keyser.

The family requests that any memorial contributions be sent to the Potomac Highland Baptist Church Building Fund.

Braeded Chord To Perform At Crellin Church

The Braeded Chord will perform original contemporary Christian music on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m., at the Crellin United Brethren Church.

The public is invited to attend this evening of "spiritual enjoyment and fellowship."

The Braeded Chord is an acoustic/contemporary folk duo made up of performing songwriters Sharon Dennis, guitarist, and Doris MacDonald, on keyboard. Both write and perform original songs as well as familiar music that spans several generations, from children's music to blues-infused gospel to fun sing-alongs.

The musical partnership of Dennis and MacDonald began while the two were performing in the contemporary worship band of a local Baptist Church in Northern Virginia, and a Celebrate Recovery worship band, which soon extended to performances at other churches, in coffeehouses, hospitals, and nursing homes.

In June 2003, they released their first CD, Sharon Dennis: Beyond What I Can See, with 10 of their original works recorded at Bias Studio in Springfield, Va.

Crellin United Brethren Church is located about five miles west of Oakland on Route 39. For additional questions or information persons may call 301-334-1870.

47th Annual Springs Folk Festival Slated

The 47th annual Springs Folk Festival will be held this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 1 and 2, in Springs, Pa. Festival hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. More than 140 artisans will demonstrate their crafts during the event.

"The purpose of the festival is to preserve and accurately portray the arts and crafts of pioneers and mountain folk," said a festival spokesperson. "The celebration includes the arts, skills, and labors of our forefathers."

Visitors will observe bread baking in an unique outdoor oven, apple butter simmering in large open kettles, artists demonstrating their painting techniques, weavers making warm garments for the coming winter, quilting, candle dipping, rug making, woodworking, and much more.

Along a trail through the woods, there will be sheep shearing, muzzle-loading demonstrations, weavers, and other artisans demonstrating their crafts, while local musicians perform.

The art of log hewing, rail splitting, and grain flailing will also be demonstrated by "old timers." Antique farm equipment, including shingle-making equipment powered by a steam engine and an old-time hay baler will be in operation.

Bluegrass and gospel music programs will also be featured during the two-day event. A performance with local talent depicting life in the Springs area during the 1800 and early 1900s will be presented Friday and Saturday afternoon, with a special performance on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Additionally, the Springs Museum, located on the festival grounds, has thousands of artifacts and documents from the area.

"See the life of the early settlers of the 1750s, the religious history of the Casselman Valley, folk art carvings, home furnishings, and the tools used to make a living in this area," said the spokesperson.

A Pennsylvania Dutch dinner will be served in the historic Folk Meeting House, also located on the festival grounds. Homemade funnel cakes, donuts, ice cream, bread and apple butter, and hand-rolled pretzels baked on the premises may also be purchased at various locations on the grounds.

Admission to the festival cost is $5 for adults, $2 for children ages 6 to 18, and free for children under 6, which includes admittance to the demonstration grounds, music and craft buildings, and Springs Museum.

The festival grounds are located along Rt. 669. For more information, persons may call 814-662-4158.

OTT To Again Stage Theatre For Seniors

The first meeting of the season for Our Town Theatre's Senior Citizens Theatre will be held on Oct. 5 from 1 to 2 p.m. It will take place at the theatre, which is located at 121 Center Street, Oakland.

All adults are welcome to participate in various dramatic exercises, skits, improvisations, movement, oral interpretation, and other theatrical activities.

For more information, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Teen Book Club To Discuss Novel The Red Pony

The Ruth Enlow Library Teen Book Club will meet at the Oakland library at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, to discuss The Red Pony by John Steinbeck. All students age 12 and up may attend.

"Raised on a ranch in northern California, Jody is well-schooled in the hard work and demands of a rancher's life," reads the publisher's book description. "He is used to the way of horses, too; but nothing has prepared him for the special connection he will forge with Gabilan, a hot-tempered pony his father gives him. With Billy Buck, the hired hand, Jody tends and trains his horse, restlessly anticipating the moment he will sit high upon Gabilan's saddle. But when Gabilan falls ill, Jody discovers there are still lessons he must learn about the ways of nature and, particularly, the ways of man."

Persons may visit the Oakland library or call 301-334-3996 to reserve a copy of The Red Pony. The library offers three book clubs serving first-graders through teenagers. Further information may be obtained on the library's web site at www.relib.net, or by calling the library.

All book clubs are funded in part by the Friends of the Library.

OTT Notes Rise In Ticket Prices

Because of the rising prices of materials and utilities, the board members of Our Town Theatre have been compelled to raise ticket prices for the establishment.

Tickets for Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Sundays will remain at $5 per person, while tickets on Fridays and Saturdays will increase to $8.

"We hate to have to raise our ticket costs," said a board member, "but we're doing our best to provide quality productions and at the same time make ends meet."

The increase in prices will begin in October with the first OTT production of the season, which will be Ghostwalk IV, scheduled for Oct. 28, 29, and 30 at 8 p.m. Reservations will be available for this production starting on Oct. 15. Persons may make them by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Tub Mill Arts Slates Annual Open House

The Tub Mill Arts Association in Salisbury, Pa., will kick off its fall activities with the 17th annual Open House on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Oct. 1-3, from noon until 5 p.m.

The Visiting Artist Exhibit is currently featuring paintings by Dr. David Welling and his sister, Leah Huber. Their work will be on display through Oct. 3.

Additionally, several classes have been scheduled during October: "Scrap-Booking," Oct. 2; "Designing a Quilter's Pin Cushion," Oct. 6; "Introduction to Drawing," Oct. 7; "Introduction to Painting," starting Oct. 9; and "Stained Glass," Oct. 20.

The Tub Mill Arts Association's next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 6, at I p.m. at the shop, which is located along Ord Street. For more information, persons may call 814-662-2481.

Recording Artist Slates Concert At St. Peter's

Nancy Krebs, Christian recording artist and singer-songwriter, will present a one-hour concert at St. Peter the Apostle Church, Oakland, on Saturday, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

The concert, billed as a "spiritual journey in song," will be followed by a wine and cheese reception in the church social hall.

Krebs has performed throughout the eastern United States, and her music has received airplay throughout the world, according to a church spokesperson.

"Her music leads to a greater appreciation of the spirit of God, active and alive in our hearts," said Rev. Frank Donio of Baltimore.

OTT To Hold Auditions For Melodrama

Our Town Theatre in Oakland will hold auditions for the melodrama Only an Orphan Girl on Sunday, Oct. 3, 2 to 5 p.m., and on Monday, Oct. 4, 7 to 9 p.m.

"This is a delightful family-oriented comedy which contains all of the elements of an old-time melodrama, including the villain, the hero, and the heroine, all which play their roles up to the hilt," said Jane Avery, director.

There are eight parts in the play: three males, one in his late teens or early 20s and the other two from 40 on up; and five females, one in her late teens or early 20s, one in her 30s, and two from 40 on up. There is also a part for a 10-year-old girl.

Performances of the show are scheduled for Nov. 17-21. Those wishing to see the show may make reservations starting Nov. 1 by calling the theatre (301-334-5640).

"OTT hasn't tackled this genre to date, and it's time we did," Avery said. "We are hoping for lots of viewer involvement – booing the villain and cheering the hero. Along with the old-time piano music, we hope to feature olios, which are short comedic black-out scenes that will warm up the audience. This production should provide a great theatrical event for families."

Questions about auditions or the production may be directed to Avery by calling the number noted above.

Southern Band Accruing High Scores Early

The Southern High School Marching Band has competed in three field show contests in the past two weeks and captured two first place trophies and one third place. This is one of the most successful season beginnings the band has had in recent history, according to Duane Salisbury, assistant director. The band is under the direction of Richard Clever.

Southern competed on Saturday, Sept. 18, at the Martinsburg (W.Va.) Band Spectacular, a show that involved a total of 19 bands.

Southern finished third out of four bands at this show. Brunswick High School earned a score of 75.15 to take first place, followed by Walkersville High with 74.35. Southern's score was 72.1 for third place, and Hancock followed with 61 5.

Former Resident Kevin Bennear To Sing With President's Own Sunday

A singer from Elk Garden, W.Va., and formerly of Oakland, will come home this weekend to sing with the President's Own United States Marine Band, which will perform on Sunday at Southern High School as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival season.

Kevin Bennear, a baritone with the President's Own since 2000, said he is excited for the concert Sunday.

"Well, it's just coming home for me," he said. His mother, Dolly Baker, lives in Oakland. "The rest of the band will be housed at Deep Creek Lake in a hotel, but I will spend the weekend with my mom. It'll be great to be home." His sister, Debbie Bolyard, is also a local resident.

Bennear is only the third singer to perform with the esteemed and long-lived group, which has been in existence since 1798. It is the country's oldest professional musical organization.

A graduate of West Virginia University, Bennear was born and grew up in Elk Garden. He attended WVU under a full voice scholarship, and after graduating with honors, he performed with several theatres, including the Christian-based theatre Sight and Sound and Theatre West Virginia. He was then offered an assistantship at the University of Tennessee, where he performed with the Knoxville Opera Company. After receiving his master's degree from UT, he assumed the position of baritone vocal soloist with the President's Own.

In this capacity Bennear has sung for two U.S. presidents, is a regular performer at White House state dinners, and performs for dignitaries and heads of state from around the world.

Bennear said his most memorable performing moment was "singing the national anthem on Sept. 11, community participation.

"Some of the children have been bounced around from home to home," said Richards, "but they know they have a home at Salem for as long as they need it."

Salem's Shelter Care Program also provides short-term placement for children between the ages of 8 and 15.

The center is licensed by the Maryland Social Services Administration for children up to age 18. Others are referred by the Departments of Social Services or Juvenile Services.

The home currently has 29 residents and 23 students attending the Salem School. The proposed new school could have a student population of 37, according to the board members. Some of the Salem residents attend Garrett County public schools, and some local children attend the Salem School, they noted.

Approved by the Maryland State Department of Education and monitored by the Garrett County Board of Education, Salem's nonpublic educational program serves two different populations of students. Education director Todd Mechem said the school's short-term program meets the needs of children in the shelter or Garrett County students who have demonstrated the inability to function successfully in the public school system and have been referred for counseling, support services, or behavioral interventions.

Salem's long-term educational program is for students who have been diagnosed as emotionally disturbed, learning disabled, or multi-handicapped. These students have an individualized program with grade-appropriate curriculum and materials. Some Garrett County children are also in the long-term program.

Mechem noted that the Board of Education does not like to expel students. Salem helps prepare Garrett County students to re-enter public school with social skills development and crisis intervention, but only when they are ready to do so. The Salem School, therefore, meets the needs of both the Board of Education and the student who would have been expelled.

Development director Joyce Sauder said a new school building is needed primarily for safety reasons. The residential students have to cross busy Lower New Germany Road to get to school. Currently, classes are held in a small renovated garage that also serves as a media center. Storage space for books and a centralized kitchen are also lacking, she noted.

Meals are currently prepared in the facility's 150-year-old farm house and are transported across the road to the students at lunch time. The Garrett County Health Department has requested that Salem upgrade its kitchen equipment, Sauder said.

"David," a former Garrett County student who attended the Salem School, testified before House and Senate committees in Annapolis during the last General Assembly session on behalf of funding legislation for a new school building.

"The only problem with Salem School," he told legislators, "is that it's not a real school. There's no kitchen at the school. When we try to read and study in the library, people are always going in and out. They almost bump into us. It's hard to concentrate."

The legislators and governor approved the request, and the school will receive a $500,000 bond bill from the state.

In addition to classrooms, the new school will have a kitchen and dining room, media center, mobile computer lab, therapy room, art and music room, restrooms, and community room.

Steering committee chair Gary Ruddell cited Salem's "sizable" economic impact on the county as reasons for local funding help. He noted that the facility employees 77 persons, many of whom are Garrett Countians. It also purchases food, cleaning supplies, gas, and other items, as well as contract services. Those visiting Salem also purchase items from local businesses. Additionally, the county would get a $1.764 million construction project with the building of the new school.

"We want to get to the place where we can break ground in early spring and begin construction," Bender said. To do so, however, the board directors need 80 percent of the total $1.764 million cost of the project. They currently have over $500,000 in pledges and actual cash, as well as the bond bill, he noted, so about $400,000 is needed yet to reach the 80 percent mark.

The commissioners will discuss the request further and notify the board of their decision.

"We trust your judgment," Bender told the commissioners, "and we know you'll make the right decision."

and local tax receipts. During the next five years, state taxes and fees generated from the construction and annual operation of these housing projects is estimated at $1.95 million.

Thirty townhomes will be constructed over the remainder of this year in the Mountain Village West and will be ready for occupancy by next summer. The Pysell Ridge project will start as soon as that phase is completed.

The singer spent a year in Oakland as a young adult and offered his musical talents to St. Paul's United Methodist Church. He served as the choir director there in 1994.

"I have a lot of ties to the area," the singer said, "and I'm really looking forward to the weekend. It'll be great to see everyone."

Bennear will be singing a well-known Mozart aria from the Marriage of Figaro, and will follow that up with "If I Loved You."

Richter won the Best Drum Major Award in Group I at Martinsburg.

The band competed twice on Saturday, Sept. 25: first at Northern Garrett held at noon, and then at Greenway Stadium in the Allegany Preview of Champions at 6 p.m.

Southern won in the Group I division in both shows. At Northern the marchers scored 76.15 and collected trophies for Best Drum Major, Best Marching and Maneuvering, Best Music, Best Brass, Best Woodwinds, Best Percussion, and Best Guard. Westmar came in second with a score of 68.85. There were 8 total bands, with Northern Garrett marching in exhibition and receiving a score of 74.25.

A total of 13 bands were in competition at Allegany, with three in Group I. To take first, Southern scored 77.75, and again swept the caption awards receiving trophies for Best Music, Best Marching, Best Percussion, and Best Color Guard.

"The band staff is happy and excited about the way the students are performing and about the future potential of this show," said Salisbury.

Southern's band show this season features the music from the movie Pirates of the Caribbean.

Rams Hang Tough With Allegany In 4-Point Loss

The Southern High School varsity football team played its part in a homecoming to remember, as the Rams nearly pulled off a huge upset of visiting Allegany Friday night, losing by a slim 20-16 margin. SHS shocked the heavily-favored Alco squad by scoring the first points of the year on the undefeated Campers, roaring back from a 12-0 halftime deficit to score 16 unanswered third-quarter points to grab the lead and light a fire under the home crowd. Allegany claimed the win with a fourth-quarter touchdown.

"We were real pleased with our effort, which was a direct result of a good week of practice ahead of time," Southern coach Fred Gregg said. "It was a shame we couldn't take it at the end and reap the reward of all the hard work. Allegany found a way to win, and we need to do that from here on; however, we know the kids got our message that we preached all week: 'If you give a great effort, you may win; if you don't give the effort, you definitely won't win.' I'm real proud of our guys."

Although Allegany scored twice in the first half, the first two quarters were marked by a titanic defensive struggle. Alco scored in the first quarter on an Austin Scell touchdown pass to Brian Hansel to take a 6-0 lead.

The two teams slugged it out from there into the second quarter, when the Rams were able to move the ball to the Campers' one-yard line with a golden first-and-goal scoring opportunity in their hands. The chance to cut the margin got away, however, when the Allegany defense stiffened for a goal line stand that shut Southern down on four straight plays and turned the ball back over to the Campers.

The Alco offense went to work from there, embarking on a 99-yard drive that drew as much impetus from Ram miscues as it did from Camper success. Southern gave the visitors a whopping 45 yards on three penalties during the drive, which also featured a 25-yard run by sophomore Tyler Wharton and a long pass from Scell to Hunter Files that put the ball at the SHS nine-yard line with the half about to expire. Gambling on their offense, Alco elected to try for a touchdown with three seconds remaining, and cashed in the chips when Scell hit Donavin Vinson for a nine-yard touchdown.

Southern refused to roll over, and got right back into the fight after the intermission. After forcing an Allegany punt on the opening possession of the second half, the Rams embarked on a 65-yard scoring drive that opened with an 11-yard completion. SHS then ground its way into Camper territory, until, from the 33-yard line, quarterback Cory Bosley launched a strike that Brad Reese snagged at the 5-yard line before scooting into the end zone with Southern's first touchdown. Key to the play was the fine blocking of the Ram line, which did an outstanding job the entire evening.

The touchdown marked the first time an opponent had scored on the Campers this year. After Bosley's successful toss for the two-point conversion, the Rams were down by just four points, 12-8.

Ram lighting struck again in the same stanza when Bret Dewitt gathered in a punt and tore off on a 78-yard return for a touchdown. Andrew VanBogelen ran in the two-point conversion, and Southern was up 16-12 with the final quarter approaching.

"That was a superb play by Bret," Gregg commented. "The ball wasn't punted real close to him, and he had to cover a lot of ground to track it down. When he did, he got some good blocks, and he was gone."

Victory slipped from the Rams' grasp in the fourth quarter, however, when Wharton scored on a 12-yard carry to regain the lead for Allegany. Southern still had a chance to stay within field goal range of victory, but Files followed up Wharton's touchdown with a two-point conversion run that all but sealed SHS's fate.

VanBogelen paced SHS's running game with 12 carries for 53 yards, while Bosley complete five of his ten passing attempts for 64 yards and one touchdown. Gregg cited defensive linemen Brandon McWilliams, Gage Welch, and Brandon Manko, and linebackers VanBogelen and Chris Miller for their outstanding efforts.

Alco's Scell completed 9 of 13 passes for 143 yards with a pair of touchdowns. Wharton recorded 70 yards on 13 carries, while Randy O'Brien and Files contributed 48 each.

There will be no rest for the weary this week, as the Rams visit Tucker County tomorrow for a showdown with the powerful Mountain Lions. The 4-1 Lions lost their first game to Moorefield last week, and will be looking to get back on the winning track against Southern.

Tucker has a versatile offense that lines up in multiple I formations. As in years past, the Lions have a good passing game, but this season they may have a ground game that tops their air attack. "Tucker's offense can overpower you on the ground," Gregg observed. "We'll have to play real hard to hold them down. They have a senior-dominated team that went to the West Virginia state playoffs last season, so they have a lot of experience."

Among the chief weapons in the Tucker offensive arsenal are senior split end Gselle (5-11, 155), a speedy receiver who Gregg described as a "real threat, who can catch passes and also run reverse plays real well." Tucker also boasts a pair of fine running backs, senior fullback McWilliams (6-1, 200) and junior halfback Stemple (6-1, 170), both excellent runners who can turn in some fine blocking as well.

On defense the Rams expect Tucker to stick with its customary 4-3 Monster formation. "They're very good on defense," stated Gregg, "they have good size up front, good linebackers, good speed in the secondary, and they all like to hit." McWilliams anchors the defense at middle linebacker, while the front four have a big defensive end in senior Maxwell (6-5, 215).

Tucker is coached by Joe Michael, who does double-duty as the school's principal.

Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. at the Tucker field.

RAMS RUN TO DAYLIGHT – The Southern High School Homecoming football game befitted the occasion, as the varsity Rams put on quite a show Friday as they were edged by the powerful Allegany Campers by a narrow 20-16 margin. Oakland reverberated with home crowd cheers in the third quarter, including on the very play captured above as Ram junior Bret Dewitt (#24) is shown embarking on a touchdown-scoring 78-yard punt return behind a crushing block by teammate Chris Miller (#14, foreground). The TD gave Southern a four-point lead, which the Rams carried into the fourth quarter. Renegade Pee Wees Prevail Over Vikings

The Oakland Renegades took a hard-fought hometown Pee Wee Football League A & B squad battle from the Oakland Vikings by a 32-25 tally last Thursday, Sept. 23.

The Renegades started the scoring with a 22-yard touchdown run by Cole Sanders, and teammate Logan Stewart contributed a 31-yard TD carry to put his squad up 13-0 after one quarter of play. The Vikings' Bryson Knox put his team on the board in the second half with a five-yard rushing touchdown.

The third quarter began much as the first stanza had, with the Renegades finding the end zone for two unanswered touchdowns of eight and two yards, both carried in by Stewart. The Vikes responded later in the same quarter when Gavin Murphy galloped 45 yards for a touchdown.

The final stanza's scoring tally opened with the Renegades final touchdown, a one-yard plunge by Tyler Sanders. The Vikings scored the game's last two TDs, as Zach Knotts rumbled across the goal line from 25 and 14 yards out, but it was too little, too late.

The C Team Vikes staved off a blank slate for their program by recording a 27-0 shutout over the Renegades.

NHS Carves Up Turkeyfoot; Alco Showdown Is Saturday

The undefeated Northern High School varsity football squad feasted on Turkeyfoot Saturday afternoon, slicing through the Rams' defense en route to a 54-0 shutout. It was a thrashing on multiple counts: NHS had nearly three times as many first downs as the Rams; over 13 times more yards of total offense as Turkeyfoot; and nearly 20 times as many rushing yards as the hosts.

The Huskies have had no time to rest on their victors' laurels, however, as preparations have been hard under way all week for Saturday's battle with unbeaten Allegany in the hostile atmosphere of Cumberland's mammoth Greenway Stadium.

Northern hit the ground running Saturday on the Turkeyfoot field and never stopped. On the Huskies' very first play from scrimmage, fullback Tyler Warn exploded for a 39-yard touchdown run. Then, on NHS's second offensive play, tailback Michael Wolf reeled off a 22-yard scoring run that put the visitors up 12-0 after only 71 seconds had ticked off the clock in the contest.

The Huskies put three more touchdowns on the board before the opening quarter ended. Wolf took a handoff and shot 40 yards into the end zone, then Warn, playing at linebacker, intercepted a Ram pass and returned the ball 10 yards for a touchdown.

"Our scouting reports showed that Turkeyfoot's best play was a screen pass, so we had worked on defending that in practice," Carr explained. "Tyler had the read on their running back all the way, and shot in from his weak side linebacker position at the perfect moment to make the pick."

Warn scored again with just under three minutes to go in the stanza on a nine-yard carry. The first quarter ended with NHS holding an already-insurmountable 34-0 lead.

Northern quarterback Robert Stark showed his own speed in the second quarter by scampering 48 yards on an option keeper, for the Huskies' sixth touchdown of the day.

The half ended with NHS up 41-0, and the intermission entertainment gave an indication of how the odds were stacked against the small-school Turkeyfoot hosts, for one of members of the small band was a varsity football athlete who played his horn in full pads. The Rams had only five reserve players on their sideline throughout the long day.

For their part, the Huskies, who had begun dipping into their second string early in the second quarter, got a second-half touchdown from reserve running back Mitch Fost. One minute into the third quarter, the junior sped off for a 26-yard scoring carry that made the score 47-0.

Senior Eric Johnson, who had moved from his starting halfback position to quarterback when the second half got under way, capped NHS's scoring with a one-yard dive shortly before the third quarter closed. That touchdown ended the day's scoring with Northern up by 54 unanswered points.

Wolf paced the Huskies' 338-yard ground game with 90 yards on a mere six carries, having left the offensive lineup less than two minutes after the second quarter opened. Despite finishing well below his season average to date, the senior still tops the area rushing charts with 707 yards in just four games, and enters tomorrow evening's showdown with the Campers well rested and ready for a defense that had not given up a point heading into last Friday's game at Southern.

Sophomore Corey Carr, who ordinarily would have filled in for Stark at quarterback but was sent to fullback because of the large cast on his broken wrist, gained 70 yards on just five carries. Carr also recorded three successful point-after kicks, and Johnson gathered in a two-point conversion pass from Stark in the first quarter.

Northern had only eight first downs on the day, but that was because five of their touchdown plays came from distances of 48, 40, 29, 26, and 22 yards out — making light work for the chain crew. Turkeyfoot had a pair of rushing first downs and one through the air.

The Huskies gobbled up the field for 341 yards of total offense to the Rams' 25 yards of offense, as NHS's "Grave Digger" defense held the hosts to just 17 rushing yards on 24 carries. In addition to Warn's interception return for a touchdown, Johnson picked off a screen pass after making a read that brought him to the line of scrimmage. When the ball was tipped into the air by a teammate, Johnson was in position to gather in the interception.

"It was a great win for us," said Coach Carr. "Our first string and second string both executed perfectly all day." Carr was also pleased that his players came out of the contest without injury.

Despite coming fairly early in the season, Saturday's "main event" with Allegany has huge playoff implications. The top four squads in the Western Region each have perfect 4-0 records, and the current rankings put Smithsburg on top, followed in order by Allegany, Northern, and Hancock. The winner of the NHS-Alco showdown earns bonus points that could play a big part in playoff scenarios, as well as a distinct psychological edge heading into a possible post-season rematch.

"We've scouted Allegany against Frankfort and Southern, and we saw some weaknesses that can be exploited," Carr stated. "We were very impressed with the nice things Southern was able to do against them, Coach Gregg did a really good job using his guys' quickness to offset the Campers' size and strength. It seemed like every other play the Rams had a defender in the backfield hitting the running back just as he was getting the handoff. We're going to have to do the same thing with our defense."

Allegany runs a Wing-T offense with a split formation that loads its major weapon, junior split end Donavin Vinson (6-2, 185), in a position to make big catches. The Huskies expect the Campers to try to bait their defense into one-on-one coverage against Vinson, but feel they are up to the task.

Alco senior quarterback Austin Scell (6-0, 165) appears fully recovered from a pre-season injury and has been hitting Vinson and his with consistency. "Scell is one of the best passers in the area, he throws short passes with authority and a quick release that gives his receivers an opportunity to run with the ball after catching it. He's also really good at the play-action fake, and we've been grilling our guys on that all week."

Alco has a deep backfield that gives first-year head coach Tom Preaskorn, a 1982 Allegany graduate, the opportunity to rest his starters without giving up offensive firepower. Starting at fullback is senior Randy O'Brien (5-8, 185), who is sometimes spelled by sophomore Tyler Wharton (6-0, 175), who tallied a 100-yard rushing performance against Frankfort. The halfback is senior Hunter Files (5-10, 170), and playing at wingback will be junior Logan Reiter (6-0, 185).

Allegany's defense, which has given up just one touchdown so far this season, stacks the line in a 6-2 formation, and Northern's Carr says his troops are ready. "We expect them to crowd the line of scrimmage to try and shut down our run and make us throw the ball, but our philosophy is going to stay the same–we control the line, we run the ball.

"Allegany is the biggest team we've got on our schedule this year, so our offensive linemen are going to have to be quick," Carr said. "This game is going to be decided up front, and we know we can't drive their defensive linemen out of town, but if we can sustain our blocks long enough to spring our backs past the line of scrimmage, they can do a lot of damage."

Saturday's kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. at Greenway, which seats upwards of 7,000 fans. At this point no local radio coverage will be provided, and given that the Saturday date does not conflict with Friday's Southern game, the possibility of a big Garrett County turnout has the Huskies ready to rumble.

"It's going to be a great game, no matter who wins," Carr predicted. "We hope everyone comes out to enjoy the evening and root us on."

Maddawgs Bag

The B squads took the field first, and the Hunters started the scoring with a long touchdown drive on their opening possession. Northern answered with a drive of its own, which ended with a 35-yard touchdown run by Chris Murdock.

The Hunters' A team took the field for the second quarter with the score tied at 6-6, and the hosts drove 29 yards for their second score. Northern's defense stifled West Side's crucial extra point attempt, and the Maddawg offense took over to embark on a long scoring march that culminated with Patrick Sines's one-yard dive into the end zone. Alex Baker bulldozed in for the extra point to give Northern the half time lead at 13-12.

Although it controlled the third quarter, the Maddawgs' B unit was unable to get into the end zone. With time running out in the stanza, a Hunter ball carrier broke free from a tackler's grasp in the backfield and scampered 58 yards for the go-ahead score. After converting the extra point, West Side took a 19-12 into the final stanza.

The Maddawgs shut down their A team counterparts in the fourth quarter. Cody Rodeheaver and Cameron Kamp each logged interceptions, and Northern knotted the score when Baker rumbled 40 yards for a touchdown. Jacob Bosley ran in the extra point to give the Maddawgs' their one-point victory.

Baker, Rodeheaver, Kamp, Guy Vignoli, Zack Meyers, and Austin Tombley stood out for the A team defense, according to the Northern coaching staff. Tristen Devaulk, Seth Layton, Tyler Ireland, Robert Hill, and Murdock were cited as defensive stars for the B team.

Northern's C team played an outstanding game to take its contest by a 24 - 20 tally. Trevon Jones scored two touchdowns, and Justin Derato and Shawn Carr scored one touchdown apiece. C team defensive standouts were Meshach Metz, Blake Upole, Jones, Derato, and Bradley McKenzie, who recovered a Hunters' fumble.

Northern Girls Defeat Westmar, Fort Hill; Boost Record To 5-2

The Northern High School girls' soccer team boosted its season record this week with two wins, now in a four-game winning streak. Westmar fell to the Huskies last Thursday in overtime with a score of 3-2, and Fort Hill lost to the home team Tuesday 5-3.

The Wildcats had a 2-0 halftime lead on a goal by Molly Williams mid-way through the half and on a direct kick by Jessica Marsh with only 15 seconds on the clock.

Sarah Voelkel put NHS on the board, unassisted, before a minute had passed in the second half. Amy Shaffer followed up with another goal, assisted by Erin Brenneman, when the clock was showing 34:30 left in the game. The tie remained and the game went into overtime.

The overtime ended with 5:30 on the clock when Britta Lais scored the winning goal on a feed from Voelkel.

Northern led in shots 23-11 and in corner kicks 4-3.

Huskies Kasie Fratz and Kayla Kipp both served as keepers and each had four saves. Wildcats' keeper, Molly Chesire, stopped eight for her team.

The Huskies hosted the match with Fort Hill on Tuesday. Tiffany Yoder made the first mark on the scoreboard with an unassisted goal about five minutes into the match. Sentinel Lauren Ronan matched the goal just three minutes later, assisted by Cassie Donahue. The score went to 2-1 when Abbie Lovell made an unassisted goal.

Just over a minute later Brittany Milbourne scored, assisted by Sarah Voelkel, to tie the game at halftime.

Northern took the lead early in the second half when Milbourne scored unassisted. Britta Lais assisted by Voelkel soon put the score up by another point for the Huskies. They did not relinquish the lead for the rest of the game.

Sentinel Carolyn Waugaman scored, assisted by Katie Enright, with 16:30 remaining on the clock, and Yoder topped of the score with an unassisted goal with 14 minutes left.

The Huskies had the advantage in shots 22-10, and both teams had two corner kicks. Northern's Kayla Kipp made seven saves, and Fort Hill's Rebecca Zajdel had 14.

The girls will play Allegany in an away match on Tuesday, Oct. 5, with JV at 6 and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Girls Lose To Beall, But Grab Win From St. Maria Goretti

Three consecutive goals by Beall High School's Tasha Wilhelm in the first half of Thursday evening's soccer match with the Southern High School varsity girls set the tone for the remainder of the game, which ended with a Beall victory, 5-4. Southern came back on Saturday to beat St. Maria Goretti, 1-0.

Southern put up the first point of the Beall/SHS Western Maryland Interscholastic League match, as Sarah Anderson made an unassisted goal 13 minutes into the game. Wilhelm answered with her hat trick within the next 14 minute span. She tied Southern with an unassisted goal at 20:33 on the clock, moved her team ahead at 17:59 on an assist from Kierstin Stevenson, and pulled down the third point by converting a penalty kick at 6:56.

Before the half was over, Stevenson scored with 4:20 remaining, upping Beall's half-time lead to 4-1.

Southern fought back in the second half. Only two minutes, seven seconds had elapsed when Jasmine Scheffel scored a goal from an assist by Corey Lewis. The score was further cut to 4-3 when freshman Lauren Neville made an unassisted goal with just over 8 minutes to play.

Beall's score was boosted by one when Stevenson made a goal with 7:27 remaining, and Neville fought back hard to boost Southern's score by one with just 2:48 left on the clock.

Southern finished with a 15-10 advantage in shots, while both teams had two corner kicks.

Goal keepers Jessica Petrella (Southern) and Beall's Jena Sloane had seven saves each.

Southern hosted St. Maria Goretti on Saturday, and although the home team outshot the visitors 18-4, the match was scoreless until the final minutes. Corey Lewis made a goal, assisted by Jasmine Scheffel, with the clock showing 2:58 remaining.

Southern also had the advantage in corner kicks, 5-2.

Petrella made four saves in the net for the team.

With this 1-0 win, the Southern girls' record is now 2-3-1.

Because of foul weather, an away match with Westmar scheduled for Sept. 28 was postponed until Saturday, Oct. 2. The JV team will play at noon and varsity at 1:30 p.m. The girls will then travel to play at Bishop Walsh on Oct. 6, with the game to begin at 4 p.m.

Steelers Swamp

The Division I contest opened with the Wildcats putting the first points on the board, but the Steelers roared back with four straight touchdowns to take a 28-7 lead. Northern's Randy Wiley kicked off the flurry with a one-yard rushing touchdown, then Zach Fratz reeled off a 34-yard scoring carry. Jared Rodeheaver got into the act with a 45-yard touchdown run, then Wiley found the end zone for his second time at the end of a 40-yard scamper. D&D was finally able to respond prior to the halftime gun with a 50-yard scoring pass.

The Wildcats went deep again in the third quarter to connect for a 61-yard touchdown pass, but the Steelers' Ryan Evans claimed the points right back with a 63-yard touchdown run that closed the stanza with Northern up 36-19. Bobby Wingrove rumbled 58 yards for a Steeler touchdown in the fourth quarter, and D&D closed out the day's scoring with an 81-yard TD pass.

Northern's Division II squad dominated its D&D

Ram Netters Down Sentinels, Mash Mounties; Still Perfect

The Southern High School varsity volleyball team continued its winning ways this week with wins over Fort Hill Tuesday and Beall last night that gave the Rams a perfect 6-0 mark for the campaign.

Tuesday's home court match with the undefeated Sentinels opened with a 25-21 SHS win, but the guests recovered to tie things up with a 25-20 victory. The rest of the match continued true to form as the Rams won hard-fought 25-22 and 25-18 wins.

Sophomore hitter Sarah Stephens paced Southern with 13 points, six aces, and four kills. Senior Julia Bosley netted nine points, three aces, and five kills, and classmate Kayla Nazelrod recorded nine kills. Junior Chelsea Wassell contributed seven kills. Seniors Bethany Steyer and Sarah Bittinger dished out 16 and 13 assists, respectively.

Fort Hill's Lauren Mouse tallied 29 assists and 12 digs, while teammate Traea Guthrie had 14 kills, three blocks, and eight digs.

Southern's junior varsity squad prevailed in its match after an early scare. The Rams were crushed in the opener, 25-13, but struck back with 25-12, 25-19 wins. Sophomores Natalie Rohrbaugh and Adrienne Yoder recorded 10 points and three aces apiece, while Yoder added five kills and six assists. Classmate Danielle Daniels had four kills. Katie Johnson led Fort Hill with 12 points.

After a five-point win to open last night's match at Beall with a 25-20 victory, the Rams went on a tear through 25-13, 25-11 triumphs.

Stephens led Southern with seven kills, Nazelrod recorded six kills, and senior Megan Swartzentruber contributed five kills. Steyer and Bittinger handed out 13 assists apiece. The Mounties were paced by Jessica Burkett's 10 kills, two aces, and six blocks.

The Ram jayvees took their match by scores of 25-17, 25-14. Yoder netted 13 points and five aces, Daniels tallied seven points, five aces, and a pair of kills, and sophomore Amberly Lewis bagged two kills.

Southern's upcoming slate features a Monday road trip to Allegany High, and a home court match Wednesday against Meyersdale. Junior varsity contests get under way at 6 p.m., with varsity battles following at approximately 7 p.m.

NHS Netters Lose To Beall, BW; Beat Cats

The Northern High School varsity volleyball squad struggled early this week, dropping matches to Beall and Bishop Walsh, but exploded last night to take a thrilling three-game sweep from host Westmar. Two of the three games in Lonaconing went beyond regulation play, with only two points separating the two squads in those NHS wins.

The Huskies lost to Beall by a 3-1 tally Thursday night in Frostburg, but game scores and individual statistics were not made available.

Tuesday night's match at Bishop Walsh ended in Husky game defeats of 25-8, 25-19, and 25-14.

Senior Lakin Weimer led Northern's attack with 11 attacks and one kill, while junior Keri Bachtel netted six attacks, and classmate Esther Schmuck recorded five points. BW was paced by Shanel Arnold's 18 points, four aces, and seven assists.

NHS's junior varsity unit cruised to 25-14, 25-16 victories behind sophomore Emily Sisler's 10-point tally. Erin Mathews had six points for Bishop Walsh.

Last night's match at Westmar provided lots of thrills, as the Huskies prevailed by narrow 26-24 margins in each of the first two games. Northern went on to take the third game, and a three-game sweep, by a comfortable 25-18 tally.

NHS was paced by senior Jayme Miller's 14 service points, 16 attacks, and three kills. Weimer had 20 attacks and recorded a team-high seven kills, and junior Angie Umbel turned in eight points, five attacks, and one kill. The Wildcats' Christina Steiding had nine points and three kills.

The Husky JVs walloped Westmar in their first outing, 25-8. The 'Cats clawed back in the second match, but Northern held on to take a 25-23 victory. Sophomore Leah Biser recorded a dozen service points for the Huskies, while Westmar's Alicia Willis had nine.

The Huskies host Beall Tuesday and Fort Hill Wednesday, with JV matches getting under way at 6 p.m. and varsity play following at approximately 7 p.m.

Garrett Netters Swept By Butler, Cecil In McHenry

The Garrett College volleyball team fell in consecutive 3-0 sweeps to Butler Friday and Cecil Saturday as the Lakers' season mark dropped to 4-9 (2-3 in JUCO play).

Garrett fell to Butler by game scores of 30-20, 30-20, and 30-15. Laker sophomore Amanda Frantz scored seven points, had four kills, was 9-of-13 on attacks, and recorded two blocks. Sophomore Autumn Beavers contributed 10 kills, was 19-of-27 on attacks, and picked up a squad-high five digs. Freshman Yolanda Anthony and Jhonna Newby had seven points and three blocks, respectively.

The following day Garrett was downed in three straight by visiting Cecil, 30-24, 30-16, 30-16. Frantz tallied seven points and nine kills, Beavers netted nine kills, sophomore Tabitha Beitzel recorded a team-high nine digs, and Anthony netted six points.

The Lakers visit Allegany College tonight, then return home for 2 p.m. matches Saturday and Sunday against Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, respectively. Rockville pays a 6 p.m. visit Wednesday.

counterpart, scoring in each quarter of that contest. Steeler quarterback Josh Duckworth and receiver Trevor Tombley connected for the game's first touchdown on an 11-yard pass completion. Duckworth put the next TD on the board with a 38-yard interception return, then struck again in the second stanza by recording a 15-yard touchdown run to put Northern up by 20. Teammate Ted Litton followed with a 42-yard touchdown scamper before Duckworth picked off another Wildcat pass and returned the ball 29 yards into the end zone to give the Steelers an insurmountable 32-0 halftime advantage.

Northern scored once in each quarter of the second half, as Alan Wingrove found the end zone after a four-yard carry in the third stanza, and Dylan Miller returned a pickoff 30 yards to score a fourth-quarter touchdown.

The Steeler coaching staff noted the defensive efforts of Chris Funk, Garrett Otto, and Henry Smearman.

Northern hosts the Patriots Sunday in Accident.

Southern Boys Fall To Both BW, Fort Hill

The Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team logged a disappointing week with two major losses. Fort Hill blanked the home team last Thursday evening 4-0, and on Monday evening Bishop Walsh defeated the Rams 5-2.

The first score in the Fort Hill-SHS match happened at the 11:53 mark when Brian Jeffries scored on a pass from Nathan Deshaies. Fort Hill scored again with just over one minute remaining before the half. That goal was accomplished by Todd Mullaney with a Jeffries assist.

The score remained 2-0

SHS Golfers Down Beall, Campers; Club Northern

The Southern High School golf team improved to 36-4 on the season with victories over Beall and Allegany last Thursday, Sept. 23, and a 36-stroke win over Northern yesterday in McHenry.

SHS recorded a 159 team score in a home triangular Thursday, while Beall came in second with a 169 and Alco brought up the rear with a 184. Ram senior Josh Lear took low medalist honors with a 35. The Mounties were paced by David Gearing's 39, and Jessica Jewell led the Campers with a 41.

Southern hammered Northern yesterday, 171-207, in a preview of the upcoming Garrett County Championship Tournament. Senior Matt Skidmore carded a low-medalist 38, good for 2-over par on the tough Wisp Resort course. Sophomore teammate Joe Albert had a 42 and Lear contributed a 43. The Huskies were paced by senior Michael Bergstrom's 41, while classmate Ben Margroff was NHS's runner-up with a 52.

The Rams square off against Northern again this coming Thursday, Oct. 7, for the regular season closer, the Garrett County Championship Tournament.

DRIVING TOWARD VICTORY, Southern High School golfer Josh Lear is shown above during action from yesterday's SHS win over cross-county rival Northern at the Wisp. The Ram senior carded a 43 to help pace his team to a 171-207 victory. NHS senior duffer Ben Margroff is captured below launching a drive toward the distant pin. Southern improved to an area-best 36-4 record with the win, but Northern will get another shot at claiming mountaintop bragging rights during the upcoming Garrett County Championship Tournament, set to open in McHenry on Thursday, Oct. 7, with a 4 p.m. tee-time. Northern Duffers Downed By BW, Alco, Southern

The Northern High School varsity golf squad came in third behind Bishop Walsh and Allegany during a Monday triangular in Cumberland, then were defeated yesterday by the Southern Rams on the Wisp Resort course (see separate story).

NHS's Michael Bergstrom carded a 43 in Monday's defeat, good for second in the individual rankings behind Tyler Steiner's low-medalist 40 for the winning Spartans. Team scores were BW, 182; Alco, 186; and the Huskies, 191. Corey Brown was Allegany's low scorer with a 46.

Northern (5-30) battles Bishop Walsh at the Wisp in a 4 p.m. Monday match, then play for the Garrett County crown meet up with Southern on Thursday, Oct. 7, in another 4 p.m. match in McHenry.

Runnin' Rams Participate In Mt. Top Meet

The Southern High School Runnin' Rams took part in Saturday's Mt. Top Combo at Preston High School Saturday, and the varsity SHS entrants turned in a 14th-place finish in the crowded 16-team field. The annual meet takes the score from each competing school's boys' and girls' squads and combines them.

The SHS boys' and girls teams, coached by Jamie Beeman and Steve Cosner, respectively, turned in a combined tally of 744. The top three finishers were the host Preston Knights, at 100; North Marion at 190; and James Wood at 247. Coming in behind the Rams were Hampshire at 761 and Lincoln at 836.

The individual Southern varsity boys' results were as follows: Caiden Shaffer, 47th, 19:07; Andrew Goad, 76th, 19:52; Michael Murphy, 84th, 20:17; Michael McConnell, 101st, 20:49; and Andrew Kight, 130th, 22:58.

The Ram varsity girls' individual finishers were: Sarah Cosner, 56th, 24:07; Melinda Smith, 77th, 25:28; Courtney DiSimone, 81st, 25:44; Leah Warnick, 104th, 28:56; and Krista Hanline, 106th, 29:09.

In junior varsity competition, the Rams' Tim Preston finished 38th with a time of 23:02, and Andrew Sauder placed 58th at 25:08.

Southern's Rachel Skipper came in 24th in girls' jayvee competition with a time of 31:04.

Southern was slated to host the Broadford Invitational Tuesday, but that race was rained out. The Runnin' Rams are slated to host Tucker this afternoon in a 4:30 p.m. outing, then will travel to Keyser on Monday.

Lander Wins For Elizabethtown C.

Heather Lander, a graduate of Northern High School, turned in another strong week for the Elizabethtown College women's tennis team as the Blue Jays continued their 2004 season.

Elizabethtown downed Commonwealth Conference rival Juniata College by a 9-0 margin last Thursday, Sept. 23, to tie the college's second-best season opening streak at nine straight. Lander earned a shutout win in number five singles play, taking 6-0, 6-0 sets en route to her match victory.

The Blue Jays' next outing was the Intercollegiate Tennis Association Southeast Region Championships, played Saturday and Sunday at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va. Elizabethtown entrants went 12-8 in singles play and 1-5 in doubles competition.

Lander made it to the third round of her singles bracket, taking a pair of match victories by set scores of 6-1, 6-0 and 6-3, 6-4. Lander was downed in her third match by Mary Washington's Emily Brimer, 6-3, 6-2.

Lander and Elizabethtown teammate Emma Smith of Moorestown, N.J., combined for the Blue Jays' only doubles win, advancing to the second round of their five-round bracket with an 8-3 match triumph. The pair were downed in an 8-4 loss at the hands of a Carnegie Mellon duo.

Boys Fall

until the mid-point of the second half, when Chris Twigg assisted Adam Lonigro for another goal. Lonigro scored again with 10:56 remaining on the clock.

Fort Hill outshot Southern 18-3, and had four corner kicks to the Rams' two.

Southern's Mike Edwards had 11 saves for the Rams, and Fort Hill's Tyler Reed had three.

Southern traveled to the Brother Stephen F. Paul Spartan Stadium in Cumberland for the match-up with Bishop Walsh on Monday.

BW's Jimmy Benjamin scored the first goal five minutes into the game. Daniel Peterson assisted.

Andrew Diamond followed up four minutes later, bringing the score to 2-0, a margin that was sliced by Southern's Sean McCreery, who scored on a pass from James Naylor with the clock showing 10:10 before the half.

BW's Joe Pecoraro opened the second half at 2:20 in to score unassisted. McCreery answered again, unassisted, about four minutes later, bringing the score to 3-2.

With 26:09 on the clock, Pecoraro scored again, and Diamond added yet another goal at 12:54 remaining.

Bishop Walsh led in shots 35-14 and in corner kicks 6-1.

Ram goalkeeper Edwards logged 16 saves, while BW's Cameron Sell saved eight. The Rams' record is now 3-4.

Southern will host Fort Hill on Saturday, Oct. 2, 2 p.m., and Beall, also at home, on Oct. 4, 7 p.m.

SHS HOMECOMING ROYALTY – It was a regal evening for Friday's Southern High School Homecoming game, with halftime festivities that included the crowning of 2004 Homecoming King Logan Osekowski and Queen Shar Hollingsworth, shown above flanked by SHS principal Tom Woods, left, and special guest Jessica Lynch, the Wirt County (W.Va.) veteran who gained notoriety as a POW during the Iraq War. Exercise Care With Nasal Decongestants Congestion and inflammation in the area of the nose (rhinitis) and sinuses (sinusitis) affects almost 15% of the U.S. population. Such conditions may be caused by bacteria, viruses or fungal organisms. Inhaled irritants such as smoke, dust and air pollution can also contribute to the problem. Oral nasal decongestants such as pseudoephedrine are commonly used. Other nasal decongestants include topical sprays.

Exercise care when using any nasal decongestant. These drugs should not be taken by people with heart disease because they tend to increase the workload on the heart. Diabetics, people with high blood pressure or thyroid disease, and men with enlarged prostates should also avoid the oral decongestants. In such situations, the topical nasal sprays are preferred. Since pseudoephedrine can reduce blood supply to the fetus, exercise caution during pregnancy. When a person finds that the dose of decongestant must be increased and the time between the doses shortened to obtain relief, stopping the medication for a few days is a safe and wise option. This may help prevent a condition called rebound congestion and allow the affected nasal issue to return to normal. If you are still congested, try using nasal strips to help you breathe.

Revival Slated At Mt. Zion Church

A revival is slated for Oct. 3 through 8 at 7 p.m. at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, located at 2445 Mt. Zion Road, 2½ miles east of Swanton. Guest speakers will be Dan and Jeanie Frederick of Grayson, Ky.

Blood Drive Set For Tomorrow At St. Peter's

The American Red Cross has scheduled a blood drive for noon to 6 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 1, in the fellowship hall of St. Peter's Catholic Church. The hall is located at the corner of Fourth and Oak streets, across from St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

Blood donors must be 17 years old, weight at least 105 pounds, be in generally good health, and not have donated blood within the past eight weeks (56 days). Blood donations are accepted on a walk-in basis; however, persons who would like to schedule an appointment may call the Red Cross at 1-800-993-6667.

The next scheduled bloodmobile will take place from noon to 6 p.m. Monday, Oct. 18, at the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident.

Campaign Signs Must Be Properly Placed, SHA Says

The State Highway Administration of the Maryland Department of Transportation has issued a reminder about the proper placement of election-season campaign signs.

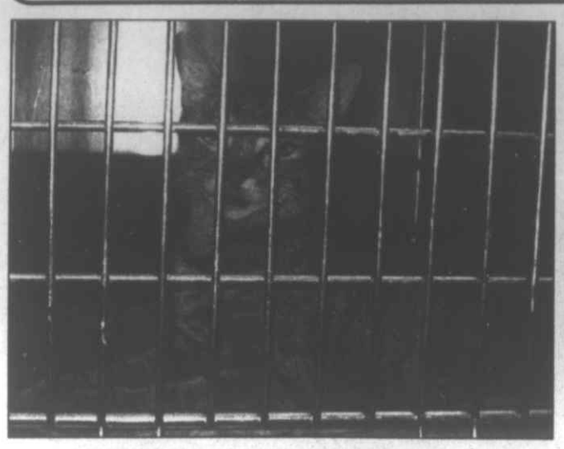
"Safety and sight distances are keys to highway safety," a spokesperson for the State Highway Administration said. "Absolutely no advertising signs are permitted on state right of way, in medians, or on roadsides. Illegal, non-highway related signs can pose a potential safety hazard by distracting drivers and obstructing their vision, and impede SHS maintenance crews."

Generally, residents and business owners can determine the right of way line by utility pole placement, which indicates the right of way boundary. Signs may be placed on private property beginning 45 days prior to the election, and must be removed 15 days after. Signs on private property do not require a permit, but must be placed with the property owner's permission. No signs are permitted along interstate highways or designated scenic byways.

"SHA maintenance crews will remove illegally placed signs and keep them at local shops for a short time to allow owners to retrieve them," a spokesperson said. "We expect that campaign staffers will adhere to the state law regarding the placement of political signs."

For more information on the outdoor advertising rules and regulations, persons may call toll-free 1-888-204-4245.

Adorable Adoptables



THIS FRIENDLY TABBY and her kittens were brought into the Garrett County Animal Shelter and are ready to be adopted. Several canines are also in need of new homes. They are a black Lab mix, who was picked up as a stray; Lady, a 7-month-old female husky mix; and Coda, a 7-month-old male husky mix. The husky mixes are giveups because their former owner couldn't afford to keep them. "They are not housebroken, but have all their shots and seem eager to learn and be loved," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Please come and meet them." Last week's adoptable calico found a new home, but the black/white tuxedo is still at the shelter. "It was still wearing a flea collar when it was found, so it must have an owner somewhere," said the spokesperson. There are also lots of kittens in various colors at the shelter. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3553.

Operators Worry

setting is excellent for the children, but we all understand what it means to a family's budget."

The other children center operators concurred. Cook said the Renaissance Center used to have a successful tutoring branch, but when the publicly funded after-school programs took root, the center had to shut down that part of its facility.

"And you know, we understand why that happened," Cook said. "But it really is scary. I have basically put all my eggs in this basket, and it's important to me to keep this center running. We know it's good for the children we teach."

Studies do indeed show that children who attend private pre-schools in Garrett County do very well in kindergarten. Their readiness in several areas exceeds public school, day care centers, and home care. In social and personal readiness, the private pre-schooled children rated at 92% fully prepared, compared to home care at 71%, child care center children at 70%; pre-K at 64%, and Head Start at 53%. Children in child care (day care) situations excelled in the arts at 79% fully prepared, followed by home care children at 69% and private schooled kids at 65%. In math, the private center children again were on top, with 69% of the children fully prepared, followed by day care children at 60% prepared. The other pre-school situations did not turn out more than 46% of children fully prepared in math.

All the private schools in the area can accept Purchase for Care funding, which is a state program that provides money to parents to send their children to day care or pre-school. However, there has been a freeze on those funds for about two years, and fewer and fewer families seem to be eligible for the assistance. This, too, has hurt both pre-schools and day cares. (See related Capital News Service story.)

"It's all so frustrating because we know we are offering a valuable and effective program," said Myers of St. Mark's. "And not only is our center scholastically sound, but we are also one of the few to offer a Christian program. Yet we can't get the enrollment we need to stay viable. It's very, very frustrating."

"Private day cares do a wonderful job with children, too," said Cook. "But they are seeing drops in enrollment for the same reasons we are."

Another factor that sends fear through private center operators is the rumor that pre-kindergarten could become mandatory in Maryland. This would severely impact all private facilities. However, such a law is not being considered at this time, according to a spokesperson at the Garrett County Board of Education, who said that the state board does encourage the entire county to work collaboratively in providing good pre-school experiences for as many children as possible. And this includes working with private entities as well as public. But mandatory, state-operated pre-K is not being planned at this time.

There are also some avenues for private operators through agencies such as APPLES for Children in Hagerstown, which is a non-profit early care and education advocacy organization serving western Maryland. Shaluta said APPLES is a valuable resource for all pre-school operators, as the organization offers much in the way of guidance, referral help, and general support. The office can be contacted at 301-733-0000 or 1-800-924-9188.

"We just keep working hard and praying that things will work out, and so far they are," Shaluta said. "We'll stay here for as long as we can, that's for sure."

assistance. She expects her severance checks to run out this month, after which she may have to return to welfare, which she left four years ago. "If you want us to be self sufficient, that's fine, but tell me what to do in terms of child care," she said.

LITTLE CROSSING COUNTRY STORE

Little Crossing Country Store is located at 10615 National Pike, half a mile east of Grantsville on Route 40.

Open since Nov. 2003, the store is owned by Sarah Broom. As for employees, she noted, "So far, my husband, Don Broom, and my sister, Mary Gemberling, do a lot of volunteer' work!"

The shop offers country antiques and glassware, local crafts and woodworking, handmade rugs and quilts, hand-painted signs, and walking sticks. In addition, they have reproduction Depression glass, tin signs, and cast iron décor featuring birds, bears, angels, and more.

"Our new front porch welcomes you as if you were going to Grandma's house," Broom said. "You step back in time as you enter our renovated garage with original wide plank floors, post and beam construction, and rough wood walls. You'll find things that Mom and Grandma used in our Grandma's Kitchen Corner."

The Brooms had a second-hand shop at the same location 20 years ago called the Broom Closet. "We always wanted to fix up this building and have an antiques and collectibles business," Broom explained.

The Brooms have been married nearly 40 years, and have reared three daughters, Pam, Shari, and Jami. "We also have a great son-in-law, Philip, and two wonderful grandchildren, Matt and Megan," Broom said.

She explained that they plan to remain at this location. "We hope to keep busy here at Little Crossing in our retirement years and continue to make people smile as they remember days gone by," she said.

Broom noted that pictures of Little Crossing Country Store can be found at Grantsville.md.com under specialty shops.

Store hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and by chance or appointment on Sunday. The shop can be reached at 301-895-4476.
